

Chapter 1054 Old Comrade In Arms

After leaving Gold Street Business Zone, Trevor had no choice but to face the current predicament. And he could only sigh.

It seemed that Xzavier really had a say in Barlowtown.

He finally understood now that Sky Film and Television Company had encountered a lot of setbacks in Barlowtown because of a boycott.

Trevor was new to Barlowtown, and he was not familiar with the place yet. He couldn't do anything for the time being but wait.

Fortunately, Sky Film and Television Company had just been established, so it didn't have many employees yet.

Ivanna was still recuperating. And Trevor didn't need to worry too much about the office.

He adjusted his mood and went to Nicolas at their scheduled time to continue treating him.

"Sir, your arm is recovering very well. I have been treating your legs these days, and I believe they also have a chance to recover. You can walk normally again," Trevor said with a smile. After his acupuncture therapy, he checked Nicolas' current physical condition and gave Nicolas his assessment.

The meritorious general, who had won a lot of battles, had contracted so many diseases that he often had to rely on his wheelchair to get around.

But after Trevor's acupuncture treatment, his arm gradually recovered. Then the joints of his legs were also not so stiff anymore.

The possibility of being able to walk again was within his reach now.

"Ha-ha! Great! That's great!" Nicolas was very happy to hear the good news. He never thought he still had hopes to walk again.

He moved his arms and nodded with satisfaction. "Young man, thank you so much. At such a young age, your medical skills are already extraordinary."

"Sir, I'm flattered," Trevor said modestly. Then he packed his things and was about to leave.

However, Nicolas waved his hand to stop him.

"Don't be in a hurry to leave. An old comrade in arms has come to visit me today. He is in my backyard now. Let's go to see him together."

Trevor didn't refuse the invitation, so the two of them went to the backyard of the villa. An old man with gray hair sat on the bench, wearing a black jacket and looking very energetic.

"Leroy, come here. Let me introduce this young man to you. He is the genius doctor I'm telling you about. He is still young, but he has inherited the medical skills of the Scott family," Nicolas said with a smile.

Trevor took the initiative to reach out his hand. "Hello, sir. You can call me Levi."

He didn't reveal his real name because the name Trevor Sanderson was still on the wanted list of the Sanderson family. Once he was exposed accidentally, it was very likely to bring him unexpected trouble. So he had to be extra careful.

Leroy smiled gently and took Trevor's hand.

"Young man, I've heard a lot about you. You did a good job! We've already found several famous doctors to treat Nicolas' illness. I didn't expect you to be the most capable one in the end. My name is Leroy Fletcher. I used to be Nicolas' guard. Thank you very much for treating him."

After the introduction, the three sat down and chatted. Nicolas and Leroy kept praising Trevor's magical medical skills.

After chatting for a while, Leroy picked up a small black box beside the bench. He handed it to Nicolas and said, "I bought an antique gun. I want to give it to you as a gift. I hope you like it."

"Let me see. It must be good." Nicolas immediately took the small box and opened it.

Inside the box was a soft sponge. Then a vintage revolver came into view.

Upon seeing the gun, Trevor blinked and said with a smile, "Mr. Fletcher, I don't think you just bought it randomly. This gun has a great background."

Nicolas looked at Trevor, raised his eyebrows, and said, "Are you familiar with this gun? Then tell me what you know about this."

According to what he had learned from studying antiques, Trevor said carefully, "This is a Colt Walker revolver. And if I'm not mistaken, it should be a rare civilian type. At that time, only one hundred pieces of this revolver were made for the senior generals in the army to demonstrate this weapon's performance. This gun is hard to find in the circle of antique firearms. And its collection is of great significance."

Nicolas laughed and accepted the revolver happily. Then he joked, "Leroy, you should thank this young man. If he hadn't explained it to me, I wouldn't have known the origin of this revolver. This is a limited edition, and there are only one hundred pieces of this in the world. That's great!"

Leroy also laughed heartily.

Nicolas turned to Trevor and said, "Levi, you are a really capable young man. Aside from your extraordinary medical skills, you are also capable of recognizing rare antiques. You are one of a kind."

After saying this, he seemed to remember something. He patted his head and continued, "By the way, I heard you're running a company in Barlowtown. Is it true?"

Trevor nodded. He didn't intend to hide it from them. "Yes. The name of the company is Sky Film and Television Company."

Nicolas narrowed his eyes. "And I also heard that you're having some trouble. Why didn't you tell me? Are you estranging yourself from me?"

Trevor smiled wryly and explained, "I'm too embarrassed to trouble you with such a little thing. I'm just a doctor. I..."

But before he could finish his words, Nicolas interrupted, "You have nothing to worry about. Leroy has both land and money in Barlowtown. Xzavier's daughter is notorious for her evil deeds just because she's a member of the Sanderson family. Others may be afraid of her, but we don't. If you have any difficulties, feel free to tell us. We are more than willing to lend you a hand."

When Trevor saw the sincerity in their eyes, he hesitated for a moment. Then he smiled gracefully.

"Then I must thank you in advance. I want to rent an office now."

Leroy smiled, waved his hand, and said generously, "You don't need to rent an office. I'll give you a piece of land. I want to thank you for curing Nicolas."

Trevor was shocked for a moment. He didn't expect that Leroy would be so generous. But of course, he didn't refuse. He thanked Leroy again.

Leroy patted Trevor on the shoulder and encouraged him, "Young man, just work hard. You will achieve something great."

Nicolas also smiled and said, "When you move into the new office, I will go with Leroy to have a look. And we will have a housewarming party."