

Chapter 1113 A Conversation In Privacy

As Trevor watched the annoying Freddy and Tommy leave, he sighed in relief and gave Alicia a gentle smile.

"Thanks for the help."

Unaware of what had happened, Alicia could still sense the thick and uncomfortable atmosphere which was around there, so she nodded with a smile in response.

Trevor took the opportunity to talk. "I hope you won't mind giving me some of your time. I want to talk in private."

Before she would have taken him as an insane fan of hers, Trevor added, "There's something important that you need to know."

Alicia was confused for a moment.

She looked Trevor in the eye and realized he was sincere.

She was hesitating when a man in a black suit walked up to them.

With a sarcastic sneer, he said, "Levi, is this all you can do? Don't be absurd. You're wasting your time. Purple Band is invited by Star Film and Television Company. As the boss of some shabby company, how can you even dare to reach out to Purple Band?"

Trevor gazed at that man and remembered that he was Xzavier's subordinate.

Previously, in dealing with the reporters, this man took charge of the issue on behalf of the Sanderson family.

It clicked Trevor's mind as he said, "You are Xzavier's employee."

That man set his suit and said arrogantly, "I am Bingham Juarez, the public relations manager of Star Film and Television Company. Also, I have all the responsibility of taking care of Purple Band's matters here."

Who was interested in Bingham's introduction? Trevor wasn't, at least. Ignoring him, he looked at Alicia.

"Please, trust me. I want to talk about something serious."

Taking in a deep breath, Alicia finally nodded.

A day ago, Trevor saved Alicia from a crazy fan. His help made her decide to trust him today.

Apart from that, Bingham's words suggested that this man named Levi was the boss of some entertainment company. Maybe, he really had something important to discuss.

"Sure. Let's go to the lounge backstage and talk," Alicia said while nodding her head.

Trevor smiled in response.

The arrogance and sneer covering Bingham's face disappeared. He frowned.

He angrily shook his suit with a jerk to make them both notice his presence and authority.

Unhappily, he said, "If you both agree, then as the person in charge of the cooperation between Star Film and Television Company and Purple Band, I should listen."

Alicia raised her eyebrows as a frown covered her beautiful features.

"Purple Band is not collaborating with Star Film and Television Company. We merely accepted the invitation from the Sanderson family. Please don't be mistaken again. Apart from that, if you want to listen, you're welcome."

Bingham was ashamed, but curiosity made him follow Trevor and Alicia as they walked to the lounge backstage.

Bingham was the person from Star Film and Television Company who had to take charge of the cooperation. He would be blamed if he didn't keep a close eye on Trevor.

They all entered the lounge after a while.

"I would like it if you won't beat around the bush, Levi," Alicia said.

Trevor nodded. "I'm the owner of Sky Film and Television Company. I want you to stop all the scheduled activity here."

Alicia shook her head with a frown.

"I guess I have to disappoint you here if that's what you wanted to talk about. The Sanderson family helped Purple Band. It was their help that brought us to the place where we are today. I apologize, but I can't do it."

Bingham laughed at Trevor with a smug expression.

"Go home, Levi! You didn't run a background check on the relationship of the Sanderson family with Purple Band. I can see the demise of Sky Film and Television Company under your leadership. Even if you hadn't offended Xzavier, you'd go bankrupt sooner or later!"

Chapter 1114 Kindness

Trevor glanced at Bingham and said with a sneer, "Are you so desperate to show off already? Never mind that. I know you're desperate."

Trevor, who understood Alicia, was moved.

In a time when people attached great importance to money, it was rare to see someone who would seek ways to return one's kindness. Alicia was one of them.

"As far as I know, you are under a lot of public pressure when you agreed to hold a concert in Barlowtown. After all, Star Film and Television Company has been notorious of late," Trevor said. "Why do you ask for trouble?"

Alicia said nothing but shook her head firmly.

Trevor walked to Alicia and whispered to her, "What if it was Trevor's idea?"

Alicia raised her head upon hearing this. There was a glimmer of hope in her eyes.

She stared at Trevor, obviously excited.

Bingham, oblivious to what was going on, said smugly, "Levi, I advise you not to waste your energy. Do you think that a few words can destroy our cooperation with Purple Band? You are so naive! Don't waste your time; the friendship between the Sanderson family and Purple Band is something you cannot imagine."

Trevor smiled but said nothing in response. He ignored Bingham and was focused on Alicia, waiting for her answer.

It was true the Sanderson family had a deep, friendly relationship with Purple Band, but that relationship had been forged by Trevor.

As Trevor expected, the look on Alicia's face became serious, and she said coldly, "Bingham, please excuse us for a while. I need to talk to Levi alone."

The word "alone" was specially stressed by Alicia.

Bingham was shocked.

Then he got angry.

"What's the meaning of this? Are you going to discontinue the relationship between Purple Band and the Sanderson family? Have you forgotten whose support got you where you are today?"

Alicia said nothing to this; instead, she repeated, "Please excuse us for a while."

Bingham clenched his fists, his face sullen.

He then took a deep breath, loosened his fist, and said, "You should think this over. The Sanderson family doesn't like ingrates."

He then proceeded to storm out of the lounge.

Trevor smiled.

Alicia, seeing that Bingham had left, asked, "Levi, how do you know Trevor? Where did you get your information on him? I... I haven't seen him in a while. I heard that something happened to the Sanderson family. How is Trevor?"

Alicia looked worried and anxious.

Trevor couldn't help being touched by Alicia's concern.

"Thank you for your concern. Something indeed happened to the Sanderson family. All I can say is Trevor is still alive. Don't worry about him."

For safety's sake, Trevor didn't reveal his identity to Alicia.

Trevor still hadn't figured out who the mysterious men in black were, so he didn't want to get Alicia involved.

Hearing that Trevor was safe, Alicia breathed a sigh of relief and said, "That's good. If this is what Trevor wants, I will ask the other members of Purple Band to refuse to work with the Sanderson family."

Alicia knew that Trevor, instead of the Sanderson family, was the one who helped them.

That was why she was willing to listen to Levi.

To the members of Purple Band, Trevor was the only person who could represent the Sanderson family.

Alicia added, "We know that Star Film and Television Company has been getting some bad publicity, along with Xzavier and Caitlin. For Trevor's sake, we agreed to come to Barlowtown."

Chapter 1115 Where Is Trevor

In the lounge, Trevor and Alicia formed a preliminary agreement to end the collaboration between Purple Band and the Sanderson family.

Meanwhile, Bingham had no idea what was going on in the lounge. He was irritated as he stood in the corridor smoking and pondered over his options.

"We invited Purple Band, and they are a famous band. Levi is just the head of a subpar company. There should be no connection between him and Alicia."

Bingham brushed the ash off his cigarette with an irritated look.

"Fuck! If he tries to disrespect my boss, I will make sure he does not last long in Barlowtown."

As Trevor and Alicia walked out of the lounge, Bingham snuffed out his cigarette and put on a flattering smile.

"Alicia, I was a little impatient just now. I'm sorry. I hope you don't take it to heart."

With a faint smile, Trevor looked at Bingham without saying anything.

Ignoring the look on Trevor's face, Bingham resumed his talk with Alicia. "Levi runs a little company in Barlowtown. Just ignore him. By the way, I have prepared a banquet. It would be nice if all of you could attend it."

Not taking Bingham's contemptuous words seriously, Trevor just smiled.

Alicia gave Bingham the cold shoulder as if she had not heard his invitation.

She expressed her stance in this way.

When Bingham realized this, a look of shock, bewilderment and rage spread over his face. He raised his voice and questioned, "Alicia, do you want to take back what you said earlier? Take some time to consider this. Your friendship with the Sanderson family is priceless. You must remember that. I hope you will not let yourself be fooled into making a hasty choice."

Without a hint of emotion, Alicia replied, "Star Film and Television Company invited us to the name of the Sanderson family, but we only know Trevor from the family. Where is he now?"

Where was Trevor? Of course, Trevor was there. But Bingham didn't know that.

Bingham's expression shifted once again after hearing Alicia's question.

Bingham had worked for Xzavier for many years and knew that Xzavier had instigated others to issue a warrant for Trevor's arrest.

Now, Alicia's question made Bingham panicked. "Trevor... He is quite busy. It's not convenient for him to come to Barlowtown right now."

Alicia replied coldly, "Purple Band only works with Trevor. Where exactly is he at this moment?"

Trevor stood aside and smiled.

Bingham's forehead started to sweat from his nervousness. He could not resist the urge to lick his lips and rub his nose to ease his panic.

Staring at Alicia, he quickly thought of a lie. "Trevor... Of course, he is in Zayden. The headquarters of the Sanderson family is in Zayden."

Finally, Trevor couldn't hold his laughter anymore. He exposed Bingham's lie by saying, "That is so interesting. Bingham, it's easy to tell that you're lying with the way you look at Alicia and touch your nose as you speak. Your expression and behavior also show that you're lying."

Many people believed that a liar would avoid eye contact. But the truth was when people lied, they were eager to know if the person they were talking to believed their lie, so they stared at them.

Anger rose in Bingham's heart when the lie he made up was exposed.

Alicia shook her head and replied, "Due to your lack of sincerity, we can no longer work together. We won't hold a concert in Barlowtown."

Our ads aim to provide better support for authors.

