

Chapter 1125 The Surprise

Cristina sneered disdainfully and walked toward the exit, twisting her slender waist.

The fat middle-aged man skillfully wrapped his arm around her waist.

Before going out, Cristina turned around and sneered, "Surprise? You must be kidding me! What kind of surprise can Ivanna have in this shabby concert? Can it compare to the performance of Purple Band?"

At this moment, Cristina was interrupted by the sudden exclamation from the audience.

"Oh my God! The background of the live broadcast of Purple Band is so familiar. It seems to be the entrance of this concert hall. Wow! They... Hey, Purple Band! They are walking towards us!"

The corners of Trevor's mouth curved into a smile.

Purple Band was finally here. The timing was just right.

Trevor looked at Cristina with a playful expression. It was as if he was watching an idiot.

The look on Cristina's face suddenly changed.

But when she saw Trevor's eyes, she got angry at once. She couldn't help refuting, "It's impossible! It's just a coincidence. Purple Band must have a concert nearby."

After saying this, Cristina quickly turned on her mobile phone and continued to watch Purple Band's live broadcast.

But after glancing at the screen, her pupils shrank, and she trembled in horror.

It was indeed the entrance of Ivanna's concert hall.

Cristina immediately recognized the background of Purple Band's live broadcast. It was the entrance to Ivanna's concert. This was surely not a coincidence.

Cristina gripped her phone tightly, and her eyes widened as she watched the members of Purple Band walk into the concert hall step by step.

Then the exciting sound of the guitar rang out.

Trevor smiled and looked up.

Alicia was at the entrance, holding a microphone in her hand and leading Purple Band into the concert. A group of well-trained bodyguards immediately stood on both sides of the corridor, protecting them.

The band members played their own instruments with smiles on their faces. And beautiful music sounded throughout the hall.

As Alicia sang, the surprised audience stood up and applauded.

Ivanna's beautiful voice sounded on the stage again. She stood in a white dress, singing along with Alicia.

The atmosphere of the audience was instantly ignited, reaching its peak.

"No, this can't be! There's no way Purple Band is here! This is impossible! How can that bitch Ivanna know Purple Band? She is just a bumpkin. This is too impossible!" Cristina screamed amidst the cheers of everyone.

At this moment, Alicia and Ivanna stood on the stage hand in hand. Then they sang another song with the accompaniment of the others members of Purple Band. It was a successful performance.

After the song, Alicia announced happily, "We are very happy to cooperate with Sky Film and Television Company and be invited to Ivanna's concert. I hope everyone will enjoy tonight!"

Alicia, the lead vocalist of Purple Band, personally admitted their cooperation with Trevor's company. It was undoubtedly a slap in Cristina's face.

Cristina was dumbfounded, feeling like her ears buzzed. It was as if she would pass out the next moment.

"Humph!" Trevor sneered. He looked at her as if he was looking down at a fool. "Security, drive these two people out. They don't have tickets."

Cristina was so angry that she glared at Trevor. Then she explained to the security guards loudly, "I have a ticket. It's here."

She hurriedly fumbled in her pocket. Then her face suddenly turned pale.

It was only then that she remembered that she had torn the ticket into pieces just now.

"No!"

Cristina was very furious now. She could have enjoyed the performance of Purple Band tonight. But she couldn't anymore because she tore her ticket into pieces.

The price of the ticket to the concert had already soared. Unfortunately, she couldn't afford it anymore.

Cristina tore her ticket to humiliate Ivanna. But now, she regretted it. However, could she admit it to everyone?

Tickets for such a memorable special concert were definitely of great collection value.

Cristina could only feel helpless. If she had not torn up her ticket, she could make a lot of money by selling it.

Exclusive Offer For You

Claim Now

Chapter 1126 Revenge Plan

Ivanna's concert was a success.

Not only were the seats inside the venue packed, but many fans also gathered outside.

As expected, Ivanna's popularity grew.

At the same time, the partnership between Sky Film and Television Company and Purple Band quickly gained attention online.

With these good news, Trevor couldn't help feeling happy and satisfied.

But amid all the success, someone was disgruntled.

In Star Film and Television Company's conference room, Xzavier was fuming.

He pointed angrily at his employees standing fearfully before him and lashed out, "You idiots! You're all useless! I asked you to invite Purple Band to Barlowtown to deal with Sky Film and Television Company. But what happened? Purple Band went to cooperate with our competitor! I pay you to work, not to sabotage my company! Get your faces out of here!"

Xzavier's blood was boiling in anger.

There was nothing he could do now but watch Trevor make more money.

He invested a lot of money to invite Purple Band to Barlowtown.

Instead of working for him, the band chose to work with his competitor, leaving him with a profit loss.

Xzavier was so mad he could erupt like a raging volcano.

"Damn it! Damn it!" He knocked the computer over the desk in gritted teeth.

Sitting opposite Xzavier, Bingham lowered his head and didn't dare to make a sound.

Xzavier shoved away the ashtray and the documents on the desk next, making the room a total mess.

Star Film and Television Company was in a dire situation.

They had invested huge money in the movie's production, including a loan. And the bald man with a broken finger was still ripping off the already precarious profit of the company.

Xzavier could feel his business was about to run dry.

He had to do something to stop it from happening as soon as possible. After storming out of the conference room, he impatiently called the bald man.

"Sir, Levi is harming my company. When will you deal with him?"

The bald man was drinking in his hotel room when Xzavier called.

Unlike Xzavier, he was calm and seemingly unbothered. "Relax. It's just a concert. Don't be so impatient. Let him bask in success for now. He will surely hold a celebration party in a few days. That's when we attack. It will be easy to target him when he has his guard down. Trust me."

Xzavier's mood immediately lifted. "Really? That's a great plan!"

The bald man took another sip from his wine glass and sneered.

"Hold your horses and just wait for Levi's company to fall in your lap."

Xzavier thanked the man politely and ended the call.

A hideous grin appeared on his face.

"Oh, Levi! You foolish, poor boy! How dare you go against me? Now enjoy the last moments of your life!"

Xzavier didn't have to wait long for the said opportunity.

In the next days, news spread out that Sky Film and Television Company would hold a farewell party for Purple Band.

Although it wasn't the celebration party the bald man had expected, it was still an excellent opportunity to carry out the plan.

Levi's demise was near!