

Chapter 1127 Still Best Friends

---

The farewell party for Purple Band was held as scheduled.

In order to expand the reach and prestige of Sky Film and Television Company, Trevor invited many prominent people to attend the party.

Purple Band was famous in its field, so many prominent people were willing to attend the band's farewell party.

As the representatives of Sky Film and Television Company, Trevor and Ivanna personally welcomed the guests at the entrance of the hotel.

"Congratulations! I heard that Ivanna's first concert was a raging success!" Malakai, the director of the tax bureau, held Trevor's excitement with glee as he congratulated the latter.

Minutes later, Trevor received the most important guest of the night: Nicolas.

"Young man, I must say, the concert was incredible! However, make sure not to forget about the movie," Nicolas said with a smile.

Shaking his head, Trevor let out a sigh.

"There's no need to worry. I assure you, this movie is our company's top priority. I will not forget it."

The arrival of these two prominent citizens of Barlowtown were met with gasps of excitement. Nicolas' arrival was particularly rousing to the other attendees.

Before today, nobody had expect that a newly emerging company like Sky Film and Television Company had powerful connections.

A well-informed passerby took the opportunity to show off his knowledge of the subject.

"Don't underestimate this new company. I heard that they not only have an incredibly talented singer but are also shooting a movie. It's a company that everyone should keep an eye on!"

However, among the crowd, there was one who wasn't the least bit happy about the company's success.

It was Cristina.

She was donning a fine dress, and yet the look on her face was distorted by madness and anger.

As she stood at the corner, she glared at Ivanna and exclaimed, "How come you became this successful? All of these things should've been mine! Had I chosen to be a part of Sky Film and Television Company, these would've been mine! All of the fame and money that came with being a part of this company would've become mine!"

Just seeing the smile on Ivanna's face made Cristina feel envious. She was like a lunatic, speaking to herself in a dim corner.

Her breast was heaving up and down in anger as she glared at Ivanna. Then, she rubbed her face, trying to appease herself.

Cristina whispered to herself, "There's no need to worry, Cristina. Ivanna is just a lucky country bumpkin. If I congratulate her, she might still treat me as her best friend!"

Thereafter, Cristina stared at the magnificent hotel with hope and excitement in her heart. She thought that entering the venue and getting to know some prominent people would eventually help her become famous.

Cristina adjusted her mood and put on a smile before approaching Ivanna. "Hi, Ivanna! Congratulations on your successful concert!"

She tried to act as natural as possible, and was about to walk into the hotel.

However, a hand blocked her path.

It was Trevor.

"If my memory serves me right, I didn't invite you to this party," Trevor said, glaring at her.

Upon seeing Trevor, Cristina became quite frustrated. However, she didn't let herself lose her composure and instead turned to Ivanna for help.

"Ivanna, I'm your best friend! I know that I've hurt you, and I admit that. Even so, please don't forget that we used to be best friends."

Cristina tried to make Ivanna feel guilty and appeal to the latter's sympathy.

"Ivanna, you're the kindest person I've ever met. You'll forgive me, won't you?"

Chapter 1128 Kind But Not Stupid

Trevor cackled when he heard how Cristina tried to make Ivanna feel guilty by using their friendship.

He shouted, "Cristina! If you don't want to suffer my wrath, get the hell out of here! I've never seen anyone as shameless as you are."

Cristina felt so humiliated because of what Trevor said that her face turned red. "I was talking to Ivanna, not you. What's got you so riled up?" she refuted.

Trevor scoffed at her and turned to Ivanna. "So, Ivanna, what are you going to do?"

Since Ivanna was indeed a kind woman, she seemed conflicted about the issue.

She pursed her lips, and said, "I'm not sure about this."

Seeing as Ivanna was conflicted, Trevor said, "I can tell that you value Cristina as your best friend, but ask yourself this: does she treat you the same way? While you were singing on that stage, she drugged you in an attempt to destroy your vocal chords. If Cristina had succeeded in doing that, your life would've been ruined. Not only would you have lost the ability to sing, but you might've even lost the ability to speak. And have you forgotten what she did to you two days ago when you were trekking the mountain?"

Cristina couldn't believe what she was hearing. She thought that by attending this banquet today, she could seize the opportunity to curry favor with the prominent people in Barlowtown. The fact that Trevor interrupted her got on her nerves.

"Levi! Shut the hell up! You're just trying to come between us. Believe it or not, I can tear that stupid mouth off your face!"

Ivanna was surprised because of all the things that Trevor said about Cristina.

Cristina had indeed done many despicable things, and all of those vicious acts were still vivid in Ivanna's mind.

In the end, Ivanna frowned at Cristina and said, "I admit that we used to be so close, Cristina. But now, you and I have nothing to do with each other. We're not even friends anymore. I hope that I never see your face again. I didn't invite you to this party, so please leave!"

"Ivanna!" Cristina screamed at the top of her lungs and her eyes were left wide open. Anger, resentment, and disbelief could be seen on her face altogether.

Having seen how Cristina's expression changed drastically, Trevor had a feeling that things were about to go south pretty soon.

Just as expected, Cristina took out a small bottle that contained transparent liquid from inside her purse. She unscrewed the cap and shouted, "You forced me to do this. Prepare to go to hell, Ivanna!"

Cristina tried to pour the strange liquid on Ivanna.

Startled, Ivanna shrieked.

Fortunately, Trevor was quick to react. He grabbed Cristina's wrist and prevented her from hurting Ivanna.

"Let me go, you jerk! I said, let me go!" Cristina shouted, struggling desperately as her eyes became the depiction of insanity.

"Drop the fucking bottle, you lunatic!" Trevor commanded.

Truthfully, he wasn't sure what the liquid Cristina had was. But if it was dangerous, he wouldn't hesitate to break her wrist.

"Eek! There's a crazy woman here! Someone is trying to attack Ivanna!" a passerby screamed in horror.

The entire venue was thrown into disarray.

"Let go of me! Levi! Let me fucking go!" Cristina was driven to the brink of insanity. She even considered biting Trevor's hand just to force him to let her go.

However, there was no way she could overpower him.

Failing to bite Trevor, Cristina knocked over the bottle in her hand during the struggle.

"Eek! Argh! It hurts!"

Cristina screamed in agony when the unknown liquid spilled onto her body.

Trevor backed away when he saw smoke rising from her body. The effects of the chemical corroded Cristina's clothes and burned her skin, which quickly turned black.

It seemed that the chemical was highly corrosive. The chemical must've been sulfuric acid. Cristina was truly insane!

Ivanna was horrified. She never even dared to imagine that her former best friend would be cruel enough to try to harm her like this. "Cristina!" she yelled.

"Eek! Help me! Somebody, please help me!" Cristina cried out. Tears streamed down her face as she dropped to her knees.

However, none of the people around would help her.

They witnessed as Cristina suffered the consequences of her own cruelty. In truth, they were delighted to see her suffer. They even whispered among themselves.

"That lunatic doesn't deserve an ounce of sympathy."

"Yeah! What if Ivanna got hurt?"

"I already called the police. A person like that madwoman deserves to go to prison!"

Ten minutes later, an ambulance arrived at the scene.

Just behind it, there were police cars with their sirens blaring.

Everyone knew that once Cristina's wounds were treated, she'd end up in prison.

Chapter 1129 I Have Something Urgent To Deal...

"Stop looking at it. Cristina brought this upon herself." Trevor gave Ivanna a pat on the shoulder to appease her. "Shake it off. The party is about to begin."

Albeit conflicted, Ivanna took a deep breath to calm herself down. "I understand. Let's do this."

Thereafter, they began entertaining the guests, acting as though the attack never happened. It was quite amazing how they managed to proceed and stay level-headed even after something like that happened.

Fortunately, the banquet was a success, and things went according to their plan.

Trevor even invited the guests of the banquet to take a group photo at the gate of the hotel.

Celebrities from various fields appeared in the group photo. Normally, all of these prominent people of Barlowtown didn't gather in one place at the same time.

Trevor encouraged the journalists to write articles about this event.

Moments later, he approached Nelly.

"Nelly, contact all the media companies in Barlowtown and inform them to report the banquet tonight. Lead discussions with the public regarding Sky Film and Television Company, and the troubled Star Film and Television Company."

Nelly was a senior agent, so she knew what this move meant.

She looked at Trevor, amazed at how someone so young was daring enough to take on the leading entertainment company in the city. He was quite ambitious!

Truthfully, Nelly admired his ambition. People without ambition deserved no spot within the entertainment industry.

Pretty soon, Trevor read many discussions on the Internet. Journalists from all over the city were scrambling to report about today's banquet, and they were so enthusiastic about the group photo that was taken.

Some people even voiced their comments about the event. "Sky Film and Television Company is incredible! In my opinion, if the company's movie becomes popular, it will be able to contend against Star Film and Television Company. It may become the leading enterprise of the entertainment industry!"

Trevor nodded with satisfaction after reading more comments about the recent news.

This was exactly what he wanted.

With great enthusiasm, Trevor murmured, "This move has completely broken Xzavier's foundation. Once Star Film and Television Company collapses, he will fall, too!"

When the thought crossed his mind, he clenched his fists.

Xzavier must've known more details of the rebellion within the Sanderson family. Perhaps only after defeating Xzavier could Trevor learn about the whereabouts of his father and grandfather.

Eventually, the party concluded.

Trevor composed himself before taking the Purple Band members to the airport and bidding them farewell.

Ivanna seemed reluctant to leave. She kept on looking back when she left the airport.

"We should go. Perhaps there will come a day when you'll be just as famous as Purple Band or maybe even more famous," Trevor encouraged Ivanna with a smile.

Seemingly excited, Ivanna responded, "It will be a long time before that happens. By the way, we should celebrate; just the two of us!"

She glanced at Trevor with admiration in her eyes.

A second later, she looked away. "I want to thank you for helping me so much."

Trevor smiled at her. Truthfully, he was still a little hungry because he didn't get to eat much during the banquet. Just as he was about to agree, his phone vibrated in his pocket.

He received a message.

Upon seeing the message, he froze and held his breath.

After putting his phone away, Trevor said, "Ivanna, I'm sorry, but we'll have to celebrate some other time. You should go home. I'll call you again once I have some spare time."

Confused, Ivanna asked, "What's the matter?"

Trevor remembered the message he just received. The veins in his hands were practically pulsating as he tried to stay as calm as possible.

"I have something urgent to deal with!" he explained.
