

Married At First Sight

Married At First Sight Chapter 3290-Callum was going to pick Camryn up at the airport, but Camryn wouldn't let him go, so she came back by car with her bodyguards.

She said that she could already see, so Callum wouldn't have to worry too much about her and let her be more independent.

Well, whatever Camryn said was what it was.

Callum happened to be too busy, but Camryn was considerate of him and didn't need him to pick her up at the airport. He just finished his work and went home to wait for her.

He also prepared a table of her favorite dishes for her.

Camryn had eaten the in-flight meal on the plane, but when she got home, she was already hungry.

Her home was quite far from the airport.

She didn't know when it stopped raining, but there was water everywhere on the ground, the sky was still overcast, and the temperature was lower than in the morning.

Hearing the sound of the car, Callum came out of the house to greet her.

Just in time to see Camryn get out of the car, Callum quickly walked down the steps and smiled. "Wifey, you're back. Thank you for your hard work."

Camryn stayed at the company for a few days and was indeed tired. Her sister-in-law, Melissa, was pregnant, so her brother, Dalton, had to spend some time with Melissa. She had taken on a lot of work, and originally, the Newman family business was her responsibility.

Dalton had paid too much for Camryn and the Newman family's business. It was time for him to rest and spend more time with his wife, Melissa.

"It's not hard work. Brother Mo has arranged everything well for me. I just have to follow the steps."

Callum helped her hold the small suitcase and walked up the steps to the house with her. As he walked, he asked her, "Sister-in-law, is she okay?"

Camryn said, "She's good, but the morning sickness is a bit severe. Brother Dal is very worried."

Callum said, "There's nothing we can do about it. Alice, the eldest young lady from the Stone family, also had severe morning sickness at the time, and Clive almost asked his wife to abort the child. Our eldest sister-in-law (Serenity) and Miss Sox (Jasmine) are considered lucky."

Serenity and Jasmine's pregnancy was not serious, and they would be fine if they vomited once or twice on occasion.

Being able to eat and sleep made many pregnant mothers envious.

Camryn was silent for a moment, then said, "It's very hard to be pregnant for ten months. Being a mother is not easy. A mother who has endured so much hardship in exchange for her child's birth will love her child as if it were her life. But my mother wishes I were dead."

Evidently, she was born after her mother had carried her baby for ten months.

Her mother just didn't love her. The mother loves her younger sister (Carrie) and younger brother (Trenton), but not her. Not only did she not love her, but she also wished she were dead, and she had thought about killing her several times. Even though she didn't kill her, she was still unable to get pregnant and have children.

With distress, Callum squeezed her hand and said, "Camryn, not all mothers are qualified and will love their children as much as they want." Parents don't need to take exams to get jobs. There are all kinds of parents."

Camryn: "I know, but most parents love their children, especially mothers. I read on the Internet that if I could swap my life for another, the hospital rooftop would be teeming with loving parents. Maybe it's because my parents have a bad relationship."

Her biological mother had never felt the slightest bit of guilt towards her.

Even if it means death, she's afraid her mother won't regret it.

Her biological mother only regretted that she didn't kill her when her biological father just left. She was only two years old at that time, and it was really easy to kill her.

Camryn visited her mother in prison after her sentence.

When her mother saw Camryn, she insulted her, scolded her for a bad death, and said she regretted not killing her in the first place. Anyway, there was no trace of guilt.

Her mother also warned Camryn that if she dared to bully her siblings, she would not let her go, even if she became a ghost.

This was her biological mother!

Callum said, "In the future, there will be me and my parents. My parents will love you more than me, their biological son. You see, whenever I return to the villa, my parents always surround you. It's like I was picked up."
