Married At First Sight Chapter 3308-The four old men hurriedly asked him about his health, and one of them even took his pulse, as if he would die if he coughed.

“I’m fine.”

The old man who coughed twice said in a gentle voice, “I just can’t hold on any longer if I keep on traveling.”

“Hey, kid, hurry up and open the door and let us in. Can’t you see that our old man can’t hold on any longer? What do you care who we are? We are guests. “Didn’t the Stones understand this hospitality?”

The elderly gentleman, who expressed the possibility of removing the door, spoke with a loud voice and exhibited a somewhat tense disposition. He glared at the butler and urged him to open the door.

If his brothers hadn’t been watching over him, he would have seriously damaged the gate to the Stone family’s villa.

“Old Four.” He supported the old man, who coughed twice, and said it in a low voice. The old man remained silent.

“Boy, our big brother is the one your boss has been looking for. Don’t worry, we are not bad people. Please open the door and allow us to get some hot water. I am not feeling well.”

Among the five old men, the youngest one was the one who took the eldest brother’s pulse. The old doctor was Dr. Carden’s master.

The old miracle doctor had already brought his disciple back to FC Manor, where he was taking care of his little grandson with the Johnson family.

He knew that Big Brother insisted on flying to Wiltspoon to meet Audrey.

Concerned about his elder brother’s health, he was forced to leave his precious grandson behind, rush back to reunite with a group of old brothers, and fly to Wiltspoon with his elder brother.

The older brother had reached the age of 90. Even with this old miracle doctor, who frequently helped him recover, his health was getting worse every year.

The old doctor told the old guys the truth: that Big Brother earns money day by day and could last a year at best, or at most, only a few months.

Perhaps he had a premonition that his end was near. Upon learning of the discovery of the descendant of the previous head of the Farrell family, the eldest brother insisted on meeting him.

No matter how they tried to persuade him, he wouldn't listen.

He said he wanted to notify Audrey to come over, but Big Brother wouldn't let him.

He was concerned that exposing the homes of several old friends would cause them trouble.

These old men were the hermit masters mentioned in the world's legends.

He had been living in seclusion for twenty or thirty years and had not cared about worldly affairs.

Both Dr. Carden and the current wife of the head of the Meadspring Lafayette family were disciples of these masters, so everyone had learned some new information.

The old thief, who was the master of the wife of the head of the Lafayette family, was eager to tear down the door.

The oldest brother was the assistant of the previous matriarch of the Jensburg Farrell family, whom the current matriarch has been looking for for decades.

Following the murder of Audrey's parents, the second lady and her men ambushed him in his capacity as the family head's assistant. Despite his skill, he ultimately found himself alone and suffered serious injuries.

He thought about fighting to the death, even if it meant death, to avenge the family's master.

However, considering the fate of the head of the family's two daughters and the likelihood of her death, no one would reveal the second young lady's plot.

The current Matriarch Farrell was too cruel, and he knew that he could not avenge Matriarch Farrell in a short period of time.

He had to flee Jensburg with injuries.

Matriarch Farrell actually sent people to track him down.

Matriarch Farrell didn't lose sight of him until the old doctor and his friends rescued him.

Matriarch Farrell had been hiding too many secrets. How could younger generations like Kathryn know what happened back then?

Matriarch Farrell, who had something to hide, would not let the younger generations know. No one who knew about the situation back then was still alive. The older people in the clan now heard the news from hearsay or organized their own guesses into conspiracy theories.

But after this escape, the old assistant was never able to return to Jensburg.

The gossip would occasionally share with him the latest news about the Farrell family in Jensburg.

He knew that the second young lady who had killed the Matriarch had become the real head of the Farrell family; the third young lady was also dead; the whereabouts of the Matriarch's two daughters were unknown; and their lives or deaths were uncertain.

After the second young lady took power, she secretly eliminated many people who knew about the incident.
