

Married At First Sight Chapter 3311

Married At First Sight Chapter 3311—"Husband, who is it?" When Alice heard the ringtone, she turned and sat up, leaning over to hug her crying son.

"Honey, don't hug him. If you hug him, he won't drink the milk powder I prepared." Clive quickly stopped Alice from holding their son.

"The little guy is very naughty. He won't drink milk powder when he smells your scent." Alice saw that her son was already making milk powder, so she didn't hug him. It was okay to cry a few times.

While making milk powder, Clive replied, "The butler called and said that some elderly people were here, looking for Mom." They said they were the people Mom had been looking for. I don't know if it's true or not. I asked the butler to entertain them first. After I feed my son the milk powder, I will go downstairs to take a look."

"Is the person Mom has been looking for the most powerful around Grandma when she was alive?"

Alice knew all about Audrey's life experience and her grudges with the Farrell family.

She also knew that Clive arranged for someone to help Audrey find someone, but he never found him.

After all, decades had passed, and even her mother-in-law, Audrey, still vaguely remembered that person's appearance. After several decades, that person was no longer what her mother-in-law remembered. Furthermore, if that person were still alive, he would be in his nineties, or nearly a hundred years old. They really didn't dare to hold out any hope.

She felt in her heart that the old man might have died a long time ago. It wasn't easy to attack the mother-in-law, but they also made a concerted effort to find someone to help. Maybe there would be a miracle.

Just like her mother-in-law, Audrey, who was looking for her sister, she searched for twenty or thirty years, saying there was no hope, but finally found two nieces (Serenity and Liberty).

Finding two nieces was also a comfort to her mother-in-law.

Ever since Audrey, Serenity, and Liberty met each other, Alice felt that her mother-in-law was in a much better spirit than before. Her mother-in-law was also thinking about avenging her grandmother. Maybe there was someone who could share the burden. Alice felt that her mother-in-law was not as anxious about looking for her sister.

Liberty's business in Jensburg was going well; at least the company started smoothly. She had also negotiated a lot of business, and the company was still recruiting people.

If you have a business, you need to recruit people.

Alice didn't believe that the daughter of the Farrell family was so powerful. Now, she could see that Liberty had moved to Jensburg. Although it was not difficult to open a company with investment from three major groups, Liberty had to rely on herself to negotiate business.

Liberty's ability to negotiate so much business showed that she was indeed a capable person.

Maybe it really was a family genetic factor.

For example, even if her mother-in-law grew up in an orphanage, she could rely on her own efforts to gain the trust and reliance of her boss and finally let her son marry her.

What Alice heard most was the story about how her mother-in-law dominated the business world when she was young. She admired her mother-in-law very much.

When she was younger, Clive's grandmother bullied Audrey, but after Alice married, Audrey never mistreated her.

Audrey expressed her desire to prevent Alice from experiencing the rain again, citing her own exposure to it. Her relationship with Alice was as good as that between mother and daughter.

Clive prepared the milk powder and brought it over. He picked up his crying son and comforted him before feeding him milk powder.

The little guy was very hungry and finally got something to eat. It didn't matter whether it was bre*st milk or milk powder. Let's eat first.

Clive said, "Yes. But I don't know if it's true or not. I have to wait until Mom gets up. Let Mom see someone. Even Mom may not be able to recognize it."

Audrey was only eight years old when the accident happened at her grandmother's house. Decades have passed, and even if she has a good memory, she may not remember the old assistant.

"He doesn't even dare to lie, even if he thinks about it." Alice said.

Clive said, "I hope it's that old gentleman, and we don't have to look for him so hard anymore."

Alice said, "Can you ask Julian if there is any news there? Are you sure the elderly people who came here are genuine?"

Married At First Sight Chapter 3312-Clive hummed and said, "I have completely forgotten about Julian."

The baby was full quickly.

Clive carefully handed his son to his wife to hold. He called Julian and asked if he knew the whereabouts of the old assistant.

Julian said a little embarrassedly, "After searching for so long, there is still no news. Mr. Stone, I suspect that the person you are looking for is no longer alive."

There were a lot of elderly people in their 70s and 80s. However, the number of individuals who were ninety years old remained significantly smaller.

The old man Audrey was looking for was nearly a hundred years old. Julian guessed that the other party was no longer alive.

Also, because it happened decades ago, Julian received very little information.

It was also a big problem for them to find people.

Audrey didn't even remember the other person's name. She only remembered that when she was a child, she always called that person uncle.

She didn't even know what his last name was.

Teach Julian how to find it?

The Bucham family had a powerful information network, but they were not gods. Even gods have to spend some time to figure it out.

There were some things and some people that the Bucham family couldn't do anything about some things and some people.

Clive said, "Now several elderly people have come to my door and told my butler that they are the people my mother is looking for."

Julian: "Are they liars? Mr. Stone, I really don't have any useful information here."

Clive said, "Young Master Bucham, I have no other intention. I haven't gone downstairs yet, and I haven't seen those old people. I don't know whether it's true or not. I wanted to ask you if you have any useful information. If not, those old people are either liars, or they are so powerful that even your Bucham family can't reach out."

Julian said, "Go and take a look later, ask them who they are, and find an opportunity to quietly take photos of them. If you have recent photos, it will be easier for me to find them."

Clive: "Okay."

"Young Master Bucham, I disturbed you so early in the morning." Clive said apologetically, "When you come back, I'll treat you to dinner."

Julian smiled and said, "It's okay; I'm asleep too. Okay, first, remember that you can treat me to dinner when I get back. We will go back years."

The family of three also stayed in Yonsburg for a long time.

Walter and his wife had long known each other as in-laws to Kiera's parents.

Kiera: She hasn't even married Julian yet.

The parents on both sides refer to each other as in-laws. However, Kiera should be married to Julian. If she doesn't marry him, who can she marry?

With Julian sticking to Kiera's side like a piece of brown candy, handsome, rich, and capable of fighting, who was not afraid of death to challenge Julian and dare to steal his wife from him?

Only Kiera could make Julian the real man in his life. That was his destined savior.

Julian would risk his life to marry Kiera, and he would not allow anyone to get involved with her.

"Are you coming back with your wife?" Clive joked, "When the time comes, you will have to bring your wife out so that we can get to know each other."

Julian: "Just let your wife meet my wife, Kiera."

Clive smiled and said, "Definitely."

Julian was also a domineering ghost.

After the call ended, Clive told his wife, "Julian will bring his future wife back to celebrate the New Year." You should have more contact with her and maintain a friendly relationship with her. Julian's thighs are not easy to hug, so hugging his wife's legs is more useful."

Married At First Sight Chapter 3313-Alice smiled and said, "That's natural. Being able to hug Julian's wife is equivalent to hugging Julian's lap."

Alice, the eldest mistress of a businessman, didn't have to please or flatter anyone. However, she still wanted to make friends with Julian and his wife.

There would always be times when the Bucham family was helpful. To utilize the Bucham family, they needed to establish a relationship with Zachary that would enable them to receive assistance.

Except for a few who were real friends, most of a lady's social circle consisted of purposeful contacts.

Just taking advantage of each other.

"Do downstairs and see if those old people are liars." Alice coaxed her son gently: "The baby will go to sleep soon. I will stay with the baby to sleep for a while. You don't need to ask me to get up for breakfast. You have to have breakfast before returning to the company."

"Okay." Clive came over, kissed his beloved wife on the face, and touched his son's little face tenderly.

He wanted to do nothing but be with his wife and son.

Alice: "Go quickly."

Clive kissed his wife again and whispered, "It will be fine when the baby is two months old."

Alice hummed.

Her face was a little red. She had been a vegetarian for too long.

Clive didn't even dare to touch her after she was in confinement. He said he would let her raise her child for another month and then resume their married life when the baby was two months old.

"You guys sleep a little longer; I'll go downstairs and take a look." Clive looked at his wife deeply, then stood up straight, turned around, and walked out.

Just a few minutes later,

“Young Master.” The butler was waiting for Clive on the stairs. When he saw Clive coming downstairs, he called out respectfully.

Several elderly people sat on the sofa, and the butler served them tea and snacks.

At the same time, he also ordered the kitchen to prepare breakfast for a few more people.

If this is truly the person the wife is looking for, the host will probably keep a few elderly people for breakfast. Being prepared is more beneficial than being unprepared.

Anyway, Remy, the future son-in-law next door, would come over for some food later.

When they saw Clive coming downstairs, several elderly people simply glanced at him and continued to drink their warm water.

They didn't touch fruits and snacks.

When the oldest one saw Clive, he stared at him long and said, “There is a little shadow.”

“Old man, this is our eldest young master, Clive.”

Clive came over and said hello politely, then sat down and let the five old people look at him.

He looked at the old assistant. His beard was also gray. He didn't know how many years it had taken him to grow such a long white beard.

Married At First Sight Chapter 3314-His face was full of wrinkles, and it was only three-dimensional, like the portrait his mother could barely draw from memory. No wonder Julian couldn't find anyone there.

Audrey didn't remember clearly. No matter how good the painting skills were, the lifelike characters would be useless if drawn incorrectly.

Was this my grandmother's all-around assistant?

Clive: “May I ask your surnames for these elderly people?”

“It doesn't matter what our surnames are. No one has inquired about our surnames for decades. We don't even remember our surnames very well.” The old miracle doctor was the one who spoke.

“Young Master Stone, I am an old doctor. I have been practicing medicine for decades, earning the title of ‘Miracle Doctor’ from others. Lilian Carden is my apprentice. Young Master Stone, you should have heard of my apprenticeship.”

The old miracle doctor first introduced himself.

At Clive’s age, he was definitely not familiar with this old miracle doctor and had never even heard of his name. But his apprentice, Dr. Carden, must have heard of it.

Dr. Lilian Carden helped Camryn treat her eyes.

“Young Master Stone, we prefer direct communication.” We rescued this big brother decades ago. A group of killers pursued him during that period. They left him injured, poisoned, and in a state of great embarrassment. He would have died if not for good luck. We saved him; otherwise, he would have died a long time ago.

After his treatment, he slowly got better, but his body still had sequelae. I have to spend a significant amount of money on high-quality medicine each day to keep him alive. When we rescued him, he was very defensive of us and refused to say anything. I sent people out to inquire for a long time, and then I found out that he is the most trusted all-around assistant of the Farrell family in Jensburg. I won’t go into details about this all-around assistant. I think you already know the rules of the Farrell family.

It’s not that he lacks the desire to exact revenge on his family leader, but rather that he has more than enough energy, albeit not sufficient. The woman who is now sitting in the position of head of the Farrell family is not only ruthless, but also quite capable. She has also put in a lot of hard work to become the head of the Farrell family.”

At that time, the previous heads of the Farrell family were all dead. Her third sister, lacking the protection of the eldest sister, tragically died in an accident. Even if my eldest brother returns to seek retribution, it remains uncertain whether he will be able to exact his revenge. Once he exacts his revenge, he will no longer hold the position of head of the Farrell family. For whom to sit?

My eldest brother has a stubborn temper. He believes that his daughter should inherit the family head position. In essence, this position can only be inherited by a member of his family. Before locating the two young ladies, he exacted his revenge, which resulted in the loss of his position as the head of the Farrell family. If he handed the position to someone else, Big Brother would likely feel sorry for his family’s head.

We have been persuading and blocking him, and he is not in good health, so he really has no chance of winning revenge alone. He lacks substantial evidence and fears the opposing party’s retaliation. Therefore, He has been with us for decades.”

The old miracle doctor and the others had long since retired, which meant he still often went out to treat people and teach his apprentices. Even if they knew about the grudges between wealthy families outside, they would not meddle in their own affairs.

They rescued the old assistant. They appreciated the old assistant's loyalty and regarded him as a good friend. However, if the old assistant wanted to avenge the Farrell family's head, they wouldn't get involved.

As soon as they intervened, they would become enemies of the entire Farrell family. It was not that they were afraid, but they didn't want more innocent people to die.

And if they intervened, other wealthy families would know that these old guys were still meddling in Farrell family affairs. In order to guard against them, they might attack them in groups, because those wealthy families were also worried that one day these old guys would meddle in their own affairs. Took care of their family affairs.

A few decades ago, family clans were considered difficult to manipulate. Aside from that, they clearly stated that they would retire from the world and do what they said.

The affairs of their apprentices in the world have no bearing on them. They only said that they retired from the world; they did not say that their apprentices also retired.

For various reasons, they did not want the old assistant to work hard alone.

They were helped to find out the whereabouts of the two daughters of the previous matriarch Farrell.

It's just that Audrey and her sisters were sent to an orphanage in Wiltspoon, far away from Jensburg, and in an era when transportation and communications were underdeveloped, so they couldn't find them after searching for a long time.

As time went by, the children grew up and their appearance changed, making it even more difficult for Silver Fox to find people.

Unlike today, with the development of the Internet, transportation, and communications, the apprentices they trained have expanded their small organizations even further, and their capabilities are much stronger than they were a few decades ago, making it much easier to find people.

Married At First Sight Chapter 3315-The old miracle doctor took the place of the old assistant and explained the real reason why he had been unable to avenge the current matriarch Farrell, for decades.

The old assistant was excited, broke down in tears, and felt guilty, believing he had failed to save the Farrell family's head.

When he got excited, he coughed violently.

The old miracle doctor quickly took out the medicine he had brought with him, poured out two pills, asked the old assistant to take them, and said, "Big brother, don't be so excited. I haven't met your little Miss Audrey yet."

Others also kept trying to comfort the old assistant, telling him not to get too excited.

After drinking water and taking medicine, the old assistant's excitement calmed down a bit.

Clive was also extremely worried about the old assistant's physique. He had never met the old miracle doctor, but he knew the old doctor's abilities, and Dr. Carden was his disciple.

Dr. Carden helped Camryn cure her eyes. The old miracle doctor and the Johnson family were like in-laws.

He was also related to Stones and the Johnsons. The relationship, albeit indirect, was irreversible.

Seeing that the old assistant had calmed down, he said, "Old gentleman, I'm going to ask my mother to come down." You guys, wait a moment."

He then said to the old assistant, "Old gentleman, I believe you are out of control and unable to do what you want. My mother has never complained about you. You don't need to put too much psychological pressure on yourself."

"Butler."

Clive ordered the Butler, "Enter these elderly gentlemen; well, I'll go upstairs."

The butler responded respectfully.

After Clive went upstairs, he first called Remy. When Remy answered the phone, he whispered, "Come over right away, Remy, and have a look."

Remy was shocked. Early in the morning, his future brother-in-law called him over, thinking something had happened.

He quickly asked, "Brother, what happened?"

“A few old people came here, and one of them claimed to be the old miracle doctor. I have heard the name of the old miracle doctor, but I have never seen him. He is related to the Johnson family. I think you have met him before. Come and have a look. Make sure it's the old miracle doctor or not.”

Hearing this, Remy said, “The old gentleman is here. Why did he come here? My elder brother told me that after Titus's winter vacation, the old gentleman took Titus back to FC Manor to help my fourth brother with his baby. I hadn't heard about the old gentleman visiting Wiltspoon. Okay, I'll go over and have a look right away.

Come to think of it, no one would dare pretend to be an old gentleman.”

If someone pretends to be an old miracle doctor, he can only deceive those outside. Do scammers dare to deceive wealthy people, such as Stones?

The old miracle doctor was unaware that the Stone family and the Johnson family were getting married. The Johnson family, related to the old miracle doctor, had already met him.

Remy guessed that the old miracle doctor might really be here.

But why did the old miracle doctor come to the office so early in the morning?

Remy wouldn't have guessed it.

After notifying Remy to come and recognize him, Clive called Zachary again. Zachary picked up Sonny, who was refusing to get up, and sent him to kindergarten.

Sonny complained again, saying that if Serenity could sleep in, he would get up early to go to kindergarten. He said that he didn't want to go to kindergarten.

After being carried out of Titus by his uncle, Sonny didn't want to lose to his friends, so he stopped mumbling.

After Zachary married Serenity, his relationship with Clive was no longer as tense as before.

However, no matter what happened, neither of the two CEOs would take the initiative to call each other.

“What's up?” Zachary asked in a low voice and then said to Sonny, “Put your clothes on yourself, and then go wash your face and brush your teeth.”

“What?” Clive listened, confused, on the phone.

Zachary said, “I'm not talking to you; I'm talking to Sonny.”

Clive: "..."

The two of them were talking on the phone, but Zachary said that he was not talking to him.

Clive, guessing that Zachary should be serving the little ancestor Sonny, was good-tempered and did not lose his temper.

"You can say it." Zachary finally talked to Clive.

If he hadn't known that his cousin was still resting at this point, Clive wouldn't have wanted to talk to Zachary on the phone and listen to Zachary's tone.

It seemed like he was going to report to Zachary.

Holding back his temper, Clive said, "The old miracle doctor came to the door with my grandmother's assistant. He was accompanied by several elderly people. They may be some of the masters who dominated the world decades ago. Tell Serenity that if you can come, then come with Serenity."

"Old miracle doctor?" Zachary frowned. "Are you sure they are the old miracle doctor and others?"

"I'm not sure. I'll inform Remy to come and identify him. Remy has met the old miracle doctor. However, I am confident that they won't be lying. None of those worldly experts would dare casually pretend to be someone else. His disciples have connections all over the world."

The apprentice who asked about Silver Fox had the widest connections.

The one with the loudest voice was the old thief, Sariyah's master. Sariyah was now the head wife of the Lafayette family in Meadspring.

Not only were the identities of the other disciples revealed, but the mere exposure of Sariyah and Lilian's identities frightened many.

Lilian, in particular, was rumored to be a master of medicine and poisoning. Not only was she a doctor, but she was also a poisoner, which was scary.

Zachary said, "Okay, I will tell Seren now that she will definitely go there, and I will accompany her there."

The old person who was the assistant of the previous matriarch Farrell, was found. This was a big deal. Serenity had to go to the Stone family. He naturally accompanied her there.

“Okay, you guys come here early; I’ll wake up my mother first.” Clive said that and hung up the phone.

Sonny listened to the whole process, and when he saw Zachary put down his cell phone, Sonny, who had already dressed himself, jumped into Zachary’s arms.

Zachary hugged him quickly.

Sonny asked, “Uncle, where are you taking my aunt? I’m going too.”

Zachary said, “We’ll go to your aunt’s house. You’ll go to kindergarten. It’s a holiday in two days. Then I’ll send you to your aunt’s house to stay for a few days.”

Sonny pouted, “Can’t I ask for leave? My uncle is partial and takes my aunt to my aunt Elisa’s house instead of me.”

Zachary patted his little b-u-t-t and said confidently, “Why am I just partial to your aunt? Could you bite me? My wife is your aunt, and she will live with me for the rest of her life. I don’t favor her over anyone.”

“Can you live with your uncle for the rest of your life? When you grow up and get a wife, you may not even recognize your uncle. Tell me: Who is closer to me? “Of course it is your aunt, so I prefer your aunt; that’s a matter.”

Sonny: “...”

It seemed that what Zachary said made sense. Because his mother was not home, Sonny lived with Serenity and Zachary. When his mother came back, he went home.

He couldn’t stay with his uncle, Zachary, every day.

“Then...uncle, when you favor my aunt, just a little, a little, be nice to me. I won’t argue with my aunt anymore.”

Sonny spoke pitifully, but his dark eyes turned around.
