

Chapter 386 A Illegitimate Child

Liza took a deep breath and tried to calm herself down.

Then she gave them both a cold stare before pulling out her phone and dialing Marco's number.

When Marco answered the phone, she said in a solemn tone, "Marco, come home now."

There was a brief moment of silence before Marco asked, "Grandma, is something wrong? I'm very busy at work."

He had guessed that Laura and Marina would go ask Liza for help, so the call had not come as a surprise.

He knew Liza wanted him to come home so they could discuss the matter.

But Laura and Marina would go crazy in front of him if he came home; that was why he didn't want to.

Sensing his reluctance, Liza reminded him of her position as the eldest member of the family.

"Marco, so you don't even want to obey me anymore, eh?"

Marco pursed his lips and said nothing.

It was very difficult for him to refuse Liza's request.

"Fine. I'll return home after I finish this," he finally conceded.

"No. Come right away!" she ordered and abruptly hung up the phone before he could say anything.

Marco listened to the beep with a long face.

The thought of returning to that cold home and meeting his sinister family made him feel very unhappy.

Several minutes later, a black Lincoln came to a halt in front of the villa.

Marco stepped out of the vehicle with a face as gloomy as the sky.

The maids immediately opened the door for him and welcomed him in.

As soon as he stepped into the house, two people ran to him.

It was Laura and Marina. They stood on either side of him, both of them crying at the same time.

"Marco!"

"Marco!" Marina cried. "You have to help me this time! Otherwise, my life will be ruined!"

Laura quickly added her voice as well. "Marco, Marina is your sister, and I'm your mother. You can't see us go to jail without doing anything."

Marco sighed and closed his eyes in anger.

At this point, Marina wiped her tears and said angrily, "It's all Loraine's fault. If it wasn't for her, I—"

"That's enough!" Marco yelled, his eyes flashing in fury.

His sudden shout stunned them and they didn't dare speak another word.

Marco was already fed up with both of them, but he lost control of his emotions when he heard Marina blaming Loraine. He looked at them and said emphatically, "I won't help you this time. You asked for it and you deserve it."

"What?" Marina gasped in disbelief.

"Marco," Laura said, her eyes wide with fear, "if your sister and I go to jail, Bryant Group will suffer greatly."

"Marco, they may have done something foolish, but we're still family after all," Liza reminded him. "If you want to punish them, we can decide on that amongst ourselves. Why are you making such a big deal out of this? It'll be a big disgrace to our family."

Laura was surprised that Liza was advocating for their punishment, but she didn't dare argue with her.

Meanwhile, even after listening to Liza, Marco remained expressionless. He was highly disappointed in his family.

"Grandma, how long are you going to keep protecting them?" he asked Liza.

"What do you mean by that?" Liza demanded with a frown. "I'm doing this for you and Bryant Group!"

"I'm not going to do anything to help them, regardless of whether or not their predicament will be bad for Bryant Group," Marco declared and turned away from them.

"How can you say such a thing?" Liza gasped in disbelief.

She was so enraged that she put her hand on her chest, her pale face twitching angrily as she struggled to calm herself down.

Marina suddenly burst out in an angry yell. "Of course! You don't even give a damn about our family's reputation, all because of that bitch, Loraine!"

She was so bitter and furious as she thought about how her reputation would be easily ruined if nothing was done for her.

And worse still, she could even end up in jail.

Marco not only refused to help her, but also wanted to punish her.

As far as Marina was concerned, Loraine was to blame for everything.

So, she kept insulting Loraine like crazy, which only irritated Marco even more.

"Marina, that's enough!" he shouted at her.

"No! It's not enough! I'm going to say my mind! It's all Loraine's fault! She's a total bitch..."

Slap!

A hard slap from Marco shut her up immediately.

Marina was shell shocked. "How dare you hit me?" she exclaimed when she finally found her voice.

"Because you deserve it!"

Marina, now mad with rage, could no longer control her emotions and she blurted out angrily, "Who do hell you think you are? How dare you hit me? You're nothing but an illegitimate child!"
