

Arabella 132

Chapter 132

With no one else around, Romeo let loose, hugging Arabella nonstop

Finally arriving at the company, Arabella breathed a sigh of relief Spotting Dean, she said in a soft voice, "Fetch Mr. Charlie from the production department and the team leaders from lines four and five to my office

"Sure thing" As Dean went off to call them, the company employees started their whispering game again .

Ever since Arabella took over, whoever got called into her office was toast!

Now she had Dean call over Mr. Charlie and the line leaders.

A bunch of nosy employees followed sneakily, curious about what the big deal was.

"Ms. Bennett, you wanted to see us?"

Mr. Charlie, looking a bit malnourished, was around forty, tall, and skinny. His shrewd eyes twinkled with a bit of mischief.

The other two line leaders looked anxious but managed to squeeze out a smile and said in unison, "Good morning. Ms. Bennett."

tossed her phone on the table and played the recording.

not, this is how it's going down;

scrutiny. Lines four and five have to stop, and the inventory in the warehouse needs to be cleared out in a couple of days. Or else, not just us, even

Charlie and Eden from line four went as white as words from the hallway, recorded crystal clear.

was Arabella eavesdropping in the hallway last this is," Mr. Charlie was in disbelief and completely at a

be checked the security cameras; nobody entered or left the company last night. He had even specifically checked the recording, which was working the whole time. If someone was there, they person could become

how could this be really bugs?

need to rush your explanation." Arabella said casually as Arabella actually came to the company and knew about way Arabella is checking things, it won't be long before all our secrets lose our jobs because of this?"