

Arabella 361

Chapter 361

“Gran’s breathing difficulties are because a cerebral hemorrhage affected her breathing center. The right treatment will help her get better.” “Where did you get that theory from? Our Western medicine doesn’t fully agree with the theory of acupuncture.” The doctor said anxiously as he looked at the continuous alarm sound on the ventilator, “The old lady’s condition is getting worse, Mr. and Mrs. Collins, I request to have this girl removed.”

“Sis, what are you doing? Saving someone doesn’t mean sticking a few needles in them! You’re not a super doctor; step aside and let the professionals handle it. If anything happens to Grandma because of you, Mom and Dad won’t forgive you.”

Serena didn’t expect Arabella to go as far as bringing a needle pack to attract attention. Was she trying to show off in front of their parents?

Wasn’t she being a bit too impulsive?

If her treatment failed, she can kiss her stay with this family goodbye.

and Louisa couldn’t believe their daughter knew about acupuncture. After all, it’s a traditional foreign medical skill. But with the elderly’s condition so severe, could it really be improved just by bloodletting? try!” Hans saw hope in Arabella’s confident eyes.

was stunned. “Mr. Collins, the old lady is about to pass out! We must rescue her immediately! If we wait any longer, even a super doctor “Who is this girl? How old is she? Do you know her? How could you let her practice is almost could no longer stand the constant alarm from want her to stunned everyone!

girl in her teens could have such a strong spirit!!

The doctor looked at the data two other nurses were surprised faces, Serena couldn’t believe Arabella really had a solution and asked anxiously, “Doctor, how is it? Is she gone?

as something happened to Grandma, Arabella will never be able to stay in the Collins be possible? Grandma was saved by

Chapter 362

“Bella, you’re a lifesaver! You saved your Grandma in the nick of time! You’re just amazing!” Kenneth was so excited, he wanted to hug her. Louisa beat him to it, embracing her daughter. “Thank God, your Grandma is fine now! We were scared to death!”

The thought of anything happening to the old lady was terrifying.

Who knew their daughter was such a skilled doctor?

Phillip always praised her medical skills. It turned out he wasn’t just blowing smoke.

It wasn’t Phillip favoring Bella, it was Bella truly being that competent!

Her medical skills were top-notch!

determination, calmness, and wisdom she showed during the rescue left everyone felt a sudden warmth from her mother’s embrace, a feeling of be prouder to have such a daughter. While proud, Kenneth having these skills, why was she daughter, feeling that she

to make it up to her, to treat stunned. From Kenneth and Louisa’s words, they could guess that the old lady didn’t Kenneth and Louisa only have one did this girl come from?

were doting on her

Serena, she seemed a bit jealous!

girl’s special identity and remembering her own rash words earlier, a young nurse lowered her head and apologized to Arabella, saying, “I’m sorry, was wrong to medical skills were saying remorsefully, “I was too anxious just now,

Chapter 363

Hans caught the hidden meaning in her words and asked frostily, “Are you saying The Golden Mirror of Medicine is considered trashy?”

Was she implying that Arabella only managed to save her grandmother because she got lucky? So, was saving someone just about copying others?

Why didn’t she try saving someone herself, then?

The doctor next to them chimed in respectfully, "It's not as simple as reading a few books to save a life. Ms. Bella's medical skills clearly surpass those all of us. It's not just about simple imitation."

Serena fumed inwardly, 'Why are you sticking your nose in? This isn't your business!

Arabella just smiled. Her recent diagnosis had given her a clear understanding of their condition.

a very famous doctor who has the medicine to cure her words, everyone present was really know a famous doctor? Does she have in his shock, also remembered that his daughter was a renowned international pianist. She must have a wide social circle, so it wouldn't be too hard for joyfully, "So, your grandparents can be saved?

a graduate from a prestigious medical university with three generations of doctors in his family. If he can't cure this disease, can your friend help?"

I mean is, our grandparents' condition is very complicated, and many famous doctors and experts can't cure it. Can we really rely on fraudsters posing as doctors these days, answered confidently,

person was compare

and said, "I can guarantee that as long as they take the

Chapter 364

Out of nowhere, Hans grew curious, wanting to know his little sister's standing in the medical field, considering she can handle even the trickiest cases with ease. Everybody knew that the top dog of the medical world was

Dr. Bell, whose mad skills can bring people back from the brink of death. But the guy's a ghost, so nobody knew where to find him.

Ever since his grandparents got chucked into intensive care, he'd been sending people out like crazy to hunt down Dr. Bell, hoping the doctor could pull his grandparents back from the edge..

Some folks said Dr. Bell's already kicked the bucket, while others claimed they've spotted him in the triangular zone. But whether these rumors held water, nobody knew.

He couldn't help but wonder: could his sister be Dr. Bell's protégé?

that were the case, his grandparents would be in good on this card. See what she's asking for, make her happy, and keep the change as pocket a bit thrown off; was she getting giving Arabella more the card back, saying, "No need, I'm it over, saying, "Top-notch doctors charge an arm and a charge me a fortune." She was dead set on not using her parents' Sis just wants to show her filial piety. If Grandpa

"You and your sister are both only 18. It's normal for girls his foot down: "We can't let

Chapter 365

"Bella, do you reckon we should get that doctor to come over and check your grandparents out properly
, then treat them accordingly?" Louisa asked curiously.

"Yeah, we can't botch this up; we should definitely get the doctor over. Plus, we can thank her in person," Kenneth suggested similarly.

Hans was in two minds; if the guy was Dr. Bell, it would be even better to have him over. He'd bet his bottom dollar that his skills were more reliable than Dr. Nolan's. Meanwhile, Dr. Nolan chimed in expectantly, "If we could get that doctor, we could have a face-to-face discussion and collaboration. It might speed up the recovery of the elderly couple."

All Arabella could say was, "I'll have a word with her later."

"Great, just great!" Louisa felt as if a huge weight had been lifted off her chest.

acupuncture kit today, or Grandma might have been

you know that wasn't looking, then whipped out her pre-prepared acupuncture wouldn't know this," Dr. Nolan chuckled. "Acupuncturists always carry their kits around; it's no biggie.

We were lucky that Ms. Bella was on hand today. If I ever have any medical queries in the future, could J pick your brain,

questions, ask her when she comes to visit her grandparents thank Mr. Collins, Mrs. Collins, and Ms. Bella in advance." With with envy. Dr. Nolan didn't just been singing Arabella's praises right brought could lead to the deaths of her to death because of the Collins family's status, Arabella might end up rotting would be the only little princess at home, and everything could return to

Chapter 366

Grandpa and Grandma's central nervous system had taken a serious hit, and with respiratory infections, anemia, and electrolyte metabolism disorders to boot, they've got to juggle a cocktail of medications.

She first prepped the meds for the first three days, grinding them into powders so they'd dissolve easily in water.

Next thing she knew, it was already half past eight in the evening.

Hans was hanging out in the lush courtyard, checking his watch and shooting glances at the front gate, but his sister was still no-show.

Heard she was out on some business, probably to see that doctor, huh?

Who knew if the doctor was a guy or a girl? If it's a guy, it's kinda late now; was his sister safe out there all alone?

marigolds you around the railing. It was a sight for sore eyes. Wonder if Bella would perk up seeing room; I'd better not."

a guy, and it's late. Without her permission, he can't just barge into her can go about

Edith

his sister, so he got up and Serena, Hans? At this hour, she's definitely still up! Hold on a sec, I'll go fetch her.

this house, aside from being favored by the old lady, the next best thing was to be noticed and pampered by most sway. Anyone he wanted to keep

Hans walked upstairs to find Serena clock and couldn't help but do a little happy dance inside. By all accounts, it was about time for you asleep?" Hans stood at Serena's door, giving it a knock.

door as soon as she heard the sound. It's been ages since her

Chapter 367

Hans' confident tone brought a smile to Serena's face, "I knew my big brother is the best!"

“Bella just returned home, and everyone is understandably worried about her feelings. This might make you think we’re treating you differently than before.”

“But let me tell you,” Hans said heartily, “In our parents’ eyes and mine, including the other brothers, you’re still a part of this family and that has never changed.” Upon hearing this, Serena felt uneasy, sensing an undercurrent in his words. Did he come to her late at night to warn her about something?

“How have Mom and Dad been treating you these years?” Hans asked.

“Obviously great,” Serena answered without hesitation, “They’ve always told me that I’m their most precious treasure, and they’d give me the world if they could.” “And how about me? How have I treated you?”

“brother, you’ve always bought me anything that suits me. Some new styles that I couldn’t find. You managed to get them for me.”

other brothers, how have they treated you?”

to take the initiative, “Brother, why are you asking all these out of nowhere?”

I want to make it up to her. It may seem to you that we’re favouring her over you; but what why he was having this chat with her parents’ biological daughter, and they should treat her well. As bro, you’re making it sound like I don’t welcome her home!” Serena was slightly jealous and seemed down, “Don’t get it feelings or not, and how said meaningfully, “The reason I have this chat with you is to let you know that even if Bella is back, our love for you over these 18 years is not fake. You can still stay here, buy whatever you want, do whatever you want. No one will restrict you or treat you sceptical. Things definitely felt different with her she’s just putting up with your nonsense. You should be happy to have such a sister, Hans paused slightly before, continuing, “You should take my advice, put aside your prejudices, try and her brothers always siding

Chapter 368

“Could you accept her for our parents and brother’s sake, just like she accepted you?”

Hans saw her deep in thought, and gave her a light pat on the head, “Think about what I’ve said before you sleep tonight. I hope to see some changes when I come back.”

Hans had a very regular schedule, with only three minutes left before his bedtime. He stood up, not changing his habits for anyone.

Before he left, he specifically said, "If I were you, I would cherish everything in front of me instead of waiting until it's gone to feel regret."

Serena looked at him in surprise.

"Goodnight." Hans walked away, leaving the balcony.

shadows, quickly appeared, "Serena, are the moment Hans had come quietly followed!

do something to pamper her, but can't get along well with Arabella, you might be ostracized by the family comfortable life, the care from the servants, none belonged to me! I've been living Arabella's life for Martha was anxious and quickly looked around to make sure no one was around before saying, "It was the lady who made the mistake picked up the wrong child. How can you blame yourself? You also lost 18 years of being loved somewhat dazedly, "Martha, do you think, if I really treat Arabella as my own sister, will they still treat me the same?

by a few words from Hans! If Hans really makes sense." It sounded hurtful, but it was the truth.

He was hinting that if you're not content, you for the greatest benefits of

Chapter 369

She was just curious. Over the past eighteen years, she never once heard Martha mention her family back home, and Martha never seemed to plan on going back for the holidays.

"Our village was full of kin," Martha shared, "and we suffered heavy losses because of the flood that year."

Serena nodded, "If I ever make it big, I won't forget you."

"Thanks, Serena!" Martha showered her with words of gratitude.

Arabella worked until half past eleven in the evening. After sorting out the medication, she quickly headed home.

As soon as she entered, she could feel the hostile gaze from upstairs, as if someone wanted to tear her a part.

a silhouette hiding

window belonged to Serena's was casting a long shadow of hers on the living room when she heard her parents' call and check on her?" Kenneth Collins's voice echoed through the room. "It's late, and I can't help but worry midnight yet. Don't rush her and put pressure on her," Louisa yawned sleepily. "Let's wait a little longer. Bella Kenneth yawned, "Okay, I'll heart. She changed into her slippers and walked in, "Mom, Dad, I'm Louisa immediately perked up and went to Kenneth was about to ask more when he was know everything? She's grown worrying too much,"

1

Chapter 370

"Alright." Arabella went back to her room, and as soon as she turned on her phone, she found over a dozen unread messages.

She'd been busy in the lab and had her phone on silent, and she was driving herself home, so she hadn't had time to check her messages.

A lot of them were from her brother.

[Arabella, I'm leaving the country tomorrow morning. If anything happens at home, or if you're in any trouble, you can tell me directly, and I'll help you out.]

[Our parents have managed the company for many years, and even though they're cunning in business, they don't bring that shrewdness home. They never doubt their own family. It's not because they're oblivious or biased.]

Arabella understood his meaning Her brother saw through Serena's sneaky tactics. He knew what was up.

He was right Who would see their own children as enemies, constantly questioning if they had ulterior motives?

Especially when that child had always been so well-behaved, excelling in various skills, and showing deep respect and love for them without malice. So, they genuinely loved and liked her.

[Dad's a man, so he tends to be careless. Mom's been spoiled by Dad for decades, so she's a bit naive.]

[Don't hide anything from me. You can tell me everything. I'll always be your rock.]

sister. Rest well.]

the screen with her finger and quickly replied, "Bro, don't worry. I'll handle everything. Goodnight."

exited the chat and opened the messages from Grandpa today? Are they feeling eaten yet?]

pictures of his

by my side, I

slightly gloomy face

[Still busy?]

[I miss you.]

what my fiancée is doing right worried about disturbing her, this man would probably swiped the screen with her finger and quickly replied, "Just

I've been waiting for gone

been 16 hours since I last saw you.

to sleep after this

I miss you even more. I