

Chapter 872 Expose It Face To Face

After confronting Liam with the probing question, a subtle smile was all Julie got in response, neither confirming nor denying the assumptions swirling in Julie's mind.

Eager to unravel the mystery, Julie continued to ask, "Liam, did you seek aid from another influential figure again?"

A wry smile danced on Liam's lips. He yearned to reveal that the influential figure was none other than himself, but the timing wasn't right.

A new stratagem had unfurled in his mind.

He envisioned letting Carsen use the Five-Star General mantle and handle the intricacies with the Kingland Group and the formidable Hoffman family.

He, on the other hand, would remain incognito. He found hiding in the dark more amenable to his schemes.

After all, Carsen carried the Five-Star General identity card, a privilege Liam had bestowed upon him.

Therefore, Liam nodded, tacitly acknowledging Julie's speculation.

Lenny, observing this exchange, smirked. Sacrificing such a precious favor for matters as trivial as social standing appeared to be a foolish move. He believed Liam couldn't compete with him.

Stepping forward, Lenny sneered, "I knew it! You pulled strings to orchestrate this ostentatious birthday party. Instead of securing a lucrative opportunity for yourself, you squandered a valuable favor on this meaningless display. You are really a brainless loser!"

Yesenia chimed in, adding disdainfully, "Liam, despite your efforts today, you still pale in comparison to Lenny. You excel only in trivial matters like this. You possess the ability, yet you failed to contribute more when trouble brewed at Julie's company. Do you not wish for Julie to lead a better life?"

She continued, "Thanks to Lenny, Pearl Company can now collaborate with Joy International Media and resolve urgent matters. Compared to Lenny, you truly are worthless!"

Liam's face betrayed a cold smile at Yesenia's words. He locked eyes with Lenny and questioned, "Did you truly assist in this matter, Lenny? Are you brave enough to confess before everyone?"

Caught off guard, Lenny's expression shifted, a hint of panic setting in.

In front of the assembled audience, he had to grit his teeth and say, "Certainly, I played a part! Would you dare suggest that the partnership between Julie's

Liam chuckled. He was well aware that the general manager of Joy International Media had indeed assisted Pearl Company.

His inquiry to Lenny was merely a test to see his reaction.

So, he continued to bait Lenny.

"How exactly did you manage to help her?" he asked.

"I..." Lenny began, almost wanting to say he sought General Manager Edward's assistance. Then, in a sudden realization, he stopped himself, remembering that the very same general manager would soon grace Dragon Manor with his presence.

Instead, he fell silent, but his face reddened with frustration.

Patty seized the opportunity and stepped forward.

"Liam, didn't my brother inform you yesterday? He sought help from Edward, the General Manager of Joy International Media. Are you attempting to snatch the credit from my brother?"

Lenny trembled, casting an anxious glance at Patty.

What a fool!

Didn't she see that Edward was on his way?

Ignoring this, Liam's expression turned disdainful. "You're saying I'm after this guy's credit? You really overestimate your brother!"

He then turned his gaze toward Edward, who was approaching.

"Edward, it's truly an honor for you to visit," he addressed him with a courteous smile.

While Edward was unaware of Liam's true identity, he acknowledged the respect Liam garnered from Bowen and responded promptly, "Mr. Hoffman, I came in a hurry this time, empty-handed. I'll make it up next time with some gifts."

"Thank you," Liam replied.

As the pleasantries continued, Edward noticed Lenny standing uncomfortably, looking flustered.

A cold smile played on his lips.

Before the birthday banquet, Bowen had discreetly informed him to deal with Lenny.

Liam said to Edward, "Lenny and Patty just mentioned that the Pearl Company's collaboration with Joy International Media happened because Lenny sought your help. Is that true?"

His words made Lenny break into a cold sweat.

Edward pretended to be shocked after hearing Liam's

"That's not true at all! Lenny, what's going on? Why did you say that?" Edward asked.
