

Chapter 890 Breaking Into Von Merri Hotel

Julie's frustration erupted into a curse.

"Cowan, your despicable nature knows no bounds! Do you know how serious the crime of kidnapping children is? Doesn't the fact that you will be in jail for the rest of your life scare you at all? You madman!"

In response, Cowan sported a maniacal grin and retorted in a tone dripping with disdain.

"It's good that you know it. You can't go against the people backing me!"

With those words, Cowan abruptly yanked Julie into the room and forcefully shut the door.

Cowan's voice reverberated within the room.

"Mr. Murray, I've brought her here."

A figure emerged from the room. It was none other than Nolan's son, Klein.

Cowan sneered at Julie. "Julie, do you know who this man is? He is the son of the illustrious Murray family! You're familiar with the Red Murray Group, aren't you? It belongs to Tristan, the richest magnate in Salem and Mr. Murray's uncle! With the might of the Red Murray Group, dealing with you is a piece of cake. It's

It belongs to Tristan, the richest magnate in Salem and Mr. Murray's uncle! With the might of the Red Murray Group, dealing with you is a piece of cake. It's all your man's fault. He's utterly incapable of protecting you and your son!"

Upon recognizing the newcomer as Klein, a look of despair appeared on Julie's face.

She found herself in a state of shock.

Up against the Red Murray Group, Julie understood that resistance was futile.

Prior to this, Julie had wondered why the Red Murray Group was so benevolent toward her Pearl Company.

It turned out that Klein had ulterior motives when it came to her.

In fact, Klein had been invited here by Cowan, who lacked the audacity to embark on such an endeavor by himself.

Klein, however, had already been sleeping with the faculty at Oracle Kindergarten. Over time, a bond had formed between Cowan and Klein.

After learning of the discord between Klein and Liam, Cowan had sought out Klein. He had divulged to Klein that Julie was, in fact, Liam's wife. So, raping Julie and stripping her of her dignity would be a good way to take revenge on Liam.

Klein, who had long harbored a desire for retaliation against Liam, readily embraced Cowan's proposal.

At this moment, Klein was utterly taken aback at the sight of Julie.

Regardless of Julie's attire, her striking beauty and captivating figure were impossible to conceal.

Enthralled by Julie's beauty, Klein adorned a lecherous grin and remarked, "Julie, how can an exquisite woman like you be married to that inept loser, Liam? Come here and spend a night with me."

With a flattering smile on his face, Cowan said, "Mr. Murray, you can have your fun first. After that, pass her to me!"

Klein snorted and waved his hand. "Don't worry. You'll get your turn. For now, go outside and keep watch. Don't let anyone disturb me."

Cowan nodded.

As soon as Cowan left the room, Klein sat back on the bed and eagerly began to take off his clothes. His eyes were wild with desire, and it was obvious that he couldn't wait any longer.

At the same time, at the entrance of Von Merri Hotel, Liam arrived with the SWAT team and went straight to meet Carsen.

Spotting Liam, Carsen swiftly said, "Mr. Hoffman, I spotted your wife heading to the eighth floor. Let me take you there!"

Without wasting any more time, Liam and Carsen, flanked by the SWAT team, made a beeline for the elevator.

Yet, as they approached the elevator, the hotel's security personnel intercepted Liam and his companions.

In an effort to maintain stealth, Liam had instructed the SWAT team to switch into casual attire. So, the security guards had no idea who they were dealing with.

Upon seeing a group of men in ordinary clothes, the
