

Chapter 249

Chapter 249

“Not one bit!” Jasper snarled, not holding back his thoughts.

“Hahaha... You're out of your mind, Beckett!” Alyssa yelled, pulling her hand away from his grip.

“What? You can have the love of your life, but I can't see anyone else? What kind of monopolistic, egoistic bullshit is this? I'm not some slave, you jackass!”

Her words stabbed into Jasper's heart like blades.

He recalled how close Alyssa had been in proximity with the spectacled man, and fury rose in his being once again.

Her gaze had been molten and warm, and what could have happened next made Jasper dread.

All he felt now was the need to possess her, to keep her and shield her from everyone else.

“Interesting private life you have, Ms. Alyssa.” Pain, rage, and jealousy coursed through Jasper's chest. “Why such a big room all to yourselves? Worried you won't have enough fun?”

He was trying to enrage her, to upset her, yet all he seemed to be doing was making himself even more upset.

“Pft, hahahah!” Alyssa tossed her head back, laughing. “Of course, stupid! Do you think I'm still that boring little housewife, Alice White? I'm capable of so many things... You can't even begin to imagine.”

“Alyssa!” Jasper felt like he was having a heart attack. “You're leaving this place tonight, no matter what! Don't you dare think about finding anyone else with me around!”

Just then, a police car on patrol swerved around the corner.

Alyssa had a sudden idea. She hunched over and wailed like a damsel in distress. “Help, help me!

He's trying to hurt me!”

“You!” Jasper paled instantly.

The car instantly stopped, and two policemen hopped off, heading straight for the two of them.

Hey, let her go right now!”

Alyssa swiftly got rid of Jasper's grasp, forcing out tears. “I accidentally vomited on him, but I me

“Stay away from this lady, sir. You're borderline sexually harassing her, do you know that?”

“We can take you in just because of this!”

The two policemen surrounded Jasper, forcing him to stay put. “I'm no hooligan nor stranger. I know this woman.”

“Do you, miss?” One of the police officers asked Alyssa.

She shook her head. “No, sir.”

The police stared coldly at Jasper. “It looks like we have no choice but to arrest you, sir”

Just then, Jasper's phone rang. It was a call from Javier.

Still trembling from anger, he answered the call.

“Where the hell are you? Get your ass back right now!” Javier roared from the other end. “Lia tried to kill herself! She has slit her wrists! She's being resuscitated right now in the hospital

Jasper paled almost instantly.

“Can you take responsibility and make up your mind in your love life, Jasper Beckett? Why do you keep dragging things on with Alyssa Taylor when you're already engaged to Liana?

“Look at what you've done! She might die, do you know that? She saved your life when you were a child, and this is how you repay her?”

The dark memories of Jasper's childhood suddenly overcame him. He found it difficult to breathe

When he turned around, Alyssa had already gone back into the karaoke