Chapter 0162 The End of Act 1

I'm sorry for the cliffhanger...Kind of ;)

I am currently editing and scheduling out Act 2 chapters. The goal is to have no gap in time for publishing, but I also want to make sure the quality and story get told in the best possible way.

Thank you for all who have stayed with me up to this point, it has been an incredible journey. This is the first time I am not writing from a contest prompt, but from my own imagination. These chapters are also far more dense than anything I have written before. I am not a professional writer, but I have enjoyed studying the craft as I develop this book and get more confident each day.

The story has been broken down into three main parts following Skylar's life:

Act 1 - Skylar's early life experiences

Act 2 - Skylar's evolution once she leaves her pack for the first time.

Act 3 - Coming home, Skylar as a woman returning to a life she left as a child.

For any writers out there reading through with me. Please give me any and all feedback that you have. I love to learn and grow as I go through this process.

For avid readers, please let me know how I can enhance the experience.

I have an inspiration board on P*****t and a playlist on Spotify. If I can get my life organized enough to get ahead. I will post links to enhance the experience and you can see where my crazy brain is at. :D

I have also started a F* group for discussions.@ MissLWrites It is easier for me to interact there than here.
