

Chapter 5506

Warnia came back to her senses, and quickly Said, "Okay Master Wade, I understand!"

On the way back to Wanliu Villa, Marshal had been waiting for Warnia's assistant to call.

He knew that the conditions he offered to Warnia today were very sincere, and Warnia would definitely ask her benefactor first, and then give him a clear answer.

However, he didn't know where that benefactor was at this time, whether he was in Aurous Hill, or in China even.

Therefore, Marshal speculated in his heart that if the benefactor was in China, or even in Aurous Hill, Warnia would definitely contact him as soon as possible and report the matter to him,

And Warnia would be very happy to agree to his proposed conditions.

If the reply comes quickly, then perhaps the benefactor is in Aurous Hill.

However, until Marshal arrived at Wanliu Villa, Warnia still did not respond.

When he returned home, the An family immediately put down their work and came to the front, to hear his latest news.

The old lady asked him nervously, "Marshal, how did it go? Did you get any valuable news?"

Marshal nodded, and said, "I have already verified from Ms. Song that the one who saved our family, Duncan is actually the owner of Rejuvenation Pill!"

"What?!" An family was shocked!

The old lady asked a little excitedly, "Marshal, is that the real case for sure? benefactor is really the owner of the Rejuvenation Pill?"

"Yes!"

Marshal nodded solemnly and said, "I didn't reveal anything to Ms. Song. Ms. Song took the initiative to tell me. I just said that I wanted the contact information of the owner of Rejuvenation Pill,"

"And said that I wanted to ask him for confirmation. Ms. Song directly said that we were attacked in New York, she also said that the benefactor instructed her to tell me so two days ago."

The old lady said in horror, "This...that is to say...benefactor knows about our coming to Aurous Hill, and also knows that after we arrive in Aurous Hill, he will definitely find a way to prove his identity..."

"Yes!" he continued, "Benefactor is very clear about what I wanted to do when I go to the Song Group this time. He knows that I want to ask Ms. Song about his identity, and he also knows that our intention is not to expect Ms. Song to really make his identity revealed to us,"

"But I hope that Ms. Song can help us with a sentence, so he had already greeted Ms. Song in advance..."

The old lady was a little excited, and said with trembling hands, "This is a good thing, this is a very good thing We didn't have any clues about the benefactor before, but we have now."

"What we can confirm now is that if we want to have any contact with the benefactor, or want to convey any information to him, we can realize it through this Miss Song! Although it is not a direct connection, it is already a very big breakthrough!"

Then, the old lady said, "benefactor can hold the Rejuvenation Pill Auction in Aurous Hill instead of other cities in China, which also proves that it is a high probability that he is a native of Aurous Hill,"

"And even if he is not, he has an inseparable connection with Aurous Hill. Our visit to Aurous Hill this time is equivalent to coming to his home field!"

Marcus asked at this time, "Brother, I have a question."

"Did you tell Ms. Song about our conditions?"

"Yes!" Marshal said, "I increased the investment by 8 billion US dollars, and then promised to jointly develop health care projects with the Song Group, and unconditionally give the Song Group 10% shares."

Marcus hurriedly asked, "What did Miss Song say?"

Marshal replied, "Miss Song didn't give me a clear answer. She said she would think about it. I think she must report to the benefactor. See what he has to say."

Marcus slapped his thigh, "Oh! Brother, you have more than half an hour's drive to come back, did Miss Song reply to your message?"

Marshal said, "Not yet."

Marcus was a little disappointed, and sighed, "Then it seems that benefactor is probably not in Aurous Hill..."

Marshal nodded, "I think the same as you. If this reply takes a long time, then I guess that there is a high probability that the benefactor is not in Aurous Hill."

Then, Marshal said, "And when I was talking to Ms. Song, she also mentioned that the benefactor has left Aurous Hill, and has been staying overseas. I wonder whether the benefactor was in New York."

Marcus smacked his lips and said, "I can't say for certain, maybe he hasn't come back."

Duncan on the side witnessed that the two gradually deviated from the direction, so he coughed twice and said, "Ahem...you two can't just judge whether the person you are looking for is there or not based on the time when others reply."

"Those criminals with a bit of a brain, after killing a person, know to deal with the temperature and environment of the body to interfere with the accuracy of the police and forensic doctors in judging the time of death."

"Why do you think that people only need to reply if he is already in Aurous Hill, so as long as he replies late, he is not there?"

Marshal said, "Old Li, I am not so absolute. I just think that if Miss Song knows that someone is in Aurous Hill, according to our habits, we will know this person is by our side, we subconsciously think of calling him directly when we have anything to do;"

"But if we know that this person is currently in another place, then before we call, we will first consider whether our own affairs are right and if it is urgent, is the other party busy, will I disturb the other party if I call rashly,"

"If the matter is not very urgent, should we wait until the evening when most people are not too busy to contact the other party;"

"If the other party is abroad, we have to consider the time difference even more. Although it is already afternoon here, we are on the other side of the earth, and the sky may not be bright at this moment..."

Duncan laughed, "So your judgment is very important. One-sided, you can only be sure, if that Miss Song returns to you soon, then the benefactor is likely to be in Aurous Hill,"

"But now that she hasn't returned to you soon, you can't relax your vigilance and conclude that this person is not in Aurous Hill, you can consider that the other party may also consider this, so as long as the other party instructs Miss Song to reply you later, it can interfere with your judgment."

When he said this, Duncan couldn't help sighing in his heart, "You two brothers, don't be fooled by your cleverness...Although I promised Charlie not to reveal his identity information, but you have already touched Aurous Hill. Just don't let yourself go out again, follow this line, you will definitely have surprises..."

Hearing this, Marshal couldn't help asking him, "Old Li, what is the meaning of your words?"

"Means, if we want to find this benefactor, he might still be in Aurous Hill?"

Duncan hurriedly said, "I didn't say, he might definitely be here, I just think everyone should not be so anxious, the next negative judgment is like we solve the case together, the most fearful thing is to deny one thing in a hurry, once you deny it, you will block your own way,"

"Just like we solve the disappearance case, although it seems that the people around the missing person love him and care about him,"

"But you absolutely can't deny the suspicion of any one of them in your heart, even the parents can't deny their suspicion until the evidence is fully proved."

Then, Duncan said again, "Since I have come to Aurous Hill this time, I think Let's not easily deny Aurous Hill,"

"We must first believe in our hearts that Charlie may be in Aurous Hill, and benefactor may also be here!"