

The Ex Husbands Revenge

The Ex Husbands Revenge Chapter 2706-“Alright, you’ve won. If you want it so badly, you can have it,” Leon said calmly.

“Let us have it? Kid, get off your high horse. You’re just giving up because you can’t afford to bid against me!” Bucky mocked, sighing a breath of relief inwardly.

After all, this piece of jadeite was hardly worth 9 million and if Leon continued to bid, he would have to consider giving up.

Thankfully, Leon seemed to have reached his limit and gave up, so he defeated Leon as he wished.

“Yeah. You’re just a vice president, so what makes you think you can compete against US? Know your place!” Aurelia sneered in contempt.

Wearing a triumphant look, Aurelia took the opportunity to mock Leon.

“How foolish!” Renee laughed angrily as she observed the arrogant looks on Bucky and Aurelia’s faces.

She knew Hugh and Cynthion Group.

During Jaxon’s bouquet, Hugh spent 287 million and purchased all the rare herbs despite competing with all the others.

In terms of financial power, Cynthion Group might surpass the most powerful families.

If Hugh truly wanted the jadeite, Aurelia and Bucky could not compete with him.

The jadeite simply was not worth that much and Hugh gave up on bidding because he did not want to waste money.

Amusingly, Bucky and Aurelia felt smug about it and that was beyond foolish.

“Miss Morrison, are you embarrassed because your boyfriend couldn’t compete with me and Bucky?” Aurelia retorted.

Contrary to what Renee thought, Aurelia did not think that she was being foolish and merely assumed that Renee was frustrated that she lost.

She felt extremely pleased.

“Whatever you say!” Renee scoffed and ignored her.

“Alright. Pack this jadeite up!” Seeing as Renee caved, Aurelia grew smugger and commanded the saleswoman, preparing to pay.

“Well, sir, are you sure you don’t want this anymore?” The saleswoman was quite disappointed that Leon gave up.

She stared at him with anticipation, seemingly trying to convey some sort of message.

The crafted jadeites in the shop fixed prices and bidding was not allowed.

The bidding Bucky initiated was solely voluntary and had nothing to do with the shop.

Hence, she wanted Leon to keep raising the price to teach Bucky and Aurelia a lesson.

It did not matter how much Leon offered as she could always sell it to him at the original price in private.

After all, it was Leon who requested to purchase the jadeite first and according to the rules, she should be selling it to him.

Though she could obtain a thousand commission by selling the jadeite at 9 million, she was sick of Aurelia’s arrogant attitude.

She simply did not wish to sell the jadeite to Aurelia and Bucky to encourage their inappropriate behavior.

The Ex Husbands Revenge Chapter 2707-I won’t take it. Just sell this to them!” Leon shook his head.

Leon caught on to the unspoken message of the saleswoman's words and understood that she wanted him to keep bidding before she eventually sold him the jadeite at its original price.

However, he was merely buying the jadeite for the Energy Convergence Circle and had no preferences in terms of the craftsmanship. Hence, he did not have to obtain this piece.

Since Bucky and Aurelia insisted on buying it, he saw no point in getting in their ways.

"Well, alright, then." The saleswoman felt resigned that Leon did not want the jadeite any longer.

She could only pack the jadeite and sell it at 9 million to them.

"Hugh, let's just pick out another piece!" Renee grabbed Leon's arm and proceeded to check the other cabinets to select another piece.

Watching them, Aurelia frowned.

She assumed that Leon and Renee would be offended that the piece they set their eyes on was taken away.

Renee might just leave with Leon out of frustration and embarrassment.

To her bewilderment, things did not go as planned.

Not only did Leon and Renee not leave, they remained unfazed and proceeded to look for other replacements.

This left her feeling displeased.

"Miss Morrison, forgive me for being blunt, but it's quite odd that someone of your status would choose to date such a poor man. I feel embarrassed for you!"

Aurelia said arrogantly.

She knew that Renee's status and beauty surpassed hers, and she was struggling to find ways to undermine Renee.

Hence, she could only target Leon in an attempt to mock Renee.

“Yeah, Miss Morrison. A poor lad like him isn’t worth you. I advise that you break up with him as soon as possible to avoid being laughed at!” Bucky agreed along and stared at her heatedly.

Considering his feelings for Renee, he was more than willing to break off the engagement with Aurelia if Renee was willing to abandon Leon and choose him instead.

If Aurelia knew about what he was thinking, she would have mixed feelings about this.

“Whether Hugh deserves me is none of your business. You have no right to tell me what to do. Besides, Hugh isn’t as horrible as you think he is. He is more formidable than you can imagine!” Renee scoffed and shot them a dark look.

She knew the extent of Leon’s ability.

Though he was just the vice president of Cynthion Group, Hugh was a talented Even the son of the Western Boss, Felton, was no match for him.

Felton was known as one of the brightest of their generation and remained unrivaled with the only exception being Hugo.

If Felton could not defeat Leon, others of the younger generation would not stand a chance.

Hence, Bucky simply could not compare with Leon.

The Ex Husbands Revenge Chapter 2708-“Just how formidable can a mere vice president be? Renee, don’t bother bluffing. You’d just end up embarrassing yourself!” Aurelia chuckled.

She never heard of Cynthion Group before, which meant that it was merely a small, insignificant firm.

Leon was merely the vice president and not even the chairman, so his status was ordinary, and from Aurelia’s perspective, there were plenty of people like him.

It would be unrealistic to think that Leon was formidable and there was no way that she would believe Renee.

Naturally, Bucky felt the same way as well.

He assumed that Renee was just lying to protect Leon as that seemed to be the only explanation.

“Why you!” Renee’s expression darkened at Aurelia’s laughter.

Just as she was about to say something, she was interrupted.

“That’s a gigantic piece of glass jadeite!”

“Whoever bought it is going to win a fortune!”

Just then, there was a commotion from the rock gambling area, which alerted Renee, Leon, and the others.

“What happened? What’s going on over there?” Renee asked in surprise.

“I think someone opened a rock containing high-quality jadeite,” Leon said thoughtfully.

Though there were a lot of noise, he was a formidable martial artist with great hearing.

On top of that, he knew his way around rock gambling and immediately guessed what happened.

“I see!” Renee said and recalled something. “By the way, Hugh, you want high quality jadeites, right? Seems like someone got one over there. Do you want to go take a look?”

She knew that the jadeite that surfaced had to be of supreme quality for there to be such a commotion. These experts in jadeites would not be so excited otherwise.

Since Leon needed high-quality jadeites for the Energy Convergence Circle, Leon may need the jadeite if it was a glass jadeite.

“Yeah, that’s what I’m thinking as well!” Leon nodded.

Ignoring Aurelia and Bucky, the two of them turned and headed straight to the rock gambling area.

“Damn it! Bucky, let’s go over there as well!” Aurelia’s expression darkened when Renee and Leon ignored her.

She and Bucky spent 9 million on a piece of jadeite just to undermine and humiliate Renee and Leon.

Yet, the two of them remained unaffected and did not leave in embarrassment either.

The feeling that there was no outlet for her frustration left her feeling unsatisfied.

Reluctant to give up, she dragged Bucky over to the rock gambling area.

The Ex Husbands Revenge Chapter 2709-In the rock gambling area, Renee and Leon approached and asked around, soon understanding what happened.

A middle-aged man ended up with a piece of high-quality green glass jadeite.

There was a variety of colors amongst jadeites and the shade of green that this piece of jadeite possessed was only one level away from the imperial green.

Apart from that, the quality and worth of a piece of jadeite were often determined by the shine and level of transparency.

The higher the shine and the more transparent it was, the better the quality.

The jadeite found by this middle-aged man was wonderful both in terms of shine and transparency.

On top of that, it was an enormous piece, weighing around four to five kilograms.

The only drawback was that the color was not the purest of all and was considered slightly less valuable than imperial green.

Still, given its size, its worth would be around 43 million or even higher.

That was precisely why the crowd were all impressed by his good luck.

With the middle-aged man's order, a staff member sanded the surface of the rock to remove all impurity, before handing the jadeite to him.

"Rickon, do you plan on selling this? I'm willing to offer 14 million!" A merchant who collected and sold jadeites inquired.

"14 million doesn't mean anything! I'll offer 17 million!" Another chubby-looking merchant said hastily.

"I'll pay 19 million!"

"21 million!"

Two other merchants chimed in and the price was instantly raised to 21 million.

"21 million?" The middle-aged man wavered.

He was just a professional player in rock gambling and often relied on his luck.

He was quite lucky lately and stumbled upon such high-quality jadeite.

Amid his excitement, he knew that he needed to sell it right away.

After all, he was not a merchant, nor was he a wealthy man. He would have no use for this piece of jadeite and selling it seemed like the most appropriate option.

Though this high-quality jadeite was worth around 43 million, he did not have the connections to channels in which he could craft the jadeite and sell it like a professional merchant.

It would be rather challenging for him to sell the jadeite to its full worth.

21 million was already considered a rather satisfying price. However, he did not agree to it right away and glanced around, wondering if others could offer even higher.

“30 million!” Leon called out.

He came to purchase high-quality jadeite for the Energy Convergence Circle.

This piece of glass jadeite was just a step away from the greatest quality of imperial green, so there was abundant spiritual energy within it, making it perfect for the circle.

Leon had his eyes on it instantly and prepared to purchase it.

On top of that, an Energy Convergence Circle required eighteen pieces of jadeite apart from the core, which meant he needed a total of nineteen.

This high-quality jadeite was enormous and he should have more than enough to divide it into nineteen pieces. If he purchased it, he would not need to purchase any other jadeite, thus killing two birds with one stone

The Ex Husbands Revenge Chapter 2710-“30 million? Where’d this kid come from?” The merchants turned in unison when Leon joined the bidding.

“It’s just 30 million! I’ll bid!” The chubby merchant scoffed and was about to raise the price to bid against Leon when his companion pulled at his arm.

“Steve, forget it. Don’t bid against him!” The companion shook his head.

“Why not?” Steve was taken aback.

“Why don’t you take a look at who’s standing next to him? That’s the eldest daughter of the Morrisons! You better give up if you don’t want to cross the Morrisons!” The companion lowered his voice, clearly having recognized Renee.

“Oh!” Steve turned and immediately spotted Renee. Feeling a chill down his spine, he finally understood why his companion stopped him.

The Morrisons were the head of all families in the western region and as the eldest daughter of such a family, Renee’s status was much higher than him.

Leon and Renee seemed close and Steve instantly concluded that Leon was likely someone with similar status as Renee. A mere merchant like he could not afford to cross them.

This green jadeite was rare and could be sold for over 43 million if it was carved into someone. However, Leon had already raised the price to 30 million and if the merchants bid against him, he would only profit a little after deducting the time and production costs.

There was no point in crossing Leon and Renee over a small profit as it would not benefit him much.

Realization dawned on Steve and he instantly gave up on bidding.

The other merchants all recognized Renee and could tell that she was close to Leon.

Neither of them wanted to bid against Leon over a small profit as they did not want to cross Leon and Renee.

Hence, the others gave up on bidding as well.

“30 million?” The middle-aged man was pleased that Leon raised the price further.

He was already wavering when the merchants raised the price to 22 million. The fact that Leon offered 30 million for the jadeite was something he did not anticipate, so he was overjoyed.

“Sir, I’d like to offer 30 million for this jadeite. Will you sell it to me?” Leon asked.

“Oh, of course!” The middle-aged man nodded.

However, the situation changed in the next moment.

“Hang on, we’ll offer 33 million!” Just then, Aurelia’s prideful voice sounded and she stepped out of the crowd with Bucky.
