The Ex Husbands Revenge Chapter 2712-“Look, they’re fighting.” “Oh, we’re in for a drama.”

Hearing their sarcastic comments, the others were all shocked and realized that Leon was Renee’s boyfriend.

Bucky and Aurelia were direct descendants of powerful families whose statuses rivaled Renee’s.

Though they did not know why the two were picking on Renee and Leon, they knew that the two couples conflicted because both parties wanted high-quality jadeite.

It remained unclear who would win the price.

The crowd all perked up in anticipation as they waited to see who would win.

“Kid, I’ve already bid 33 million. It’s your turn! If you can’t raise the price any higher, get lost!” Bucky smirked arrogantly as though he already won.

At least that was what he and Aurelia thought.

After all, Leon had already lost to him once over the clear jadeite from earlier.

The current situation was similar to what happened earlier and he did not think that Leon could defeat him as that would not be realistic.

“I’ll pay 37 million!” Leon scoffed and did not give up as they predicted.

“37 million? How can someone like you have that much money? Are you just bidding randomly?” Bucky was taken aback and confused.

Leon could not even pay 9 million for the jadeite earlier and admitted defeat.

Yet, Leon first offered 30 million then raised the price to 37 million to compete against him.

This was not a small amount and he could not understand how Leon would have so much money. Hence, he suspected that Leon was just bidding to spite him.

“Whether I have that much money isn’t your concern. If you can’t offer a higher price, get lost and save yourself the embarrassment,” Leon retorted and returned Bucky’s words.

“Don’t get smug, kid! It’s just 37 million. It means nothing to me! I’ll bid 43 million!” Bucky scoffed, provoked by Leon’s sarcastic comment.

He immediately raised the price drastically in the hope of ending the competition immediately.

As a bachelor from a prestigious family, he knew his way around rare gems.

Though he did not know if Leon was bidding randomly, he knew that this piece of high-quality jadeite was only worth 43 million at most.

Bucky already rode the price up to the maximum and Leon would not dare to bid against him any longer.

If he gave up and Leon could not produce the money for payment, he would only be digging his grave.
