

THE CONTRACT MARRIAGE

Chapter 281 One Condition

Because of this mess, it was very soon 5 PM in the afternoon.

Christian looked at the time and drove the two back to Villa of Cooper Family. Seeing the two of them get off the car and Ruby held his brother's hand as they walked into the villa, Christian smiled in relief. He then started the car again to go to Municipal Hospital.

Julian let Ruby bring him upstairs into Ruby's room that she originally slept in. Once the two of them walked in, Julian held her tightly in his arms and lowered his head to kiss her lips.

"Ruby! I thought I was going to lose you this time. I thought I would never see you again!" Julian kept kissing her cheeks and her hair, telling her about the pain of missing her for the past few days.

He couldn't say what he missed her. He missed her. That endless longing was going to torture him until he went crazy.

Ruby leaned in his arms and felt his fiery passion for her. She raised her head and looked at his face. She reached out and gently caressed it.

In these two or three days, she also could not say that she didn't miss him. She really missed him. In the past, when they were together, she was not clear about her feelings for him. This time, she truly understood that he was not by her side. What does life mean. . .

"Ruby, I'm sorry! It's all because I'm too useless. If I could see with my eyes, I wouldn't let them bully you like this! Ruby, I'm sorry. . . "

"Julian, I'm fine. You don't have to worry. Didn't I come back now?"

"I was scared to death. When you weren't by my side, I had realized that my life was a complete mess. Ruby, promise me that you won't leave me again, okay?" Julian hugged her tightly, afraid that once he let go, she would fly away like a kite in his hands.

"Okay. . . I promise you. . . I will never leave you again. . . " Ruby nodded in surprise.

Julian looked happy, but he still did not believe it.

"Ruby, is what you said true? You really will not leave me again?" Julian asked back excitedly.

Ruby looked at Julian and slightly pursed her lower lip, then said slowly, "En. . . But you have to promise me one condition. . . "

"Speak. As long as you promise to stay by my side, I will promise you anything." Julian couldn't wait to speak.

"You cannot divorce Sister Vivian!"

Julian frowned. "What is this condition? No! I can't agree to it! Ruby, I don't just want you to only stay by my side, but I also want to give you a home! I want to live with you openly and aboveboard, and not live like you are now, which makes you unable to see the light. Do you understand?"

"This is the promise I made with my father when I left home today. In the future, he won't marry me out again. The prerequisite is that you can't divorce Sister Vivian!" Ruby replied with a heartache.

"No! I can't agree to this condition! I want to give you happiness, I don't want to be with you like this! Ruby!" Julian held Ruby's hand tightly. He really could not accept such conditions. The life he wanted was not like this.

Ruby heard his words and smiled in relief. "Julian, as long as I return to your side, I don't care about my status. Just let me stay by your side, okay?"

"Ruby! Why did you have to make such a condition for me? Why?"

"Because my father said that if you and Sister Vivian divorce because of me, then he will die in front of the Cooper Group! My father is a man who can do what he says. I can't joke with his life. Promise me, okay?"

"How could this be? How could this be?" Julian held her tightly in his arms, feeling unspeakable pain and self-blame.

He originally thought very well that as long as he divorced Vivian, he could give Ruby a home, marry her, and live with her freely and openly.

But now. . .

He could not give her anything!

But now. . .

He could not give her anything!

Knowing that he was not feeling well, she gently wrapped her arms around his waist and pressed her face against his chest: "Actually, you don't have to be sad. Didn't you say. . . That you want me to give birth to a child for you?"

"So what if I have a child? I can't even give him a title. . ." Julian shook his head in self-blame.

"As long as you don't divorce Sister Vivian, I can do anything for you. . ."

"You idiot. . . Why are you so stupid?"

Because Ruby finally returned to Julian's side, everything seemed to have returned to its original state.

It had been a week since Stephen and Simona were born.

After a week of recuperation, Sarah had long been able to get down from the ground. On the seventh day of Stephen's birth, Sarah was brought back to the villa by Christian.

Because she had to take care of the two children, Daphne asked someone to clean up Sarah and Christian's original room and let Sarah live in the bedroom on the first floor again. Daphne also added a large baby bed in the bedroom. She let the two children rest together.

Of course, on the day Sarah went home, Vivian was also picked up by the driver at home. However, she did not return to Cooper Family, but asked the driver to send her back to her mother's home.

After experiencing Ruby's matter, Vivian did not care if the children were all fed by Sarah. Anyway, she had the promise of Ruby's father, so she also did not need to worry about Julian divorce with her.

Since she could not see, she did not mind. She might as well go back to her mother's house to rest. After she had recovered, she would return to the Cooper Family.

Because Sarah had two children to take care of, plus Daphne had to take care of her husband, so Daphne really did not have time to go home to take care of Sarah, so Samantha followed her daughter back to Villa of Cooper Family.

Because it was the first day Sarah went to the Cooper family after giving birth, Daphne took the initiative to take care of Ethan in the hospital and let Christian return home.

Although there was a chef at home and they could order any kind of food they wanted, but for dinner, Christian still personally cooked a sumptuous dinner for his wife.

During dinner, Christian let his wife and mother-in-law go to eat first, while he carried his daughter. Then, he let Hannah carry Stephen to play in the living room.

Today, the house suddenly became lively, and Julian was in high spirits. He ate dinner very quickly. After dinner, he let Ruby take him to the sofa first. When he heard Christian laugh happily with his daughter, he couldn't help but ask Hannah to give Stephen to him.

When the babbling little guy came into Julian's arms, he couldn't help but laugh.

"Big Brother, does he look like me?" Julian asked as he smiled and touched Stephen's face in his arms, which made the little guy protest unhappily.

"Yes, he looks like you. Julian, when Stephen grows up, let him join the army with me." Knowing that his brother would not agree, Christian smiled and joked with him.

"Okay! Let Simona take over the Cooper Group. Then you will be in trouble. If this girl becomes a strong woman, most men will stay away from her. You can hardly find a husband for her Big brother." Julian was in a good mood. He smiled and joked with Christian.

"Our Simona's charm is unparalleled. Even if she takes over the Cooper Group, she will definitely mesmerize everyone." Christian kissed his daughter's face as he spoke.

"Big Brother, Dad has been recovering well these days. When are you going to return to the army?"

"In few days. Sarah just came back today. Dad is still in the hospital. We will talk about it after everything settle down."

"If the army is busy, you don't have to worry too much about the family matters. Sister-in-law and Vivian have already been discharged from the hospital anyway. My mother is in the hospital. Furthermore, there is still advanced care. You don't have to worry too much. If there is any situation at home, I will call you at any time."

Julian understood that after Christian had become commander, his work had become busier than before.

"Ok, I will handle the matters in the army. Don't worry." He was really worried about his family's current state.

While the two of them were talking, the others also finished eating and walked over. Sarah took Simona from Christian's arms and let Christian eat dinner.

No one knew if he was hungry or not. But as Sarah walked over and he saw his mother coming, little Stephen stuck out his little tongue and started crying in Julian's arms.

“Why is he crying?” Julian who had never taken care of a baby was at a loss.

Hearing the crying, Sarah turned to look at Stephen. Looking at the anxious look on the little guy's face, Sarah first gave Simona to her mother, then walked to Julian's side and carried Stephen over.

She carried him back to her bedroom. Just as she walked to the sofa and sat down, the little guy was already impatient to eat his dinner.

Sarah looked at him and smiled. She stretched out her hand and lifted the hem of her clothes. The little guy's small mouth impatiently moved over and held onto his mother's chest. Stephen then closed his eyes and started to eat with all his might.

Sarah looked at Stephen who was eating happily in her arms, smiled and reached out her hand to touch his face. Halfway through eating, Stephen suddenly turned his head from his mother's arms and looked at his mother who was staring at him. He suddenly smiled happily and revealed his pink gums. Then, he returned to his original position and continued to eat milk.

When Stephen was about to finish eating, Christian walked in. He walked to his wife's side and sat down.

Christian looked at Stephen in her arms and smiled. Then he looked at his wife beside him. He raised his hand and gently rubbed her hair. Suddenly, he moved closer to her face and kissed her lightly.

Sarah turned her face and smiled at him.

"If you feed two children at the same time, will you feel wronged?" Other than their own child, the other one was Vivian's!

Sarah smiled and looked at Stephen who was in her arms. She gently said, "I don't know if I have feelings for this little guy in these few days, but every time I see him, I feel very close as if. . . as if he is also my child. I never felt that he was not my own child. I don't know if it was because you who gave him his name, every time I hear his name, I always have an inexplicable feeling. I have never hated him. How can I feel wronged?"

"It's rare for you to think that way, so I feel relieved."

Sarah smiled again. "Don't worry. I won't treat him badly just because he isn't our child. Even if Simona feels wronged, I can't let Stephen be wronged. Don't you agree?"

Christian smiled and kissed his wife again. "What fortune did I, Christian Cooper, have in my previous life? How could I have such a good wife?"

Chapter 282 Best Revenge

Sarah smiled at him. She looked at him and said slowly, "Now I have been discharged from the hospital. There is my mother at home to take care of me. Daphne is in the hospital. Even Julian has Ruby to take care of him. So you don't have to worry too much about the family matters. Everything will get better after a while."

Christian nodded, but he was still a little worried. "If anything happens at home, remember to call me."

"Yes, don't worry. You have been back for a week and you will be back in two days. I was thinking that after you remodel that place this year, you'll be transferred back to our place. At that time, I won't need to see you once in a few months or even half a year like now."

"If I really am transferred back, how many days do you plan to visit me once?" Christian asked with a smile.

"Once a week! Anyway, I'll go see you on the weekend." Sarah suddenly moved closer to his ear and gritted her teeth. "I will make sure you do not have any peace. . ."

Christian could not help but laugh. "You miss me that much?"

Sarah heard his words and pouted coquettishly. "Yes, I miss you so much."

Christian smiled and moved closer, wanting to kiss his wife. As his lips was about to touch Sarah's, he heard Stephen, who was in Sarah's arms, squeaking. He immediately lowered his head and saw the little guy blinking his big black eyes and staring at the two of them without moving.

Christian smiled and touched the tip of his son's nose. "This kid. . . He's already starting to be a lamp cannon at such a young age. . ."

When his father's big hand landed on his nose tip,

Stephen's small mouth suddenly grinned and smiled happily at the two of them.

"Looks like this little fellow has grown up to be a Letian sect. He likes to laugh so much." Christian looked at Stephen's cute expression and laughed along with him.

Although her daughter was still in the Cooper Family, once Vivian was discharged from the hospital, she followed her mother back to her mother's home. Although the seven days of hospitalization were not long, a lot of things happened. But fortunately, everything had been resolved for her.

In the past, she was still worried that Julian would divorce her again if she didn't return to Villa of Cooper Family. But with Ruby's father's promise, Vivian felt unprecedentedly relaxed and at ease.

During dinner, Mr. Holmes, who did not know the inside story, looked at his daughter. It was inevitable that he would say a few words and complain. He asked Vivian why she had given birth but went back to her mother's house alone. She did not even take care of the child.

Without waiting for her daughter to speak, Mrs. Holmes blocked all of her husband's questions. Of course there were some words. She didn't dare to say it clearly.

After all, Mr. Holmes was a man. If he knew the truth, he would definitely be furious.

Not long after dinner, Vivian returned to her room. She took out her phone and called Lucas. She told him to come to her house later.

When Lucas heard that Vivian had returned home, he naturally ran over happily. Before entering, he first gave Vivian a call. Vivian asked her mother to send her father to the room first then opened the door for Lucas. She quickly entered her room and quickly closed the bedroom door.

"Vivian, after you have given birth, shouldn't you go back to Villa of Cooper Family? Why did you come back to your mother's house? Did the people of Cooper Family discover something?" Once he closed the bedroom door, Lucas nervously asked, worried that Vivian might be exposed.

"No! Didn't that devilish brat not eat my milk? In any case, I'm too lazy to feed him. It's perfect now. If Sarah Wilson likes to raise him, then let her raise him! This way, I'll also have some free time!" Vivian walked to the side of the bed and sat down, leaning her body against the headboard.

"No! Didn't that devilish brat not eat my milk? In any case, I'm too lazy to feed him. It's perfect now. If Sarah Wilson likes to raise him, then let her raise him! This way, I'll also have some free time!" Vivian walked to the side of the bed and sat down, leaning her body against the headboard.

Lucas immediately went around to the other side and climbed onto her bed. "Oh, right. Didn't Ruby go back? Why did she appear in the company these two days? Didn't you tell your uncle about her?"

"I told him a long time ago! Didn't Julian want to divorce me? My mother went to find my uncle. My uncle made a deal with Ruby. If Julian divorced me, my uncle would die in front of the Cooper Group! So, I don't have to worry about Julian for now."

" Oh, I see. . . "

"By the way, how is it going in the company during this period of time? Was it a mess? Can that blind Julian really handle the company's matters?" Vivian had always been skeptical about Julian going to work in the company.

"You don't have to say. He really handled things very well. And Ruby that lass, she is absolutely loyal to Julian. She even brings a recorder pen with her. She took it out and recorded everything every day. When the managers came to report on work, Ruby would even tell Julian everything about the other party's expression! You don't know, the company is currently in an uproar. It is said that one day, Ruby will become Madam of President! Now, let alone an ordinary employee of the company. Looking at her attitude, she already treated her as Madam of President!"

"This wretched girl, I will teach her a lesson sooner or later! Right, Julian was handling the company's matters like this. Didn't those old fellows in the company say anything?" Vivian asked in puzzlement.

Lucas sighed. "This is the most depressing part. Ethan Cooper used to treat the employees in the company well. Even though the people in the company knew he was sick, they did not take advantage of it at this time. A few of the old men in the company even took the initiative to look for Julian. They said that they will definitely support his current work and the Cooper Group will definitely get better and better."

Vivian was so angry that she laughed out. "Are these people crazy? They handed the company over to a blind man and still said such things? Do they think that opening a company is like playing house?"

"Maybe they think that Julian's eyes will be better after a while? And Ethan, it's mainly because no one told them the truth. . ."

Vivian immediately glared at him unhappily. "What about you? Why don't you take this opportunity to speak more?"

"Oh, my Vivian. You don't want Julian to divorce you when you were in the hospital. At that time, he didn't drive me home. He was already giving me a break. When I opened my mouth at that time, wasn't it asking for death? Don't you agree?"

Vivian nodded her head and looked at the front with some unwillingness. "Just bear with it a little longer. After I rest for the month, I will go to the company to work!"

"You will go to work? Then what about our child?"
When Lucas heard Vivian's words, he could not help but think of his daughter.

"Doesn't Sarah Wilson have the child? Anyway, she doesn't know about her daughter's matter now, so she will definitely treat her as her biological daughter. But thinking about it now, it was really right to let her feed the child in the hospital back then. . ."

"What do you mean?"

"Even if she is with her own son every day, she doesn't know that it is her own flesh and blood. Because as long as we don't tell her about it, it's definitely impossible to see it with the naked eye, so we don't have to worry if she knows the truth. As long as we don't say it, she won't know it for the rest of her life."

"Sarah and Christian will raise our daughter for us like fools, at the same time their own son will be in front of their eyes, but they can't see him and will ignore him.

What will be more misfortune than not knowing your own blood? This is the best revenge I can take from those two people!"

"Now, the two children are under her control. Then I can openly go to the company."

"But what are you going to the company for?" Lucas still did not understand.

Vivian raised her hand and poked his forehead. "You are assigned to Julian as a driver. Why do you not have a brain? In this one month's time, keep an eye on Julian and Ruby. Write down their matters in detail every day. Write it in a small notebook. When you come back, you have to tell me everything. Did you hear that?"

"Okay! I understand!" Lucas listened to Vivian's words. He chuckled and reached out to hold her waist. He leaned close to her ear and said pitifully, "Dear, can I stay here tonight?"

"My dad is still at home. . ." Vivian looked at him in reproach.

"It's fine. Let's keep quiet. Anyway, I am just talking to you."

"Okay. . ." Vivian looked at Lucas and nodded with a smile.

Not long after dinner, Julian followed Ruby back to their room. There were a lot of people in the house today, and the atmosphere was much livelier. Even Julian was in an unusually good mood.

Ruby brought him upstairs. When they passed by his and Vivian's bedroom, Julian stopped in his tracks.

"What's wrong?"

"I want to take a shower."

"Okay." Ruby's face turned slightly red, but she still looked at him and nodded. She took him into the bedroom and let him sit down on the sofa to wait. She herself went to the bathroom to help him with the water.

"I'll go in with you." Julian held her little hand tightly and stubbornly followed her into the bathroom.

Ruby let him stand by the side while she walked to the bathtub and turned on the tap to water. Very quickly, it was all filled up. Ruby tested the temperature of the water and then brought Julian to the front of the bathtub. Her face was slightly red as she raised her hand to help him remove his clothes.

Ruby put her hands on his belt as she spoke and skillfully helped him take off his pants.

"Ruby. . . Can we wash up together tonight?"

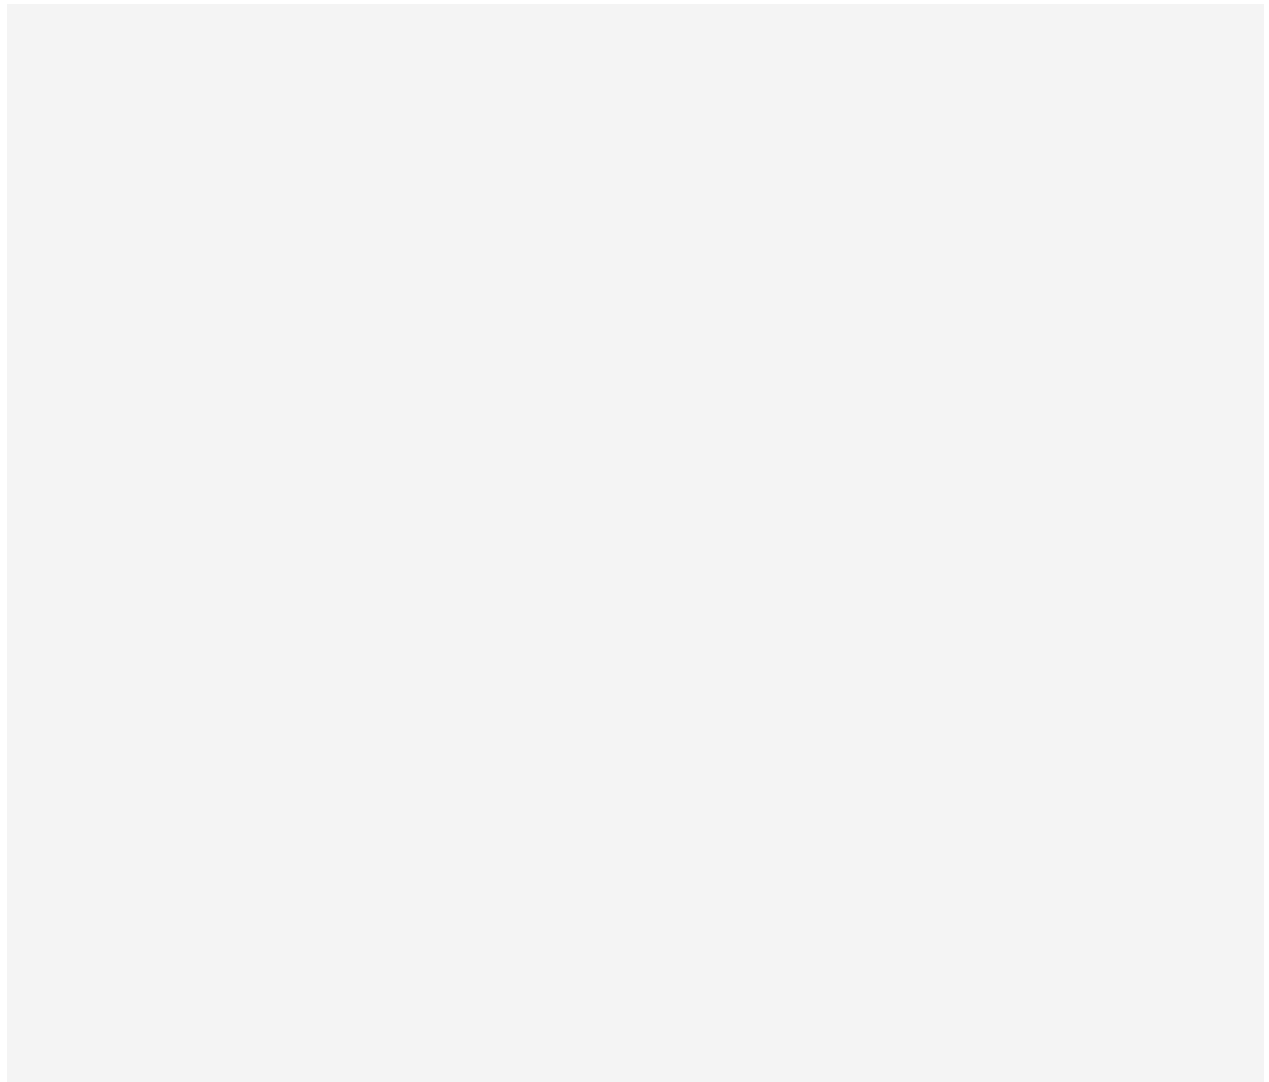

Because of the family and company matters, he had been a little depressed during this period of time. The atmosphere at home today also made his mood especially good. If it was not for the fact that his eyes could not see, he would have done it for her a long time ago.

"No. . ." Ruby's face turned red again. Although the two of them had been together for a long time, but this was the first time.

Chapter 283 Could Not Let Her Continue Living

In the end, Ruby couldn't convince him and sat down with him. The water in the bathtub rippled and reflected Ruby's red face.

Although Julian could not see her face, he knew that the current her face must be red.

She was a very shy girl.

"Ruby. . . "

"Yes. . . "

"Ever since I lost my sight, you haven't taken birth control pills, right?" The two of them have been together for quite some time now. However, there was no reaction from her stomach. Since he liked her more and more, he really wanted to have a child that belonged to the two of them.

"No. . ."

"Is that for real?"

"It's really true."

"I really want to have a child that belongs to both of us. I can't see it with my eyes right now, you can't lie to me, understand?" What he feared the most was that she would hide from him and eat it quietly.

"I'm not lying to you. . . Maybe fate hasn't arrived yet?"

"Yes, it must be so."

...

Because Vivian returned to her mother's home, the two children were all raised by Sarah alone. Although Sarah was a little tired, the two little fellows brought her a lot of joy and happiness.

Ethan's condition was getting more and more stable. All the indicators of his body were also stable.

However, it was known what was going on, but Ethan, on the other hand, couldn't wake up no matter what. He looked like he was going to sleep for the rest of his life.

Although Julian couldn't see, the higher ups of Cooper Group didn't give him any problems because of this. In addition, although his eyes weren't good during this period of time, all the documents that he had reviewed, none of them had made any mistakes. Especially during the meeting with the higher-ups in the company, Julian clearly could not see, however, he knew every department's work progress like the back of his hand. This was also something that they admired.

Whether it was the company or the family's situation, everything was getting better and better. After half a month of Sarah's recovery, Christian flew back to the army. Although he also wanted to stay and take care of his family, his status as a soldier made him helpless.

Fortunately, the situation at home had all improved, so he felt better when he left.

In the following month, Vivian really did not come back. She had been staying at her mother's house. Without her staying in Cooper Family, the atmosphere in Cooper Family was much better than before.

Ever since Ruby was brought home by her father last time, Ruby's family did not come to find her again. Although Ruby had never attended university, she did things very seriously. She relied on her own seriousness and persistence to arrange Julian's work in an orderly manner. There were even many suggestions that she would bring them up appropriately. This allowed Julian to do his work with ease.

Every night, laughter would come from the living room of Cooper Family from time to time. As he got closer to the two children, Julian liked them more and more.

Although Julian liked Stephen, but deep in his heart, he really wanted to have a child belonged to him and Ruby. He didn't even care if she gave birth to a son or daughter, as long as it belonged to the two of them, he would be satisfied.

However, the heavens seemed to always go against him. Another month passed. Ruby's stomach still did not have any reaction, which made him feel somewhat disappointed. But he also knew that, this kind of thing was not what you wanted. It would happen soon.

A month's time finally passed.

Vivian and Sarah's month was also finished.

It had been one month and seven days since Stephen and Simona were born, and it was also the day Vivian returned to the Cooper Family.

She had been raised at her mother's house for a month. She did not have any problems and her complexion looked very good.

When Vivian returned to the Cooper Family, it was almost noon, and the chef at home was preparing lunch. Daphne was taking care of Ethan in the hospital. Julian and Ruby also went to work. So when Vivian returned to the Cooper Family, in the huge living room, there was only Sarah and Benjamin.

When Vivian returned to the Cooper Family, it was almost noon, and the chef at home was preparing lunch. Daphne was taking care of Ethan in the hospital. Julian and Ruby also went to work. So when Vivian returned to the Cooper Family, in the huge living room, there was only Sarah and Benjamin.

When Vivian walked into the living room, she saw Stephen in Sarah's arms. She blinked her eyes and walked over with a smile.

"Oh my baby. I haven't seen you for a month. Have you missed your mother?" Vivian reached out and carried Stephen from Sarah's arms. Her fingers moved his little face.

Vivian glanced at Sarah, who was beside her, and said to Stephen with a smile, "Baby, your mother is back. Call your mother!"

Sarah Wilson, your son will call me mother for the rest of your life. Isn't it interesting?

Stephen, who had been in Sarah's arms for more than a month, still did not understand what was going on. He just looked at the strange auntie in front of him. It seemed like he was not used to the smell on her body. He looked at Vivian without smiling. After a long silence, he did not know what attracted his attention, but he put his hand into his mouth and started to eat, completely ignoring Vivian.

Vivian looked at Stephen, who was playing with himself in her arms, then turned to look at Sarah who was at the side.

"Sister-in-law, it has been hard on you for this month. Stephen is very mischievous, right?" Vivian behaved like a real mother. She looked at Sarah and smiled apologetically.

After she returned to this house again, she could not be the same as before, becoming enemies with everyone. If she really wanted what she wanted, she had to hide all the thorns on her body from now on.

Sarah heard her words and smiled faintly. "It's nothing. It was just a piece of cake for me. Stephen is very obedient. As long as he is full, he will be fine. He knows how to play by himself."

"Really? But it will definitely be hard for you."

Vivian carried Stephen and sat down on the sofa as she talked. While teasing him, she looked at Samantha, who was carrying Simona across from her. She said politely, "It has been hard on Auntie during this period of time. It's not fair. Throwing your own child to someone else to take care of, no matter what, it is too much."

Samantha smiled, "Don't be so polite. We are all family, so there is nothing to be troubled about. Anyway, I have nothing to do at home anyway."

"I'm sure I have to work hard. I've rested enough for the past month. Anyway, I don't have a job. I'll take care of the child in the future. Auntie has been working very hard during this period of time. When I come back, Auntie can go home and rest for a while. If you are exhausted and if this gets out, people will definitely laugh at me."

Since she had returned home, she definitely could not let Samantha continue living.

Hearing Vivian's words, Samantha's eyes flashed slightly. She then smiled and said: "Okay. Since you are back, I will go back tomorrow to rest. . ."

Hearing Vivian's words, although Sarah felt a little uncomfortable in her heart, she also understood that even if Vivian did not say it, her mother would still go home sooner or later.

When Benjamin heard that Samantha was about to leave, he immediately tried to persuade her to stay, "Samantha will also be alone when she returns. Now that Daphne is not at home in this house, you can stay for the time being and help Sarah take care of the child."

Samantha smiled and was just about to say something, when she heard Vivian smile and say, "Aiya, grandpa. Auntie Samantha hasn't had a good day's rest since the birth of the child. I'm back now, so don't worry about taking care of the child. Auntie hasn't had a good rest for a month. Let her go home and rest for few days first. If she misses the child, then she can come back. Anyway, she lives in the same city. It's not that far away, don't you agree?"

Benjamin listened to Vivian's words and nodded after a moment. "Yes, what you said makes some sense. In this one month's time, Samantha indeed worked very hard. Then Samantha will go back first tomorrow. You are also 50-60 years old and need to take good care of your body. If you miss the child, just come back at any time."

Samantha heard Benjamin's words and nodded with a smile, "Okay."

When Julian and Ruby returned home, it was already past seven o'clock in the evening. Because there were a lot of documents in the company today, the two of them came back a little later.

Daphne did not accompany Ethan in the hospital today. In addition, Vivian also went home, so the atmosphere in Cooper Family tonight was a little more lively.

During dinner, Vivian did not join in the fun. Instead, she carried Stephen in the living room to tease him. The maid was watching Simona, so Sarah and her mother went to the dining room to eat dinner.

Not long after dinner started, Daphne heard that Samantha was going home. Although she really did not want Samantha to go home, but thinking about it, she was too embarrassed to let her later stay.

Although the conditions of Cooper Family weren't bad in all aspects, but she also knew that Samantha did not feel comfortable staying here.

"Sister Samantha, you have indeed worked hard during this period of time. Two days ago, I asked someone to find Maternity Matron. She will specifically come to help take care of the two children. When Sister Samantha went back, she would take a good rest. If you miss the children, come back and take a look."

If Samantha was not here during this period of time, Daphne really did not have enough strength in her heart. So this time, Daphne was grateful to Samantha from the bottom of her heart.

Samantha heard her words and smiled. "Okay. When I miss Simona and Stephen, I will definitely come back."

That night Vivian was like a good mother, coaxing Stephen until very late at night. Only then did she carry the child to Sarah's bedroom. When she came out of the room, she thought about Julian upstairs. So Vivian went to the kitchen to make a cup of coffee first. When it was ready, she carried it upstairs.

Just as Vivian was about to walk to the door of the study, she heard the voices of two people coming from Ruby's room. But because the door was closed, what were they talking about she really could not hear it clearly at all.

Taking a deep breath, Vivian carried the coffee to the door of Ruby's room. She raised her hand and knocked lightly on the door. She then heard Julian's voice from inside, "Come in."

Vivian's eyes flashed and she bit her lips hard. Only then did she ease the expression on her face. She carried the coffee and pushed the door open and walked in.

Ruby, who was sitting by the bedside, did not think that the one who came in would be her cousin, Vivian.

She immediately sat up nervously by the bedside and slightly pursed her lips as she looked at Vivian who was walking over uneasily.

No matter how good her relationship with Julian was, Vivian was the wife of Julian after all, who was married to a prestigious family.

"Ruby, what happened to you?" Ruby suddenly stood up, which confused Julian. He, who was sitting by the bed, reached out to grab her hand, but Ruby quickly dodged it.

"Julian, I just made a cup of coffee. I know you like this kind of coffee the most. I even added some sugar. It must have been hard on you during this period of time, right?" Vivian walked to Julian with a smile as she spoke. She put the coffee on the bedside table by the side.

Chapter 284 Became Her Enemy

"Really? Thank you so much. Put it down, I'll drink it later." Julian heard that it was Vivian, he immediately understood Ruby's actions. He looked in Vivian's direction and said slowly.

Right now, he had understood one thing that if he wanted to protect Ruby, he could not be too stiff with this woman. Otherwise, the person who would suffer in the end would definitely be Ruby.

Vivian looked at Ruby who was at a loss and smiled. Vivian looked at Julian then raised her hand and touched Ruby's face with a smile. She looked at Ruby with a mocking gaze.

"Ruby, it's been hard on you during this period of time. Take good care of Julian. I will go and rest first. Good night."

After saying that, she looked at Ruby, who had lowered her head, and a cold smile appeared on the corners of her mouth. Then, she walked out of their room and walked to the door. She even turned around to look and then closed the door.

Hearing the sound of the door closing, Julian immediately reached out his hand to grab Ruby again. This time, she did not dodge. She looked at Julian and slowly sat beside him. In her heart, an indescribable feeling was rising.

"Ruby, did she do anything to you?" Julian held Ruby's hand and nervously asked. Given Vivian's character, he did not believe that she would let Ruby go so easily.

But his eyes could not see, so he could only listen to Ruby tell him.

Ruby looked at his nervous and uneasy expression and slowed down her voice to answer against her heart. "She did not. Don't worry. . ."

She did not want him to worry too much about her. Ruby also understood her cousin's mood. After all, the person who let Vivian down the most was herself.

"Really not? You can't lie to me, okay?"

"Yes, I know. Don't worry."

Ever since Christian left, Samantha had always stayed in her daughter's room. After Vivian sent Stephen back to the room, she left. Samantha walked to the door and closed the door, coaxing the two children to sleep. Only then did she walk to the side of the bed and lie down.

"Sarah, I will be going back tomorrow. Anyway, there are so many maids here. Another Maternity Matron will come tomorrow. I think it should not be a problem to take care of the child. Just remember to handle Stephen's matter properly. After all, his mother is Vivian. She isn't an easy person to deal with. You have to be careful. Don't waste your energy trying to please her when the time comes. After raising her child, you became her enemy. Do you know?"

Samantha was very clear that her daughter's personality was a little weak.

"Mom, don't worry. I am only taking care of the child. There will not be any conflict between me and her. Nothing will happen." Sarah heard her mother's words and smiled.

"Fortunately, your father-in-law's condition has improved during this period of time. I hope that his health will get better and better. Sigh, seeing him lying on the bed just like that. . . It really made me feel uncomfortable. He is a good person, but you say. . . Why doesn't a good person be rewarded?"

Samantha sighed heavily when she thought of Ethan still lying in the hospital.

"Mom, good people will definitely have good karma. Dad is seriously ill this time. Maybe when he wakes up again, he will live healthily to a hundred years old." Sarah smiled at the end of her sentence.

"It is not to the extent of living to a hundred years old. As long as he can live safely and see his own grandson and granddaughter, his life will not be in vain. Unlike your father, who can't see anything now. . ."

Samantha could not help but think of her husband and her eyes also turned a little red.

"Mom, why do you feel sad? If my Dad knew about it underground, he would definitely be happy for me now. Although Christian's father is in the hospital now, didn't you notice that Julian has become completely better now. I think this is the happiest."

"En, that's right. In the past, Julian was like a child who didn't grow up. I did not expect that once he could not see with his eyes, he would become much more sensible. Even when he spoke now, he became much calmer than before. Actually, the one who helped him the most this time was Ruby, that child. But it was her relationship with Julian, it made people feel uncomfortable looking at her. She was a good girl, sigh. . ." Samantha sighed at the end of her sentence.

"En, that's right. In the past, Julian was like a child who didn't grow up. I did not expect that once he could not see with his eyes, he would become much more sensible. Even when he spoke now, he became much calmer than before. Actually, the one who helped him the most this time was Ruby, that child. But it was her relationship with Julian, it made people feel uncomfortable looking at her. She was a good girl, sigh. . ." Samantha sighed at the end of her sentence.

"I really hope she can have a good ending with Julian."

Samantha looked at Sarah. "Anyway, their relationship is a little complicated, so you have to be careful when talking in front of Vivian. Do you know?"

"Mom, I will remember."

Not long after breakfast the next day, the Maternity Matron, whom Daphne invited, came. Seeing the other party's rich experience, Samantha then packed her things, sat in the car of Cooper Family and returned to her home.

When the car stopped downstairs and Samantha got out of the car, she saw David's BMW parked next to her. The driver of Cooper Family took the things out of the car and left.

Samantha saw David's car door open, Jasmine quickly jumped out of the car and ran in front of Samantha in a few steps. She reached out and hugged her tightly, "Second Aunt."

Samantha could not help but laugh when she heard the words of this girl. She raised her hand and lightly patted her back, "What happened to Jasmine today? Did she encounter something happy?"

David also opened the car door and got out of the car. He looked at Samantha in front of him and said with a smile, "Auntie, Jasmine found her Second Aunt today. Of course she is very happy!"

Samantha heard David's words and smiled. "Really? That was really a good thing. If Sarah heard it, she would definitely be very happy too."

Jasmine let go of Samantha and looked at her excitedly, "My Second Aunt is no one else but you. I knew that you were coming back today, so I asked David to specially bring me here to find you! Second Aunt, quickly come home with me! Is that alright?"

Samantha smiled again and said, "You lass, what are you talking about in broad daylight? How can I be your Second Aunt? Last time, I told Sarah that it was impossible. From now on, you can't tell me about this anymore, understand?"

When she heard Samantha's words, Jasmine was a little anxious as she said, "Second Aunt, I really did not lie to you! You are really my lost Second Aunt! Do you still remember that day when my grandmother went to the hospital to see Sarah? The first time she saw you, she was sure that you were her lost daughter. But she didn't recognize you at that time."

"Because we have been looking for too many places and found too many people, hope after hope, disappointment after disappointment. So this time, Grandma asked me to do a DNA test for you and her the moment she left the hospital. Do you still remember the day I came to see you at home? I said you had white hair. Actually, you don't have any white hair on your head at all. I took some of your hair and went to do a DNA test with grandma. The results came out a week later. It confirmed that you are my Second Aunt. . ."

Samantha heard what she said and smiled in disbelief again, "You must be mistaken. I have been the only daughter of my parents since I was young. Why did I suddenly have a biological mother? You are mistaken. It must be a mistake!"

If this kind of thing was happened on other people, perhaps once they heard that Jasmine's grandmother, Deirdre Wilson, was their biological mother, they would want to immediately recognize her. But Samantha did not believe it.

Because in her childhood memories, her parents took her very well, even if Jasmine told her now that the DNA test was real, Samantha still did not believe it.

Jasmine immediately grabbed her hand tightly and looked at her passionately. "Second Aunt, Grandma said that she had a way to make you believe! She said that she could prove it herself! If you did not go to Sarah's mother-in-law's house, I would have come looking for you long ago. Today, I called Sarah and heard that you were coming back, so I asked David to bring me here. No matter what, you have to come back with me today. Our whole family is waiting for you at home."

"I know that you have been unable to find your Second Aunt all these years, so you must be anxious.

But I am definitely not your Second Aunt! Jasmine, I will go back and rest first. You should also do what you should do. Okay?" Samantha said as she pushed Jasmine's hand away to go home.

"Second Aunt! Why don't you believe me? How about this, even if you don't believe me, on account of my grandmother being over 80 years old, can you go and meet her? Otherwise, she will be in a bad mood today. You don't know that she is very narrow-minded. If I don't take you to see her today, she won't even eat lunch. Not to mention lunch, she definitely wouldn't be able to sleep well! For the sake of her old age, Can you go and see her?"

Jasmine saw Samantha's expression of disbelief and could only compromise and plead.

David also looked at Samantha and nodded, "Auntie, whether it is or not, it will not be a big problem for you to go and see grandma. Furthermore, when Sarah was in the hospital, she had even personally gone to see Sarah. Don't you think so?"

Samantha nodded and looked at Jasmine and said, "I can go with you, but I still need to clarify a little with you. I really am not your Second Aunt or whatever, understand?"

"Okay! I know!" As long as Samantha was willing to see grandma, Jasmine could do whatever she wanted.

"Then let's go." David opened the car door for the two of them as he spoke.

Samantha smiled and shook her head. She still could not believe the authenticity of this matter. Seeing that the old lady was 80 years old, she lifted her foot and got into the car. Jasmine immediately followed in.

David quickly started the car and drove out of the community and towards the direction of the Wilson Family villa. Jasmine knew that Samantha was very conflicted about this matter and knowing that she had stayed in the Cooper Family for nearly a month, she changed the topic.

"Second Aunt, how is Sarah doing now?" Jasmine looked at Samantha and asked.

Samantha smiled, "Jasmine, you should call me aunty. I feel a little uncomfortable."

Jasmine nodded happily. "Okay! Auntie, how is Sarah? She must have had a hard time during this period of time, right?"

"Not really. Watching your own child grow up day by day, no matter how hard it is, it is still a kind of happiness. . . "

"Auntie is right. Sarah is the happiest at this time. . ."

"Yes, she is not bad. . ."

The car quickly drove into the courtyard of the Wilson Family villa.

Knowing that Samantha was coming today, the people of the Wilson Family were all waiting in the living room. Except for Syrus who went to the company, everyone else was waiting in the living room.

When the car stopped in the yard, a maid had already informed the people of Wilson Family. When she heard that her daughter, who had been missing for many years, had finally arrived, Deirdre was so excited that she stood up and personally went to welcome her.

The others could not convince her, so Joseph ordered the maids to help his mother to the living room door. The others also followed.

Chapter 285 I Finally Found You

Samantha had been to Villa of Cooper Family before. Although the renovations were very luxurious, but compared to the Wilson Family, it was still a little lacking.

The courtyard was very big. From the place where the car was parked to the front of the villa, there were still a few steps to go. When Jasmine finally brought Samantha to the living room door, Deirdre also came out to welcome them.

Samantha looked at the sudden appearance of so many people in front of her. Initially, she did not think that she had any blood relation with the people here, but when she saw so many people in front of her, she was somewhat nervous.

Jasmine could see Samantha's nervousness and awkwardness. She first looked at her grandmother and said, "Grandmother, you ran out like this. Don't scare my Second Aunt. She still doesn't believe that she is your daughter."

When Deirdre heard her granddaughter's words, she stretched out her trembling hand and tightly grabbed Samantha's hand. The eyes of the old lady who looked at her face instantly became moist.

"Child, you and your sister were twins. When you were young, you two looked exactly the same, so other people would always mix you guys up. But I can easily tell you apart. . ."

"You have a birthmark on the left side of your chest near your heart. Different from other people's birthmarks, your birthmark is brown, deeper than the skin. If you don't know, you'll think you haven't washed it clean. There's another place that can distinguish you two. Your right hand has a red freckles on your little finger. They were brought out from the moment you were born."

Because they were twins, at that time, Deirdre would always look for the characteristics of her daughters to differentiate them. But she had never thought that, this would then become the symbol of recognizing her daughter after a few decades.

After Samantha listened to the old lady's words, she looked at her in disbelief.

These two places, even the people who were the most familiar with her would not easily notice them, even her own daughter Sarah couldn't tell that she had a birthmark on her chest.

However, the old lady in front of her, who was over 80 years old and with whom she had only met twice, told these things so accurately.

When Samantha heard her words, she did not know what to say for a moment.

"Child, follow me!" Seeing that Samantha still did not believe it, Deirdre directly pulled her hand and walked towards her bedroom on the first floor.

Everyone also followed.

Samantha doubtfully followed Deirdre into her bedroom. When she walked to the bedside, she saw the old lady take out a photo album.

The photos inside looked a little old.

The old lady brought Samantha to sit in front of the bed and opened the photo album with trembling hands. She flipped through the photos one by one.

"These are the photos of you before you were lost. I think you must have taken your photos when you were at your adoptive parents' house, right? Take a look. Do you look like this one?"

Samantha took the album in surprise. Looking at the photo of herself, she was really surprised. When she was young, she had kept the photo taken with her parents. She could tell if she was the one in the photo with just one look.

"These. . . How is this possible? But. . ." Samantha looked at Deirdre and then looked at the Wilson Family members in front of her. Her emotions were indescribably complicated.

Joseph looked at his sister who had been lost for many years and smiled. "Your adoptive parents must have been afraid that you would be sad, so they did not tell you about your background all these years. This is understandable. But you are the daughter of the Wilson family. There is no doubt about it. DNA identification is the best proof! Samantha, welcome home!"

Jasmine looked at Samantha's shocked expression and knew that it was impossible for her to completely accept it at this moment. She smiled and walked in front of Samantha, hugged her arm and said, "Second Aunt, grandma has been looking for you for so many years. Her hard work has paid off, she finally found you. I did not think that Sarah, this lass, is really my cousin! That's great!"

Jasmine looked at Samantha's shocked expression and knew that it was impossible for her to completely accept it at this moment. She smiled and walked in front of Samantha, hugged her arm and said, "Second Aunt, grandma has been looking for you for so many years. Her hard work has paid off, she finally found you. I did not think that Sarah, this lass, is really my cousin! That's great!"

Samantha looked at Jasmine and asked once more in disbelief, "Jasmine, are you sure that you used my hair to make an appraisal?"

"Of course! Second Aunt, think about it. Can I be careless with this kind of thing? Don't you believe me anymore? This is really your home! Grandmother is your biological mother!" Jasmine joked.

Samantha looked at Deirdre. Although she still did not believe it, when she saw that she suddenly had so many relatives, her eyes immediately became moist.

Samantha reached out her hand to hold her mother's old hand and said with a choking voice, "When I was young, there were very few relatives in the family. There were also very few brothers and sisters in my parent's family. Ever since Sarah's father passed away, I have been living alone. I never thought that I would have so many relatives. . . Is this true?"

Deirdre nodded her head heavily and tears fell. "Child, this is true! Mom has been thinking about you for decades. . . Decades. . . I thought. . . That I would never be able to see you in this lifetime. . ."

Seeing Deirdre's tears falling, Samantha reached out and hugged her mother. Her tears also rolled down.

"Are you really my mother? Mom. . ."

"Child. . . Mom found you. . . I finally found you. . ."

Sarah never would have thought that on the first day of her mother's return home, such an unbelievable thing would happen.

Jasmine's grandmother was actually her own grandmother!

When Jasmine told her the entire matter in detail, even Sarah herself found it hard to believe it.

Jasmine asked her to come to the house for lunch at noon. But Sarah was worried that once she left, Stephen would not be taken care of.

It was alright to carry her daughter to the Wilson Family, but it was impossible to bring Stephen along with her.

So after thinking about it, Sarah gave up. There was still a long way to go in the future. She wasn't in a hurry either.

Jasmine understood that Sarah had just been discharged, so she did not force her.

Although she could not go to the Wilson Family, but this kind of news was enough to make Sarah excited. While carrying the child in the living room, Vivian could feel the joy in Sarah's heart from far away.

"Yo, what is sister-in-law happy about?" Seeing the smile on Sarah's face that could not be concealed, Vivian could not help but ask.

Sarah smiled and suppressed the excitement and joy in her heart as she said with a faint smile. "It is to see the child happy. . ." After all, it was her private matter and she did not want to tell Vivian.

Vivian raised her eyebrows. "Is that so? These two children are indeed quite cute! But now I think it's better to have a daughter. You see, it's so good to have a daughter. I just like having a daughter. When I buy clothes in the future, I can dress her up beautifully. Aiya, like a little princess!"

"My son is also very good. You can dress Stephen up as a handsome boy."

"Sister-in-law, you are right! I wonder if Stephen will be fascinated by a lot of people when he grows up?"

"Hehe, I think he will."

"Oh right, sister-in-law, I am going to the shopping mall today. Do you have anything you want to buy? I will bring it back." Vivian stood up as she spoke. She took her bag and prepared to leave.

"I do not have anything to buy. You can go." Sarah shook her head.

"Okay, okay. Since you don't have anything to buy, then I'll be leaving first." Vivian said as she carried her bag out of the living room.

Vivian said she was going to the mall, but the place she really went to was. . . It was the Cooper Group.

Ever since Julian lost his sight, Ruby had always been the one to bring him to work in the company.

Many people even thought that Ruby was Julian's wife. This made Vivian's heart burn with anger.

But even so, she kept reminding herself in her heart. This time, she had to be calm!

Calm down, calm down, calm down!

The car quickly stopped in front of Cooper Group. Vivian got out of the car and entered the company lobby. She took the CEO's elevator and went straight to Julian's office.

When she walked out of the elevator and passed by the secretarial office, she was stopped by the secretary.

"Madam, please wait a moment." Ever since Ruby worked here, Julian had repeatedly reminded her that even if Vivian came, she had to inform him first.

Although Vivian was unhappy in her heart, her face did not show any displeasure. She smiled and nodded. "Okay."

The secretary went in and came out very quickly. She personally opened the door for Vivian. "Madam, please come in."

Vivian nodded with a smile and then walked in.

At this moment Ruby was already standing by the side. When she saw Vivian walk in, she immediately greeted her respectfully, "Sister Vivian. . ."

Vivian looked down on Ruby as a mistress in her heart who took away her husband but her face was still smiling. She then elegantly walked to Julian's table and sat down.

"What are you doing here?" Before Vivian could say anything, Julian looked in Vivian's direction and asked directly.

"Look at you. You are my husband. Your eyes are not good. Can't I come to the company to see you? I am just worried that you will not get used to it, so I came to see. . ."

Vivian's tone was very gentle, and there was a smile on her face, even though Julian could not see her smile at all.

"Now that you have finished looking, you can leave. I have a meeting to attend later." Julian did not welcome her and wanted to drive her away without any hesitation.

"Is that so? Since you are so busy, I will leave first. Right, I need to go to the shopping mall to buy something. Ruby, do you have anything you want to buy?" Vivian stood up as she spoke and looked at Ruby who was at the side.

"Thank you Sister Vivian, I don't have anything to buy." Ruby nervously shook her head. When she met with Vivian's gaze, she immediately looked to the side.

In front of Vivian, she always had a guilty feeling.

Vivian smiled. "Alright, then I will leave first." After saying that, she walked out of Julian's office.

Once Vivian left, Julian's heart ached so much that he grabbed her hand. "Ruby, can't you just let me divorce her?"

Not to mention about others, even he himself couldn't stand this awkward triangular relationship. Most importantly, it was because he did not want Ruby to be wronged.

Now, it was just too unfair to her.

Ruby shook her head. "Julian, you promised me. . . "

Julian sighed softly. "Alright. . . "

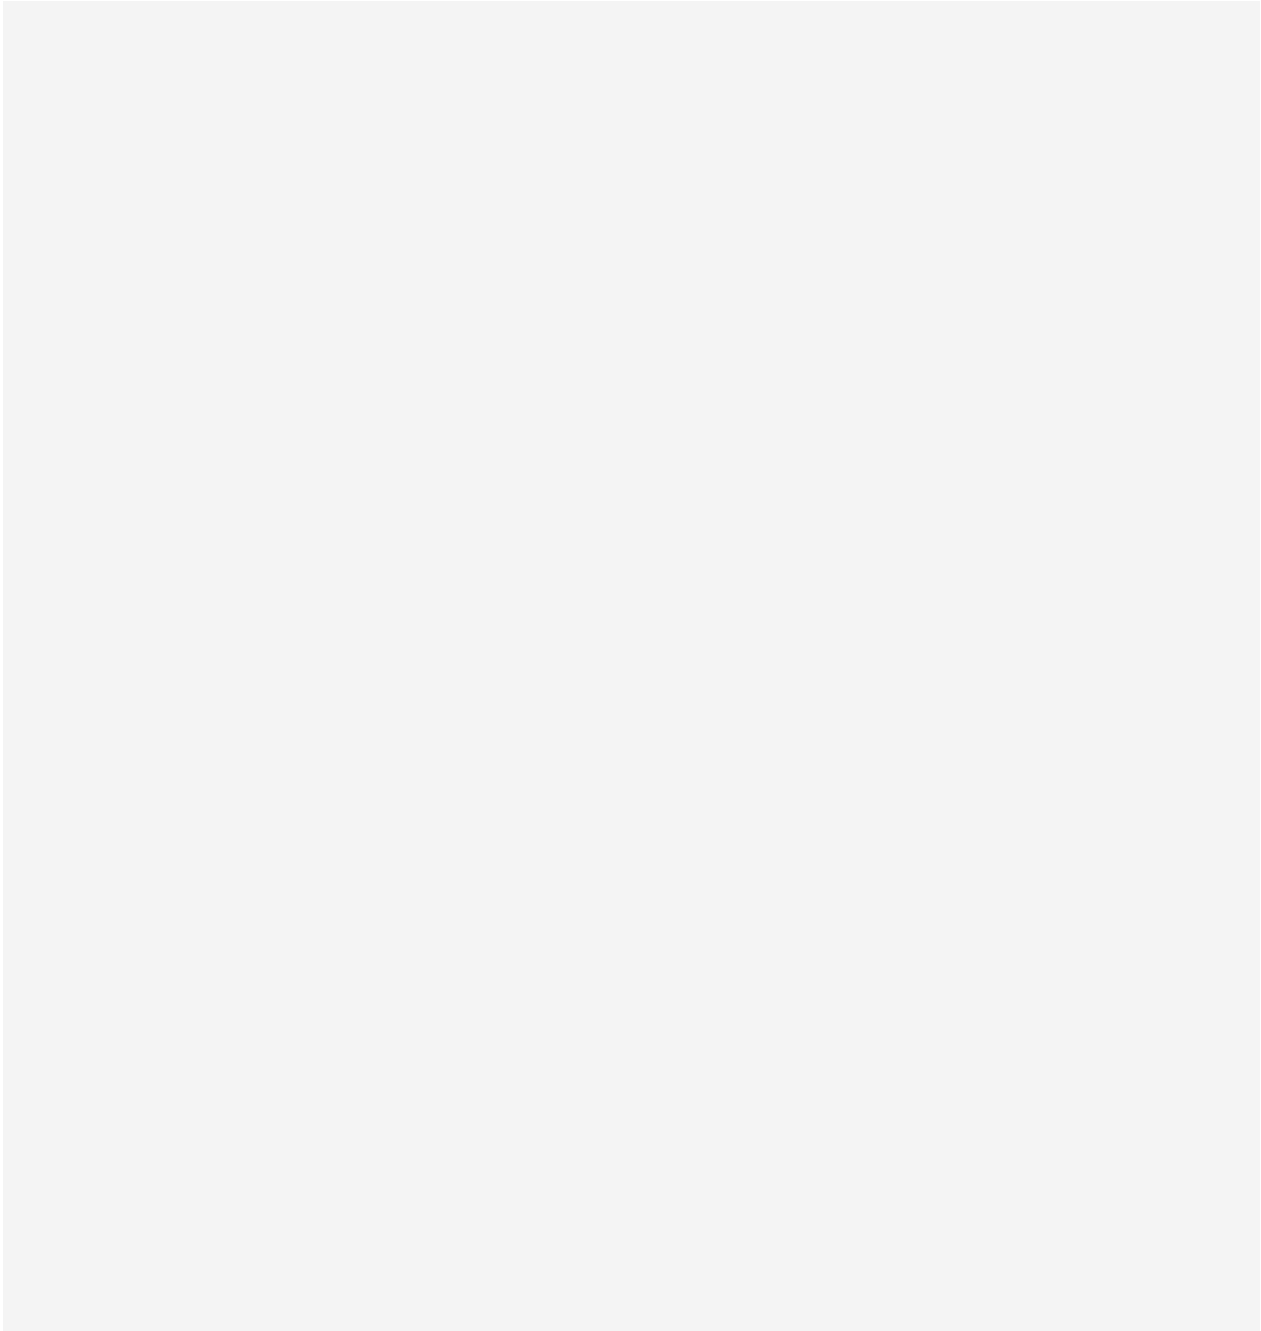

Vivian walked out of the company and stopped a taxi by the roadside, as when she just came, she let the driver go back.

Sitting in the taxi, Vivian quickly took out her phone and dialed her uncle's number.

THE CONTRACT MARRIAGE

Chapter 286 Changed Into A Different Person

“Vivian, did something happen to Ruby?” When he saw that it was Vivian calling, Ruby's father immediately picked up the phone as he thought that something had happened to his daughter.

"Uncle, Ruby is fine. Nothing happened."

"Is that so? Then why are you looking for Uncle?"

"I want to ask uncle for a favor."

"Okay! As long as uncle can help, just say it!"

"Okay. . ."

After Vivian called Ruby's father, she looked at the road in front of her and pondered for a moment. She then asked the driver to drive the car to Municipal Hospital.

Ever since Ethan got into trouble, she had never gone to see him. Since she had time now, she had to go and take a look no matter what.

The car quickly stopped in front of the consultation hall. Vivian paid the fare and went straight to the inpatient department. She followed the nurse's instructions and went all the way there. Soon, she arrived in front of Ethan's ward.

Vivian reached out and gently pushed open the door. She saw Daphne sitting in front of the bed, holding Ethan's hand and talking.

"Mom. . . "

Daphne turned around and saw Vivian. She was more or less surprised. "Vivian, why are you here?"

"I came to see Dad. Is he better now?" Vivian asked as she walked to the opposite side of the bed and stopped.

Daphne sighed, "He is still the same. No matter what I say to him, he did not react. . ."

"Why don't we carry Stephen over some other day? Maybe it will be better for father's condition. . ." Like a filial daughter-in-law, Vivian looked at mother-in-law and suggested an idea.

However, Daphne shook her head, "Forget it. The child is still young and does not know how to say anything. I can just talk to him. . ."

"Mom, I have nothing to do anyway. Sister-in-law will take care of the child. In the future, I will come with you to take care of Dad every day. Let me do my filial piety."

" No need. I'm just here to chat with your dad. Besides, there's a nurse here."

"But you're tired of staring at this place every day. It's settled then. Please let me share some of your burden."

"Vivian, I know that your filial piety is satisfied. You really don't need to be here. You can just go back. "

Hearing Daphne continuously reject her, Vivian lowered her head. Gently twisting her bag, she said with grievance, "Mom, I know that you have always had a problem with me. Actually in this one month's time, I have been reflecting on myself. I know I was wrong, very wrong. I know you don't like me and you are afraid that I won't be able to take care of my dad here. But Mom, I haven't been living a good life lately. I know that the family has a lot of opinions about me. Julian wants to divorce me. He didn't look for me even when the child was just born. . ."

Vivian's eyes turned red when she said this, and her tears fell.

Daphne did not say anything when she heard what Vivian said. What happened during this period of time made her no longer have a good impression of Vivian. But hearing what she said just now, Daphne's heart was somewhat shaken.

Seeing that Daphne did not speak, Vivian continued to sob and said, "Mom, just give me a chance. I don't have any other thoughts. I just want to make it up to you a little. . ." After saying that, her tears could not stop falling again.

Daphne looked at Vivian and sighed. Seeing that the later kept crying, she could not bear it anymore. "Alright. If you want to come, come with me. . ."

Leaving her husband to Vivian alone to take care of, she was really worried.

"Okay, thank you, Mom. . ."

"Okay, thank you, Mom. . ."

"You can go back today and come back tomorrow. . ."

"Okay. . ."

In the following days, Vivian seemed to have completely changed into a different person. Whether it was at home or in the hospital, she would do her best.

In the hospital, when Daphne helped Ethan wipe his face, Vivian and the works that were done by the caregivers, Vivian rushed to do it. Sometimes, she would even wash Ethan's feet and wash his clothes.

Daphne saw it and her view of Vivian slowly changed.

When Vivian returned home every day, she insisted on playing with the child for a while. When she was happy, she would laugh out loud in the living room. After dinner, every night, she would bring a cup of coffee to Julian.

Although Julian knew that it was just a cup of coffee, he would never drink it. But Vivian still insisted on doing so. Because she knew very well that if she appeared in front of Julian and Ruby many times, their vigilance against her would slowly weaken.

Half a month passed just like that.

The people of Cooper Family saw Vivian's performance during this period of time and felt that she was slowly getting better. Even Sarah started to feel that Vivian had really become better.

Today, Ruby followed Julian to the company as usual.

Because it was Monday, there were a lot of meetings in the company. But with Ruby's help, Julian did it with ease.

It was almost noon when Ruby brought Julian back to the office. She just brought him to the leather chair and sat down, Ruby's phone rang continuously.

She took it out to take a look. It was her father who called. Ruby looked at Julian and hesitated for a moment. "Julian, I'm going out to answer a call."

Julian frowned. "Why do you want to go out? Who called you?"

"It was my Dad. . ."

He said, "Then you can pick me up from here. I'm not an outsider. "

"Okay." Ruby nodded, pressed the answer button and put it beside her ear.

"Ruby, can you come back now?" It was not Ruby's father's voice that came from the phone, but Ruby's mother.

Hearing that her mother's voice was not right, Ruby nervously asked, "Mom, did something at home?"

"Your Dad's leg was broken yesterday and he is now lying on the bed. Moreover, your second sister gave birth today. You also know that her mother-in-law had already passed away and no one is there to care of her at all. Can you take a few days off to come back? I am really worried that your father is alone at home."

"Okay, Mom, I'll go back."

"Okay, then I'll go to the hospital first. I don't know how your Second Sister is doing today. I'll hang up first." Ruby's mother sounded very anxious. After she finished speaking, she quickly hung up.

Ruby put away her phone. She looked at Julian and felt a little awkward. She thought about what he would do if she went back. For a moment, she did not know what to say.

"Ruby, what happened?" He also heard some things just now. Ruby was silent the whole time. Julian looked in her direction and asked anxiously.

"Julian. . . That. . . I have to go home for a few days. . ."

"Go home? Why? What happened at home? "

"My second sister is having a child in the hospital. She doesn't have mother-in-law, and my brother-in-law is working elsewhere. So my mother has to go to the hospital to take care of her. . ."

"Then why do you still want to go home?"

"My dad's leg was broken yesterday, so he can't go down now. . ." Her brother was in school, so she could only go back to take care of her father.

Julian nodded. "Ruby, you can go back then. Anyway, I'm fine for a few days. How long will it take for you to come back?"

"I can't say for sure either. . . If Second Sister gives birth, my mother will have to take care of her for a month no matter what. . ."

"Then you won't be able to come back for a month?" Julian asked nervously. A month was too long for him.

Ruby bit her lips, but there was nothing else she could do. "I see that your secretary Jenny is also very careful. I will tell her about the work and let her help first. What do you think?"

She could not let Julian go anymore but she still had to return home.

"How can she do that? I don't like people who are too narrow-minded. Ruby, how about this? I'll find a nurse to take care of your father. Wouldn't that be good? Or you can hire Maternity Matron for your Second Sister. This way, you can be at ease. How is it?" Other than Ruby, he could not believe anyone else.

Hearing Julian's words, Ruby felt that it made some sense. She nodded slightly. "En, this is also not bad. But I still have to make a trip back. When the time comes, I will call you. Do you think it's okay?"

"Alright! Anyway, today's work was almost done. I won't be very busy tomorrow. Go back and take a look. If possible, come back tomorrow or the day after tomorrow, alright?"

"Okay! Then I'll call Jenny in first and tell her." Even if Julian did not like it, she could not lack people to take care of him.

Julian did not refuse and allowed Ruby to do it. Ruby found Jenny and told Jenny in detail about the two days of work. She also told Jenny about some of the small details of Julian's life in detail and told her everything.

Ruby then took her bag and greeted Julian before rushing back home.

Seeing Ruby walk out of the company and stop a taxi by the roadside to leave Cooper Group, Lucas walked out of the lobby and saw the car disappearing into the distance. He took out his phone and called Vivian.

Because Ruby was not around, on this day after work, Julian came back alone. Without Ruby by his side, it was as if he had lost his sight again. No matter what he did, he had to find someone to help him.

This feeling. . . It made him very unhappy.

After dinner, he was really not in the mood. He asked Hannah to send him to the study upstairs.

Without Ruby by his side, there were some documents that he could not handle at all.

Fortunately, he did not bring any documents back today. The reason why he went to the study room was that he wanted to stay alone for a while.

Julian fumbled around and took out his phone. He pressed the 1 button and dialed the number. This was to make it easier for him to find Ruby. She specially set the speed button.

The phone rang for a while before it connected. Ruby's familiar voice came from inside.

"Julian, how are you today?" Although she was taking care of her father at home, Ruby still couldn't help but worry about Julian.

"Ruby, how is Uncle? When can you come back?" Upon hearing Ruby's voice, Julian anxiously asked.

"My father's calf has fractured. He has already been cast with plaster and has returned home. But he can't move his legs now, so I can't go back for a while." Ruby replied helplessly.

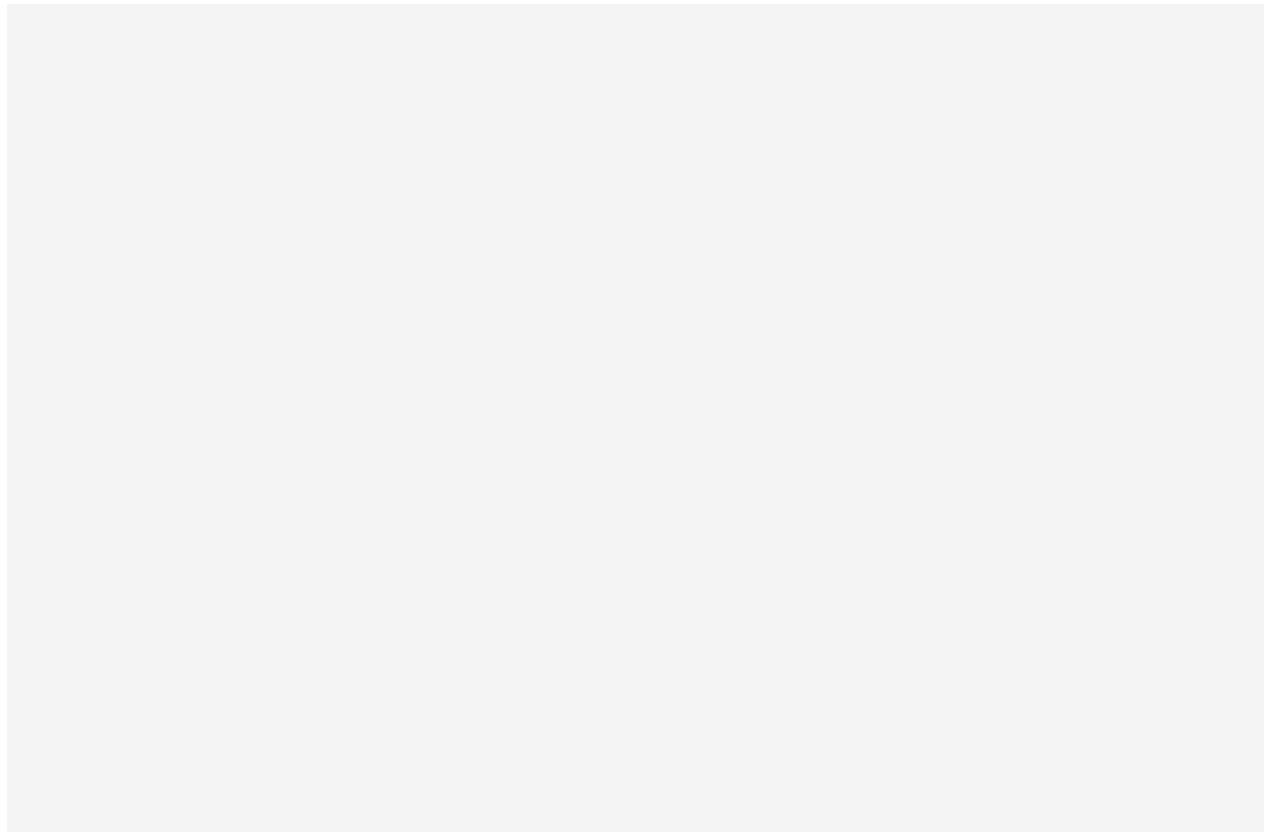

"Then have you discussed with your dad about finding a caregiver to take care of him? If you were not by my side for a moment, I would feel flustered."

Chapter 287 Don't Reject Me

"I talked to him, but it doesn't seem right now. Julian, hold on for another two days. I really can't go back now. . . ." When she returned home today, Ruby had discussed with her father about hiring a nurse, but before she could finish, her father was furious and said that she was being unfilial.

This made Ruby not dare to speak anymore. After all, no matter how much Julian needed someone to take care of him, she could not abandon her father.

"Alright, then you can take care of uncle at home for a few days. I'll wait for you."

"If there's anything, call me. . ."

"Okay, I got it."

Julian chatted with Ruby for a while and then hung up. When he put the phone on the table, he heard the door of the room being pushed open and Vivian walked in with coffee.

During this period of time, no matter what kind of attitude Julian had towards her, giving him coffee was something she insisted on doing.

"Julian, your coffee. . ." Vivian said as she put the coffee on the table.

"Yes, I know." Vivian had changed a lot during this period of time. Julian's attitude towards her had also changed.

"Julian, I am in the room next door. The door is not closed. If you need anything, just call me. I'll be going back first." Vivian finished speaking and looked at the silent Julian. She turned around and walked out of the study.

Julian heard the study door close and then sighed. He leaned his body against the leather chair in disappointment. When he thought about Ruby not knowing when she would be back, he felt depressed.

Time slipped by a little and Julian stood up from the desk. He fumbled around and walked towards the door of the study.

From the moment he lost his sight until now, from the study to the room, he could still feel it clearly. He fumbled to the door of the study and reached out to open the door.

Just as he was about to walk into Ruby's room, he heard Vivian running to the bedroom door in a hurry.

"Julian, are you going back to your room to rest? Come, let me help you over." Vivian walked over as she spoke. She reached out to grab his arm and brought him to Ruby's room.

Julian stopped in his tracks and reached out to gently push her arm. "No need. I can walk by myself. "

Vivian heard his words and sighed. "Sigh, Julian. Are you still holding a grudge against me for not treating you well when I was pregnant?"

Julian did not say anything and just looked ahead in silence.

"At that time, I was pregnant with Stephen. My appetite was not good either. Every night when I slept, it was difficult for me to even turn my body around. It's inevitable for me to be in a bad mood, so don't lower yourself to my level. It was my fault in the past. Don't think about these things anymore. I'm just thinking about how I didn't take good care of you in the past, so I want to make it up to you now. Whether or not you divorce me in the future, I don't care anymore. I just want to do my best when I'm by your side."

"I called Ruby today. I found out that my uncle's leg fracture was very severe. As the saying goes, a leg fracture is a hundred days of serious injury. She definitely wouldn't be able to come back in a short period of time, so whether at home or at the company, it would be inconvenient for others to take care of you. At the end of the day, I am still your wife. Don't reject me anymore, okay?"

"Forget it. Help me back to my room first." Julian heard her words and sighed. His tone was not as tough as before.

"Okay." Vivian nodded and helped Julian back to Ruby's bedroom. She watched him sit down by the bed. Vivian said slowly, "Julian, it's inconvenient for you to be here alone. Why don't you go back to our bedroom and rest? If you go to the bathroom tonight, I can take care of you."

"No need. I am familiar with this place. You can go back first."

"No need. I am familiar with this place. You can go back first."

"Alright, then I'll be leaving first. Call me if there's anything." Vivian did not insist and walked out of the room after saying that. She closed the door of the room and went to Daphne's bedroom.

When she knocked on the door and walked in, she saw Daphne tidying up her clothes. When she saw Vivian walk in, Daphne put away her husband's clothes and sat down beside the bed to look at Vivian.

"Is there something wrong with Vivian?" During this period of time, Vivian went to the hospital every day and Daphne's impression of her was getting better and better.

"Mom, I just sent Julian back to Ruby's room to rest. After Ruby left, it was very likely that she would only come back after a month. I'm worried that no one would be nice to him while Julian goes to work at the company. What if something happens? If he accidentally made a mistake in the contract that he handled every day, the company might lose millions or tens of millions. What if something goes wrong? I'm really worried now."

Daphne heard Vivian's words and nodded her head in agreement.

To be honest, when Ruby was by her son's side in the past, although Daphne was worried, seeing how that girl took care of her son so well, she also felt relieved. Now that Ruby had left, her heart was also worried.

"That's right! This is indeed a problem."

"I did ask Julian just now. He said that Ruby had already given all her work to his secretary, Jenny, when she left. But I learned from Lucas that Jenny is a girl with a lot of heart. I am just worried now. Look at Dad's health right now and Julian's eyes are like this again. As time passes, there will definitely be some rumors in the company. If something goes wrong at a time like this, won't our company be in danger?"

Daphne helplessly sighed heavily. "Yes! But what can we do now? Julian's eyes are not good. Your father has not woken up yet. . ."

Daphne's heart was also in a mess. During this period of time, she was physically and mentally exhausted because of her son and husband, but she could not think of a better way.

"Mom, can you do this? I worked in the company before and I still knew some basic information about the company, so before Ruby came back, I will follow Julian to work at the company first. This way, I can take care of him. If something urgent happens, it will be easy to deal with it.”

“In the end, I'm still the daughter-in-law of the Cooper Family. If anything happens to our company, it won't do me any good. So I won't do anything that will let the Cooper Family down. But if it was someone else, it would be hard to say. What do you think?”

Vivian suggested at the right time.

Daphne lowered her head and thought for a moment. After thinking for a while, she looked up at Vivian and nodded. "Okay! I will be more at ease if you follow Julian."

Although Vivian's previous actions were not as satisfactory as what she had expected, there was one thing she was right about. No matter what, she was the daughter-in-law of Cooper Family. If anything happened in the company, it would not be good for her. Therefore, Daphne agreed with this point.

"Then you go and tell Julian. His attitude towards me is much better now, but I am afraid he will think too much."

Daphne nodded. "Okay! Then I will go and tell him. . ."
After she finished speaking, she went upstairs to her son's room.

Vivian also followed Daphne upstairs, but she did not follow in. Instead, she went back to her own room first.

Daphne knocked on the door and walked in. Seeing the darkness in the room, her heart felt stifled and uncomfortable. She reached out to turn on the light at the door and saw that her son was preparing to sleep on the bed.

"Julian. . ." Daphne walked towards her son.

"Mom, why are you here?" Julian was surprised to hear his mother's voice.

"I came up to see you. Ruby didn't come back today, I was a little worried about you."

Julian pretended to be relaxed and smiled. "Mom, I am fine. You don't have to worry about me."

Daphne sat down beside her son and sighed softly.

"You can't see with your eyes. You still have to go to the company to work. In the past, Ruby was with you, so Mom was slightly relieved. Now that you are alone, how can Mom not worry?"

"Mom. . ." Julian listened to his mother's words and did not know what to say.

"Although I went to the hospital every day to take care of your Dad, he did not react at all. I am really worried that he will continue to lie down like this."

Julian immediately grabbed his mother's hand. "Mom, don't think that way. My dad will definitely wake up!"

"Sigh, although we all think that way, the current situation is worrying me. Julian, how long will Ruby be back?"

Julian slightly lowered his head. "For the time being, I am not very sure. I estimate that she will need at least ten days or half a month to go back. . ."

"Then who will arrange the work for you now?"

Daphne did not dare to directly discuss the matter of Vivian with her son. She was afraid that he would reject it directly.

"Ruby has arranged the work with my secretary Jenny."

"Oh, although she is also your secretary, she is definitely not as earnest as the people in our own family. That is what I think. Do you think it is okay?"

"Mom, what do you think. . ."

"During this period of time, I have been taking care of your dad in the hospital. Vivian will go and help me every day. Even at home, she also rushed to take care of the child. I saw that after the divorce you proposed to her last time, she did have some changes. Now that Ruby is not by your side, Vivian is still the Cooper Family's daughter-in-law no matter what. The company's interests are closely linked to her. So I thought, from tomorrow onwards. . . Let her follow you to work at the company. With her by your side to take care of you, I also feel more at ease.

What do you think?"

"Mom, forget it. I can handle it myself." Julian directly rejected his mother's suggestion.

"Don't beat her to death with a single blow. Let her try it out with you for two days. If she can do it, then let her take care of you on Ruby's behalf. If not, then tell me. Mom won't let her go."

"After all, think about it, if there were people from the Cooper Family by your side, the people in the company would be more stable. When you couldn't see their faces, if they winked and made some small movements, you can't see anything. Even if Jenny saw it, if she was bribed, something big will definitely happen in Cooper Group, right?"

When Daphne said this, she herself was afraid.

Julian's eyes could not be seen. As long as others were a little petty, the Cooper Group might face a huge risk.

Julian listened to his mother's words and was silent for a moment. After a moment, he nodded his head. "Mom, you are right. Then let her try first. Let her follow me to the company starting tomorrow!"

THE CONTRACT MARRIAGE

Chapter 288 Selfish Motives

"Okay, okay. Then I'll go and inform her. Right, How about I call her over and you tell her about the things she should take note of? Tell her everything Ruby needs to do when she's here. This way, when you go to the company tomorrow, she can be prepared."

"Okay. Then let her come now." Julian did not refuse.

"Then wait here. I will go and call her." Daphne heard her son agree and immediately got up to call Vivian.

Julian finally agreed to his mother. In fact, when he went to work alone, it was also a challenge to him. He didn't have anyone close to him, and he couldn't see it with his eyes, so many things made him feel helpless.

In addition, during this period of time, Vivian had indeed changed a lot. Although he could not see it, he could feel it.

That night, Julian told Vivian everything she needed to pay attention to. After breakfast the next day, Vivian went to the Cooper Group with Julian.

Actually, since Ethan got sick until now, there had been some objections in the company. It was just that nothing major had happened in the company, which was why everything was fine.

When the car stopped in front of the company's lobby, Vivian got out of the car first, then helped Julian out of the car. They went to the company's lobby together.

Because Vivian had been to work here before, she was not unfamiliar with the company. The two of them took the elevator to Julian's office floor.

When they walked out of the office and passed the secretariat room, they saw Jenny, the secretary, walking over nervously. She looked at Julian and called out softly.

"President. . ."

Julian stopped and asked slowly, "What's wrong?"

"Yesterday, a few major shareholders in the company heard that Miss Ruby left and said that you can't see now. If this continues, it will be detrimental to the company's development, so today. . ." Jenny said a little hesitantly.

Vivian frowned, "Don't stutter when you speak. So what happened today?"

"They said they were going to hold a meeting and want to choose a new CEO. . ." Jenny said and immediately lowered her head, not daring to look Vivian in the eyes.

"They are throwing stones while they are down, aren't they? The chairman is still in the hospital and the CEO is now coming to the company to work every day. How can they do this? Where are they now?" Vivian got angry when she heard that.

"They are. . . In the conference room. . ." Jenny lowered her head again and replied.

"Got it, you go ahead!" Vivian looked at Julian and said, "Julian, let's talk in the office first!"

Julian nodded and followed Vivian into his office.

Once the office door was closed, Vivian took Julian to the leather chair and sat down. She said angrily, "These people are too much. You are still working in the company. How can they make such a request?"

Julian frowned. "Actually, I had already expected this. This kind of thing will happen sooner or later."

His and his father's situation were all like this. It was inevitable that there would be some differences in voices in such a large company. It was already unexpected for him to be able to hold on until now.

"Then what should we do now?" Today was the first day that she came to work, and she encountered this kind of thing. It was also something that Vivian did not expect.

But on second thought, this kind of thing happened. It was a very good opportunity for her.

"Since they are already in the meeting room, it means that they have come prepared. Call Jenny in."

"Okay." Vivian nodded and walked to the door to call her secretary Jenny into the office.

"Yes CEO." Jenny walked in front of Julian.

"Yes CEO." Jenny walked in front of Julian.

"How many people are there in the meeting room? Have you gone to see it?"

"There are nine of them in total."

"Who is the leader?"

"It's Director Dowson Bates!"

"I got it. Go and tell them that the meeting will be held at nine o'clock. You can go out first." Julian nodded.

"Yes!" Jenny immediately left the room.

Seeing Jenny leave and closing the office door, Vivian looked at Julian and asked, "Why did this person do this?"

"His son Diego Bates is now the vice president. It seems that he wants to make his son the President." When Julian heard this name, he had a general idea.

"No wonder!"

...

At nine o'clock in the morning, Vivian brought Julian to the meeting room.

When Vivian walked in, she saw that there were indeed nine people sitting in front of the meeting table. The one sitting at the front was Dowson Bates.

Vivian helped Julian sit down while she sat beside him. Seeing the secretary close the door of the conference room, Vivian reminded Julian that the conference could begin.

Julian looked at the front and smiled faintly. "Ever since my father fell sick, I have been very grateful to everyone for their support. I think that without everyone's help, the Cooper Group wouldn't be as peaceful as it is now. Although I can't see it with my eyes during this period of time, everyone is still very supportive of my work. This makes me very happy."

"No matter what happens today, since I'm here today,

I have to thank everyone first! Thank you for helping me when I encountered difficulties in the Cooper Group. I thought that everyone would continue to work like this, but when I came to the company today, I heard the secretary say that a few directors requested for a board meeting. My wife came with me today. If you have any good suggestions for the company, you can give them. Although I can't see it, I will definitely be listening!"

After they heard what Julian said, they silently looked at each other. The first one to speak was Dowson. "President, we are all clear about the chairman's illness. Your eyes have yet to find a suitable cornea. We, the directors, have discussed it over the past few days. For the sake of the company's development, I suggest you treat your eyes first. After all, such a large company. . . Some things can't be managed just by listening."

"During the time when you are going to operate on your eyes, we will choose an acting CEO to temporarily replace you. When your eyes are good, the position of the CEO will be reserved for you at any time!"

Another director heard Dowson's words and went to speak. "Director Cooper, we have no choice. There are already rumors spreading outside. Our Cooper Group is such a big company and it will all be in your hands. It will be fine if nothing big happens. But if something were to happen, it might cause an irreversible situation to the Cooper Group. The Cooper Group was founded by Chairman Cooper himself. We don't want anything to happen to the company either. We just hope that you can come back and manage the company after you've healed your eyes. What do you think?"

"Yes! The few of us are also thinking about the company's development. I hope Director Cooper doesn't think too much about it."

"That's right! That's right! Director Cooper couldn't see it. If Chairman Cooper was in good health, we wouldn't have said anything. But now, many companies outside dare not cooperate with our company. If this continues, the company will inevitably be affected. I hope that Director Cooper can make some concessions for the sake of the bigger picture."

"That's right. . ."

". . . "

As soon as Dowson spoke, the other directors all agreed.

Vivian was originally a person who was good at observing people's expressions and words. Soon, she understood that among these people, Dowson was a key person.

As the sound of the voice gradually faded, Vivian, who was sitting beside Julian, spoke.

"Is everyone done talking? If you are done, can I say a few words?"

Dowson knew her identity, but he did not put her in his eyes. "This meeting is the company's board of directors. It does not seem appropriate for Madam of President to attend, right?"

Vivian heard his words and smiled. "Director Bates' meaning is that as a wife, I can allow my husband to be bullied by others. Then, I can stay by the side and watch the show without saying anything?"

Dowson immediately put on the airs of an elder in the company. "Madam, don't distort my meaning. I mean this meeting. . ."

Vivian did not wait for him to finish speaking and directly slammed the table. "Don't use the board of directors to pressure me! Even though my surname is not Cooper, aren't you all just bullying the entire Cooper Family? Can't you see the sickness? Can't you see Julian's eyes? But his heart is not blind!"

"Since you want to choose a new CEO, I would like to ask you. During the period when Julian was blind and still went to work, did he cause any major losses to the company? Did the company stop advancing? Has it announced that it is going to close down now?"

There is nothing! You only saw that his eyes are not good. But you didn't see that he was working hard."

"Julian worked very late every night when he came home. He had to spend more energy than normal people. Because this company was founded by his father, he didn't want to disappoint his father! Today, let's be frank here! I know this meeting was brought up by you! Today, in front of so many people, do you dare to pat your chest and swear that you organized this meeting not to let your son become the president? You don't have any some selfish motives towards yourself, do you dare to swear?"

Julian quietly sat on the chair. When he heard Vivian's words, he originally wanted to stop her, but after thinking about it, it was not a bad idea to let her test everyone.

Dowson did not expect this woman to ask him such a direct question in front of so many people. He immediately said with a guilty face, "Don't slander me!"

Vivian smiled. She was not afraid of this person at all.

"I just want Director Bates to clarify whether he is selfish or not. Can't you just say that you don't have any motives? But hearing Director Bates' words just now, it means that I almost misunderstood him. Since Director Bates is thinking about the company, I can now promise everyone. . ."

"From today onwards, I will be my husband's eyes. During this period of time, he didn't make any mistakes in his work and the company's development was the same as before. Like the board members said just now, because my husband had an eye problem, he can't work. Then I want to ask everyone here, when you sign a contract with the other party and you will get sick because of some health problems, do you want to give up your cooperation with the other party?"

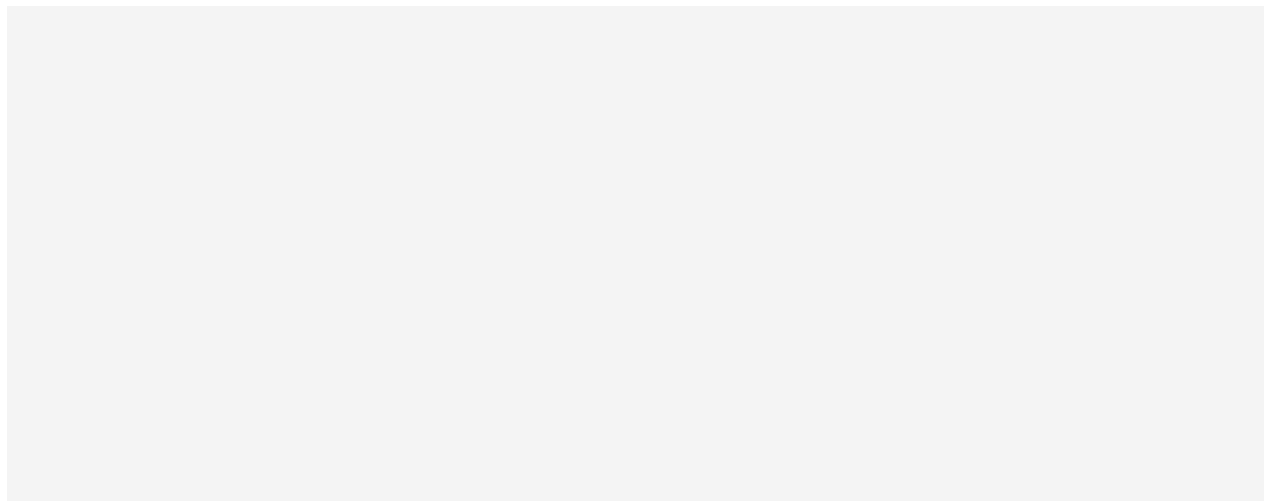

"The strength of a company is there. What we want is strength. If my husband's eyes hinder the company's development, doesn't that mean that all the employees in the company are useless? If that's the case, then I think before we change the president, we should first change all these useless employees of the company! Isn't everyone right?"

THE CONTRACT MARRIAGE

Chapter 289 Not A Threat But A Reminder

"Is Madam of President distorting our meaning? We are hoping that the CEO can cure his eyes first, even though the company has not set out yet."

"I hope that his eyes will recover faster than any of you here. So don't worry everyone. We have already registered in all the hospitals in the country. Once there is a suitable cornea, Julian will definitely perform the surgery immediately. You don't have to worry about that! I think that many of you here are my father's old subordinates. In the past, you were very good to the chairman. Now that the chairman is sick, the company is facing a test. I hope that everyone can unite with Julian and get through this crisis together!"

The meeting was held for less than half an hour. The nine of them were prepared to make the decision of choosing the president. But they did not expect to meet such a sharp woman like Vivian.

Vivian's words were aimed at everyone's vital points. At the end of her sentence, even Dowson couldn't say anything.

The meeting was left unsettled just like that. The new CEO was not chosen, but everyone had a different impression of Vivian.

Vivian had experienced such a thing on her first day at work with him. This made Julian somewhat trust Vivian. Although he did not really like this woman and her personality. . . It was just nice to suppress those people in the company who were itching to make a move!

Vivian felt that her first day at work was simply the blessing of God. After working for a day, when they returned home, Vivian told Daphne about this matter. She also told them all the details of the meeting.

The main reason was that, she wanted Daphne to think, when faced with this kind of thing, did Ruby have the ability to handle it?

She also wanted to prove that, compared to Ruby, the person who could help Julian the most was she, Vivian.

Sure enough, after Daphne heard about this matter, she praised Vivian greatly. Daphne felt that it was the right decision to let Vivian and Julian go to work together.

In the next week's time, Vivian became very familiar with Julian's work. The main difference between her and Ruby was that, because Vivian had worked here before, she would handle some small matters at work by herself without seeking Julian's help.

At the beginning, Julian was still a little dissatisfied, but as he found that Vivian handled everything appropriately, gradually he didn't say anything else.

Half a month's time slowly passed. Ruby still did not show any signs of coming back. Julian had slowly adapted to the fact that Ruby was not by his side. However, at night, he still kept thinking about her. He kept praying in his heart that Ruby would be able to return to the Cooper Family as soon as possible and return to his side.

Before Sarah gave birth, Jasmine had found Private Detective to keep an eye on Felix's every move. However, more than four months had passed, but they did not find any unusual movements from him. Even Private Detective wanted to give up.

However, Jasmine had paid him for a year, so he had to persist no matter what.

Actually, if it was another woman, perhaps she would have long regarded Sarah as a thorn in her side. After all, the man she loved had always been unable to forget about Sarah.

But Jasmine did not harbor resentment towards Sarah because of this. She always felt that if a woman did not keep a man's heart, it was not because of others, but because she had not given her best yet.

And it seemed that it was because of blood relations. From the moment Jasmine saw Sarah, she had a strange feeling towards her.

When Jasmine got the positive DNA test result between her grandmother and Samantha, she was very happy. This also strengthened her determination to punish that Felix no matter what.

And things had turned for the better.

And things had turned for the better.

Felix had been hiding for more than four months. He might have felt that everything was alright now, so he took his girlfriend to the shopping mall and spent more than a million yuan in his hands.

Felix's hands had been itching all these days. It was not easy for him to come out once. He really couldn't take it anymore. He took the bank card with his friend's name and swept it down with his girlfriend. He actually spent more than tens of thousands. In the end, they walked until they were exhausted and then returned home.

As soon as it was found out, the Private Detective immediately told Jasmine about this news.

Jasmine was very angry when she heard this news.

After getting the strong evidence, Jasmine called the police and the police quickly arrested Felix. But after a round of interrogation, Felix insisted that he was holding a friend's bank card and it had nothing to do with him.

When Jasmine heard such a statement, she became angry and accused Felix of fraud and intentional harm. She sued Felix to the court and requested to investigate the truth of Sarah's car accident.

After Felix was interrogated from the police station, because they temporarily could not find any strong evidence, he was temporarily released home. Once he returned home, Felix immediately found a new phone card and put it in his phone. He then called Lucas and told him about what had happened.

After Lucas heard what he said, he was very angry. "You took so much money from us at that time. You didn't give a cent to Sarah Wilson, but now that something happened, you think of me again? Felix, you deal with the things you caused yourself!"

Lucas was about to hang up the phone after he finished speaking. In the past, when Felix got the money, he had never thought about them. Now that something had happen to him, Felix actually came to find him again.

"Wait a minute! If you dare to hang up the phone, I will turn myself in at the police station right now and will say that you are the real mastermind behind that car accident. When the time comes, I would like to take a look. What do you care about?"

Felix was originally a rogue, but now the police had come looking for him, he could not bear all of this by himself. After all, if this matter was found out, it would be a crime of intentional harm. It would be enough for him to stay in prison for a few years.

"You're threatening me now, aren't you?" Lucas gritted his teeth in anger. He wished he could tear this Felix into pieces.

However, what had happened just now made him unable to do anything to Felix.

"I'm not threatening you. I'm just reminding you. We are now on the same boat. Don't think that this has nothing to do with you. If you push me too hard, I will bite you!"

"Then what do you want to do? The police have found out that you're rich. Now you can only bite the bank card that is a friend. How do you want me to help you? "

"Sure! Anyway, I'm just giving you a reminder. Anyway, you rich people definitely have people in the police station. I hope you can help me to clear my name with our connections. Don't let these policemen keep staring at a small case like mine! In any case, if I fall into it, you won't have a good time either!"

"Okay! I understand! But I still have to remind you! Even if you're not the mastermind behind this matter, you're still the driver. If you go to jail, everyone will definitely go in together! I will think of a way for you. But I hope that in front of the police, you better bite the bank card that is your friend's. The money inside has nothing to do with you."

"Don't worry about that! I've already thought of a countermeasure! Alright, that's it!"

After Felix said that, he hung up. He walked back and forth in the room and could not think of any good ideas. Just then, Felix's girlfriend walked into the room. She looked at him, who was walking around anxiously, and thought about it as well.

"Felix, I have a good idea!" Felix's girlfriend rolled her eyes and thought of a solution.

"Tell me, what is it?"

"This money is actually very easy to settle. Didn't you know those men who sells loan sharks? Find him and ask him to think of a solution. Just say that you used this house to mortgage some money and then make a fake loan agreement. Isn't that enough?"

Felix heard what his girlfriend said and shook his head. "This kind of thing is easy to do, but there is a risk! Those men are also a person who does not get up early if there is no profit. If they really takes my house away by then. . . Then what should we do?"

"Didn't you have a good relationship with him? Besides, your lousy house is only worth five hundred thousand at most. Even if you really want to look for loan sharks, you have to give him some good money.

You have more than a million yuan now. You can even buy two houses like this. But if you were find out that you are planning to kill someone, not to mention the money, you will have to go to jail for at least a few years.”

“Think about it. Which side is more suitable? Furthermore, you will treat this house as an accommodation fee. Can't you use this matter to ask for another house from that person?”

Felix's eyes lit up when he heard his girlfriend's words. He smiled. "Little thing, I didn't expect you to be so scheming. Alright, we'll do as you say. But I'm definitely being watched by the police right now. You have to help me with this matter."

"Okay. No problem."

After Lucas finished the phone call with Felix, he sent a text message to Vivian.

Vivian was now beside Julian. There were some things that were inconvenient to say. But he sent a text message, Julian could not see it at all.

Not long after the text was sent, Vivian sent a text message over. She told him that she would stay at her mother's house for the night and they would talk about it then.

Seeing Vivian's message, Lucas's heart relaxed a little. After finishing the work in the afternoon, Vivian told Julian that she wanted to go to her mother's home and take a look.

Julian naturally did not say anything and let her go.

After Vivian returned to her mother's home, she had been anxiously waiting for Lucas's arrival at home.

About two hours later, Lucas finally sent Julian to the Cooper family villa and returned to his own home.

Because he had already called on the way back, when Lucas arrived at his home, he saw that Vivian had already arrived. He had given her a key a while ago, which made it a lot more convenient.

"Lucas, quickly tell me, what exactly is going on?" As soon as Lucas entered, Vivian impatiently asked.

"Felix thought that four months had passed since that incident and no one would notice it anymore. But who knew that Jasmine Wilson had been staring at him and even arranged a Private Detective to keep an eye on him."

"The day before yesterday, Felix and his girlfriend went to the shopping mall to buy things, and they spent tens of thousands in one go. After Jasmine knew, she directly called the police and asked the police to reopen the case and investigate. This time, they used the crime of fraud and intentional harm, so the police took Felix to the police station to interrogate him. Luckily, Felix had been biting that it was his friend's money and it has nothing to do with him. Now, the police only suspected him. There was no evidence, so he was bailed out by his girlfriend. But he called me as soon as he got out of the police station and asked me think of a way for him."

THE CONTRACT MARRIAGE

Chapter 290 He Will Expose Us

"This damn Felix! Does he want to die? That Jasmine Wilson is not someone to be trifled with. Now that she has found a weakness, she will definitely investigate it to the end. This scum like Felix will definitely reveal us. If the police find out about us. . . Then our lives are over!"

After Vivian heard Lucas's words, she was also very nervous.

"Well Vivian, you have a good momentum in the company now. I see that Julian trusts you more and more. Many people in the company are afraid of you. They say you are much better than that Ruby. But that Dowson was such a sophisticated person. He is creating internal problems in the company. If this continues, I think Julian will give up his position. At that time, you just need to be the president of Cooper Group."

Lucas couldn't help but laugh when he talked about Vivian's performance during this period of time.

Vivian was slightly stunned when she heard his words. "I will be the president?"

"Yes! Think about it. During this period of time, you've already figured out the general operating pattern of the company, and you've also figured out all the higher-ups of the company. It is just that you do not have the authority of Julian. If you take the position of president, then we will be able to get whatever we want in the future. Don't you think so?" Lucas was a little excited at the end of his sentence.

Vivian's eyes lit up when she heard him. "You are right! But now, the most important thing for us is to solve the problem of Felix. Since Jasmine Wilson had already called the police for fraud and intentional harm, with Jasmine's personality, she definitely would not give up easily! So we have to plan for the worst!"

"What is the worst plan?"

"Felix will expose us!"

"Then, aren't we completely finished?"

"So, before that, we have to seal Felix's mouth first. Oh right, Felix called you. Don't tell me he wants money from you again?"

"That's not it. He only called to remind me that if something really happens, we are all on the same boat. But Vivian, don't worry. Felix never knew who you were. Even if Felix really told the police the truth, they will never know your identity.”

"Lucas, if the happens, you'll go jail!" Vivian heard what Lucas said and grabbed his wrist tightly.

Lucas smiled. "If I have to go to jail, then let it be. Anyway, Sarah Wilson didn't die. So even if it is intentional harm, I won't be sentenced to death. If I perform well in jail for a few years, I might be released in advance. But Vivian. . .”

“You must take good care of our daughter. From the moment she was born until now. . . I have never seen her with my own eyes. I really want to hug her. Kiss her. As long as you take good care of her, I'll be content."

"Lucas, I will not let you go to jail! We must think of a way to make that Felix shut his mouth completely!"

"How? Don't tell me you will find someone to knock him to death?"

Vivian's eyes turned cold and she said hatefully, "Don't push me too hard. If you push me too hard, I will do anything!"

"No! Even if this case is really investigated, I will not be sentenced to death. But if another life is involved, we will all lose our lives! I cannot let you do such a dangerous thing again. You don't have to worry about this. If Felix really asks for money again, I will look for you."

After Lucas heard Vivian's words, he was really afraid that she would do something extreme again, so he hurriedly stopped her from continuing.

Ever since the Wilson Family confirmed Samantha's identity and recognized her as the lady of Wilson family, the people of the Wilson Family had always wanted Sarah to visit their home.

Previously, Jasmine and Syrus had a good impression of Sarah. But now that they found out that Sarah was actually their cousin, it was needless to say that they would take care Sarah even more.

But Sarah needed to feed two children, so she really could not come out.

But Sarah needed to feed two children, so she really could not come out.

In order to invite Sarah home as a guest, this morning, Jasmine had the chauffeur drive her father's Rolls-Royce and brought along two Maternity Matron with her. They went straight to Villa of Cooper Family.

After discussing with Sarah, Jasmine insisted to let Sarah go to Wilson family villa no matter what.

Sarah could not convince Jasmine. So she could only ask Old Master Cooper's permission. Old Master Cooper naturally knew Jasmine's identity. Seeing that Jasmine was well-prepared, he did not stop Sarah and allowed her to bring the two children home with Jasmine.

Along the way, Jasmine told Sarah about the process of Samantha and her grandmother recognizing each other. Actually Jasmine had already mentioned it over the phone before. But when she saw Sarah in front of her, she was still unable to express her excitement.

"Sarah, do you still remember the scene when I first saw you in the company?"

Sarah heard her words and could not help but laugh.
"Of course I remember. That day, you took a baseball bat and chased after the CEO to beat him."

"Yes! At that time, the first time I saw you, I felt that you looked a little familiar, because you were too similar to my aunt when she was young. At that time, I had an indescribable feeling. But at that time, I didn't dare to think that you would be my Second Aunt's daughter. But life is just so bizarre, do you know?"

"That day, at the dining table, Syrus even joked with us that if it wasn't for you being married, he would have wanted to pursue you. At that time, it was fortunate that he didn't make a move."

Sarah burst out laughing.

"Ms. Jasmine, I want to make a small request to you,

is that okay?"

"Yes, tell me. Not to mention a small request, even if a big request is not a problem."

"Can my relationship with you be kept secret for the time being? I don't want to make it known to the world yet. I want to give Christian a surprise when he returns."

The Wilson Family's status and identity were too prominent. She didn't want everyone to know about her identity.

"Why? Could it be that the identity of the Wilson Family has embarrassed you?" Jasmine looked at her in puzzlement.

"No! Why would I feel embarrassed? It is just that I don't want to be too flamboyant. I hope to give Christian a surprise when he returns."

" Alright, I understand. I'll just do as you say."

"Thank you, Sis."

"You still want to thank me for this?"

The two of them looked at each other and smiled.

The car slowly stopped in the villa of Wilson Family.

The car had just stopped when the maid who had been waiting in the yard walked over and helped Sarah and Jasmine open the door.

Sarah was somewhat not used to this kind of treatment. Jasmine smiled and walked over. She held Sarah's arm and led her to the door of the living room.

"This will be your home from now on. You don't have to restrain yourself."

Sarah smiled and looked back at the two Maternity Matron carrying their children as they followed.

"Don't worry. They are all very experienced and will definitely not let the children suffer."

"Then I am relieved. . . "

When the two of them walked into the living room of the villa, they saw that the entire living room was already filled with people. Hearing the sound, all of them looked towards Sarah.

Although everyone had met with her before, their identities were somewhat different this time. Sarah was still somewhat nervous for a moment. She walked to the four-ringed sofa with Jasmine and looked at Deirdre who was sitting on the sofa. She called out softly, "Grandma. . ."

"Sarah. . ." Deirdre heard Sarah's voice and immediately smiled happily as she waved her hand. "Quickly come over and sit near Grandma."

In the past, she had always envied others for having a daughter. However, she did not expect that in the blink of an eye, she also had one daughter, even a granddaughter. The eighty year Deirdre was truly indescribably happy.

Sarah first looked at Joseph and Esme, who were on the sofa, and greeted them with a slightly red face, "Uncle, Aunt. . ."

Joseph smiled and nodded. He looked at Sarah and said, "Take a seat, Sarah. When you first came here, I felt that you were somewhat similar to my long-lost sister. At that time, I should have investigated the truth. But it's good that, we knew the truth now."

"Sarah, this will be your home from now on. You don't have to be restrained here, okay?"

"Yes, uncle. . ." Sarah smiled and nodded.

Syrus had been sitting on the sofa silent. He knew Sarah was coming today, so he did not go to work. Seeing Sarah chatting with his father, he looked at Sarah and smiled, "Sarah, it's so bad. Remember it was me who brought you here for the first time. But now you have greeted everyone but haven't even looked at me yet."

When Jasmine heard her brother's words, she immediately spoke up for Sarah, "Sarah, did this brat cause trouble for you in the past? If you want you to hit him, go and hit him. I guarantee that no one will blame you!"

Sarah could not help but laugh again.

Syrus looked at his second sister and complained. "Sister, you can't just give up on your brother after having a younger sister, right? Sarah, did you see that? This is the true appearance of your cousin!"

Jasmine smiled as she revealed her brother's old background. "I still have my original face. Didn't you almost want to chase Sarah back then? Luckily Sarah was married back then, or else you would be heartbroken to death. . ."

Syrus retorted with a smile. "This is called mutual understanding! Am I right, Sarah? Sarah, you haven't called me brother yet. Call me brother and I will give you a meeting gift today."

The moment Syrus finished speaking, the entire family couldn't help but laugh.

Joseph looked at his sister Samantha and said, "Samantha, the house here is enough for you and Sarah to live in. Mother is also old and you are now alone at home. Don't go back in the future. If you think this place is too messy, I can buy you and Sarah a villa that's nearby. What do you think?"

"Yes! Mom has been telling me these few days that she is getting older. It was not easy for her to find you, and she wants to make up for the past few decades. Samantha, don't reject us. Just stay." Esme also looked at Samantha and said with a smile.

Deirdre tightly grabbed her daughter's hand, "Samantha, from the time you went missing, my heart also went away with you. Now, with great difficulty, I have finally found you. Sarah's father is no longer alive and you don't have anyone to take care of by your side. Thinking about this, I have not been able to sleep well these few days. Please stay here to accompany me. Don't go back, okay?"

Although Samantha had already acknowledged Deirdre as her mother a while ago, she still insisted on going back to her home. Today, her daughter Sarah was coming here, it was only then that she was picked up by the Wilson Family's car.

Listening to her mother and brother's words, Samantha did not know how to reply.

Although the conditions of the Wilson Family were good for her, Samantha was already used to living in her own place. When she suddenly found herself in such a wealthy family, she had an indescribable feeling.

"Sarah, quickly persuade Aunt!" Jasmine immediately looked at Sarah and said.
