

THE CONTRACT MARRIAGE

Chapter 22 Marrying Me is Her Misfortune?

When Daphne heard Christian's words, she immediately shut her mouth guiltily, not daring to say another word.

Ethan glared at his wife snappily and sighed as he looked at his son's cold face opposite him.

Just as he was about to speak, he heard his father speak slowly, "Christian, grandpa knows that you feel wronged. But have you ever thought about Sarah? If her mother knew about it, what would she think?"

"You have no relationship at all. How are you going to bring happiness to Sarah in future? We already owe Wilson Family enough. We can't waste Sarah's life anymore! Can you understand grandpa's words?"

Christian nodded as if he understood. His voice was still cold as he said.

“Grandpa, do you mean that if Sarah marries Julian, she will be very happy? Marrying me will be misfortune? In fact, this is common sense. What right does a person in a wheelchair have to talk about happiness?”

Benjamin sighed. He felt that his eldest grandson was a little stubborn, but there was nothing he could do.

“Christian, you know I don’t mean that...”

“Grandpa, no matter what, I am also a regimental commander. There are many reasons that I understand even without others saying it! You all want to persuade me to divorce Sarah, so that you will feel less guilt towards the Wilson Family! I know all this.”

“You have seen me since I was young. You have always understood my temper. When I do things, I never turn back! Since we have gotten marriage certificate, I will hold the wedding as usual. Whether Sarah and I will be happy or not, no one has the right to speak, because we are the ones who are getting married!”

After saying that, Christian’s gaze fell on Sarah, who was at the side, “I think we should go to your house first. Push me away!”

Ethan saw that his son was about to leave and immediately stopped him. “Why do you still have such a stubborn temper after so many years? If you leave just like that, what about your marriage?”

The others also looked closely at Christian.

Christian looked at his father with a cold gaze.

“Sarah and I will mix together. To you, it is a joke. But to me, she is a very important person! No matter whether she was impulsive this morning or worried about her mother, it doesn't matter. She knew that my legs were paralyzed but insisted on entering the Marriage Registration Centre with me."

"You only want to separate us, because what you cared about... It was the face of the Cooper family, but you never thought about the feelings of this person sitting in a wheelchair..."

After saying that, he didn't even look at the people present and just turned the wheelchair around.

He wanted to leave this place!

Sarah immediately stood up. She took a step forward and held the wheelchair handle, wanting to push Christian out.

“Wait a minute!” Ethan stood up and looked at his son’s lonely back. His heart ached and he sighed heavily. “Good! Since you insist on holding this wedding, I will agree to it!”

“Ethan, are you crazy?” Daphne, who was beside him, immediately looked at him in disbelief when she heard what her husband said.

“Christian is right! We only thought about our own feelings, but we never thought about it from his standpoint!”

Ethan looked at his father and asked, “Dad, although Sarah and Julian are impossible, she is still our daughter-in-law after marrying Christian. What do you think...”

Benjamin nodded. “Now that things have come to this, let’s do as Christian says.”

Julian was silent on the ground. He heard that his father and grandpa had agreed to the marriage between Big Brother and ex-girlfriend. He immediately stood up from the ground and blocked Sarah and Christian's way.

"No! You can't get married! I don't agree!"

"Give me a reason!" Christian looked at his younger brother and asked coldly.

"Sarah doesn't love you at all! She married you just to take revenge on me! Anyone can see this kind of thing. Why are you still so stubborn? You will harm her, don't you understand?" Julian lost control of himself and roared.

"Are you sure Vivian loves you?"

Christian looked at his brother coldly. His eyes were like a cold arrow, piercing into Julian's eyes!

Julian could not stand his brother's gaze. The muscles on his face twitched unnaturally. Except for Christian, no matter who asked him this question, he could answer confidently. However, Vivian was Christian's fiancée, so he had no face to answer this question!

Knowing that Sarah was soft-hearted, he turned to look at her. He went forward and held her arm.

“Sarah, I know you are angry with me. I deserve to die! But you cannot ruin your life just because you are angry with me. You absolutely cannot marry him! I cannot watch you jump into the fire pit, Sarah...”

“Slap!”

A loud and clear ear piercing slap suddenly resounded in the living room and Julian's body suddenly stiffened! His face was burning with pain. He looked at this girl who had never said no to him for nine years in disbelief. He couldn't react in time.

She actually raised her hand and gave him a slap in the face!

The others also looked at this scene in shock!

They did not expect that this seemingly gentle and sweet girl also had such a fierce side!

Sarah looked at the man who had lost control and could not bear it anymore.

“Julian Cooper, aren't you a little too self-righteous? You said he was a fire pit, then what are you to me? Nine years! Do you know what it means to put a person in your heart for nine years? When I fell in love with you nine years ago, it was like someone put a seed in my heart and watered it. She fertilized it and watched it grow into a towering tree. In these nine years, it has already become a part of my body. It is connected to my internal organs.”

“Do you know that when you pull it out, I will also feel pain? I will also collapse? I am not as strong as you think!” Tears kept flowing from her eyes. She looked at the man she loved the most and swallowed the bitterness in her heart.

“Christian is your Big Brother but he is also my husband now. Please think about what you have done when you belittle him in the future!”

When Sarah said this, she did not care about Julian’s reaction and pushed Christian away resolutely.

Julian was tied up by Sarah's words and dejectedly let go of her arm...

"Sarah! Wait a moment!" Ethan walked over and looked at Sarah and his son in wheelchair.

"We need to explain Julian's matter to your mother first. How about this, Julian, follow me to the Wilson family to ask for forgiveness first! Christian, you and Sarah can come later. Let's go!"

Sarah nodded slightly.

Although Julian was unwilling, he knew in his heart that going to the Wilson Family to apologize was inevitable! Hearing his father's instructions, he could only follow him out of the living room. Sarah also pushed Christian and left Villa of Cooper Family.

Ethan first brought his son to Wilson Family.

Christian's car followed behind a little later. Watching the off-road vehicle slowly drive out of Cooper Family, Sarah looked out of the window with a blank face, and her eyes were a little erratic.

Everything happened too suddenly! Even she was still in a trance, how could her mother accept it?

But things had already happened. Other than facing it, she didn't know what else she could do.

"Are you hungry?" Christian looked at Sarah, whose eyes were wandering and asked softly.

She shook her head lightly. Everything happened too suddenly. She did not have any appetite at all.

"I am hungry! Jayson, go to the hotel." Christian did not seek Sarah's opinion anymore and directly ordered Jayson in front of him.

“Yes, Regimental Commander!”

Sarah silently looked out the window. Her thoughts were still slowly drifting about in the past.

Jayson chose a high-end hotel according to Christian’s instructions. Sarah pushed Christian into the lobby.

He originally thought that she would choose a private room because of his disability, but she did not care about other people’s strange looks. She chose a seat by the window. Sarah quietly sat opposite him and looked out the window absentmindedly. At this moment, she was still immersed in her own world...

After Christian finished ordering the dishes, he looked at her and his eyes turned soft slightly.

“Does it really hurt that much?”

Sarah retracted her gaze and smiled bitterly. “I am not a wooden person. I have flesh and blood too. Of course it will hurt.”

“Have you ever thought that you will continue to feel pain when you live in the Cooper Family in the future?”

Sarah was stunned by the question and did not know how to answer it...

Although she had indeed gotten a marriage certificate with this man, she had no time to think about her future.

Christian blinked his eyes.

“Everyone will inevitably get hurt since they were young. When you were young, you had your parents protect you. But when you grow up, you will learn to face it alone. You have to live in Cooper family for three months. If you face today's wound alone, it might hurt even more. Have you prepared yourself?"

Sarah sighed and looked at him. "No matter how painful it is, it can't be compared to today!"

"I will take care of your mother's thoughts. When I talk to her later, remember to leave for a while."

"Why?" Sarah frowned and looked at him in confusion.

"There is no reason."

Sarah looked at him speechlessly, feeling that this person was really straightforward. But when she thought about how he talked to his mother alone, she was still a little worried and reminded him.

“I know you are regimental commander. But don’t use regimental commander’s attitude to pressure my mother, and you can’t use the tone and way you talk to your family in the villa. If you cause any harm to my mother, I won’t forgive you easily!”

Christian looked at her teasingly. “It seems that you did not have a good first impression of me...”

“It doesn’t matter if it’s good or not. In any case, we’re only husband and wife in name for three months!”

Christian looked at her silently and did not speak anymore.

Although she did not have any appetite, Sarah was still forced by Christian to eat something. After coming out of the hotel, Jayson drove the car towards Sarah’s house. When the car arrived downstairs, Sarah discovered a problem.

Her house was an ordinary residential building. There was no elevator at all. If she wanted to get Christian to the fourth floor from the first floor, it would be a problem.

But Jayson found a way to solve the problem. He first carried the wheelchair upstairs and put it in front of Sarah's door. Then he quickly carried Christian up from the basement and carefully put him in the wheelchair. Sarah knocked the door.

The person who came to open the door was Ethan. As soon as the door was opened, Sarah heard her mother's intermittent sobs. Her heart was instantly gripped tightly and she quickly ran in.
