

Read I Am A Quadrillionaire Chapter 2456

I am a quadrillionaire chapter 2456-At the top of the entrance of the manor were two big words: Longer Residence.

This was Arian's home.

As the captain of the Amber City law enforcement team, he had a pretty high status in Amber City.

It could be said that aside from the Birch, Campbell, and Vidales families, the other forces would have to respect him

At this moment, Arian was enjoying a massage from several beautiful maids.

Another few peeled fruits and fed him.

His life was so carefree.

"Here, here, yes, here. Harder.

"Gosh! That's good! Right there, don't stop!

"Change another spot. Stop targeting one spot.

"Yes, this is nice."

As Arian instructed his maids, he moaned in pleasure.

The maids who were servicing him were all exceptional in terms of figure and looks.

While Arian was enjoying himself with his eyes closed, a voice rang in his ear.

"Captain Longer, what refined interest you have."

Arian quickly opened his eyes and stood up, his gaze darting around as he demanded, "Who's there?"

He saw a young man appearing in front of him, sitting with his legs crossed, looking carefree.

“Master David, it’s you! Why didn’t you tell me you were coming so suddenly? I would have welcomed you if I had known,” Arian said with a smile.

His body relaxed as well.

Recognizing that it was David, Arian felt assured that there would be no malicious intent.

After all, they had made up more than a month ago. After that, he also sold trillions L Dollars worth of property and treasures to David.

Moreover, Arian also told the forces in Amber City’s business circle not to make things hard for Thor.

David was not someone who would bite the hand that fed him.

However, deep inside, Arian felt a little shocked.

‘When did this kid show up?’

He did not notice him at all.

Only when David spoke, did he notice him in the room.

If he could approach Arian without being noticed, it seemed that David was just as the mayor suspected. He was surely an heir that some major force cultivated in secret.

Luckily Arian managed to patch things up earlier.

If not, the consequences would be unpredictable.

“What welcome? You’re too courteous, Captain Longer. We’re all friends. I didn’t interrupt anything, right?” David said with a smile.

The reason he did not walk through the front door and let the guards announce his arrival was, of course, to intimidate Arian.

In the future, when he was absent from The Spirit Cage for a long period, Arian would be his best help.

He could help Beanie and Thor solve their problems.

“Master David, what are you saying? What’s more important than seeing you?”

After Arian said that, he noticed the maids were still next to him, so he said to them, “You can leave now. I need to talk to Master David.”

“Yes, Master!” The beautiful maids replied respectfully and left the room.

“This is just my little hobby. I’ve made a laughing stock of myself.” Arian looked at David.

“We’re all men, so which one of us doesn’t have hobbies? I understand.”

The two looked at each other and laughed.