

The Untouchable Ex Wife by Mizuki Sei

Chapter 541

Even though she had not seen it with her own eyes, Renee had heard a lot of rumors. Everyone kept saying that her grandmother was a strange woman and that she had carried the Schneider family to glory with her own strength to become the top family in North City.

Back then, whether it was the Hunt family from Beach City or the Baldwin family from Sutton, all of them were subordinates of the Schneider family.

But such a legendary family had been extinguished by unknown forces within a month.

Since then, the Schneider family declined in North City, and eventually, the legend became an actual myth.

Strangely enough, although the Schneider family fell, the Everheart family rose. Some said that the rise in the Everheart family's reputation was thanks to Liliana's manipulation behind the scenes.

But decades later, the Everheart family also fell in a tragic way, ending up with the same fate as the Schneider family!

Renee had almost no recollection of her grandmother and only recalled that the older woman was powerful. She was a strange woman who couldn't stand to lose to men. She had tried inquiring about the Schneider family and her grandmother, but her grandfather had explicitly forbidden her to dig further.

Before the older man died, he repeatedly told Renee that she should never look into the Schneider family nor try reviving the Everheart family. He told her to be good and marry Stefan and live a happy life. Otherwise, he wouldn't be able to rest in peace. Her grandfather said that Stefan was worthy of trust and the only man who could protect her and give her happiness.

Renee had once firmly believed the older man's words. She carried out her duties as the young lady of the Hunt family sincerely, but it turned out to be counterproductive.

She didn't get any happiness and was only rewarded with disappointment and hurt. In fact,

Stefan wasn't even alive anymore.

This further proved that her grandfather's words held no real significance. A woman's own happiness would always be up to her to get it.

From now on, not only would she revive the Everheart family, but she would also avenge both the Everheart and Schneider families!

"If you really consider me your family's savior and want to repay the favor, will you promise me one thing?" Renee asked condescendingly with her head lowered.

"Please tell me what it is. As long as my family can do it, we will do our best," Zachary pleaded as he looked up, looking attentive and sincere.

Everyone in the room, including Charlotte, was curious about what Renee would ask for.

Renee smiled calmly and said, "Then, promise me you won't divorce your wife. After all, you already have children together. Speak and act with more consideration, hmm? The child is still young, and you can't let him become a sacrifice for your relationship struggles, right?"

"That's..." Zachary paused and hastily replied, "I understand. Please don't worry. I'll take good care of my family and won't disappoint you."

Everyone present felt that Renee had a generous heart. She was repaying her grievances with virtue, and they couldn't help but applaud her actions.

Renee didn't say anything else and turned to the principal.

"Sir, I'm sorry that this drama has delayed the interview. Let's not waste any more time and get to it!"

The principal gave Renee an appreciative look and nodded. "With what you and Aiden have achieved, I believe that you will pass the interview."

With that, a group of people walked toward the interview room. Charlotte was still rooted to the spot in confusion.

She couldn't believe that Renee would help her. It was impossible! There must be some kind of ulterior motive!

"Wait!" Charlotte called out to Renee and sneered, "Renee, are you trying to pretend to be a saint? Just use whatever dirty tricks you have up your sleeves! Stop hiding in the dark! With you pretending to be a good person, I'm made out to be the bad guy! Are you expecting me to just let go of the fact that you cheated on my brother?!"

"Sir, I recall Monte Perry's rule stating that the kindergarten doesn't accept students from single-parent families. Renee is immoral! She cheated on my brother and gave birth to this illegitimate child! They completely don't meet the registration requirements!"

The Untouchable Ex Wife by Mizuki Sei

Chapter 542 "That's..."

Charlotte's words left the principal in a dilemma.

When Monte Perry Kindergarten was established, the family committee had jointly proposed a rule to raise the school's admission threshold and ensure the student population's quality.

Over the years, the kindergarten had strictly enforced this rule and did not accept children from single-parent families.

Even though the principal of the school appreciated Renee's decent and kind-hearted stance and liked Aiden's intelligence and cuteness, she couldn't make a special exception before so many parents.

"What's with your hesitation? As the kindergarten principal, you can't always break the rules, can you? Children from single-parent families are problematic and have flawed character! Having them attend school with children from normal families will definitely affect the regular children! We can't let that happen!"

Charlotte spoke with such righteous indignation, and the parents around her also fanned the flames by agreeing with her statement.

The principal seemed to be in a tough spot, and there didn't look like she could do anything, so she said helplessly, "Parents, please calm down. I'll... figure something out."

"Figure something out?"

Some parents present had similar bad attitudes and regarded Renee and Aiden as scourges, saying, "The best thing to do is to get rid of this mother-son pair. Letting their kind stay here will only disrupt the harmony and warmth of Monte Perry Kindergarten!"

Renee's beautiful face instantly darkened. Her gaze sharpened and became like knives as she stepped toward the parent who spoke and said fiercely, "You better keep your mouth shut before I make your child have only a single parent!"

The air around Renee was cutting and powerful, and the mother fell silent instantly. She hung her head low and was so fearful that she didn't dare look into Renee's eyes.

She wasn't the only one. The other parents who previously complained and muttered were now too scared to say anything, leaving Charlotte to look like a clown after humiliating Renee and her son.

In the end, of course, Zachary's slap subdued her! Renee was distraught.

She had thought about the possibility that Aiden and Abigail would be discriminated against because they came from a single-parent family, but she didn't think that the environment would be so harsh and that society would be so malicious toward single-parent families that there would be restrictions from attending school.

Renee didn't want to make things difficult for the principal, so she said to the crowd, "Since it's a rule, I'm not unreasonable, and I won't force something that's not meant to be. If Monte Perry doesn't welcome us, I trust there are other more inclusive kindergartens that will.

"But I want to tell you that children from single-parent families aren't evil monsters, much less the plague. There is no need for you to avoid them to this extent. Whether a child is good, kind, and has the right outlook in life... depends on how their parents teach them by example. Parents full of prejudice and short-sightedness will only bring up children with the same mindset!"

After Renee finished speaking, she took Aiden's hand.

"Come on, let's go!"

Some of the parents cursed Renee, thinking she was acting high and mighty, but some were thoughtful and even guilty as they hung their heads.

The principal watched Renee and Aiden leave and felt ashamed.

She had interacted with many students and parents, and Aiden and Renee were definitely the best of the lot. They were a hundred times better than many of the so-called normal families, but Monte Perry Kindergarten had to reject them because of that one stupid rule!

The principal secretly vowed in her heart that she would find a way to gain admission for Aiden!

As it was almost evening when they left Monte Perry, Renee searched for a family restaurant so that Aiden could have dinner. The little boy was unusually quiet the entire way.

Although the kid tried to act cool since he was a child, he still took after his scumbag father, where few words exited his mouth

The Untouchable Ex Wife by Mizuki Sei

Chapter 543

But Aiden was unusually quiet today, and it was obvious that the little boy was occupied with his thoughts. Renee could guess that the incident just now must've upset the child, and she was instantly distressed.

"Adie, what are you thinking? You're frowning too deeply. Can you tell Mommy about it?" Renee asked gently.

She had raised her two children in a more relaxed fashion, giving them the leeway to do whatever they wanted to do. She never interfered with their natural progression and rarely lectured them.

The only thing she required from them was that if there were anything that made them unhappy, they would have to tell her at the first opportunity and not conceal the thought.

So, while Aiden acted like a cold child, he was still willing to share his thoughts with Renee.

He looked down at the ground and pouted before looking up with wet, round eyes at Renee and said, "Mommy, is it because I'm not good or smart enough? That's why all those uncles and aunties didn't like me and drove me away, huh? Is that why they didn't want me to attend that kindergarten?"

Renee's clenched her fist tightly after she finished listening to her son. Sure enough, Aiden was unhappy because of what had happened.

Her heart tightened momentarily, and she cautiously replied, "That's impossible, Adie. You're such a smart and well-behaved boy. They must be blind to not see your worth. It's okay. We'll just find a kindergarten that will welcome us, okay?"

"Mommy, you don't have to coax me. They don't welcome us because I don't have a daddy, right?" "Um.

Well..."

"So, I was just thinking about this daddy thing... Even though it's not much use, there are still some benefits to having him, right? Take today, for example. If I had a daddy, even if he was in a completely vegetative state, our family would still be considered normal and whole, right? Then we'd meet the criteria for Monte Perry's admission, wouldn't we?"

"Well, that's the logical reasoning..." Renee replied with a nod, and her heart tightened even more.

Even though she was already strong, there were many instances in which she couldn't make up for what her children lacked, no matter how hard she tried.

Sometimes she wondered if she should find someone to marry so that, at least on the surface, Aiden and Abigail would have a father and wouldn't need to face the discrimination they faced today.

However, marriage wasn't a simple matter. Once there was a legal relationship, there would be pain involved. It would harm the other party, herself, and she didn't think she could overcome the hurdle in her heart right now.

Otherwise, she would have already married Liam!

"That's okay. I know what to do," Aiden said as he brightened up. He seemed to be in a better mood as he dug into his pasta happily.

Renee was confused, but she asked with a smile, "What are you up to?"

Aiden said seriously, "I can't attend Monte Perry Kindergarten because I don't have a daddy. To solve this problem, I just need to find a daddy for myself, right?"

"That's true. Do you have any suitable candidates in mind?"

"Of course! I've been choosing for many days, and someone has already qualified! Not only can he be my daddy, but he can also be your husband!" Aiden gloated smugly.

Renee took the child's words for granted and said, "That's amazing! Our Adie is the greatest! I'm looking forward to it!"

The Untouchable Ex Wife by Mizuki Sei

Chapter 544

It was late at night, and all was silent. Aiden made sure Renee was asleep before quietly peeking from under the covers.

He hid in the bathroom with a walkie-talkie in hand. His brows furrowed seriously as he whispered, "Emergency, emergency. Come in Q, come in Q."

Not long after, a response came from the other end of the walkie-talkie. "Roger.

Q here. Please go ahead, Adie. I repeat, please go ahead."

"Come and meet me at Apartment XX right now. Immediately!" "Copy that!"

After the exchange, Aiden put away the walkie-talkie and quietly left the house.

At the apartment's gazebo, Mr. Q was wearing a mask and a black trench coat. The tall figure had already arrived as promised. At the same time, Aiden carried his small briefcase and walked briskly to the rendezvous point under the moonlight.

"You're right on the dot, Q. I knew I didn't pick the wrong man! You get ten points for that," Aiden generously praised the man who stood as tall as a mountain.

"Did you bring the stuff I wanted?" Mr. Q turned and asked seriously, revealing his stern brows and eyes.

"Don't worry. It's all good. Satisfaction guaranteed," Aiden replied. In an equally serious manner, he asked in return, "Have you prepared what I asked for?"

"Done, as you requested."

"Good. Let's get on with the exchange!"

The two held out their respective items and exchanged them under the blanket of the night. The atmosphere was tense and solemn, and to outsiders, they may even look like some underworld deal being carried out.

Aiden handed Mr. Q a stack of photos and a video.

The subject of the photos and videos was none other than his mother, Renee.

"Not only did I get Mommy's perfect side, but I took a picture of her drooling in her sleep and even vlogged it! How's that? I'm good, right? I'm sure it's worth every penny!" Aiden bragged as he raised his chin proudly like a little adult.

Mr. Q flipped through the photos, and the stern look on his face unconsciously softened.

He had to admit that the woman in the pictures really did seem to have a thousand faces. Sometimes it was cute, sometimes innocent, sometimes flirtatious, and sometimes even silly, especially with the sound of her snores. There was a kind of indescribable sense of cuteness, and all her angles spoke of nothing but pure beauty!

"Not bad. Top quality stuff that'll let me understand your mother better. I like them!" The man put away the photos carefully and was obviously in a good mood.

"Your goods aren't bad too. This game console has been out of the market for so long, yet you actually managed to get it for me. It looks like you put in a lot of effort too! Another ten points to you!"

Aiden held the newly acquired game console as he played with full concentration.

Like Renee, the little boy was an avid video game enthusiast and collected all kinds of game consoles.

Mr. Q's pawnshop was literally a treasure house, so it was natural there were a variety of older game consoles that had long gone out of production. The two stroked a deal and would often carry out their "trades" at night like this.

In general, ten beautiful photos of Renee could be exchanged for a game console. Every time Aiden got a new console, Mr. Q would patiently play it with him

The Untouchable Ex Wife by Mizuki Sei

Chapter 545

With one deal after the next, Mr. Q gradually overcame the other men to become Aiden's favorite and most suitable 'daddy1 candidate.

As for whether Mr. Q would be the most suitable 'husband' for his mother, Aiden had to further examine him to be sure. "Q, let me tell you something..."

After playing with the game console enthusiastically, Aiden suddenly turned serious and said, "I went to the kindergarten with Mommy today, and we were bullied. They said I couldn't attend that kindergarten because I didn't have a daddy. I really liked that kindergarten, and it makes me so sad that I'm not allowed to attend. Is it true that children without a daddy like me are always doomed to be inferior?"

Mr. Q's brows suddenly furrowed deeply, and he asked in a low voice, "How can you not have a daddy? Didn't you say that your daddy was Liam, the sixth son of the Osbornes?"

"Ah... Since we're already so close, I will tell you the truth. Indeed, Daddy Liam is my daddy, but he's not my real daddy. Mommy has already broken up with him, and she doesn't want to give him trouble. Because of that, I'm not allowed to look for him..."

"Broken up?"

Mr. Q's tone seemed a little playful, but he followed up with more urgency, "Then, do you know who your real daddy is?" "Of course I do!"

Aiden hooked a finger toward the man with a mysterious look on his face. "Come closer and give me your ear. I'll tell you!"

The man frowned, but he did as he was told. He bent down and brought his ears closer to the child. There was clear tension in the man's broad shoulders as he waited with bated breath.

Aiden blinked his big eyes and said cutely, "It's a secret, but I don't actually have a daddy. I only have a mommy. Mommy said she carefully raised me in a spirit stone for several months, then 'boom,' and I popped right out!"

Mr. Q was speechless. He must be a real dumb*ss to let a little kid tease him like this! "Q, don't you believe it?"

"Haha... What do you think?"

Naivety and pureness filled Aiden's glassy eyes, and he hurriedly explained, "I really didn't lie! Mommy told me that! You can ask her next time if you don't believe me.'

Even though Aiden hadn't believed it back then when Renee had explained it to him like this, this kind of statement used to coax idiots were really what Renee had told him.

If he used the same words she did, Aiden shouldn't be lying, right?

After all, Mr. Q and that jerk, Stefan, were enemies, and if Aiden were to divulge the truth to Mr. Q, his life would probably be in danger. He wouldn't have the chance to find a daddy if that happened, much less a husband for his mother!

"And?"

Being played by the little kid like a fool, Mr. Q wasn't sure whether he should be angry or laughing, so he asked coldly, "What's the purpose of telling me all this?"

Aiden's eyes shone brightly. He gave Mr. Q a sunny smile and said kindly, "Don't you think I'm pitiful for not having a daddy? Don't you have the impulse to be my daddy?"

"That's... a possibility."

"You barely meet the qualifications to be my daddy, but to be my mommy's husband, I'll still need to think about it and do some tests. If it works out, I'll arrange a meeting with my mommy. If it fails, I'll look around to pick someone else for her," Aiden said, logically explaining Mr. Q his ideas.

Mr. Q indifferently asked, "Did your mother agree to all this nonsense?"

"What do you mean by nonsense? My mommy is a young, single woman in her prime, and it's only natural that she finds someone. She not only agreed but even encouraged me to find someone for her. It's just that... my mommy is very demanding!"

"Is that so? Let's hear it, then," Mr. Q said with great interest.

"First of all, my mommy likes tall, handsome young men. So, men below 188 centimeters, under thirty years old, and lacking good looks fail the criteria immediately."

Aiden rubbed his chin while talking as he continued to consider Mr. Q's eligibility.

"I've known you for so long, and your height and age seem fine. I just don't know how you look. You might want to start by taking off your mask?"

The Untouchable Ex Wife by Mizuki Sei

Chapter 546

"Hmm..." Mr. Q hummed with a regretful expression on his face. "It's a pity my face is disfigured. I have a long scar, that's why I don't take off my mask. I'm afraid I won't meet your mother's requirements."

Aiden stared at the man for a long time, a frown on his little face. He seemed conflicted for a long time before he waved his small hand and said boldly, "That's okay. Even though Mommy likes pretty faces, I'm sure she'll consider my opinion. I can help put a good word in if you're good enough in other aspects. Besides... I think your features look perfect. Even with the mask on, you still look great. I'm sure you can charm my mommy into a daze."

Mr. Q's lips curled up, and he said with a touch of teasing, "Is your mother so superficial that she only cares about what's on the outside?"

"Of course not!" Aiden protested while shaking his head. Then, he sighed and lamented, "If she did, why would she have married that jerk, Stefan, in the first place? She ended up getting so badly bullied. What did he have apart from a handsome face?"

"Is it possible that your mother was not only interested in his good looks but also in his great personality, talent, inner qualities, and also capabilities?"

"Come on! That's impossible!"

There was disgust on Aiden's face, and he looked as if he wanted to throw up as he said, "Do you not know who Stefan Hunt is? He's famous in Beach City for being cold-blooded and having a volatile temper. As for his talent and inner qualities... I'm guessing he has none. Why then would he be so ignorant, leaving a good wife like my mommy alone and running around to mess with other women?"

"Did your mother tell you that?"

"Of course not. I secretly listened to what Aunt Leia said and checked it out. Stefan was really a bad jerk who failed my mommy. If I see him, I'll definitely beat him up for my mommy!"

Aiden's fists were clenched tightly, and he didn't look like he was joking.

When he learned that his father was a scumbag, he decided he would teach the useless guy a lesson and seek justice for his mother.

It was unfortunate that Aiden had been in Beach City for so long, but he hadn't caught even a glimpse of the man!

Mr. Q calmly said, "Capabilities are also part of a charm. Since you've checked, you should know that Stefan had robust capabilities in business. All his endeavors are very successful, and perhaps that's what got your mother infatuated with him."

"I agree that he's quite capable, but Mommy is not any less good than him. They're evenly matched. So, in conclusion, he still relied on that pretty face of his to win over Mommy! Other than having a good-looking face, he has nothing else!"

When he said that, Aiden's brows were deeply furrowed, and he clenched his fists even tighter. There was a look of sorrow and anger on his face as he continued, "Adults say that lust reduces a person's vigilance to ashes, so how come Mommy doesn't understand that?!"

"Having learned from the past, I won't let Mommy repeat the same mistake! The outside of a person is important, but the inside is even more important! I want to choose a husband for my mommy with better insides than the outside!"

Mr. Q became interested and asked, "You have a good head on those shoulders. How do you intend to choose?"

"First of all, he has to be good to my mommy and can take care of her. With that said, the first step of the test is to check if he has a good temper. He has to be able to do housework and know how to cook a good meal..."

Aiden sized Mr. Q up like a boss considering a new recruit for hire, then said in a serious manner, "Q, I see that you have a good temper. You showed up on time for your appointment in the middle of the night and played games with me with a lot of patience. Those qualities alone make you better than that jerk. Do you usually do housework?"

"Occasionally, but I can do all the chores if necessary."

"Not bad! Not bad at all!" Aiden said and nodded in satisfaction before asking, "What about cooking? Do you know how to make any delicious dishes?"

"I don't cook much since I usually leave it to a chef, but I can whip up a few special dishes. If I pass the assessment, I'll cover all three meals daily for you and your mother."

Mr. Q seemed to be interested in both the position of Aiden's daddy and Renee's husband and had been actively fighting for both the entire time.

When Aiden saw this, he couldn't help but become more serious.

"Currently, it's all talk and no action. Why don't you prepare some of your special dishes now, and I'll let my mommy taste them? If she thinks they're delicious, you pass the test. However, if she doesn't, you'll have to enroll in a cooking class to keep practicing. What do you think?"

The Untouchable Ex Wife by Mizuki Sei

Chapter 547

"No problem," Mr. Q agreed easily, then fist-bumped Aiden to seal their alliance.

Early in the morning, Renee woke up in a daze when the sharp sound of the doorbell rang out.

"Ugh... It's too early for this... Who is it?!"

Renee yawned widely as she lazily went to open the door. When the door swung open, there was a sliver of Monte Perry Kindergarten executives, led by the school director, they were dressed in formal wear, and each held a bouquet in their hands.

They bowed in unison to Renee and shouted, "Good morning, Miss Everheart! We're sorry! Please forgive us!"

Renee took a step back in fright.

"W-what's going on?!"

"Miss Everheart, you brought your son to register at our school yesterday, and unpleasant things ensued. After I learned what happened, the staff involved were seriously dealt with, and we abolished that ridiculous rule as soon as we could. We, the teachers and students of Monte Perry Kindergarten, would like to welcome you to our school warmly! Please accept these small gifts as a small token of our apology."

After the director finished speaking, he instructed the staff to place the beautiful and expensive gift into Renee's hands.

Renee was overwhelmed and confused.

"A school rule isn't something you can change as you please. Other parents will have something to say about it. There's no need to apologize. It was my fault for not checking clearly before. I'll just register at another kindergarten so you guys won't have so much trouble."

"No, it's fine! The school rule was wrong, and wrongs should be corrected immediately! Please forgive us and give us a chance to reform. Miss Everheart!"

Once the director finished speaking, he took the lead and gave a deep bow to Renee, the other staff standing with him following suit after a beat.

"Are you sure no one forced you into doing this?"

Renee didn't believe that this group of high and mighty leaders would suddenly grow a conscience and abolish that ridiculous school rule!

If they had wanted to do so, they would have done so already and not wait until now.

Someone must have given them a push or a rude awakening for them to act this way.

But... Who could it have been?

"No one forced us. We all did it willingly and sincerely, and we're here to invite your son to be a student of our school! Please, give us your consent, Miss Everheart!"

The school director once again bent low. Any lower, and they would be kneeling on the floor and begging.

Renee couldn't help but shake her head. She would eat her shoe if they weren't forced to do this!

"Okay. I won't make things difficult for you. My son likes your kindergarten anyway, so I'll have him ready when the time comes. You may leave."

The school director was immediately relieved, hurriedly wrapping up the deal. "Then, we won't impose on you anymore. Miss Everheart. All our staff and students eagerly await your arrival at our kindergarten!"

No sooner after this bunch of people left, another wave of people came knocking on her door.

Excuse me, are you Renee Everheart?" a young boy asked

The Untouchable Ex Wife by Mizuki Sei

Chapter 548

"And who are you?" Renee asked with a bewildered look on her face.

"Hello, Miss Everheart. I'm an employee from Scud. A customer entrusted me to deliver breakfast to you. It's freshly baked and piping hot, so please be careful. Please sign here."

"Breakfast?"

Renee was even more confused.

Who would personally make breakfast for her in the morning? "Can I know who sent it?"

"The client would like to stay anonymous."

"I don't even know who sent it, so I definitely won't sign it. It's best you send it back to where it came from." Renee was very guarded. Her address was hidden, and only Liam, Leia, and Aiden knew it.

Yet today, a large group of people had suddenly dropped by. Something had to be going on!

Her face turned cold, and she was about to close the door when Aiden suddenly ran out. "Wait, Mommy! I had this breakfast specially made for you! You must try it!"

The little boy tugged on Renee's hand and said sincerely, "Mommy, you're an adult that can take care of yourself so well, and you don't let me or Abby worry. But you said you always forget to take your breakfast, so I thought it must be because the food doesn't attract you enough, so I got a famous chef in Beach City to customize a nutritious and delicious breakfast for you. We must ensure you're healthy and have enough meat on your bones!"

At the same time, Aiden was thinking to himself, 'Q, your cooking skills better be good, or this will end up in embarrassment!' "Oh, my darling! Was it you? You're so considerate!"

Renee was moved to tears as she pulled her son into her arms and kissed his cheek a few times. Then, she took the box from the delivery boy and said proudly, 'Don't worry. I'll definitely eat everything up!'

When she opened the thermos box, both mother and son were shocked, and they couldn't help but let out sharp gasps.

The box was filled to the brim with a variety of food! From the outside, it didn't look possible to fit so much in the box. There were at least a dozen different types of food in there!

There was French Toast, fruit salad, scrambled eggs, sausages, and the list went on. "Adie, are you sure you got a Beach City chef and not a breakfast store owner?"

Renee pulled out the smaller lunch boxes from the bigger box and placed them on the table, still in a state of disbelief. Which celebrity chef would have so much time to prepare so many types of breakfast food all at once?

To prepare so many kinds of food in such a frenzied manner, even if they ate this for one month, they would probably still be eating something different every day!

Aiden looked at the table that was now laden with various different kinds of food, and he couldn't help but swallow as the delicious aroma wafted to his nose.

Q really was sincere in this attempt, wasn't he? Aiden had only mentioned last night that Renee was a picky eater, so to try preparing a more unique breakfast for her.

He hadn't expected Q to be so attentive! The spread was no less than a five -star hotel breakfast standard, and Aiden had to give Q another ten points for this!

"It's okay. Just eat what you like, Mommy. Try a little of everything, and you'll know which one you like best. It's not like you lose anything by not eating, right?"

"You little rascal, being so logical. You got me dumbfounded for a moment. N

Aiden's words cleared Renee's muddled mind, and she picked up her utensils and started to eat. In fact, it wasn't only important to have such a mindset for breakfast but also when finding a man.

Take herself as an example. She was a young woman in her late twenties, and the only man she ever had was Stefan. Her first kiss was with him, and so was her first night.

Sigh. After all had been said and done, she had a soft spot for Stefan simply because she had never ventured out of her shell before!

This wasn't a good habit, and it needed to be changed

The Untouchable Ex Wife by Mizuki Sei

Chapter 549

In Renee's opinion, the male escort wasn't too shabby. He was not only handsome, but he also had a fine figure with good muscles. He was also understanding and was fine with her being intelligent and beautiful. When she was less busy, she would consider this again.

Apart from him, Jovan was also quite good-looking. If she had the time, she would tease him again. It should be fun.

Julian wasn't too bad either, and she could call him into her hacking team. Haze was even more capable. She still needed to get the time and ask him to teach her binary coding.

Renee picked up a slice of bread and took a bite, chewing as she decided.

'What's so irreplaceable about him? He's just a dead old tree now. The world is big, and there are plenty of men out there, just as varied as the types of food laid before me. I should take my time and try them out slowly. I will eventually find the right one that suits me!'

Only, as Renee continued to chew, her expression turned ugly.

Damn... The bread that the Beach City's famous chef made was so hard! She could barely chew through it! It felt like her teeth were about to break!

"Does the bread taste good, Mommy?" Aiden asked with an innocent look, his chubby face resting on his palms. "Aahem. I-it's okay."

Renee, not wanting to hurt her son, forced herself to finish the bread in her hand. Next, she picked up a slice of bacon...

Seriously? It tasted like it had been dunked in salt! It almost choked her to death! Renee reached for her glass of water and gulped the entire glass down.

"How was the bacon, Mommy?" Aiden continued to ask innocently. "I-it's not too bad either, but I feel thirsty after eating it," Renee said.

It felt like she had taken part in the worst cooking competition in the world. She could barely swallow any of the food!

"Are you full, Mommy? What do you think of this chef's cooking?" Aiden asked with great anticipation. "I'm done. I rate it ten points."

"Wow! That's great! A perfect score!"

Aiden couldn't help but cheer silently for Q.

However, Renee took a deep breath and said hoarsely, "Full score is one hundred points." "What?"

"Adie, I don't know where you found this chef. I accept your lovely thoughts, but can you help me tell this chef that though his food looks good, can he not cook again? I'm afraid I can't resist flattening his face if he does!"

Renee wanted to pretend that it was good till the end, but this celebrity chef in Beach City was too "powerful." The appearance of the food was beautiful and mouth-watering, but a single bite would cause nightmares for years!

She couldn't help but want to throw up!

Aiden carefully picked up some scrambled eggs and tasted them, and he immediately gagged and spat them out. 'Oh my god! This is so salty! Ew!' How could the food Q made be so inedible?! How was he supposed to take care of his mother in the future and make sure she had enough to eat?

No. Adie needed Q to improve his cooking as soon as possible.

"The cooking skills of this chef may need some improvement. I'll ask him to improve, and it's going to be delicious, and it'll suit your taste next time, okay?" Aiden assured Renee with a pat on the back.

"There's going to be a next time?"

Renee wanted to die when she heard that and said with a bitter smile, "It's not necessary, right?" "No!

You need to give him another chance!"

Once Aiden had pacified Renee enough, he slipped out of the room, pulled out his walkie-talkie, and called Mr. Q

The Untouchable Ex Wife by Mizuki Sei

Chapter 550

"Emergency! Emergency! Calling Q! Calling Q!" Aiden had just called out on the walkie-talkie when Mr. Q responded immediately as if he had been waiting there all along.

"Q speaking! Q speaking!" The man asked confidently, "Have you had breakfast? Have my superb cooking skills amazed you?"

"What are you talking about? It wasn't amazing. It was terrifying! Mommy almost called the police after eating your dark cuisine," Aiden replied as he threw up his hands helplessly.

"Dark cuisine?" Mr. Q's voice turned cold, obviously disagreeing. "That food was carefully made according to the cooking instructions, and I poured my passion and love into them... Just to make the bread, I spent an hour kneading the dough. How could you call those a dark cuisine?"

"Okay, fine. I see your sincerity, but it's a fact that you don't have a talent for making good food. This is your shortcoming, and you have to make up for it quickly. Otherwise, I'll have to choose someone else... I must find someone who can care for my mommy, make lots of delicious food, and keep her healthy and plump." Aiden's tone was exasperated and strict.

"Give me another chance. I promise to amaze you with the next meal." Mr. Q made a solemn promise.

"Of course, I'll give you a chance. After all, I've already chosen you as my daddy. But...' Aiden's delicate and handsome face wrinkled up, looking very troubled,

"Since your cooking is so bad, do you have any other strengths to compensate for it? Otherwise, it'll be hard for me to vouch for you!"

"Other strengths..." Mr. Q thought briefly and asked, "I have money. Does that count?"

"Who doesn't have money? My mommy has it too!"

"But I have a lot of money. However much your mother wants, I can give it to her."

"That's good! Great! Take another ten points for that!" Aiden smiled and said into the walkie-talkie. "Mark your words! Whatever amount my mommy wants, you'll give it to her... Let's end our call for now. We'll talk again if anything else comes up. Bye!"

Mr. Q was speechless. Had he just been tricked by a child who was not even five?!

At this moment, in the study, Renee Everheart was also fretting over the word "money."

Azure Group had been in deficit, and it was a problem that had yet to be resolved. The planned production and R&D center had to be built on schedule, or four years of effort would go in vain.

She scanned her contact list and found that there were few people she could turn to for help.

The Osborne family had already subsidized her costs by a lot, so she couldn't ask Liam Osborne to fill this bottomless pit.

Haze did have the ability, but when she thought about the Baldwin family behind him, she knew she couldn't afford to provoke them, which meant she could only avoid them.

Others who used to be friends with the Everheart family couldn't be counted on at this time, let alone extend a helping hand...

Did that mean she had to endure nausea and accept Jovan Hunt's support? But that guy was a lunatic. Once she got involved with him, it would be hard to shake him off.

She could use some "special" relationships, but the cost was to return to that "circle" and continue to bear the carnage and the cruel and dangerous pressure there.

She promised her grandfather that she would not return to that circle, and she would not do so for the sake of her two children's peaceful upbringing.

The very last option was to sell Sun Island, which, if sold, would easily cover the losses of Azure Group. However, Sun Island was paradise for her and her children, and she really couldn't bear to part with it..