David was a little puzzled. Why did this person have murderous intentions toward him when they were meeting for the first time? When he used his mind power to examine the extreme possessiveness in Fergus* eyes, then looked back at Mia, he understood.

'So she's the reason for this.' The other party must have misunderstood his relationship with Mia. This situation happened to him more than once; he had encountered something similar with Celia. After that, he almost wiped out the Chasez family. From Mia's point of view, Master Fergus* status was not that low. However, if Fergus dared to take action against David in secret, David would not mind repeating what he did to the Chasez family to him. "What's going on? What trouble did you encounter, Dance Fairy? I want to see who dares to touch the guest I invited. Do they not want to live anymore?" Burke said with a baleful look. "Lord Burke, you don't have to worry. We just ran into a group of space pirates on the way, and they chased us out of the core. If Master David didn't happen to be nearby to save me, I might not have even made it to this banquet," Mia said sadly. "Space pirates? How dare those bastards appear in the core? They must be tired of living since they dare to take action against my guest. Dance Fairy, rest assured, I will tell my father about the matter and have him bring people to clean up these lawless bastards." Burke's father, Ramos, was a key figure in the Milky Way Empire's military. Thus, he could mobilize the empire's army to get rid of the space pirates. However, one should not underestimate these space pirates either. They were not without foundation. Some well-known space pirate gangs were often supported by big shots in secret. In many cases, before the army could come to clear them up, they would have received the news and temporarily retreated. Of course, if the empire's military would even release the information regarding the clean-up operation, it could at least stop these space pirates for a while, which was also somewhat helpful. "Then I would like to thank you, Lord Burke. Although Master David has already wiped out the group of space pirates chasing me, if General Ramos can come to suppress them, it will also make passing businessmen feel more at ease when passing by." Only then did Burke and the others begin to look at David. Since he could save Mia and kill the space pirates who were chasing her, David might not be an ordinary person. "May I know where David comes from? Maybe some of our elders may know him," Fergus asked. He wanted to find out more about David. Knowing yourself and your enemy could help you win a hundred battles. David ruined his plan, so it would be impossible for Fergus to dismiss his anger toward him. However, before Fergus did anything, he had to first understand David's background. "I'm just an idler," David replied. "David, you must be joking. How would an idler have the strength to kill a group of powerful space pirates so easily?" "I am indeed an idler. I don't care if you believe me or not," David said with a shrug. "David, are you disrespecting me?" Fergus asked in a malicious tone. "Whatever you say," David said indifferently. David had no intention of feigning civility toward someone so narrow-minded and who had displayed murderous intent toward him the moment they first met. As soon as he got off the Octagon, he released his mind power. The strongest person here was just a late Cosmos Ranker. After paying 10 billion Galaxy Dollars to the Meteor Chamber, David received 100 lavish points. Then, he spent 80 lavish points to raise his mind power to Cosmos level 10. Both his physique and mind power had reached Cosmos level 10. By now, David's combat power had reached partial Celestial Rank. No one on Planet Boundless could block his punch if he released all his energy.

David's words shocked everyone present. Even Burke looked at him in surprise. 'Who is this kid?

'How dare he disrespect Fergus like that? 'Either he's an idiot who doesn't know Fergus' identity, or his background is not inferior to Fergus', and that's why he dares to do this.' In the Milky Way, there were not many forces that could compete with the Callisto family.

One could count all of them on two hands, but none of them had the surname Lidell. Fergus was also stunned.

He stared at David for a long time before he could come back to his senses. How long had it been since his peers dared to speak to him like this? As Master Fergus of the Callisto family, and one of the strong competitors for the future head of the family, even the host of this banquet, Lord Burke of Planet Boundless, who just broke through to Cosmos Rank, would not dare to speak to him like this. He was just a punk who suddenly appeared beside Mia. Who gave him such courage? Could it be that he saved Mia and killed some trash, so he now thought he was invincible? "Alright! Very good! Splendid! David, I will remember you," Fergus said through gritted teeth. If Mia were not here, he would have already killed David on the spot. "I've always been good," David replied calmly. "Master Fergus, please don't mind this. Master David has been out of the core for many years and has just returned from an expedition from the edge of the Milky Way, so he doesn't know much about the current structure of the Milky Way Empire or you," Mia quickly explained. Everyone was stunned. It seemed that David had just returned from an expedition at the edge of the Milky Way. No wonder he dared to speak to Fergus like that. This kind of situation was not uncommon in the Milky Way Empire. If someone could find some relics left by the strong or find an indigenous living planet, they might be able to prosper immediately. However, people who would risk so much were generally individuals who were not very favored but were not willing to lie down and accept their fate. "I see, you just came back from exploring outside. No wonder you dare to talk to me like this. It seems that you genuinely don't know much about the situation in the Milky Way Empire! But since you saved Mia, I won't quibble with you today. I hope you behave yourself.” “Thank you, Master Fergus!” Mia thanked him. David originally wanted to say something. This Master Fergus showed murderous intent the first time they met just because he was with Mia. On the surface, he was a modest gentleman, but secretly, he was very narrow-minded. This kind of person was like a cold and poisonous snake, and he might bite David one day. David’s usual practice for this potential danger was to find a solution in advance and prevent it before it happened. Fergus’ status was not low. David only needed to trigger him with a few words before he took action. In this way, David could solve the hidden danger on the spot. However, before David could say anything, Mia touched him lightly. He thought about it and decided to forget it. To protect Mia’s dignity and not make things difficult for her. After all, I am unfamiliar with this place. ‘If I want to gain a foothold here in the future and spend money to get lavish points, I still need Mia’s help! ‘I should prioritize that first.’ Therefore, David only smiled and did not say anything. Burke and the others understood now. They thought David was a bad*ss that could fight Fergus head-on, but who would have known that he was actually an idiot who did not know anything. As the host, Burke needed to say something now. “Dance Fairy, please come with me. We’ll hold a welcoming reception for you.” “Thank you, Lord Burke,” Mia said. The group followed Burke. They initially wanted Mia to walk in the middle, but she refused. Mia insisted that she would walk with David at the back, making Fergus even more pissed at David.

When he combined this new reason for hating David with the original reason, Fergus immediately sentenced David to death. When David was separated from Mia, Fergus would definitely kill him.

Even Burke was displeased with David. “The person I f*cking invited is only interacting with you.’ The group arrived at Burke’s palace. When they got their seating arrangement, Mia was seated between Fergus and Burke in front while David was at the back. Mia wanted to sit with David, but this was clearly not allowed. It was a small banquet of ten people, and everyone was circling Fergus, Burke, and Mia. No one paid any attention to David, and David was pleased. He proceeded to enjoy the delicious food and wine on his table. He had to admit that the food in outer space was much better than on Earth. As far as these unknown meats were concerned, they were much better than the pork, beef, or mutton on Earth. He would bring some back for Celia and the others to try when he went back to Earth in the future. Mia would also occasionally look at David. She was relieved when she found that he was wolfing down his food and did not show the slightest bit of dissatisfaction. She genuinely could not shake Fergus and Burke off of her. When everyone started getting intoxicated, Burke said, “Dance Fairy, before you came, everyone said that they wanted you to dance for everyone when you’re here, what do you think?” “Dance Fairy, we’ve been waiting for your dance for so long.” “He’s right. Dance Fairy, I was fortunate enough to see your dance a year ago. Your dance moves are still fresh in my mind.” “Since everyone is so interested in my dance, I’ll dance for everyone to liven things up. I hope you all will like it,” Mia agreed. “Of course, we’ll like it! Dance Fairy, your dancing is famous throughout the Milky Way Empire, how could we not like it?» “Yeah!” Everyone said simultaneously. “Haha, Dance Fairy, you’re so delightful! Come, let’s toast the Dance Fairy! Let’s thank her for her amazing dance in advance,” Burke stood up and said with a laugh. Except for David, everyone at the scene reacted to what Burke said. They stood up and raised their glasses, including Fergus. Burke looked at the still seated David and asked in a low voice, “David, what’s the meaning of this?” “Nothing. I’m just not used to toasting women,” David answered, his words slightly inaudible from chewing. If someone toasted a woman like this, they would definitely have a purpose in doing so. David did not like this. Since he had the power to do whatever he wanted right now, why would he go along with these people? Besides, he knew what kind of person Burke was from Mia’s stories. Therefore, he was even more reluctant to join in. Meanwhile, Mia was trying her best to hint at David, asking him to stand. She was feeling nervous about David in her heart. David was like someone ignorant of the world’s ways, and he did not know how to read the room. He might have spent too much time wandering on the edge of the Milky Way. She decided to teach him about this when she had the chance. She had to tell him that sometimes, even if you did not like to do something, you still needed to do it. Just like her. Did he think she liked to show herself in front of so many people and perform for them? She had no choice. If she could choose, Mia only wanted to dance for the person she loved. However, that was unrealistic unless she could find someone so powerful that he could suppress half of the Milky Way. David pretended not to see Mia’s hints and continued eating while minding his business.
