

Married At First Sight Chapter 3476 - 3478

Married At First Sight Chapter 3476-Tatum stared at Elora while she ate, making her feel like he wanted to eat her.

Tatum responded in a gentle voice, "Okay, as long as the young lady doesn't mind my ugly eating manners, then I will respectfully obey your command."

"You seem to be a very cultured and well-mannered person, and you look gentle as jade. Although I haven't eaten at the same table with you, I guess you don't look bad when you eat."

Tatum smiled.

He praised in his heart: Miss, you are worthy of being my wife, you have a unique vision and are so accurate!

Elora: ...Who is your wife?

"By the way, there is something I want to know in advance."

Tatum looked at her gently, waiting for her to ask questions.

Elora said, "During the New Year, are you going back to your hometown to celebrate the New Year? It's quite far from where we are to Wiltspoon. I heard that the winter in your Wiltspoon is not cold at all."

Tatum replied, "I will go back to my hometown for the New Year. Is there a place for your three meals, Miss? If so, I still want to go back. My grandmother is old, and she is looking forward to the New Year and other holidays, so that all of us cousins can go home. Usually, we all go our separate ways to make a living, so it's hard for us brothers to get together."

Tatum did not lie in this statement.

Elora, who had investigated Tatum, knew that Tatum had two brothers, but also several cousins. If the cousins were included, they had nine brothers. And they didn't have a sister, which was completely opposite of her family.

If the elders knew that Tatum had so many brothers, they would be so envious of the York family's fortune teller.

"Do you still live together?" Elora pretended not to know and asked.

“Well, when we go back to our hometown, we still live together in the old house left by our ancestors. Usually, my brothers and I buy or rent an apartment near our workplace to make it convenient for work.”

Elora asked again, “How many brothers and sisters do you have?”

“In my generation, there are nine brothers in total, and I am the sixth. My brothers all call me Tatum. I don’t have any sisters. My family has had no daughters for several generations. Those who have daughters can’t raise them. My grandmother always said that she gave birth to three sons, and those three sons gave her nine grandsons. No daughter-in-law has ever given her a granddaughter. She has been waiting for a granddaughter until her hair turned gray but she still hasn’t gotten one. Now she is hoping for a great-granddaughter.”

Elora had already eaten half of her meal.

When she ate, she usually didn’t talk and ate very quickly.

This time, it was because Tatum kept looking at her, which made her feel a little uncomfortable, so she found some daily topics to chat with Tatum.

Elora said, “Having too many granddaughters can make grandmothers worried. My grandparents were like that. They were looking forward to having grandchildren, but their daughters-in-law gave birth to one granddaughter, two granddaughters, and I have six or seven cousins. My parents both died giving birth to a son, but I didn’t expect that I would have a younger brother. My mother gave birth to my brother at an advanced age.”

After a moment of silence, Elora said, “It’s not that our family treats our daughters badly, but the elders still hope to have a son and think that the family business should be left to the son to inherit. If they really can’t give birth to a son, they will consider letting their daughter take over. That’s how the older ones like me took over the family business.”

If Elora had an older brother or a younger brother who was only one or two years younger than her, she would definitely not be the one sitting in the president’s position.

Unless her brothers were fools, the elders would let their son take over and let their daughter assist him as an assistant.

Tatum was at a loss for words.

Elora said, “In fact, the elders in my family still favor boys over girls. My brother is only a few years old. It will take more than ten years for him to grow up. Before he can take over, Tinsley and I can only marry locals.”

Elora stopped talking here.

Married At First Sight Chapter 3477-Tatum said: "Even if your brother grows up, he may not be able to take over. You are a daughter, but you are also from the Ormond family. You have the ability to take over, so why worry about your children taking over?"

Their York family did not have that idea.

Grandma said that if all the brothers are capable, the eldest brother will take over. If the eldest brother is not capable, the most capable one will be chosen to take over. It does not have to be the eldest son or grandson. The main criterion is ability.

If there is a daughter who can take over and she is willing, of course, she can. If she is unwilling, she will not be forced.

Judging by their elders' preference for girls, Tatum felt that even if he had a niece or daughter in the future, the elders in the family would be reluctant to let the girl take over. They knew that being the head of the family was too tiring and they were reluctant to let their precious child get exhausted.

After Elora had eaten and drunk her fill, she put down her bowl and chopsticks and wiped her mouth with a napkin.

She said calmly, "If they really don't have the ability to take over the family business, the company will still be managed by us, but the majority of the shares will be given to the two younger brothers, and we sisters can only get a little bit. We don't work for nothing, but we can't completely inherit the family business. The shares will still be passed on to future generations by my younger brothers."

Most of the shares of the Ormond family's company were still in the hands of her elders.

She and Tinsley only held a small part, with Elora holding slightly more shares than Tinsley.

"I don't care about those. I already have experience and funds. I will invest in my own company. When my younger brother can take over, I will leave the Ormond family and still be able to make a name for myself in the business world."

To avoid competing with her younger brother in business, Elora's own investment company was not in Annenburg of Province X but in other big cities. Currently, her personal net worth was substantial, and she was considered a wealthy woman.

Of course, if she wanted to keep managing everything in the Ormond family, it was not impossible. Her younger brother was only a few years old and could only take over after more than ten years. He might not even be able to take over.

If Elora didn't want to hand it over, her younger brother couldn't do anything about it.

However, she had watched her brother grow up since he was born, and she loved him.

Elora didn't want to do that.

Anyway, she had invested in and built many companies with her current status and personal funds, and the company's business was gradually getting on track. She had created her own successful path. She didn't have that kind of ambition.

Instead, she hoped that her brother would grow up quickly to take over so that she could concentrate on her own business.

Tatum said admiringly, "Miss, you're an independent and self-reliant person. I admire girls like you."

He also used his identity and personal funds to invest in his own business.

His business territory was not too involved with the York Corporation. It meant that even if he left the York Corporation, his business could continue to operate normally.

Elora smiled and said, "I also admire you. There are very few people who have become big bosses and can put down their status and come all the way to be my chef in order to improve themselves."

Many people came to apply for the chef position of the Ormond family to find a better job or to open a restaurant after becoming famous and realize the goal of becoming a boss.

Over the years, many people had entered the Ormond family as private chefs, but the youngest, most capable, and purest person was Tatum.

"Who am I? In Wiltspoon, I am not even worth a scallion. There are many big families and big bosses in Wiltspoon," Tatum said.

Tatum was just the sixth young master of the York family, and not many people had seen or knew him.

This was a fact.

Married At First Sight Chapter 3478-In Wiltspoon, when mentioning the young masters of the York family, everyone knew Zachary.

In addition to Zachary, Callum and Kevin were also somewhat famous. Starting from Evan, people were less familiar with the younger brothers like Tatum. The younger the brothers were, the less known they were.

For example, in school, no one knew that Rowan was the ninth young master of the York family, and few people in the upper class had seen him.

Grandma protected them before they entered society and never let any external forces interfere with their lives.

When they didn't want to continue their studies and needed to work, Grandma would take them to various banquets and show them off a few times to let everyone know that they were young masters of the York family.

As for whether everyone could remember them, it depended on their capability and influence in Wiltspoon.

If they wanted to start from the grassroots, Grandma would not take them to banquets but let them climb up little by little like ordinary people.

Hearing Tatum say this, Elora was quite intrigued. "So, there are great business opportunities in Wiltspoon."

Tatum said, "It depends on what industry it involves. In the past two years, business has been tough, and all walks of life are saturated. Unless you cooperate with peers, it is difficult to climb up in Wiltspoon."

Elora paused and said, "Yes, it's the same here.

I'm full. There is no problem with today's food. You have implemented the suggestions I gave you last time. I think it's very good."

Tatum got up and cleaned up the dishes.

After receiving her praise, Tatum couldn't help but smile. "Thank you for the comments, Miss. I will continue to work hard and strive to make every dish I cook satisfying and delicious."

After cleaning up the dishes, Tatum quickly left Elora's office. He went back to the hotel to eat.

To take care of Elora's appetite, he prepared her meals alone. When she was full and satisfied, he returned to the hotel to eat.

It was also good to try the food cooked by others.

Sometimes, he would cook two dishes for himself and eat simply.

He loved to cook, and his dishes were delicious, but he was not picky about food.

Maybe it was because he cooked for himself most of the time, so he couldn't find fault with his own cooking.

In the hotel room, Tatum sat back on the sofa, opened WhatsApp, found his mother's contact, and clicked on the video call.

Tania quickly answered the video call from her youngest son.

"Mom," Tatum called out with a smile.

Tania was also smiling when she saw Tatum in the video, but she noticed that Tatum was wearing very little, so she asked with concern: "Are you cold because you are wearing so little?"

Tatum said, "No, there is heating in the room. Mom, what have you and Dad been busy with recently? I haven't had time to call you, and you haven't called me either. I miss you both so much."

Tania smiled and scolded Tatum: "You say you miss us, but if you really did, you wouldn't run so far away. There are distinguished guests at home. We have been accompanying them for the past two days. They will leave tomorrow, and the house will return to peace.

I'm looking forward to you all coming back for the New Year so the house can be more lively. Alas, a family isn't lively without several children."

Tatum smiled and said, "Next year, our family will definitely be lively. By then, Mom, you will be so annoyed by your grandson that you'll have a headache. Little babies are not easy to take care of."

Tania said, "No matter how difficult it is, your dad and I still like taking care of grandchildren. You should hurry up and have a baby."

Tatum replied, "Elora and I haven't even started dating yet, but she appreciates me."