Chapter 1657

After David returned to Treasure Trove, he immediately locked himself in his room.

He did not care how shocked the Allen family would be when they found out how much was transferred.

The most important thing right now was to spend the lavish points he had just got to improve his strength.

Only by raising his strength to the Sovereign Rank and inadvertently revealing it in front of Alba would she undoubtedly believe that there was a Sacred Saint behind him.

This would greatly aid the crazy plan in David's mind.

Alba, the third young mistress of Treasure Trove, played a very important role in that plan.

It would not be possible without her help.

After locking the door to the room, David sat cross-legged on the bed.

He then unleashed all of his mind power to form a transparent shield within the room and prevent anyone from breaking in at a critical moment.

At the same time, he was also paying close attention to Elmer, a Sovereign Ranker.

He did not know if Elmer had mind power or not.

However, in David's opinion, it would not be very strong even if he did possess it.

After all, Elmer was not as strong as Celeste.

Compared to him, Celeste's mind power was much weaker.

As long as he was vigilant, he should be fine.

After everything was ready, David opened his system panel.

[Lavish Points: 30000]

As he looked at the 30 thousand lavish points, a smile appeared on David's face.

His strength which had been stagnant for a long time was finally changing, and it was going to experience a huge leap.

He first spent 100 lavish points to raise his mind power from Infinity level 10 to Ruler level 1, and then spent another 90 lavish points to raise it to Ruler level 10.

Finally, he spent another 90 lavish points to upgrade his Body from Ruler level 1 to Ruler level

After reaching Ruler level 10 both physically and mentally, David's combat power also reached partial Immortal Rank.

The system data also changed accordingly.

David did not hesitate to continue upgrading his Body and Mind.

He needed another 1000 lavish points to upgrade from Ruler level 1 to Immortal level 1.

Then, he spent another 900 lavish points to upgrade it from Immortal level 1 to Immortal level 10.

This cost a total of 1900 lavish points each.

To upgrade both his Body and Mind to Immortal level 10, David spent a total of 3800 lavish points.

At this moment, his combat power had reached partial Sovereign Rank.

A strength like this was not considered weak even in a level 7 civilization like Star Kingdom.

As long as he did not provoke those people from medium or large forces, he could basically do anything he wanted.

After David took a deep breath, he moved his body and looked at the system panel.

He would need 10 thousand lavish points for the next upgrade.

Furthermore, he would need more points in the future

If he wanted to upgrade both his Body and Mind to Sovereign level 10 and upgrade his combat power to partial Saint Realm, he would need 38000 lavish points.

Right now, David only had a little more than 25000.

He still needed 12000 more points.

He hoped he could obtain those lavish points during the auction.

Soon, David's head started throbbing.

He did a rough calculation. If he wanted to reach Sacred Saint Rank, the highest combat power in Star Kingdom, he would need tens of millions of lavish points. Even so, he would only reach beginner Sacred Saint Rank.

Even if he finished all the money in the system, he would only get 100 million lavish points. this was not enough to break through to the realm after Saint Realm.

However, judging from the system's behavior, it might go through another upgrade by then. It was from a God Tier Civilization after all.

Sacred Saint Rank was the highest combat power in Star Kingdom, a level 7 civilization, but it was not the system's limit.

After he calmed his breathing, David continued to upgrade himself.

He would put aside future matters and tackle what was in front of him first.

He wanted to upgrade his Body with the remaining 20 thousand something lavish points.

He spent 19000 lavish points to upgrade his Body to Sovereign level 10.

That way, David would be a peak Sovereign Ranker.

If he upgraded his Body and Mind together and spent all of his lavish points, he could only get. to Sovereign level 5, which was mid-Sovereign Rank.

The effect would not be as good as upgrading his Body alone.

However, if he wanted to go one step further and reach partial Saint Realm, he needed to spend another 19000 lavish points to increase his Mind.

However, after spending 10000 lavish points to raise his Body to Sovereign level 1, the system. issued a prompt that stated that his Mind had not reached Sovereign Rank, so David could not continue to upgrade his Body when he tried to upgrade it again.

David was a little confused.

He could do this before the system went through its most recent upgrade.

Did it not work now?

It seemed that there were still some changes that he did not know about when this system upgraded.

He had to upgrade both his Body and Mind.

'Whatever.'

David could not help it either way.

He could not talk to the system so he could not ask about this.

Therefore, he could only go according to system requirements.

It took another 10000 lavish points to upgrade his Mind to Sovereign level 1.

Then, he used the rest of the lavish points to improve his Body.

After all this was done, David looked at the system again.

[Lavish Points: 920]

His combat power had reached mid-Sovereign Rank.

With his Soulbound Weapon Evil-Splitting Sword and Evil-Splitting Sword Technique, David figured he could even fight a late Sovereign Ranker.

David predicted that Elmer from Treasure Trove should be a mid-Sovereign Ranker.

This was because the pressure he gave off to David was not as impressive as Celeste's. Meanwhile, Celeste was a late Sovereign Ranker, so if Elmer was not as powerful, then he would just be a mid-Sovereign Ranker.

Of course, David would not disregard the fact that Elmer might have a powerful Soulbound Weapon.

After all, Treasure Trove was one of the top five trading companies in the Central Sacred Continent, so not only would they be loaded, but they would also have a lot of treasures.

Still, this was only a 50-50 possibility.

David was not afraid of Elmer.

How was David supposed to know that his Evil-Splitting Sword was a first-rate Soulbound Weapon and Elmer would never get his hands on a weapon of this level in his lifetime?

Chapter 1659

Satisfied, David put away the system, and at the same time, he retracted his mind

Right now, he was completely different from when he first entered the room.

power.

David just now was just a beginner Ruler Ranker, but now, he was already a mid-Sovereign Ranker.

There was a huge gap between the two.

He got out of bed and moved his body freely.

Crack!

All the joints in his cracked.

David felt strength coursing through his body.

The powerful feeling was finally back.

Although David's appearance had not changed after his strength improved, his spirit was completely different.

When David retracted his mind power, Elmer and Miss Alba were talking about something inside another room in Treasure Trove.

Suddenly, Elmer was stunned.

Alba immediately noticed the change in Elmer, and asked, "Elmer, what's wrong?"

"Miss Alba, I sensed a powerful energy flashing by, but when I tried to look for it, I found. nothing," Elmer replied honestly.

"A powerful energy? How powerful is it?" Alba continued to ask curiously.

"It's not weaker than mine!"

"Not weaker than yours? Then it's a mid-Sovereign Ranker. Do you know who they are?"

"I don't know!" Elmer shook his head.

He had just cultivated his mind power and was still very weak.

If David did not retract his energy when he dissipated his mind shield, Elmer would not have been able to notice it at all.

"It's okay, don't worry. Since this is one of the 108 large trading zones of the Central Sacred. Continent, it's normal for some unfamiliar Sovereign Rankers to occasionally pass by the trading company. It'll be fine as long as they are not hostile to us."

"Got it, Miss Alba!" Elmer replied.

In truth, he still had something to tell Alba.

Just now, he suddenly found that this energy was not weaker than his.

Elmer felt that the other party was very close, and they were possibly even in Treasure Trove

However, he had no proof, so he did not dare to say anything.

The two continued to talk.

David was in his room, slowly adapting to the physical changes brought about by his soaring strength.

At the same time, he was familiarizing himself with his mid-Sovereign Rank strength.

For the next few days, David did not leave the room.

No one bothered him except the one time when Marlee came over with her daughter.

Peggy kept clamoring for David to tell her stories.

Marlee was helpless. Coincidentally, she needed to talk to David, so she brought Peggy along. However, why would David be in the mood to play with a little girl?

There were more important things he had to attend to.

Therefore, he could only tell the little girl that he would owe her the stories. Once he was done with his work, he would slowly tell her all these tales.

Although the little girl was a little unhappy, she was good at reading the room.

She knew that David was genuinely busy now, so she did not continue making a fuss and left with her mother obediently.

Chapter 1660

A few days later.

Knock knock knock!

Someone knocked on the door.

“Who is it?” David opened his eyes to ask

Right now, he was sitting cross-legged on the bed. After a few days of getting used to his new Sovereign Rank strength, David nearly mastered it with the help of his mind power.

“David, it’s me.”

Alba’s voice came from behind the door.

“Miss Fellowes! Hang on, I’m coming.”

David got up to open the door.

When she saw David, Alba was stunned.

She had not seen him in a few days, but she felt as if he had gone through a huge change.

As for what exactly this change was, she was unsure.

He was the same David, but something was completely off about him.

‘How strange!’

Alba was curious.

When David saw her staring at him, he asked, “What’s wrong, Miss Fellowes?”

“Oh, it’s nothing. I just remembered something, so I spaced out,” Alba explained after coming back to her senses.

“How can I help you, Miss Fellowes?”

“Hmm? Can’t I visit you without a clear purpose? David, you’ve locked yourself in the room. for a few days, so I came over to see if you were still alive. What should I tell your master if something happened to you at Treasure Trove and he came over?” Alba joked.

“Miss Fellowes, you’re hilarious. What could happen to us now that we’re at this stage? I was just cultivating in the past few days. My master said cultivation is like rowing a boat upstream, if you stop moving forward, you’ll fall backward. Thus, I have to seize every available moment. My master said he’ll show up randomly to check on me. If I don’t meet his standards, I’ll be punished.”

“Your master will be coming? When?” Alba asked immediately.

David’s master was an alleged Sacred Saint.

It would be a huge blessing to meet such a big shot.

If she could foster a relationship with him, she would enjoy boundless benefits in her lifetime

Hence, Alba naturally wanted to get to know David's master.

"I have no idea. He's always mysterious and traceless. No one knows his whereabouts."

"David, you have to introduce me to your master if he comes here. I'm very curious about what kind of person a powerhouse like your master is. I have admired strong people since I was young."

"Miss Fellowes, I'm sorry to disappoint you. He looks like any ordinary old man. There's nothing special about him."

"Perhaps you spent too much time with him so that's why you don't think he's special. It won't be the same for me when I meet him for the first time. David, promise me, okay?"

"Alright. I'll tell him. However, I can't guarantee that he wants to see you."

"Thank you! Thank you! You only need to mention my name to him," Alba said gratefully. As he looked at Alba's excited expression, David thought of something in his heart.

"By the way, Miss Fellowes, the establishment of the trading company this time is actually a test from my master. Our lineage has accumulated a lot of wealth, so my master wants to use it to do something, but he is unwilling to come forward himself. Therefore, he left it to me. If you can help me grow the company, I only need to mention your name when the old man comes and I'm sure he'll be willing to see you. He might even have a good impression of you." "Really?"

"Of course! Why would I lie to you?"

"Okay, David! Leave it to me. As long as you can provide enough liquidity, I will definitely help you set up this business in the shortest possible time, but the condition is that you have to take me to see your master when he comes here."

"Deal!"

Without even thinking about it, David agreed to Alba's request.

You want a good relationship with a Sacred Saint, right?

As long as you can follow my instructions and convince the Fellowes family to get involved and help me, the future Sacred Saint will appear right in front of your eyes.'
