Chapter 1711

David had no idea that he had almost exposed himself for killing Cornelius.

Other people could not detect the smell of blood. Archimedes' extremely overbearing words made David understand that he was here to cause trouble. Even if David backed down, Archimedes would not leave him alone.

Furthermore, David would never hand over the Evil-Splitting Sword and the Exquisite Wine of Hundred Flowers and Fruits.

David would not hand those things over even if he had to expose his strength and fight the old late Sovereign Ranker.

"Get out of the way," David said in a deep voice. He was not in the mood to spout nonsense with the other party.

Archimedes ignored what David said.

He continued to stand in front of David to stop him from leaving.

Time passed slowly and the atmosphere became tenser.

The onlookers around them all had excited looks on their faces.

“They’re finally going to fight.”

At the same time, they muttered in their hearts, “Kid, don’t be such a coward, f*ck him up!”

So what if they were from the Lightfoot family?

No matter how exceptional they were, someone still murdered their second-in-line heir, Cornelius, and yet the murderer was still nowhere to be found.

Someone should challenge the awe-inspiring authority of these big families so that they stopped strutting around all the time like they owned the place.

“Are you sure you won’t get out of the way?” David asked again.

At this moment, he was on the brink of flying into a rage.

“What if I don’t?” Archimedes asked casually.

He was not bothered by what David said at all.

David lifted his right leg and took a step forward.

When his foot landed on the ground, a burst of energy emanated from his body.

Boom!

A beginner Sovereign Rank energy spread across the room with David as the center.

The entire 9th floor of the tavern shook like it was in the center of a storm.

If David did not stop it in time, the place would have collapsed.

Archimedes was only a partial Sovereign Ranker and David was targeting him. Therefore, under his intense energy, he was like a tiny boat in the middle of the ocean that would be devoured by the waves at any second.

Stomp stomp stomp!

Archimedes was forced to back away.

He finally stopped when Bernard came back to his senses and grabbed him quickly.

If Bernard did not act in time, Archimedes might have been blown out of the 9th floor by David's energy,

As for the other Sovereign Rankers, they quickly acted after David showed his strength to protect the people around them.

After David pushed Archimedes away, he continued to walk forward as there were no more obstacles in front of him.

David reached the staircase, by which point the 9th floor calmed down again.

"Uncle Bernard, get him. I want to crush his bones!"

Archimedes yelled angrily.

At this moment, his face had simultaneously turned pale and dark. He was clearly fuming.

He would never imagine someone who looked so young to have such great strength.

The energy he showed was at Sovereign Rank.

One had to know that a first-in-line heir of the Lightfoot family like him was just a partial Sovereign Ranker.

Even though he was not far from Sovereign Rank, he was still not there yet.

How old was this punk in front of him?

Archimedes did not have time to care about all this.

Even if this kid had a Saint as his master, he still needed him to pay the price.

The Lightfoot family had Saints too.

In addition, the Ginger family was supporting the Lightfoot family!

That was the strongest family among the six top forces.

Meanwhile, Bernard had already acted right after Archimedes said that.

As Cornelius's protector who had been with him for many years, Bernard knew his master's temper.

Now that he had suffered such a huge grievance, he would never let that kid
