

Chapter 946 Brandon's Decision

"This woman is in labor!"

"Oh my God! She's lost a lot of blood. Has the ambulance not arrived yet?" <sup>1</sup>

"What's going on?"

Everyone standing around looked over at the woman who was screaming.

Thinking about Lydia's situation and what Jethro had just said, Janet was worried her life might be in danger now.

Janet's full attention was on the pregnant woman, so she didn't have time to explain the matter of the novel to Brandon.

"Didn't you call an ambulance a while ago? Why isn't it here yet?" Janet ran over to Jethro's wife. She had lost a considerable amount of blood, and was now in a critical condition.

"It's pouring with rain outside. There was a serious accident at the intersection in front of the Larson Group building. Sean texted saying the ambulance was stuck and couldn't get over here." Brandon spoke in a low voice.

Wide eyed, Janet exclaimed, "We can't just stand by and watch this woman in obstructed labor." 1

Just then, the revolving door to the hall spun around, and three people walked in.

They were led by Sean, who was soaking wet but smiling. "The doctors are here! Please move aside."

Two doctors followed closely behind. They wore white clothing, and carried boxes of medical supplies.

Squatting in front of the sofa where the pregnant woman lay, one of the doctors examined her condition. The other was ushering everyone to leave the area.

"She needs fresh air and would be more comfortable with some more space."

After the initial examination was complete, the doctor took a deep breath. "She is in a serious condition. There's no time to wait for the ambulance. She has to have the baby right here. Who is the father?"

Everyone was silent, until Janet spoke up.

"Her husband isn't here. Is there anything we can do?"

The doctor looked nervous. "What if something goes wrong? Her husband is so irresponsible! Call him and tell him to come here right now." <sup>4</sup>

Janet was unsure how to explain the situation. "You see, her husband is a criminal and in a very bad mental state. We can't let him out. Can't you just deliver the baby now?"

The doctor was silent for a moment as he considered this. The woman's life was in danger, so he didn't have much choice. "Is there an empty meeting room available here? I need a clean room where I can deliver the baby."

Everyone turned to Brandon. Jethro had just threatened the Larson Group. It would be understandable if Brandon didn't want to help.

It was all up to him.

"Obviously the most important thing is saving her!" Without hesitation, Brandon removed his suit jacket and draped it over the pregnant woman. <sup>2</sup>

He glanced at Sean. "Go and arrange a VIP room for the doctor. Ask all the available medical staff we have to help."

Hearing Brandon's orders, everyone was relieved, and began rushing around to help.

Janet and Estella went off to get some clean towels.

"I didn't expect Brandon to be so... compassionate." Seeing the angry look Janet gave in response to this, Estella quickly explained, "I've heard from others that he is cold and selfish. But he's not like that at all. I guess my view of him was too one-sided."

Janet, on the other hand, was not surprised to see Brandon act this way. "Other people say that because they don't know my husband very well. I've never doubted his kindness and compassion."
