

Chapter 517 The Bonfire Party

After beating the two bastards away, Trevor and Luisa smiled at each other.

Trevor felt a bit depressed as the beautiful atmosphere he had just created was ruined by the two fools. ①

At that time, Boaz came towards Trevor and flattered, "Mr. Sanderson, do you want to hold a bonfire party here? Just give me the word and I will arrange it immediately."

This was a perfect chance to flatter Mr. Sanderson and Boaz couldn't let it go to waste.

If his father knew about it, he would definitely praise him for his smartness!

Looking at Luisa, Trevor asked softly, "A bonfire party? Luisa, do you want to go there?"

After thinking for a while, Luisa smiled and said, "I think it's interesting. We should give it a try."

As Boaz had done a good job just now, Trevor decided to give him a chance to do the task.

The bonfire party would start only at night.

As it was still early, Trevor took Luisa on a yacht and took a tour around the island.

When the two of them arrived at the beach, the preparation for the bonfire had come to an end.

There were several big freezers that were filled with ingredients needed for the party.

In the middle, there was a big bonfire surrounded by several other small bonfires. None of them wasn't lit at the moment.

Such a huge scene attracted many male and female tourists around the beach.

Once Boaz saw Trevor and Luisa, he rushed over in a pair of beach shoes and said respectfully, "Mr. Sanderson, I've done all the preparations for the bonfire party. I'm just waiting for you to light them and start the party!"

The moon rose from the sea and it was when the bonfire party officially began.

At that time, Trevor lit the biggest bonfire with his lighter.

Accompanied by the rising flames, the orange firelight shone on everyone's face that was filled with joy.

As anyone could come to the party, it was quite lively.

Not long after the biggest bonfire was lit, several small bonfires nearby were set on fire. Everyone sat in a circle happily.

However, since the bonfire party was held for Trevor, everyone around waited politely for him to speak.

Knowing this, Trevor stood up and waved his hand casually as he said, "Everyone, enjoy the night."

Hearing this, Boaz, who was standing beside Trevor, added hurriedly, "Tonight's bonfire party is for Mr. Sanderson. I'll pay the bill. So, everyone, enjoy yourself."

The crowd erupted into laughter of joy and the atmosphere became more relaxed.

With a smile on his face, Trevor sat next to Luisa. Then, he started roasting the meat and a bunch of chicken wings for Luisa.

When he was poor, he had to cook for himself.

He gradually mastered some cooking skills in the process.

Soon enough the aroma of chicken wings permeated the air.

Trevor brushed the chicken wings with the oil and sprinkled some spices on them before they were done.

Once they were grilled perfectly, Trevor blew them carefully and placed them in front of Luisa's mouth.

Luisa looked at the steaming chicken wings in front her and smiled. She took a bite of one.

With wide eyes, Luisa exclaimed, "This is so good!"

After that, Luisa also roasted some chicken wings for Trevor.

Without caring about the other people, the couple was affectionate towards each other.

After grilling a few rounds of barbecues, passionate music sounded.

Smiling, Trevor stood up and extended his hand to Luisa like a gentleman.

"Will you dance with me, my beautiful lady?"

Luisa smiled sweetly and stood up. Then, the two of them danced along the music.

Although they couldn't dance well, they just enjoyed dancing in each other's embrace.

When the sound ended, someone from the crowd shouted, "Kiss! Kiss!"

Soon, the crowd chanted the word over and over again.

With his eyes filled with expectation, Trevor whispered, "Can I?"

With a blush on her face, Luisa replied, "Okay." Then, she raised her head with her eyes closed. Their hearts were beating so fast at the moment!

Without wasting another second, Trevor kissed her passionately.

Just like that, the atmosphere was pushed to a climax again!