

The Day I Kissed An Older Man by Cher the Cherished

Chapter 199

Chapter 199

The impatient Annie walked up to Corinne and said, “Hey, Corinne, let’s get you to change to your equestrian clothing!”

“Equestrian clothing?” Corinne raised an eyebrow. “I didn’t bring any.”

Annie was surprised by this. “You didn’t bring any? I brought a spare one with me, so you can wear mine! Though, I don’t have an extra pair of boots.”

“I have a spare pair.” Rosie smiled gently. “But I don’t know if it fits her.”

Corinne said, “My shoe size is 5.5.”

Rosie said, “I’m wearing 7.5. It’s slightly bigger, but you can give it a try.”

Corinne nodded. “Alright. Thank you.”

Rosie’s smile brightened. “We’re friends. You don’t have to be so polite!”

As such, the three girls headed to the changing room.

In the changing room...

Corinne put on the equestrian clothing Annie gave her. It was a red color suit, and the unique fitting of the equestrian clothing fully embraced her curvy figure.

The shape of her face looked exquisite with her hair tied in a messy bun, giving her a cool yet cute look. The color of the equestrian clothing added a little spice of femininity to her, too.

Annie was dumbstruck. “Wow, Corinne, you look so good in this outfit!”

Corinne, on the other hand, did not think much of it. “Really? It’s your clothing that looks good, not me.”

Annie was so in love with Corinne’s look that her eyes could have turned out into two hearts, true to the emoji fashion. “Trust me, it’s you that’s good-looking, and the clothing looks good because of you! If I’m a man, I’m going to steal you from Uncle Jeremy and not let him have you!”

Corinne’s jaw slackened at the comment, demonstrating how speechless she was.

At that moment, Rosie walked over with a pair of boots. “Corinne, try these boots. It’s new, and I haven’t worn it before...”

Corinne heard her voice and looked in her direction.

Rosie was dumbstruck when she saw Corinne. Normally, a woman would be more harsh and strict when she judged another woman’s outlook.

At this moment, Corinne looked nothing compared to when she just arrived at the horse ranch. She looked charming, having put on the equestrian clothing and her hair tied up in a bun. She looked so perfect and beautiful that Rosie felt ashamed of herself.

Having heard Rosie bring the pair of boots over, Corinne went over to try them, but sure enough, the boots were too big for her.

She took them off and gave them back to Rosie. “Thank you, but it’s too big for me. I’m just going to wear my sports shoes.”

Rosie smiled helplessly. “Yeah, I guess that’s that.”

Since Corinne had changed, she and Annie left the changing room first. Rosie told them she needed to use the washroom and told them not to wait for her.

At the outdoor resting area, Jeremy was talking with Zeke and the others under the parasol.

Zeke was the first to see Corinne walking out of the changing room. He was stunned by her new look and nudged at Jeremy, tilting his chin in her direction.

Jeremy looked up, glanced over faintly, and felt like an arrow had pierced right through his heart.

He felt like Corinne was shining with splendor as she stood in the red equestrian clothing. He knew how beautiful Corinne was, yet she somehow surprised him again.

She looked more mature and feminine in the equestrian clothing as compared to how she usually looked when she wore her casual clothing.

One sentence to sum it up-she looked extremely beautiful. Just then, a terrible scream came out of the changing room.
