

The Ex-Husband's Revenge By Dragonsky

Chapter 1918

Chapter 1918

After leaving the Golans Mansion, Leon and Iris arrived where Leon parked his car and drove off to save Snow.

"Leon, it's already been some time since Snow was captured! By the time we get there, it might be too late! You should call Mister Hughes to get his help. Maybe he can get Snow out!" Iris said worriedly.

"Yeah! You're right. I almost forgot!" Realization dawned on Leon.

They were currently near the Golans Mansion, which was a distance from the Hughes Mansion.

By the time they arrived, Snow might have already suffered a horrible fate.

Darius was the eldest son of Hughes and Gordon's brother-in-law. If Darius was willing to offer help, they might be able to save Snow from danger much sooner.

Leon immediately took out his phone to call Darius and briefly explain the situation.

Darius was furious after learning what happened.

The cosmetic products of Elegante Group were swapped a few days ago and he had a hunch that Gordon was involved in it. Hence, he made a point of giving Gordon a stern word of warning, before taking away his power to manage all distribution channels as punishment.

His blood boiled with anger at the realization that not only did Gordon not reflect on his mistakes, but his action also escalated to kidnapping Snow.

Afterward, Darius promised to rescue Snow in time and make everything right with Leon.

After the call ended, Leon instantly recalled Yuri. "Oh, that's right. Yuri!"

He mistakenly thought that Iris and Snow were kidnapped by Joel and asked for Yuri's help to confront the Hiltons.

Since Joel did not seem to be involved, Leon had to contact Yuri right away to prevent any unnecessary conflict between the Hiltons and the Thompsons.

He immediately gave Yuri a call to explain the situation, before following the trail of Soul Searcher to rescue Snow, all the while praying that Darius would succeed in finding Snow.

If something bad happened to Snow, Leon swore that he would tear Gordon to shreds.

Meanwhile, in the Golans Mansion.

Once Leon escaped, John no longer needed to fight the Golans and forced them to back away, before jumping into the car with Roanne and driving off into the distance.

"Damn it!" Eliam was livid as he watched the car disappear into the distance.

However, Roanne was not someone that the Golans could afford to cross, and since John was almost in the Almighty State, no one in the Golans could defeat John at the moment, so Eliam had no choice but to let them leave.

"Grandpa, Leon broke my legs and destroyed my power. You have to avenge me!" Seth wailed in agony, his eyes filled with resentment and the urge to tear Leon to shreds.
