

The Ex-Husband's Revenge By Dragonsky

Chapter 2006

Chapter 2006

In the inner courtyard, Leon, Elder Tidderton, and the others arrived to find dozens of bodies in blood; some were beheaded and some died with their eyes wide open.

"Damn you, the Poisonwielder!"

"The Tiddertons won't forget this!"

Elder Tidderton and the other elders widened their eyes in rage at the gory scene.

Since they were in the inner courtyard of Tiddertons Mansion, the martial artists killed by the Poisonwielder were mostly members of the Tiddertons family and were all related to Elder Tidderton and the other elders in some way.

They could barely contain their rage when they saw how their kin died horribly at the hands of the Poisonwielder.

"Elder Tidderton, my condolences," Fletcher sighed.

All members of the western region of Dragon Corps had a dark looks on their faces.

"Fletcher, not only has the Poisonwielder come into my house to kill my family, he took my grandson! If I'm not mistaken, he shouldn't have gone far! Please send your men after him to save my grandson," Elder Tidderton suppressed his anger and sought the Dragon Corps' help when he recalled that his grandson was taken.

The Tiddertons were not the most influential family in the area and the strongest martial artist in their family was only in the Semi-Almighty State, which was a far cry from the Poisonwielder's power level.

On top of that, the Poisonwielder was ruthless and a poison expert.

With the resources available to the Tiddertons, they would never be able to save the hostage from the Poisonwielder on their own even if they tried, so they could only rest their hope on the Dragon Corps.

"Yeah, you are right!" Fletcher snapped out of it and turned to Leon. 'Mister Wolf, our two teams should split up and ambush the Poisonwielder before he gets too far! Since he dared to show himself, we should take the opportunity to eliminate him once and for all!" He said with determination.

The western region Dragon Corpse sent two Platinum Dragon Guards with one being Fletcher and the other being the old man in grey next to him, called Randall Olford.

Despite sending someone as inexperienced as Leon, the southern region branch sent over Scott, who was also in the Almighty State, which meant that there were three Almighty martial artists on their end.

Along with the support of a dozen more Gold Dragon Guards in the Peak Emperor and Semi-Almighty States, it should not be difficult for them to defeat the Poisonwielder.

So long as they managed to catch up to the Poisonwielder, they would be able to surround him, saving Elder Tidderton's grandson while effectively eliminating the Poisonwielder.

However, the situation took an unexpected turn despite what Fletcher and Elder Tidderton thought.

"No! We can't go after him!" Leon shook his head and rejected Fletcher's plan.
