

An Understated Dominance

Chapter 2476

Once hit, although he wouldn't die on the spot, he'd be paralyzed and unable to move.

For a master, even a moment of restraint could be fatal.

"Everyone, I'm so sorry. My friend is new here and doesn't know the rules. Please forgive us," Father Adam stepped forward and nodded in apology to Orion Foster and the others.

"Forget it this time. It won't happen again," Orion Foster said, expressionless.

"Understood," Father Adam smiled and nodded.

Though Bill Wolf behind Adam said nothing, the fierce light in his eyes was undeniable.

He had made up his mind to torture whoever he faced in the ring to vent his hatred.

"All 32 contestants are here. Now, let's draw lots to decide the order of the competition."

Orion Foster glanced at the ring.

Seeing that everyone was present, he gestured for someone to bring a black wooden box.

The box was sealed all around, with only a bowl-sized hole on top.

"There are 32 numbered balls in this box. All contestants will draw one."

Orion Foster looked around and said loudly, "The contestant who draws number 1 will compete with the contestant who draws number 32; the contestant who draws number 2 will compete with the contestant who draws number 31; the contestant who draws number 3 will compete with the contestant who draws number 30, and so on. The outcome depends on luck and cannot be changed. If cheating is found, the contestant will be immediately disqualified! Now, the draw officially begins!"

"Let me go first!"

As soon as Orion Foster finished speaking, Eduardo stepped forward, reached into the black box, and began to feel around.

After a few seconds, he took out a transparent glass ball from the box.

In the middle of the glass ball was a white metal piece the size of a coin, engraved with the number “3.”

“It seems my luck isn’t bad; I’ll be in the third match.”

Eduardo raised the glass ball, clearly displaying the number inside to everyone.

The earlier the battle, the more advantageous it was for some contestants.

Since today was the round of 32 to 8, the first round would decide the top 16, and the second round would decide the top 8.

In other words, to stand out, they had to play at least two matches.

If the first match started early, then by the time of the second match, there would be ample time to recover strength.

Conversely, if the first match was late, they might not have time to rest and would have to continue straight into the second match.

For warriors of the same realm, winning often depended on their state.

One side full of energy and the other exhausted would naturally give the former a higher chance of victory.

Therefore, the order and result of the draw could greatly affect the game’s outcome.
