

Chapter 1215 Betrayal

In the car, Bess' eyes were focused on the person in the driver's seat.

Feeling Bess's gaze, Trevor felt uncomfortable and coughed.

Bess asked softly, "Why did you pretend to be injured? I really want to know. By the way, how was my acting just now? It was flawless, right?"

Trevor gave her a warm smile and nodded. He said sincerely, "No wonder you are a professional actress. It was simply wonderful. I'm more confident in our upcoming movie now."

Bess smiled timidly and said, "Don't try to change the topic. Tell me why you pretended to be injured!"

Trevor had a mysterious smile. "That is a secret. You'll know everything when the meeting of the Murray family is held."

However, Bess wasn't willing to give up. She really wanted to satisfy her curiosity.

But no matter how hard she tried to bring Trevor to tell her what he had in mind, he kept his mouth shut and just smiled.

Bess thought hard but she couldn't figure out how pretending to be hurt in front of a police officer would have anything to do with meeting the Murray family.

After long minutes of fruitless reflection, Bess had no choice but to pout and agree to wait until the Murray family's meeting to satisfy her curiosity.

A few days later, the meeting of the Murray family was held as scheduled.

The meeting was to take place in a large gym. Many high-end utility vehicles drove to the venue.

Trevor had no trouble spotting Asho and Bess once he got there.

Today, Asho was wearing a rather formal suit, and he looked serious. When Trevor walked over to them, Asho said in earnest, "Dragon, my daughter and I are counting on you today. All we need to do is to win one battle. Then, we won't have to worry about being kicked out of the Murray family."

Trevor raised a brow and said nothing.

In his eyes, things were unlikely to be as simple as Asho thought.

However, Trevor chose to keep his thoughts to himself. He just looked at Asho and said calmly, "Don't worry. I can handle it."

Bess clenched her fists and said in a low voice, "Dragon, good luck!"

There was still a trace of curiosity in her eyes.

Finally, the three of them walked into the gym.

The gym had changed a lot from last time.

The battle ring was surrounded by an iron cage.

"Asho! Why are you so late?"

A thin middle-aged man walked over to them and stood beside Asho.

He asked anxiously, "Where is the fighter you invited?"

Trevor raised a brow and peered at the man in front of them.

"Dragon, this is my younger brother, Asher," Asho said. "Asher, this is Dragon, the fighter who will represent us in the battle. For others, he is my daughter's boyfriend."

Asher glanced at Trevor intently and couldn't help but frown.

"You mean this young man will fight for us? Asho, are you out of your mind? He's too young and doesn't look really strong. How could he defeat his opponent? I heard Aldwin spent a lot of money to get an underground boxing champ to fight for him today!"

Hearing his brother criticize Trevor, Asho frowned and shouted coldly, "Asher, watch your tongue!"

Meanwhile, Trevor didn't say anything and just folded his arms.

He felt it would be inappropriate for him to get involved in Asho's family business.

Asher was really anxious about the outcome of the fight today. He gritted his teeth and scolded his brother. "Asho, you're too anxious to make the right decision! I was wrong to let you find the fighter. Now we are doomed! There's no doubt we will be kicked out of the Murray family!"

At this point, Bess couldn't stand her uncle's rudeness anymore. She snapped, "Uncle Asher, you're going too far!"

Asher just glanced disdainfully at Bess and said nothing.

When he turned around, he happened to see Aldwin and Ken walk into the gym with their heads held high.

At this moment, a thought occurred to Asher. He ran to them and said fawningly, "Aldwin, Ken, you're here. I've been waiting for you for a long time!"

Trevor was stunned.

What just happened? Did Asher just betray his own family?

Asher, Ken and Aldwin began to talk and laugh happily. Asher's flattery made Ken and Aldwin more arrogant.

Laughing loudly, Aldwin strode over and said, "Asho, how about reconsidering your decision about my marriage to Bess? Even your brother supports me."
