

Chapter 1224 A Suspicious Person

"Achoo!"

Trevor suddenly sneezed. He rubbed his nose. Of course, he had no idea about Edlin's immense hatred.

And even if he knew, he would just probably laugh it off.

After parting with Bess, Trevor drove to the base of the Klein branch.

He drove his modified car around the streets for three blocks. After confirming there was no suspicious person following him, he entered the base.

"Dragon, you're here."

It was John who first saw and greeted Trevor. He looked at Trevor with admiration.

Trevor nodded at him with a smile. "I'm here to see Jasmine. I have some information for her."

When they used the code name, it was related to Klein's internal work.

John didn't dare to neglect Trevor's request. He quickly took Trevor to Margaret.

As soon as Trevor faced Margaret, he narrated what he saw and heard during the meeting with the Murray family at the gym today.

When he was finished, he frowned and concluded, "But it's a pity that Ferrell Murray, the head of the Murray family, didn't show up. And I also didn't find any suspected members of Mobius at the scene."

Trevor thought for a while. Then he added, "But it was still rewarding because I gained something. I have confirmed that Edlin Pierce is constantly delivering information to the Murray family, and I have verified it with fake information."

Margaret smiled at him. "Great! At least we found a traitor. It's already equivalent to knowing their information channel. Maybe at some point, it can play a significant role in the future. By the way, I also want to share some good news with you."

Trevor raised his eyebrows. He was all ears.

Margaret said, "Ferrell didn't mean to miss the meeting."

"He had a reason?" Trevor asked, grinning.

He had been feeling strange about Ferrell's absence.

After all, it was a family meeting, and the most crucial part was the expulsion of the direct descendant of the Murray family.

As the head of the Murray family, it was really strange that Ferrell was absent.

Margaret nodded, confirming Trevor's guess. Then she continued, "According to our investigation, Ferrell went to Thiegor Hotel at nine o'clock this morning to entertain a mysterious guest. But this hotel is owned by the Murray family, so it's not convenient for us to conduct further investigation. What we only found out was this mysterious guest checked in at Thiegor Hotel."

Trevor couldn't help sighing.

Sure enough, working in groups was more efficient. It was much more convenient for a team to do things than alone. They could get new information so soon.

After thinking for a while, Trevor touched his chin and asked tentatively, "Is the mysterious guest from Mobius?"

Margaret shook her head.

"I personally suspect that he is from Mobius. However, as an intelligence officer, I have to tell you seriously that it is only a possibility. He must have disguised himself, so our data bank couldn't find any information

"I want to apply for this investigation," Trevor said without hesitation.

That mysterious guest must be very important because he was able to make Ferrell absent from a significant family gathering just to entertain him.

This person was very likely a member of Mobius.

At the thought of this, Trevor felt a flame burning in his heart.

His father and grandfather were still missing. Luisa and Evie had to hide.

Trevor couldn't wait to find clues about Mobius and save his family and girlfriend as soon as possible.

And there was also his mother.

Trevor was stunned when he suddenly thought of his mother. He remembered that Ronald mentioned his mother to him that night when they were attacked in Dreles.

Now that the suspicious clue of Mobius was close at hand, how could he not be anxious?

Margaret thought for a while. Then she said, "Okay, I'll entrust this mission to you. I'll report it to the headquarters. If you need any support, let me know."

Trevor smiled. "Okay. I'll go to the hotel to gather more information first."

He immediately set off. But his first stop was not Thiegor Hotel, but his apartment.

When Trevor was still in Barlowtown, he was the owner of Sky Film and Television Company. Of course, he had some high-end custom-made suits.

He changed into one of the custom-made suits and found a high-end handbag.

Trevor stroked the edge of his simulation mask and squinted slightly.

Thiegor Hotel was a five-star hotel. If he wanted to get in perfectly, he naturally needed to dress up properly. The least he wanted was to arouse suspicion.
