Chapter 1180 Defeating The Demon

Liam managed to keep his excitement in check as he continued sapping the life force from the Demon.

As the life-draining power intensified, the vines that had entwined him withered away instantly.

It was clear the Demon was no longer exerting control over them.

Liam puzzled over the demon's decision to relinquish the vines. Was it a sign of its surrender?

His theory seemed valid when the hulking Demon struck a humorous pose of surrender and began to beg Liam for mercy.

"I was wrong! Please, just stop and let me live! You've already taken so much of my Heart of Life shard, much more than when you first arrived. Can't we just call it even and go our separate ways peacefully?"

Liam arched his eyebrow in surprise.

The voice of the once-formidable Demon sounded youthful, almost childlike, as if it were merely an immature spirit.

Despite this, Liam maintained his resolve, his expression unwavering as he declared, "I need to absorb all of the energy from your Heart of Life shard today! Without them, I cannot settle my grievances!"

Liam's words were mostly for intimidation. He was aware that his body might not withstand the absorption of too much energy of the Heart of Life shard.

However, the Demon was oblivious to this and was visibly shaken by Liam's declaration, collapsing to the ground.

It was then that Liam noticed something akin to a green flame zipping along the ground.

Realization dawned on him.

That was the Demon's true form!

Liam couldn't allow it to escape. With swift reaction, he lunged for it.

Propelled by his Lightning Wings, he outpaced the fleeing Demon and swiftly captured it.

Clutching the small creature, Liam felt a surprising surge of energy from the Heart of Life shard it radiated.

Just then, the Heart of Life shard within Liam pulsed with an intense yearning as if pleading with him to devour the creature.

Despite his apprehensions about the overwhelming power, Liam was swayed by the Heart of Life shard's craving.

Holding the Demon creature firmly, he was ready to consume it.

At that moment, the Demon creature suddenly said, "Wait! Don't eat me! I'll merge with you willingly and handle all the Heart of Life shards for you! If you eat me, I'll be dead. I don't want to die! Please..."

As it made its plea, the creature began to sob loudly.

Observing this, Liam felt resigned.

He hadn't expected the Demon to reveal such a vulnerable side.

Despite this, Liam remained unmoved by its cries for mercy. That said, he refrained from devouring it.

Looking down at the trembling creature, which gazed back at him with sheer terror, Liam arched an eyebrow and asked, "You want to merge with me? What will I gain from that? Convince me! If your argument holds up, maybe I'll spare you, little one!"
