

Chapter 1261 Sword Array

Seeing the spark beast ready to attack, the Gibson siblings' expressions turned serious.

They had previously battled this formidable creature and knew well its fearsome capabilities.

Without hesitation, Shiloh and Trudy retrieved the plate and activated it.

Simultaneously, intricate lines formed on the ground around them, outlining a magical circle.

"Liam!" Shiloh said quickly. "Get ready. You're in charge of one position in the magical circle. Stick to the plan!"

Once Shiloh fully activated the magical circle, a complex sword array with devastating power emerged.

As the sword array activated, three distinct positions materialized.

Upon hearing Shiloh's command, Liam quickly took his designated position and channeled his primogem energy and spiritual power into it.

Together, the trio infused their primogem energy and spiritual power into the magical circle, bringing it to life.

The massive sword array began to hum with power.

At its heart, a colossal sword, several hundred meters in length, materialized, radiating a force almost equivalent to that of a Primogem Expert according to Liam's assessment.

As the giant sword appeared, Shiloh's face brightened with joy. He skillfully manipulated the sword array, unleashing a ground-shaking slash at the spark beast a hundred meters away.

The slash tore through the ground beneath, sending a powerful aura slicing through the air.

The aura struck the spark beast with incredible speed, slicing through its body.

The spark beast let out a painful scream.

With just a single strike, the spark beast was gravely wounded.

This formidable attack had drained a significant amount of energy from Liam and the siblings.

Despite the exhaustion, the outcome was worth their effort.

The spark beast was severely wounded by the attack, fear flickering in its eyes.

Yet, Shiloh didn't pause. He relentlessly launched the second and third attacks.

With these successive strikes, the spark beast emitted a feeble growl, its fiery aura growing dimmer.

After the three powerful attacks, the creature was on the brink of death.

Having successfully subdued the beast, Shiloh deactivated his sword array.

However, he had become weak because he had used the sword array three times in a row.

As the controller of the sword array, Shiloh's own primogem energy and spiritual power had been significantly depleted.

Trudy was in better shape, though still not at her best.

Liam, on the other hand, appeared unaffected as if nothing had occurred.

The reason Liam could maintain his strength was due to the purity of his primogem energy and spiritual power.

More importantly, Liam harbored two World Powers within his body, which continuously replenished his primogem energy, keeping him at peak condition.

Observing Liam's state, Shiloh was surprised. He quickly realized there was something exceptional about Liam and was visibly impressed.

He now believed Liam's strength was likely far greater than it seemed.

With this in mind, Shiloh approached Liam with renewed respect and said, "Liam, could you retrieve the spark metal? Both Trudy and I are not in good shape. We can only ask you to do that."
