

Chapter 1296 Easily Defeated

Caden had dispatched Myriad to safeguard Liam, yet no one had anticipated the presence of a formidable Blood Clan Primogem Emperor.

Liam watched in sorrow as Myriad, his protector, was mercilessly killed by the Blood Clan Primogem Emperor, leaving nothing behind.

He knew this powerful protector must have been sent by Caden.

But he hadn't expected that he would get Myriad killed.

With Myriad gone, the Blood Clan Primogem Emperor turned his malevolent gaze toward Liam.

Approaching with a sinister grin, he sneered, "You've offended our Blood Clan. Death is now certain for you!"

Steeled with resolve, Liam braced himself for what was to come.

Overmatched by the Blood Clan Primogem Emperor, Liam felt as vulnerable as a fledgling before a predator.

Yet, he didn't give up.

He had already alerted Caden, who was surely on his way here.

To survive, Liam had to hold on until Caden's arrival.

Images of Julie and Asher flashed in his mind.

With a heavy heart, Liam muttered, "I must not die here! Without me, who will save Julie and Asher? I cannot die!"

Fuelled by a desperate will to live, Liam roared defiantly.

He summoned all his special powers and law powers and channeled them into the sword of darkness.

Then, he drew upon the three World Powers within him.

The sword of darkness' aura blazed, reaching heights of power Liam had never before achieved.

Against any Primogem Expert, his attack would be devastating.

But he was now facing the Blood Clan Primogem Emperor.

Regardless of the strength of his strike, it was ineffective against this formidable enemy.

His formidable strike was easily parried by the Primogem Emperor.

Despite his efforts, Liam was powerless against the Blood Clan Primogem Emperor.

Meanwhile, Caden and Christos were hastening to Liam's aid.

Yet, they were far from the No.108 planetary system, leaving Liam to face the Blood Clan Primogem Emperor alone for a while.

Although Liam had expected this, he was still stunned by how effortlessly his attack had been thwarted.

Liam knew his only option now was to delay.

Without hesitation, he turned and fled.

But his speed was no match for the Primogem Emperor, who appeared instantly before him, delivering a powerful blow.

Liam felt his bones crack, his life force waning rapidly.

Though the fragment of the Heart of Life within him fought to save him, it couldn't withstand the attack from the Primogem Emperor.

Even the World Power within him lay dormant.

Liam was out of options.

As darkness clouded his vision and despair seized his heart, he feared this might truly be the end for him.

Chapter 1297 A Timely Arrival

In an instant, the Blood Clan Primogem Emperor materialized before Liam, unleashing a devastating strike.

Liam's bronze-transformed body and Mortal-grade armor provided scant resistance against the fierce attack. His defenses shattered instantly as the massive force struck his chest, threatening to rip apart his internal organs.

At this dire moment, Emer sprang into action.

It released the life force it had accumulated over the years, reigniting the energy within the fragment of the Heart of Life.

Together, Emer and the fragment of the Heart of Life infused Liam's body with renewed vitality, keeping him alive.

"Master... From here on, you need to rely on yourself. My energy is depleted. I need to rest for a long time..."

Emer's voice was a faint echo in Liam's mind.

Then, its form dissolved into a pool of emerald liquid, settling quietly inside Liam.

The energy from the Heart of Life fragment was also nearly exhausted, rendering Liam unable to tap into its power for at least a long time.

Despite the ache in his heart, Liam felt a flicker of relief.

Emer was merely resting, not gone forever—there was still hope for its revival.

But before he could contemplate further, overwhelming fatigue enveloped him.

Drained of his primogem energy and strength, his battered body succumbed, and he slipped into a comatose state, losing all consciousness.

Observing Liam teetering on the brink of death, the Blood Clan Primogem Emperor allowed a cruel smile to curl his lips.

In fact, he was somewhat shocked.

Despite his multiple attacks, Liam had survived.

But that didn't matter.

Liam's death was inevitable.

The Blood Clan Primogem Emperor's eyes gleamed with murderous intent as he readied another strike, planning a swift escape thereafter.

He had timed it perfectly, confident that Caden would not arrive in time to stop him from killing Liam and fleeing the No.108 planetary system afterward.

However, just as his deadly palm strike was about to hit Liam, a shadowy figure intervened, absorbing the entire attack.

The next second, Christos appeared, radiating intense blood energy.

To rescue Liam, he had expended his own blood essence to hasten his arrival.

The presence of Christos took the Blood Clan Primogem Emperor by surprise.

He had not anticipated that Liam would summon such a formidable ally, who had sacrificed his blood essence to get here.

Panic overwhelmed him, and he turned to flee.

But as he spun around, he was confronted by Caden, who was visibly angry.

Caden's expression was grim, his aura thick with lethal intent.

This was the first time Caden had displayed such a murderous rage.

The talent he had hoped to introduce to the Citadel Guardian had nearly been killed by this Primogem Emperor from the Blood Clan.

"You've got some nerve! How dare you touch him? You're dead!"

Caden's voice was icy, his anger palpable.

The Blood Clan Primogem Emperor, stricken with fear, tried to open his mouth to plead, but Caden seized his arm in a vice-like grip.

With a brutal twist, Caden ripped his arm off.

"Ah! No! Spare me!"

The Blood Clan Primogem Emperor's screams went unanswered as Caden continued his relentless assault.

The once-cocky Primogem Emperor of the Blood Clan had no opportunity to fight against Caden's overwhelming fury.

Soon, the Blood Clan Primogem Emperor was killed by Caden.

