

Chapter 1347

Comprehending The Law...

Liam recognized the immense opportunity presented by the fact that the law power of death was choosing him.

He wasn't about to let such a golden opportunity slip away.

Without a second thought, Liam seized the moment and forged a connection with the law power of death, desperate to understand its essence.

The instant Liam linked with the law power of death, a suffocating aura of death washed over his spiritual world.

The oppressive aura brought back chilling memories of his near-death encounter with the Blood Clan's Primogem Emperor.

To make matters worse, Liam felt like a swarm of venomous snakes and scorpions had infested his body, tearing at his organs and meridians with relentless savagery.

This experience showed Liam just how terrifying the law power of death could be. No wonder many people were scared out of their wits of its backlash—it would be horrifying!

But Liam wasn't quitting. He knew how crucial the law power of death was for people heading into wars.

He knew he had to get past this to even scratch the surface of mastering the law power of death. If he couldn't handle this, he could forget about truly understanding it.

The thought of Julie and Asher, still prisoners of the Blood Clan, fueled Liam's anger. He channeled his pain into pure rage, gritting his teeth and pushing through.

Thankfully, Liam had the Malicious Aura Domain. Even though his spiritual power was affected, the Malicious Aura Domain's unique abilities acted like a shield, keeping the death aura from affecting him deeply...

Hours ticked by, and Liam was running on fumes. His body ached, and his spiritual power was almost gone.

He hadn't expected the law power of death to be this formidable.

The worst part was, he knew that his Malicious Aura Domain was flickering out. It was getting harder for him to keep the law power of death at bay now.

If he kept pushing, he would get nowhere and might even end up completely affected by the law power of death!

Just as Liam was about to throw in the towel and pull back his spiritual power, the law power of death made its move. It seemed like it had chosen him as its host.

He was about to turn his focus to learning the law power of the fire element when a thread of the law power of death shot up his arm and got into his body.

Liam was shocked. If he didn't feel that new, gray aura inside him—the mark of the law power of death—he would think he was dreaming.

Without even trying, he had comprehended the power successfully and even mastered 1% of the law power of death!

The law power of death settled down inside him, and Liam snapped out of his daze. He quickly checked his law power vortex.

It was true; an additional grey aura, representing the law power of death, now existed inside the vortex.

Liam thought back to his journey towards understanding the law power of death. He couldn't help but chuckle, shaking his head. It was almost absurd.

The law power of death, a force others clamored for and struggled tirelessly to grasp, had practically thrown itself at him, merging with his very being at the moment he was about to give up.

If this ever got out, Liam knew it would drive countless cultivators mad with jealousy.
