

Chapter 1322 The Gold Devourer

Of course, while this mission offered a rare opportunity, it also entailed significant risks.

The mission site was swarming with formidable creatures known as the Gold Devourers.

These creatures fed on Feathered Gold, precisely the item Liam needed to retrieve to complete his mission.

Gold Devourers were notoriously powerful and aggressive, known for attacking anything in their path.

Most Gold Devourers had strength at the peak level of a Primogem Expert, and many were at the Primogem King level as well.

Liam hadn't expected that there were so many Gold Devourers with the strength of Primogem Kings at the mission site.

Liam's brows furrowed slightly.

With his current capabilities, facing a Primogem King-level Gold Devourer could result in an unpredictable outcome.

This would be Liam's first encounter with an adversary at Primogem King level, and he was uncertain of the disparity between a Primogem Expert and a Primogem King.

Nonetheless, enemies at the Primogem King level did not have the ability to block his use of a teleportation array for escape.

Thus, if he found himself unable to contend with a Gold Devourer at the Primogem King level, he could still evade the confrontation.

With this reassurance, Liam decided to proceed with the mission.

Although Chad and Everett were both at the seventh stage of Primogem King, Liam preferred not to have them deal with the Gold Devourers for him.

He suspected that Chad and Everett's offer to join him in his journey might have been prompted by Caden or Christos.

Yet, he was determined to rely solely on his own strength to complete this mission. For him, this was not only a mission but also a test of his own capabilities.

Understanding the gap between Primogem Expert and Primogem King was crucial to him; failing to do so would make his future encounters with enemies at the Primogem King level far more challenging.

After accepting the mission, Liam turned to Chad and Everett, stating, "I've accepted the mission."

Upon hearing this, Chad and Everett leaned closer to see the name of Liam's mission before they also stepped up to the machine to accept the same task.

"The Gold Devourers are formidable, Liam. You need to be cautious," Chad advised earnestly after accepting the mission.

Liam nodded, acknowledging the seriousness of the challenge. He even considered that simply giving his best might not be enough.

The trio used the mission teleportation array to travel to the mission site.

The destination for finding Feathered Gold was located in the area beyond the No. 75 planetary system. There was an entrance to a secret realm in that area. The secret realm was also the lair of the Gold Devourers.

Upon realizing the mission site was near the No. 75 planetary system, Liam thought of Arthur and Cecil.

Their family, the Vaughn family, lived in the No. 75 planetary system.

Liam pondered the possibility of encountering Cecil during this mission.

Chapter 1323 Entering The Secret Realm

Liam and his companions reached the secret realm of Feathered Gold.

Upon arrival, Liam surveyed the surroundings.

All around, a vast expanse of yellow sand stretched endlessly, devoid of any vegetation, casting a desolate aura over the area.

It was evident that, aside from the Gold Devourers, no other life forms inhabited this secret realm.

Liam remained vigilant, his gaze sweeping the area for any unexpected movements.

Chad's demeanor grew serious as he turned to Liam and said, "I've visited this secret realm before. Liam, don't underestimate the Gold Devourers when you face them. Their defenses are formidable, and their strength is immense. Fighting above their level is easy for them!"

Everett added, "He's right. Despite Chad's usual recklessness, I agree with him on this matter. The Gold Devourers' strength should not be taken lightly. These creatures are incredibly powerful!"

Heeding the warnings from both Chad and Everett, Liam knew he could not underestimate the Gold Devourers.

Together, the trio ventured deeper into the secret realm.

It wasn't long before Liam encountered a Gold Devourer.

The creature, entirely golden, lived up to its name. It radiated a fierce, murderous aura.

This particular Gold Devourer, at the eighth stage of the Primogem Expert level, opened its massive jaws and roared at Liam.

Liam tensed up immediately, bracing for the creature's next step.

In an instant, the Gold Devourer lunged at Liam, its aura intensifying as if it aimed to tear Liam apart.

Chad and Everett didn't intervene, just watching the scene nearby. They were curious to see how much Liam had improved.

They were not concerned about Liam facing any danger at the hands of the Gold Devourer, given their presence as powerful seventh-stage Primogem Kings.

With them watching, Liam was in no real danger unless a Gold Devourer at the Primogem Emperor level appeared.

Liam didn't want Chad's and Everett's help as well. He was fueled by a surge of fighting spirit now.

He harnessed the law power of the earth element to create a gravity field three hundred times stronger than normal, which helped bridge the gap in strength between him and the Gold Devourer.

Despite his efforts to slow the beast's onslaught with all his might, Liam was still forcefully struck, feeling the impact as if hit by a meteor. The collision left him gasping for air and in severe pain as he staggered back.

Astonished, Liam realized that even after utilizing two law powers, he was unable to avoid the beast's attack or gain any upper hand.

At that moment, he truly understood the formidable nature of the Gold Devourers.

These creatures, famed for their diet of the Feathered Gold, certainly lived up to their daunting reputation.
