

Chapter 1337 The Gains From His Seclusion

Twenty full days had passed since Liam's seclusion began.

Completely absorbed in the seclusion, Liam's only sign of life was his serene breathing. If not for that, anyone seeing him might have assumed he was dead.

Finally, after twenty long days, Liam slowly opened his eyes.

A flash of brilliance momentarily illuminated his gaze, lending him an almost divine aura.

As he awakened, an imposing presence filled the secluded chamber, radiating outward like a tidal wave.

His twenty-day seclusion had yielded great results. Liam had grasped 3% of the metal law power and 1% of the water law power.

Additionally, his previously mastered earth law power had advanced to 5%.

This progress propelled him to the fifth-stage Primogem Expert level.

Liam exhaled a long, relieving breath.

He was incredibly close to mastering the law power of the five elements.

Now, he only needed to comprehend the law power of wood and fire to attempt the fusion of the law power of the five elements.

That would significantly elevate his power.

Calming his mind, Liam delved into a deep understanding of his newly acquired metal law power and water law power.

The metal law power could enhance his attacks, increase his weapon's destructive power, and bolster his defense, though not as effectively as the earth law power could.

The water law power, with its unique gentle strength, could slow down his opponents' attacks. It could also provide him with a slight life force, akin to a weakened Heart of Life fragment.

While these abilities might seem modest, Liam understood that there were no weak law powers, only weak practitioners.

With sufficient power, even a soft leaf could become a deadly weapon.

Pushing aside distractions, Liam focused on planning his next steps.

Despite his progress, he wasn't satisfied.

His goal was to reach the Primogem King level quickly. Only then could he seek mentorship from the City Lord and gain clearance from Caden to leave the Human Clan's territory to look for the Heart of Life fragments.

Determination hardening his eyes, Liam checked his remaining special points.

With five thousand left, he decided to convert them into fifty days of training in the Sea of Laws.

However, just then, a new email notification from Cecil

As Liam read it, his eyes widened, and his breath hitched.

Cecil informed him he had discovered a powerful life force in a special planetary system, possibly indicating the presence of a Heart of Life fragment Liam needed.

After Liam finished reading the email, a flicker of surprise crossed his face.

After all, only the Heart of Life fragment could generate such a powerful life force. It was highly likely Cecil had indeed found a fragment.

Excited by this prospect, Liam contacted Cecil immediately, learning that Cecil was in the No. 69 planetary system. Without wasting a moment, Liam boarded the Stellar Cruiser and set off.
