

Chapter 791

After the farce ended, neither Jacob nor Elaine benefited from it at all.

All that Elaine wanted was money, but she didn't even get anything in the end. Therefore, she could not help but feel a little depressed the entire day.

After the family of four returned home from the villa, they started packing up all of their own belongings. Claire also did not forget to call Loreen to inform her that they would be moving into the villa tomorrow. She had asked Loreen to check out of the hotel and move into the villa together with them.

Loreen was very happy when she heard the news.

Ever since she fell in love with Charlie, she had always been looking for various opportunities to try to get to know Charlie better. However, she had been very busy with her own work and she also had to take Claire's feelings into consideration. Therefore, she did not have any opportunities to spend more time with Charlie at all.

If she could move into the villa and live with Charlie and Claire, then she would naturally have more opportunities to spend time with Charlie.

Therefore, she hurriedly agreed to move into the villa with them without any hesitation at all.

As Charlie and his family were busy packing their belongings, the Wilson family was in utter chaos.

After selling the sofa set and returning from the villa at Thompson First, Christopher was very dissatisfied with his own mother.

It seemed as though Lady Wilson had been trying to look for an opportunity to move into Charlie's villa and this incident really hurt Christopher.

It made him realize that the old lady was not really biased towards him.

She had always been biased towards him in the past because she was simply considering her own interests. When it seemed as though things were more favorable with his brother, Jacob, the old lady was more than willing to abandon him in preference of Jacob.

Therefore, as soon as he got home, Christopher had asked Lady Wilson to transfer the one million two hundred and ten thousand dollars from the sale of the sofa set over to him.

He felt that the old lady would easily abandon him and his family at any time. Therefore, he decided that he would have to make plans for himself. He should at least try to transfer the money over to him first.

Otherwise, what else could he count on if the old lady decided to turn her back on them?

His son, Harold, was nothing but a useless person. When the Wilson family had been doing fine in the past, it was completely okay for him to be a second-generation rich kid who only knew how to eat and enjoy life. However, now that the Wilson family was in a slump, Christopher knew that it was completely impossible for him to count on his own son to make any progress or money for the family at all.

His daughter, Wendy was also a gone case. She had been so spoiled her entire life and she could not even cook at all. Furthermore, there was no one in Aurous Hill who had not heard of Wendy's scandals and involvement with Kenneth Wilson and Jeffrey Weaver. It was very difficult for Christopher to find any men who would be willing to marry Wendy.

At this time, Christopher told Lady Wilson, "Mom, you're the legal representative and person-in-charge of Wilson Group. If you keep the money in your bank account, it will definitely be frozen by the bank!"

Lady Wilson did not agree with him. She simply replied, "The money that we got from selling the sofa set was meant to be used to repay the bank loans anyway."

Lady Wilson did not want Wilson Group to go bankrupt and be liquidated. This was because she knew that her life would be completely over once Wilson Group was declared bankrupt.

She was indeed the legal representative and face of Wilson Group. If she refused to repay the bank when she had money on her hands, the bank would not only seal up and repossess her house but would also sue and arrest her!

If that was the case, she would be the only person who would be unlucky enough to spend time in prison!

Therefore, Lady Wilson insisted on repaying the minimum amount to the bank first. At the same time, she had also planned to liaise with the bank account manager to grant them a grace period.

As soon as Christopher heard her words, he exploded and blurted out, “Mom, we’re almost out of money to sustain the family! It had been so difficult for us to finally raise a little more than a million dollars. If you decide to give it all to the bank, then what are we going to eat and drink?”

Chapter 792

Lady Wilson snorted coldly before she said, “If I don’t repay the bank that money, I will be taken away and locked up in prison directly! Don’t forget that I am the corporate legal representative for Wilson Group! I am also the person who will be held responsible for the debts of the company!”

Christopher hurriedly said, “Then you should at least keep one or two hundred thousand dollars for the family so that we can still sustain ourselves for a short while! I can’t even afford to smoke a pack of cigarettes that is fifty dollars now!”

“You still want to smoke cigarettes?” Lady Wilson replied sharply, “It would already be great if you have food to eat and you’re still thinking about smoking?”

Christopher held back the anger that he was feeling and he could not help but sigh as he said, “Mom, I’m already old so I can still tolerate it. However, Harold and Wendy are still young! They have not suffered much in the past so we can’t let them suffer now!”

Lady Wilson snorted coldly, “I don’t care! We can just cut back our spending on food and clothing so that we can overcome all of the difficulties that our family is facing right now!”

Harold and Wendy were both very dissatisfied when they heard Lady Wilson’s words.

Both of them had been spoiled and coddled ever since they were young. They weren’t used to suffering and living so miserably. Ever since Hannah ran away with their family’s money, they had already been living a very tough and miserable life during this period of time.

However, now that Lady Wilson already had some money on hand, she was still very unwilling to spend the money on sustaining the Wilson family. Instead, she was even thinking of cutting down even further on their food and clothing expenses. Was she really trying to kill them?

At this time, Harold hurriedly said, "Grandma, it's easy for you to say that because you're already old and you don't need to eat or drink much. Therefore, it is easy for you to cut down on food. However, how can this be possible for my sister and I? Both of us are not used to this kind of suffering at all. I have already lost a few kilograms after eating less for the past few days!"

"Yes, Grandma!" Wendy said, "The cosmetics that I used to use would cost tens of thousands of dollars. Now, I can only use the most common and generic cosmetic brand, L'Oreal. Now, I don't even have any money to buy any more cosmetics while my bottle of L'Oreal is already running out. Grandma, do you really expect me to use Dabao SOD Honey that costs a few dollars?"

After she was done speaking, Wendy said, "Grandma, I don't care. You have to give me at least twenty thousand dollars so that I can buy a set of La Mer for my face today. Otherwise, my face will really be completely ruined!"

Lady Wilson snorted coldly before she said, "You're already so poor and desperate and you're still dreaming of buying a set of La Mer? Why can't you use Dabao SOD Honey? You're so useless that you can't even grasp onto Kenneth Wilson! If you could've just held tightly onto him, would the Wilson family have ended up in this situation right now?"

Wendy could not help but blurted out, "What has this got to do with me? Charlie was the one who made Kenneth lose his manhood and become an impotent man! I was actually coaxing and pleasing him very well before he lost his manhood! Don't forget that he even gave me five million dollars and he also gave ten million dollars to the Wilson family!"

"So what?" Lady Wilson replied coldly, "Didn't he leave in the end? If you were really capable, you would've been able to make him stay even if he had really lost his manhood! No matter what it is, you failed to do so because you're simply useless!"

Christopher had been holding back his anger but when he heard the old lady speaking ill of his daughter, he could not help but feel a little angry. At this time, he started yelling in frustration, "Mom! Wendy has already followed all of your instructions regarding Kenneth Wilson! How could you push all the blame to her at this time? How could you abandon your benefactor after achieving your own goal?"

Lady Wilson snorted coldly, "You're saying that I am abandoning my benefactor after achieving my goals? Did I really achieve my goals? Everything obviously fell apart before we could even achieve any of our objectives at all! I'm in this state right now all because of her!"

Christopher replied angrily, "Mom, no matter what it is, you can't use all the money to repay the bank loan. We should keep at least two hundred thousand dollars to sustain ourselves and stay alive. Otherwise, you should take out some of the antiques that my dad has left behind and sell it for some money so we can have some money for ourselves. Even if you keep hiding the antiques, you won't even be able to take those things with you when you die anyway!"

"Are you cursing me and hoping that I'll die now?" Lady Wilson was very angry and she said in a cold voice, "Are the three of you trying to go against me now?"

Lady Wilson's voice was very sharp and terrifying.

She really did not expect Christopher, who had always been very obedient to her, to suddenly be so courageous and daring to oppose and confront her directly. Furthermore, he was even brave enough to speak so harshly to her.

At this point, Lady Wilson also realized that her eldest son, grandson, and granddaughter were not really following her because they wanted to.

The three of them were simply parasites that were attaching themselves to her and sucking all the nutrients out of her body!

The more they acted this way, the more she had to hold onto her money and belongings. She would never allow them to succeed and have their way!

Chapter 793

After Lady Wilson and Christopher lashed out at one another, there was an irreparable crack left in both their hearts.

The old lady finally decided to only keep fifty thousand dollars to be used as the living expenses for the family of four. After that, she repaid the rest of the money to the two banks.

After receiving part of the repayment, the person-in-charge of the debt collection department also gave Lady Wilson a lot of face. He decided to give the Wilson family a breather and he extended the repayment period for the Wilson family to gather more money to repay their debts.

Lady Wilson could finally heave a huge sigh of relief.

She was still counting on Wilson Group to turn around and come back to life. She felt as though she would definitely have the opportunity to turn things around as long as she could delay the bankruptcy of Wilson Group.

Perhaps she would be able to wait for the next Kenneth Wilson to come around?

At this time, the Wilson family was indeed facing a great deal of difficulties. However, in the final analysis, they only needed tens of millions of dollars to overcome their crisis. If they could really encounter another big boss such as Kenneth Wilson who had tens of billions of dollars' worth of assets, then they would be able to count on the other party to help Wilson Group. At that time, Lady Wilson would be able to bring the Wilson family back to its former glory.

Compared to Lady Wilson who was filled with longing and expectation, Christopher was very depressed at this time.

The old lady only kept fifty thousand dollars from the money that they had made from the sale of the sofa set. Moreover, she had full control of the fifty thousand dollars.

Christopher was already very broke and desperate and he could barely even afford to buy a pack of cigarettes at the moment.

That night, the old lady only used twenty dollars to buy some groceries for the family. She could only afford to buy a bunch of rotten cabbage and half a catty of pork with that money.

Christopher could not help but feel very miserable and uncomfortable. However, there was nothing else that he could do. He could only endure it as he tried to rack his brains to figure out where the old lady could possibly be hiding all the antiques left behind by his late father.

As the Wilson family was struggling to make ends meet, Claire and her family had already moved into the villa at Thompson First early the next morning.

Since all of their furniture was new, they did not need to move any large items from their old house at all. The four of them simply packed up their own clothing and belongings before they packed up the tableware and all the utensils and equipment in the kitchen. After that, they moved everything to the villa all at one go.

Charlie was in a particularly good mood. This was because as he was tidying up their bedroom, he had deliberately asked Claire if he should bring the bedding that he used to lay on the floor to sleep with him to their new villa.

Claire replied with an embarrassed expression on her face, "Didn't you say that you were going to upgrade yourself? So, why are you still intending to bring that over to the new villa?"

Charlie could not help but feel very excited when he heard Claire's words!

After the truck arrived at the villa at Thompson First, Jacob could not help but raise his hand high up in the air as he was really very happy and overjoyed that they were finally moving into the villa.

After that, the family of four began cleaning up their respective rooms.

Charlie and Claire started to clean up the master bedroom on the second floor and Elaine started to clean up the master bedroom on the third floor while Jacob cleaned up the smaller bedroom on the third floor at this time.

Jacob wanted to separate from Elaine.

Elaine did not bother to coax him or quarrel with him. No matter what it was, she was going to sleep in the master bedroom on the third floor. Jacob could sleep wherever he wanted to. Since Elaine also felt a little upset when she saw Jacob now, she was also very happy to be separated from him.

However, Claire could not help but feel a little uncomfortable at this time.

Even though she had always known that the relationship between her parents has never been very good, both of them had already lived together for more than twenty years. Therefore, she could not help but feel a little uncomfortable now that they were getting separated.

However, Claire also knew that as their daughter, she should not be interfering in their relationship. Therefore, she thought that she should just allow them to separate for a short while so that they could both calm down and think things through.

If they could think things through, then their lives would be much more comfortable in the future.

As Charlie and Claire were packing up, Loreen also arrived at the villa in a cab.

She was only carrying two suitcases and a bag as she did not bring a lot of items here with her. Claire quickly invited Loreen into the villa as she brought her directly to the second floor using the elevator.

As soon as they stepped out of the elevator, Claire yelled, "Charlie, come and help Loreen!"

Chapter 794

Charlie hurried out of the bedroom and he saw Loreen who has especially dressed up today.

Loreen was really dressed very beautifully today. She was wearing a beige windbreaker with a black base sweater inside and she looked very tall and feminine. As for her lower body, Loreen was wearing a woolen short skirt with a pair of leggings that really brought out her long and slender legs. It was really very eye-catching!

As soon as Loreen saw Charlie, she started blushing immediately. She waved her hand slightly at him before she said nervously, "Hello, Charlie! I will have to depend on you to take good care of me in the future!"

Charlie smiled slightly before he nodded and said, "Welcome. Welcome."

Charlie was actually feeling a little helpless.

He knew that Loreen was in love with him.

He would not mind it if she simply confessed her feelings to him. He could simply decline her feelings or turn a blind eye to it.

However, she was moving in and she was going to be living under the same roof as him now. Charlie could not help but feel a little anxious.

Of course, he could not show any abnormal reaction in front of Claire.

Claire pointed at Loreen's two big suitcases before she told Charlie, "Charlie, since you are strong, you should help Loreen to move her suitcases into her bedroom."

"Okay." Charlie nodded slightly before he dragged the two suitcases into Loreen's bedroom.

Loreen followed closely behind him as she felt a warm and sweet feeling in her heart.

In her opinion, she would definitely be able to get closer to Charlie in the near future. She did not mind whether she would be able to end up together with Charlie at the end of the day, for she would already be very satisfied as long as she would be able to get closer to him.

As to whether she would be able to develop a relationship with Charlie would depend entirely on Charlie's relationship with Claire.

If they were both simply married for the sake of it, then she would definitely fight to be together with Charlie. However, if Charlie and Claire were really in love with one another, then she naturally would not have any intentions of stealing her best friend's husband.

Loreen followed behind Charlie as they walked into the bedroom. After looking around the room, she could not help but exclaim in surprise, "Wow. This room is quite big!"

"Yes." Charlie smiled before he said, "The space should be more than enough for you since you'll be living here alone."

Loreen pursed her lips and she nodded slightly. When she saw that Claire did not follow behind them, she hurriedly asked, "How are things between you and Claire lately?"

"Very good," Charlie replied immediately.

“Oh...” Loreen continued asking vaguely, “Are there any changes in your relationship compared to the past?”

Loreen wanted to find out if Charlie and Claire had already achieved a breakthrough in their relationship. However, she could not ask Charlie the question directly and could therefore only try to get some information from him in a vague manner.

Charlie did not think too much and he casually replied, “Our relationship is very stable. There are no changes at all.”

Loreen felt a lot more at ease when she heard Charlie saying that there were no changes to his relationship with Claire. She figured that Charlie and Claire were still sleeping on separate beds with no breakthrough in their relationship at all.

This was good news for Loreen.

At this time, Elaine, who was on the third floor in the villa, was very excited. She took a lot of photos and selfies of herself in her large bedroom and she also turned on the beauty filter to its maximum level! After that, she carefully selected a few pictures of the living room and her bedroom before she shared those pictures with her circle of friends.

At this time, her accompanying caption read this: “Oh! After waiting for so long, I’ve finally moved into our villa at Thompson First! This is the largest villa in the whole Thompson First. We have such a huge living room and bedroom that I cannot help but wonder if it would be scary to sleep here at night!”

As she wrote her caption, Elaine suddenly thought of Lady Wilson and she quickly added another sentence. “Ahh. We have three floors above the ground and two floors underground in this villa. There are five floors in total with ten bedrooms which is all very luxurious and stylish. However, we are but a family of four so how could we possibly use up all of the rooms here? It is really so stressful to think about it!”

Chapter 795

After editing and posting some of her pictures online, Elaine deliberately added a few pictures of herself with a shy expression on her face. Moreover, she also tagged the location of the villa at Thompson First in her pictures.

As soon as she posted her pictures online, many people immediately liked and commented on her pictures.

They even left all sorts of admiration messages to praise and suck up to Elaine at this time. All of Elaine's friends could not help but marvel at how luxurious and grand her villa was.

After all, no one would have ever imagined that Elaine would be able to live in a top notch villa worth more than one hundred million dollars. This was really beyond the understanding of everyone who knew her.

At this time, the Wilson family members were all very miserable as they were eating some duck and a handful of boiled cabbage.

The old lady was in charge of handling the family money and she was very dissatisfied with Christopher and his son and daughter because they had contradicted her yesterday. Therefore, she wanted to let them suffer a little.

When she had gone to the market earlier this morning, she had only bought some duck and two cabbages before she washed and chopped it and proceeded to simmer everything in a pot.

Lady Wilson felt that she could not eat much since she had a small appetite as she was already old now and therefore could not eat anything that was too heavy or greasy anyway. This was the reason why she decided to cook a clear soup instead, which would suit her palette. She did not even care if the family of three would be interested to eat. It would be their own choice.

Christopher, Harold and Wendy were all very helpless and frustrated at this time. The three of them did not have any money to buy a nice meal for themselves. Therefore, they could only stay at home to eat this meal that the old lady had prepared for them.

Even though the duck did not look small, it was all bones and there was not much meat on it at all. Harold could only gnaw on the piece of bone because he was not full from the meal at all.

As he was feeling a little bored during dinner, he decided to look at what his friends had posted online.

At this time, Harold suddenly saw the pictures and messages that Elaine has uploaded online. As he took a closer look, he could only grit his teeth in anger as he threw his chopsticks on the table. After that, he started cursing, "Damn it! That shrewd woman, Elaine, has already moved into the villa at Thompson First! How can someone like her actually be worthy enough to live at Thompson First? God must be blind!"

As soon as the old lady heard Harold's words, she quickly picked up her cell phone to take a look at what Elaine had just posted. She suddenly felt very angry!

"That damn bitch! I think that she's specifically saying that she doesn't know what she could possibly do with ten bedrooms in their villa! She's doing it on purpose!"

Lady Wilson could not help but feel very upset and uncomfortable at this time. She could not help but curse at Elaine because she would not even give her a room at their villa even though they had so many rooms there! Now, Elaine was deliberately posting her message online to irritate her! The old lady really felt that she would not be able to relieve the hatred that she felt inside even if she could stab Elaine a thousand times!

At this time, Christopher also looked at the message that Elaine has posted online. He looked at the pictures that Elaine had posted before he looked at the pot of duck and cabbage in front of him. Christopher felt so angry that he could not even bring himself to continue eating. Therefore, he decided to add Elaine into his blacklist.

Out of sight, out of mind!

Wendy was also friends with Elaine and she was also very furious when she saw the pictures and messages that Elaine had posted online.

When Lady Wilson saw the depressed look on their faces, she hurriedly said, "Don't take what Elaine has just said to heart. I believe that she'll definitely be driven out of the villa in a few days' time."

After that, Lady Wilson cleared her throat before she said, "Our top priority right now is to think about the ways we can use to help Wilson Group tide over this period of difficulty so we can make a comeback and revert Wilson Group to its former glory!"

Christopher said angrily, "What are we going to do to overcome all of our difficulties? How can we possibly be able to pay back tens of millions of dollars in debt? What can we do? Our villa is already so old! Even if we want to, we'd probably only be able to sell it off for about seventeen or eighteen million dollars at most."

After that, Christopher looked at Elaine before he said, "Mom, I think that we should be able to raise at least tens of millions of dollars if we sell the antiques left behind by Dad, right? Mom, why don't you give me those antiques and I can try to sell them to raise some money? After that, I can buy us another house and we'll still have a place to live when the bank repossesses our villa!"

Lady Wilson had a cold expression on her face as she said, "Buy a house? Do you think that I'll even have the opportunity to live there if you buy a house? If I can't afford to repay my debts, I'll be sent to prison! I'm already so old and if I go to prison now, do you think that I'll be able to come out of that place alive?"

Chapter 796

Christopher plucked up the courage to say, "Mom, even if the court sentences you to prison one day, Harold, Wendy, and I will be able to live a simple and stable life if we have the money. However, if you refuse to take the antiques out of hiding, then the three of us will definitely starve to death if you are sentenced to prison!"

"Starve to death?" Lady Wilson replied coldly, "All three of you have hands and feet. You won't starve to death if you'd just go out to the streets and work as a community worker! Christopher, let me tell you something; the batch of antiques left behind by your father is for my retirement fund! You shouldn't have any funny ideas about it!"

Christopher could no longer hold back his anger and he stood up as he said coldly, "The things left behind by my father is also for the sake of his children and grandchildren! Who gave you the rights to keep everything for yourself?"

Lady Wilson replied coldly, "So what? Are you going to rebel against me now? Alright then! You can yell and scream at me as much as you want. When I am dead, none of you will know where the antiques are hidden at!"

After that, the old woman snorted as she said, "Anyway, I am already an old woman who can't live for much longer. It doesn't even matter to me if I die now. Before I die, I'll make sure to draft up a will stating that I'll donate all of my life insurance money to charity! I won't even leave a single cent to the three of you at all! The three of you are all completely incapable of working and earning a living for yourselves. At that time, you'll definitely be reduced to the bottom of the society and suffer a lot more hardships in time to come!"

Christopher was a little stunned when he heard Lady's Wilson's words.

There was nothing else he could do.

He did not have any other way.

Having no money and no ability had always been the biggest problem for him and his children. If the old lady really decided to donate all of her life insurance money to charity when she died, there would be no hope left for the family of three anymore.

Therefore, Christopher could only suppress his anger as he said humbly, "Mom, I'm sorry I lost my patience. Please don't take it to heart and blame me for my harsh words."

Lady Wilson sneered before she said arrogantly, "This is how you should have behaved from the very start!"

At this time, several cars from the bank and court suddenly stopped at the entrance of the Wilson family villa.

A large number of uniformed law enforcement officers and several bank managers came forward and banged on their front door.

The entire family was extremely surprised at the sudden loud commotion. Harold hurriedly stood up before he opened the front door. As soon as he opened the front door, Harold was stunned at the sight that greeted him!

A large number of men suddenly rushed into the Wilson family villa and many security guards started to blockade the scene.

At this time, the person-in-charge, who was also the representative from the court, stepped into the villa before he approached Lady Wilson who was eating her dinner. He quickly asked, "Are you the person-in-charge of the Wilson Group?"

Before Lady Wilson could even reply, the person conveniently said, "On behalf of the district court, I would like to formally inform you that multiple creditors of yours have already filed a joint application with the court to request for Wilson Group and all the assets and properties owned under your name to be frozen with immediate effect. Therefore, all accounts under the Wilson Group and everything that you own under your personal name will be frozen in order to fulfill your repayment obligations!"

Lady Wilson was shocked and she blurted out, "I just paid more than one million dollars to the bank! The manager of the bank even told me that he would give me a period of grace to raise some money to repay my debts! Why did the bank suddenly change its mind?"

The other party replied coldly, "The bank considers that you have no way to make any more profits and it would be completely impossible for you to repay your debt even if we delayed the payment period. Therefore, the bank has decided to team up with your other creditors to initiate a joint application to seize all assets under your name. You have one hour to pack up your belongings and move out of the villa immediately! We are going to seal this place up!"

"What?"

Lady Wilson stood up and she was trembling as she blurted out, "You are going to seize all my assets and seal up my villa? Why?"

The other party replied coldly, "Of course it is because you cannot repay the money that you owe the bank and your creditors! Do not say that I did not give you a reminder. You are only allowed to take away your clothing, toiletries, and any ordinary furniture. You have to leave all of your cash, luxury goods, and valuables behind!"

Chapter 797

The expression on Lady Wilson's face changed as soon as she heard the other party's words!

She trembled uncontrollably and her walking stick fell to the ground with a thud.

She had initially thought that she would have enough time to look for someone who would be able to help her to turn things around for Wilson Group. However, she would have never imagined that she would be placed in this kind of situation so quickly!

Christopher and his children's faces also turned pale as soon as they heard what the other party said!

"Mom, what's happening here? Are they going to seal up our villa now? Didn't you already repay more than one million dollars to the bank?"

Based on the current economic condition of the Wilson family, they would not have a place to stay at all if their villa was sealed. Furthermore, none of them had any skills or abilities of their own. They were going to suffer a terrible fate!

Christopher and his children would not be the only ones who would have to go out to find some part-time job. At that time, Lady Wilson might even have to find a part-time job, washing some dishes!

Otherwise, they would not be able to survive at all.

Lady Wilson sat down on the ground and she cried out, "Are you trying to kill my family of four? I've just used all the money that I had on hand to repay the bank and you're still trying to take my house away from me!"

The person-in-charge replied coldly, "We are simply acting in accordance with the law. If you owe money to your creditors and cannot afford to repay your debts, then your creditors have the right to ask the court to freeze and seal all of your assets and properties! Let me give you a piece of advice now! If you can raise some money to pay off your debts within the next three months, then all of your assets and your villa will be released then. However, if you cannot repay your debts within the next three months, your creditors have the right to file a lawsuit against you and you will be prosecuted for fraud!"

Lady Wilson grabbed hold of the other party's leg as she begged, "Please don't seal up my villa. You can't take my villa away from me. I have already lived here for more than twenty years now. This is my home!"

The other party ignored her cries and he simply told his subordinates, "Take her out of this villa first so that she can calm herself down."

Several people hurried forward to help her up before they brought her out of the villa. At this time, Lady Wilson broke down and she kept crying out, "You cannot do this! You cannot do this to me!"

No one paid any attention to her yelling at all.

Christopher and his children were also brought out of the villa by the law enforcement officers at this time.

Christopher felt very helpless and desperate.

He understood the situation completely. He also knew that the law enforcement officers were working under the orders of the court. If they dared to resist, then it would be blatant resistance to the law.

Who asked his family to owe other people money?

Since their creditors had already applied for the enforcement of the court, everything was completely legal and reasonable.

Harold felt as though he was about to collapse. He hurriedly asked his father, "Dad, what should we do now? Where should our family go now that they've already sealed our villa?"

Wendy started crying as she said, "We're already so poor and miserable right now. If we're also going to lose our villa, I might as well be dead!"

The old lady could only pull her own hair as she started cursing, "How can the banks be so cruel? They aren't giving us any chance to survive!"

Christopher blurted out at this time, "Mom! Where did you hide all of our antiques? If the legal enforcement officers find out about this, it will be over for us!"

As soon as the old lady heard Christopher's question, she started to panic and she almost fell down.

Christopher stepped forward immediately to hold and support her. The old woman calmed herself down before she replied nervously, "Those antiques are all hidden in a dark space under the basement floor. I think they'll probably not be able to find it..."

Chapter 798

Christopher rubbed his forehead slightly before he said, "If they discover it, then it will all be over for us!"

As they were speaking, a young man dressed in a uniform suddenly walked into the villa with a strange device in his hand.

The device was a long pole with a circle in front of it. It looked like a mine detector commonly used in movies.

Christopher asked in surprise, "Young man, is that a mine detector?"

The young man simply smiled before he said, "No, but it is actually pretty similar. This is a metal detector. It will give out a warning should there be any metal detected underground. Since mines are also made out of metal, we can also use this to detect mines but there is a difference in the level of sensitivity."

As soon as Christopher heard that it was a metal detector, he could not help but say, "It's already bad enough that you come over to and seal off other people's houses. Why do you have to bring a metal detector to check out other people's houses?"

The other party replied, "Based on our many years of experience, there are generally many hidden compartments in the basement of a villa. Most people would usually hide some very valuable items in these hidden compartments. Therefore, my task is to find out the location of all these hidden items in order to seize all of these items in accordance with the law!"

Lady Wilson collapsed to the ground as soon as she heard the young man's words.

Christopher could not help but feel a knot in his heart at this time. The young man hurried into the villa as soon as he was done speaking. At this time, Christopher hurriedly helped the old lady up before he asked, "Mom, what kind of antiques did Dad leave behind to us?"

Lady Wilson nervously replied, "There are two vases, an ancient painting, and some other antiques..."

Christopher hurriedly asked once again, "Are there any metal objects among the antiques?"

"Yes..." The old lady panicked as she said, "There's an old bronze lamp from the olden days, a set of tin ware, and also two gold horseshoes..."

Christopher could only slap his thigh and he felt great pain as soon as he heard the old lady's words. "It's over! It's over! It's all over now! Since you've hidden all of the antiques in the basement, they'll definitely find everything as soon as they step into the basement with the metal detector!"

After he was done speaking, Christopher pointed at the old lady angrily before he said, "This is all your fault, you greedy old lady! I've already told you to take those antiques out a long time ago! If you would have just listened to me and brought all of those antiques out, we could have sold and exchanged them for some money! However, you were very stubborn and you simply refused to take the antiques out. It seemed as though you really thought that you would be able to bring those antiques into your coffin with you when you die! You can forget all about it now. You can just dream about taking all those antiques with you now! Everything is all gone!"

Lady Wilson was very nervous and she could only say, "No, it's impossible. They won't be able to find them at all. I've hidden those antiques in a very discreet location. No one will be able to find those antiques except for me!"

After she was done speaking, the person-in-charge stepped out of the villa as he walked directly towards the old lady. After that, he spoke in a cold manner, "Hello. We have found a hidden secret compartment in the basement of your villa which contains a number of antiques, cultural relics, and precious metals..."

As soon as he said those words, Lady Wilson could only sit down on the ground with despair written all over her face.

The person-in-charge continued speaking, "Since this villa is registered under your name, we will assume that all of these hidden items belong to you. Therefore, we will officially take possession of these antiques, cultural relics, and precious metals in accordance to the law. We will hold a public auction to sell off these antiques and the proceeds from the auction will be used to repay your debts."

"If the proceeds from the auction exceed the total amount of your debt, we will refund you the remaining funds left after your debt has been repaid. However, if the proceeds from the auction is less than your total debt, your creditor retains the right to sue you!"

After that, the man took out a form before he said, "Lady Wilson, if you understand what I have just said, please sign on this authorization form!"

"I won't sign it!" Lady Wilson yelled hysterically. "You have no rights to seize my antiques! Those are for my retirement fund!"

The person-in-charge simply replied coldly, "I am sorry but according to the law, we have every right to take these antiques under our possession. Nothing will change at all even if you refused to sign the form."

After that, the person-in-charge turned around before he walked back into the villa.

Lady Wilson's eyes turned dark and she passed out immediately...

Chapter 799

As soon as the old lady passed out, Christopher rushed forward before he grabbed hold of the old woman's collar as he shook her vigorously in anger!

The old lady woke up as soon as she passed out because she was being so vigorously shaken by Christopher. As soon as she opened her eyes, Christopher reprimanded her immediately, "Didn't you say that no one else would be able to find those antiques aside from you? Now, all of our antiques are gone! They're all gone! How is our family going to survive and continue living now?"

Lady Wilson could not help but feel a sharp pain in her heart. She could not stop crying out loud. She was in deep grief and she kept wailing as she said, "I really didn't know that things would turn out like this. If I had known that things would end up like this, I wouldn't have hid all of my antiques at home even if it would kill me!"

As she spoke, the old lady could not stop the tears from flowing down her cheeks. "It's over. Everything is really over now! My hard work in this entire lifetime is really over!"

Harold was also very desperate at this time. He started crying as he said, "We have nothing left now! We won't even have any food to eat for dinner tonight! Even if we don't have any food...we can still go hungry. However, where are we going to sleep tonight? We don't even have a roof over our heads now! Are we really going to be sleeping out on the streets tonight?"

Wendy started crying as soon as she heard her brother's words. "Are we really going to be wandering aimlessly out on the streets? I don't want to be sleeping on the streets!"

At this time, the law enforcement officers and the workers have already begun moving all of the items in the villa into their trucks.

The old lady could only watch silently as the law enforcement officers took all her antiques away. She started crying and sobbing loudly in the courtyard. Lady Wilson even tried to rush forward to snatch her antiques from the workers but she was immediately stopped by the law enforcement officers.

Christopher was even angrier at this moment. He was fuming with anger! He really felt like kicking Lady Wilson because he felt that this old woman was really extremely selfish! She was really way too selfish!

What was even more important was the fact that her selfishness bore her no fruits at all! All of the antiques that she had been hiding from them had now been confiscated! It was completely impossible for them to ever get their hands on those antiques again in this lifetime!

The law enforcement officers and workers moved all of the valuable items away before they placed the family's worthless clothing and some broken furniture on the side of the road by the gate.

As soon as they were done moving everything, the representative from the court placed a paper to seal the front door of the villa. After that, the person-in-charge came to the courtyard before he told the four family members of the Wilson family, "We are also going to stick a paper on the main gate to notify the public that the court has already sealed this villa. Please cooperate with us and move out of the courtyard now. You are now officially prohibited from entering this villa."

"I will not leave! This is my home! Why should I leave?"

Lady Wilson's eyes were already red and swollen as she continued crying. Her hair was completely disheveled and she looked like one of the women in a novel who has been trapped inside a well for decades!

The person-in-charge said, "This villa has already been sealed up by the court. Therefore, this is no longer your home. If you continue to insist on staying here, you will only be getting in our way and obstructing our official duties! We will have the right to detain you then!"

Christopher and his children hurried out of the courtyard as soon as they heard the other party's words.

They did not want to be dragged back and locked up at the detention center for a few days at a time like this!

Lady Wilson was initially very reluctant to leave. However, at this time, there was no one else left in the courtyard and there was no one left to support her. Therefore, she could only cry as she walked out of the courtyard slowly.

After stepping out of the gate, the representative from the court placed the seal on the gate before he said, "Lady Wilson, you have three months to try raising some money to repay your debts. If you do not have enough money to repay your debts within the next three months, all of the items confiscated from this villa will be auctioned off to settle your debt. If we cannot manage to raise enough money to repay your debt through the auction, then your creditors will most likely file a lawsuit against you!"

Lady Wilson could only slump down in front of her villa with a desperate look on her face.

Her villa was only worth about seventeen to eighteen million dollars at most. Besides that, the court would probably be able to auction off her antiques and cultural relics for about ten million dollars. They would only be able to raise about thirty million dollars at most.

The current debt of Wilson Group amounted to at least sixty million dollars...

They would not be able to raise enough money at all...

Chapter 800

In other words, they would not only have no place to stay for the next three months, but she might even probably be sent to prison after three months...

Lady Wilson cried until she was almost out of breath and she felt as though her life was already ending.

After the representative from the court gave them a warning, he did not say anything else and he simply turned around, then got into his car and left immediately.

The members of the Wilson family could only sit helplessly outside their villa with a pile of their tattered and broken furniture and bundles of their clothing and necessities. They could not stop the tears from flowing down their cheeks.

They were completely helpless at this time.

Unexpectedly, it started to drizzle at a time like this.

A few security guards from the villa community rushed over to them and said, "Guys, please take your belongings with you and move out of the community of our villa as soon as possible. Please do not affect the appearance of our villa community."

"What are you talking about?" Christopher could not help but yell angrily. "I have already lived here for more than twenty years and you are actually saying that I am going to affect the appearance of this villa community? Are you trying to drive me out of this place?"

The other party replied coldly, "Sorry but I have just received a notice that you are no longer the owner of this villa. Since you have also lived here previously, you should know that our villa community is closed off to the public and we do not allow any outsiders to enter and hang around our community. Therefore, we would like you and your family to leave as soon as possible."

After that, the security guard pointed at all the items on the side of the road before he said, "Please bring all of these items with you when you leave. If you leave them behind, then we will just assume that these are abandoned items that we can deal with and get rid of in an appropriate manner."

Christopher could only tremble in anger as he yelled out, "This is too much! I am going to fight it out with you!"

A few security guards immediately stepped forward and held Christopher back. After that, one of the security guards replied, "What are you trying to do? Are you trying to pick a fight with us? Do you know that there are dozens of people in our security team? Do you really think you will be able to beat us if you pick a fight with us?"

Christopher was shocked.

At this time, Harold yelled angrily, "You'd better be careful! I'm going to lodge a complaint against all of you!"

The security guard sneered before he said, "You want to complain about us? We are simply acting according to the rules. What rights do you have to complain about us? Anyway, you are no longer the owner of a villa in our community! If you refuse to leave and insist on staying here, I will call the police to come and arrest you for trespassing!"

"You..." Harold wanted to continue scolding the other party. However, he could only freeze in place when he saw the other party's aggressive posture.

Christopher knew that it was completely useless for them to continue staying here. After all, the bank has already sealed and repossessed their villa. They were no longer the owners of a villa in this community and it was only natural for them to be driven out by the security guards.

Christopher could only sigh as he said, "Pack up some of your belongings to take away with you. Make sure that you only take the useful and valuable items with you. We can leave everything else here for them to take care of it!"

Wendy cried out, "Dad, where are we going to go now?"

Christopher shook his head before he lamented, "I don't know but I know that we won't be able to stay here anymore..."

Harold also started crying but he hurriedly wiped the tears off his face before he said, "Dad, why don't we go and beg Second Uncle right now? Why don't we apologize to him and admit our mistake? We can beg Second Uncle to take us in. After all, Second Aunt has said that they have ten bedrooms in their villa. We can just ask them to give us two bedrooms. We can both share a bedroom while Grandma can share a bedroom with Wendy..."

The expression on Christopher's face was very ugly and he could only sigh as he said, "Do you really think that it is going to be that simple? You should already know your second aunt's character very well. She would be more than happy to humiliate and make fun of the state that we are in now! Do you think that she will be so kind as to take us in and give us a room in their villa?"

Lady Wilson, who had not spoken at all, suddenly stood up and she gritted her teeth before she said, "We're going to Thompson First now! Even if I die today, I'm going to die at the villa at Thompson First! If Jacob and Elaine refuse to take us in, then I will sue them for abandoning an old lady like me!"

Chapter 801

At this time, at the villa at Thompson First, Elaine was lying on the deck chair on the all-glass balcony on the second floor and she was grinning from ear to ear as she stared at her cell phone.

There were more than three hundred likes on her pictures right now and this has already broken her records.

She could not even keep count of all the comments and after a short while, she could not even reply to all of the comments anymore.

Today, Elaine finally understood what it felt like to have everyone's attention on her.

Her entire circle of friends were all staring and keeping track of her! Moreover, they did not hesitate to praise her in the comments. Therefore, Elaine really felt very relaxed and happy.

At this time, some of Elaine's closest friends started sending her some messages in their group chat: "Oh, Sister Elaine moved into the villa at Thompson First today! She will have to buy us dinner!"

"Exactly!" Some of the other people started replying: "Sister Elaine, you've just moved into a villa that is worth more than one hundred and thirty million dollars! This is such a big and happy event. So, how could you not treat us to dinner tonight?"

After a short while, everyone in the group chat has already spoken up as they were waiting for Elaine to agree to buy them dinner.

Elaine could only feel very depressed as she looked at their text messages.

Buy them a meal? Where would she possibly find the money to do so?

Even though she was living in a villa that was worth more than one hundred and thirty million dollars, she did not even have one thousand dollars right now!

At this time, someone said, "Sister Elaine, this is such a big occasion. You should buy us dinner at Shangri-La Hotel tonight!"

Another sister replied, "If Sister Elaine is going to buy us dinner tonight, then I will take everyone to a high-end spa in the evening! We are going to have a good time together!"

"I will invite everyone to the KTV bar to have fun and sing some songs tonight, then!"

"Should I bring everyone to enjoy a nice foot massage after we are done singing?"

"Since all of you have already arranged so many programs, I can only bring everyone out to the bar later at night!"

Everyone continued planning and arranging their itinerary for the night in the group chat. At this time, one of the sisters said, "Sister Elaine, why don't you say something? Everyone is waiting for you to agree with the plans today!"

When Elaine saw that all of her friends have already lined up a list of programs for the night, she really wanted to go out and enjoy the night out with her sisters.

After all, she had been feeling very depressed during this period of time. She really wanted to take advantage of this opportunity to go out and relax a little.

However, all of them were asking her to buy them dinner. How could she possibly buy them dinner when she had no money at all?

As she thought about this, Elaine could only make up an excuse as she said, "Oh, sisters! I am so sorry but since we just moved into the villa today, there are still a lot of things that I have to clean up and unpack! I might not have any spare time to go out today!"

"Oh!" Someone replied, "Sister Elaine, you have already moved into the villa so you can unpack and clean up slowly! Today is the day that you should be hosting a housewarming party. If you miss this opportunity, then there might not be such an auspicious day anymore!"

Elaine felt really tempted.

However, money was a big issue!

Jacob has already returned all of the family's remaining money back to Charlie. Therefore, she could only go to Charlie and ask him to give her the tens of thousands of dollars!

At this time, Elaine replied to her friend, "Okay, wait for me. I will go and confirm the timing with my family first. I will reply to all of you later."

Her friend replied, "Okay, Sister Elaine! It is half past one in the afternoon now. Make sure that you give us an answer before three o'clock in the afternoon so that we can make all the necessary arrangements!"

"Okay!" Elaine hurriedly agreed. After that, she quickly got up to look for Charlie.

At this time, Charlie was cooking in the kitchen downstairs.

Chapter 802

Since they had just moved into the villa today, it took them some time to clean up the villa. Therefore, they were going to have lunch later than usual today.

However, Charlie was receiving very good treatment at this time. He had two beauties, Claire and Loreen, hanging around him and helping him to prepare dinner in the kitchen. Therefore, he could not help but feel that cooking had also become a pleasure today.

After he was done preparing lunch, he brought the dishes out to the dining table. After that, Elaine also came down from the second floor using the elevator.

She was going to ask Charlie for money but when she saw him coming out of the kitchen with the other two girls, she started to hesitate a little.

She was not embarrassed to ask Charlie about the money. However, the main point was that her husband and daughter were also here and she felt that it would be inappropriate for her to ask Charlie about the money right now.

At this time, she suddenly heard the doorbell ringing. After that, she said in surprise, "Why would there be anyone visiting us after we've just moved in today?"

After she spoke, Elaine turned around as she headed out to the courtyard to open the gate.

As soon as she opened the gate, she saw Lady Wilson, Christopher, Harold, and Wendy standing outside the door.

Elaine did not know that the Wilson family villa has already been sealed off. When she saw the old lady and the group of people standing outside her front door with their bags and luggage in hand, she frowned as she asked, "Why are you here again?"

Lady Wilson ignored Elaine and when she saw that she had already opened the door, she quickly walked into the villa.

Elaine hurriedly stood in front of her to block her way as she said, "What are you doing here? Are you trying to break into my house in broad daylight? Do you believe that I will call the police and have you arrested now?"

Lady Wilson pushed Elaine aside and she had a dissatisfied look on her face as she said, "Can't I even come over here to see my son? Do you mean to say that I'm not even allowed to enter your house now?"

Elaine felt very anxious and she grabbed hold of Lady Wilson before she said, "Why don't you understand me when I am trying to talk to you nicely? Do you understand me when I say that you are not welcomed here? Stop coming over to our house if there isn't anything important in the future. Please leave immediately!"

Lady Wilson broke free of Elaine's grasp as she headed into the villa. As soon as she entered the living room, she could smell the scent of food and she could not help but rub her nose hungrily.

It smelled so good...

This was even more fragrant than the duck and boiled cabbage that she had for lunch!

Furthermore, the people from the court had come knocking on their front door even before they could finish their meal earlier today. After crying for a long time, the old lady was already feeling hungry and she was starving.

As soon as she smelled the food, there was a rumbling noise in her stomach.

When Elaine heard this, she sneered before she said, "It turns out that the reason you've come over to our house today is simply to beg for food. To think that you used to be so arrogant! You used to demand for all your meals to be served to you hot! Why are you so hungry now? Why are you in such a pathetic and miserable state?"

Lady Wilson's face flushed red as soon as she heard Elaine's words. She wanted to yell at Elaine and curse at her but she stopped herself and she held back her anger because she was planning to move into the villa at Thompson First so she could live a good life. She could only endure the humiliation and insult silently as she said, "My good daughter-in-law, you are right. Mom is really hungry right now. Could you allow me to eat some of your food first?"

Elaine sneered before she said, "You can dream on! I'll give you ten seconds to get out of my house. Otherwise, I'll call the police to come and take you away!"

When Lady Wilson saw that she would not be able to convince Elaine, she quickly yelled, "Jacob! My son! Could you really bear to see your mother starve to death?"

At this time, Jacob walked out with a sad look on his face as he said, "Mom, I had just transferred 1.21 million dollars over to you yesterday. What are you doing here again?"

Lady Wilson sat down on the ground and she started crying out loud. "My dear son, do you know that the bank had come to repossess and seal up our villa today? Your brother and I have nowhere else to go right now!"

After that, Lady Wilson looked at Jacob and she continued crying as she begged, "My good son, you're not going to just watch your mother starve or freeze to death on the streets, right?"

Jacob was a little surprised and he blurted out, "What happened? Why did the bank come to seal up the villa?"

"It's all because of the debts owed by Wilson Group!" Lady Wilson wiped the tears off her face before she said, "My dear son, you can't abandon me at a time like this. Your villa is so big. You can just give two rooms to me. I will share one room with Wendy and your brother can share a bedroom with Harold."

Elaine was very anxious at this time and she blurted out, "Old woman! How could you possibly be so shameless? We've already said that we do not welcome you here at our house! How could you even have the face to ask to move into our villa? Don't you feel ashamed of yourself at all?"

Lady Wilson ignored Elaine and she simply looked at Jacob as she begged, "Jacob, you are the head of the family. Can't you say something on behalf of your mother?"

After that, Lady Wilson cried as she said, "I'm begging you. Mom will kneel down in front of you!"

Chapter 803

As Lady Wilson was about to kneel down, Jacob panicked and hurriedly reached out to stop her.

The old lady was determined to kneel down anyway. She fell straight down to the floor with her knees bent. She thought that she would admit defeat first and see if Jacob was really so stubborn and not pity her.

However, Jacob shared the same thought as Elaine.

Although he was on bad terms with Elaine and had even planned to separate from her, they both agreed that they couldn't let Lady Wilson live in the villa with them!

Hence, Jacob held the old lady in his arms and said coldly, "Mother, please stop your sympathy-seeking act. No matter what you say, I can't let you live in this villa!"

Lady Wilson chided sadly, "Jacob Wilson, you ungrateful bastard! I gave birth to you, you self-centered brat! How dare you stop me from living with you after you moved into such a big villa?!"

Jacob nodded and said firmly, "Mother, like it or not, this is fact. No matter what, I can't let you stay here!"

"Do you hear it?" Elaine growled with her hands on her waist, "Go away while we're asking nicely, or I'll call the cops to arrest you! By then, nothing can save your wrinkled face!"

Lady Wilson sulked in disdain and snorted, “Jacob is my son! My flesh and blood! He has the obligation to support me! I have no place to live now, so he must accept me and support me! Starting today, I will live here and not go anywhere! Call the police all you want, I’ll sue you in court and say that you abandoned me! Then, the police will arrest you for abusing an elderly!”

Elaine pointed at the old lady and cursed, “You old coot, you want to play thug, don’t you? I don’t believe that anyone would dare to arrest me! If you don’t get lost right now, I’ll kill you!”

Then, she stretched out her arms and was about to jump at Lady Wilson and claw her face.

Christopher hurriedly stopped her and chided, “What are you going? Do you want to beat an elderly? Tell me, I’m recording a video here!”

Harold and Wendy marched forward, surrounded the old lady, and argued, “It’s reasonable and legal for you to support Grandma!”

Jacob stared at them, dumbfounded.

He didn’t know how the law generally dealt with family affairs like this. But from the sound of it, he would be on the losing side if they sued them in court.

Elaine also panicked at the bizarre scene. If they won the argument and moved in, it would be the end of her wonderful life!

She had just moved into the beautiful villa today and hadn’t even spent one lovely night in it yet. It would be extremely annoying if Lady Wilson, the nasty old coot, moved in!

When Jacob and Elaine were exchanging anxious glances, Charlie stood up and said, “It is indeed my father-in-law’s obligation to support you, Grandma, but this is my villa and I don’t have the obligation to support you!”

Jacob sighed in relief and said, “Do you hear that? This villa is my son-in-law’s, not mine. I can’t make the call!”

Lady Wilson shot daggers at Charlie and chided, “Loser, you’ve lived with us for so many years, so shouldn’t you support me now?”

Charlie smiled lightly. "I have no legal obligation to support you, so I'm sorry, please go back now."

"I don't care! You married my granddaughter, so you have to provide for me! I will move into this villa today and no one can either stop me or kick me out of here! I will die here!"

Charlie frowned in dismay. "You're trespassing and making a scene. If you don't leave now, I'm going to call the police!"

Lady Wilson sneered, "Call the police? I've come to my offspring's house, why should the police arrest me? I'm not afraid even if you get God to come here!"

Chapter 804

Charlie nodded sternly. Since they wanted to remain so stubborn and audacious, he didn't have to give in.

"Grandma, since you don't have a place to live, how about I arrange a place for you? It includes food and housing and doesn't cost a penny."

"Shut up!" Lady Wilson chided disdainfully, "You want me to live in the old apartment where the four of us used to live, don't you? No freaking way! I don't want to live in such a shabby place! I will move into this Thompson First villa today!"

Charlie said, amused, "Oh no, Grandma, you're overthinking it. We bought the old apartment and we won't let you stay in for free, of course."

He immediately took out his phone and texted Isaac.

"The Wilson family has come to cause trouble at Thompson First. Call someone and lock these people up in the detention center for 2 weeks."

Isaac quickly replied, "Okay, Mr. Wade, I'll get on it right now."

Elaine was extremely annoyed by Lady Wilson's antics, she tried to push her out the door with great effort. Lady Wilson shrieked anxiously and called the police herself, "Police, help!"

My daughter-in-law doesn't want to support me. She wants to kick me out of her house and let me die on the streets!"

The police said in an earnest tone, "Where are you located? We'll send our guys there!"

"Thompson First, Villa no. A05!"

"Okay, please wait a moment. Our officers will be there soon!"

After Charlie's text exchanges, he smiled at Lady Wilson's calling the police and said, "Since you've called the police, let's just wait for the police to judge."

Elaine was a bundle of nerves. She was worried that the police would force Jacob to accept Lady Wilson and let her move in, so she turned to Charlie and chided, "Why do we have to wait for the police to come?! Kick them out of here now! If the old lady makes a scene when the police are here, it will be more troublesome!"

Lady Wilson snorted triumphantly, "What's the matter? Are you scared? If you obediently clean up a room and welcome me into this house, I'll talk nicely to the officer later. Otherwise, clean your ass because you're going to spend some time in jail!"

Christopher interjected frantically, "Mom, they have to clean up two rooms! Harold and I have to move in too! No matter what, I'm still Jacob's brother and he has the legal obligation to support me too! Otherwise, I'll tell the police that they've punched me in the chest!"

Then, he glared at Charlie and challenged, "Tell you something, rude boy. I have coronary heart disease and I'm at a high risk of a fatal heart attack! If I collapse here, you'll have to be responsible!"

Charlie smiled indifferently. "Well, let's just wait until the police arrive."

Soon, there was a knock on the door.

Christopher was over the moon and urged, "Quick, Harold, open the door!"

Harold rushed to the door and opened it. Then, a team of police officers walked into the house.

Lady Wilson hurriedly cried, "Officer, help! You must help me! My son doesn't want to provide for me! My daughter-in-law and grandson-in-law want to beat me!"

Chapter 805

Elaine hurriedly intruded, "Officer, don't listen to her! She kicked my husband out of her family and cut ties with him a long time ago!"

The officer looked at Elaine, then at Lady Wilson, and asked skeptically, "Is what she said true?"

"Of course not!" Lady Wilson urged, "It's something I said in the heat of the moment!"

"The heat of the moment?!" Jacob was provoked. "Mom, you kicked me out of your house a long time ago, you kicked me and Claire out of Wilson Group, you deducted Elaine and I's pensions in the company, and cut ties with me! Now that you're in a downfall, it suddenly becomes something you said in the heat of the moment?!"

The officer frowned in confusion. He asked, "Who does this villa belong to?"

Charlie said, "It's mine."

The officer nodded and asked, "What is your relationship with the old lady?"

Charlie shrugged indifferently. "We're not really related. She is my wife's grandmother."

The officer turned to Lady Wilson, "Ma'am, you've come to the wrong place. You should talk to your son and daughter about the support problem, but you can't break into your grandson-in-law's house and make a fuss. You are suspected of trespassing and provoking trouble."

"What?!" Lady Wilson shouted furiously, "Are you out of your fucking mind? Why can't I come to my son's house?"

The officer tried a patient tone and said, "Ma'am, this isn't your son's house, do you understand?"

"Understand your ass!" Lady Wilson cursed. "I don't care, they must take me in today, I won't leave until they comply with my request!"

Christopher blurted out, "I'm Jacob Wilson's brother and he has the obligation to support me too! I have no place to live now, so they must take us in! We won't leave until they do!"

"Yes! We aren't going anywhere!" Harold and Wendy also sat on the floor like a pair of gnomes.

Elaine's face twisted in a disdainful grimace. "Hey, the four of you are so shameless, do you know that? Are you really going to stay here like a bunch of idiots?!"

Lady Wilson growled, "Yes! If you don't let me live here, I'll sit right here the entire time without eating or drinking! I'll die at your doorstep! I'll haunt you forever!"

Elaine was taken aback, and so was Charlie.

Wasn't this the same nasty tactic that Elaine had used when she argued with the other residents at their apartment block the other day?

Sure enough, Lady Wilson and Elaine made a great argumentative couple!

The officer stared at the four people in disbelief. He gestured at his subordinates and said, "Come, take these people back to the station."

"Yes, sir!"

The officers quickly subdued Lady Wilson and the gang and handcuffed them.

Lady Wilson was confused and shocked. She chided angrily, "Hey, what's wrong with you? You arrest the wrong people! They abandoned me, what are you arresting me for?"

The officer looked at her and said, "You are under arrest for trespassing and creating a disturbance on private property. According to the law and order, you will be detained for fifteen days!"

Lady Wilson struggled hastily and shouted, "What the hell? No, you're wrong! You're arresting the wrong people! You should arrest them instead! They abandoned me, while I'm innocent!"

The officer frowned in dismay. "You can file a lawsuit in the court regarding the abandonment complaint and the judge will decide on your case, but you can't come to someone else's house and make a scene. This is illegal!"

Then, he added, "I advise you to behave. If you yell or even resist our arrest, you will be deemed to be obstruction of official duties, and you may be sentenced for the charge!"

Lady Wilson wailed in agony, "No! Why! Why! Why are you arresting me? I'm just an old woman who has no place to go. Please, please show me mercy and let me go!"

The officer said in a cold tone, "Mercy or not, you must obey the law! Take them all into the car!"

Chapter 806

With two officers clutching his arms, Harold glared at Charlie in hatred as he was being dragged out of the house and shouted, "Hey, bastard, is this all your doing?"

Charlie grinned. "Take a wild guess."

Christopher yelled from the top of his lungs, "Charlie Wade, you'll pay for this! I'll kill you myself!"

The leading officer scolded, "Shut up."

Then, the group of police officers escorted all four of them into the police car and drove to the station.

As Elaine watched the car drive away, she was so thrilled she jiggled around, dancing and cheering, "Yes! We've finally kicked them out of here! The dead old woman is getting a dose of her own medicine!"

Jacob sighed in disapproval. "Watch your tongue. It's fine that you don't want her to live here, but she's still my mother and she'll always be."

Elaine pouted contemptuously. "Huh, you can call that woman your mother all you want as long as she doesn't live in my house!"

Claire, who had been silent the whole time, sighed and said, "Grandma is quite pitiful right now, how about we let them live in our old house?"

"Let them live there?" Elaine snorted. "No way! I'd rather buy four pigs to keep in that house than let them live there! Did you forget how your grandma treated us?"

"But she's still my grandmother, I can't bear to see her so pitiful."

Elaine waved her hand in disdain. "Stop with your overflowing sympathy nonsense. That old thing, Christopher, and his two brats deserve what they suffered right now! It's awesome, let them stay in the detention center to repent!"

Then, she continued with a look of regret, "It's too bad I can't go to the detention center to see the old woman's desolate face myself! I'll definitely record it and watch it twenty times a day!"

Claire shook her head helplessly and said, "I hope Grandma can learn a lesson or two in there, it's better if she can change her attitude a little."

Then, she turned to Elaine and said, "Mom, if there's nothing to be done this afternoon, I'll go to the office."

Loreen said, "I need to go to the company for some business, shall we go out together?"

"Okay, I'll drop you off then."

Claire and Loreen quickly grabbed their bags and headed out.

Charlie sent them to the yard and watched Claire drive away.

At this moment, he received a text from Isaac that said, "Mr. Wade, all four members of the Wilson family have been detained for fifteen days for trespassing and provocation. They are being held up at the detention center now."

"Okay, good job," Charlie replied.

Isaac then replied, "Mr. Wade, is fifteen days a bit too short? Would you like me to manipulate it a bit to keep them inside for months or a year?"

"No, it isn't necessary. If we keep them inside for that long, they'll have a place to eat and sleep. I'd prefer them to be locked up for a while, then release them so they can experience what it's like to be homeless."

"Okay, Mr. Wade, as you please."

Charlie kept away his phone and saw Elaine throwing all the Wilson family's luggage into the trash bin outside.

The Wilson family had definitely hit rock bottom this time. They wouldn't even have an extra change of clothes once they were released later.

While sighing, Elaine went straight to him after throwing away the luggage and said, "Charlie, did your dad transfer all the balance after the furniture shopping into your account?"

"Yes. Why?"

"Give it to me, I want to use it!" Elaine demanded.

Chapter 807

Elaine figured that Charlie the loser wouldn't dare to disobey her if she asked for the money from him directly.

As soon as she got the money from him, she could invite her friends for a meal at a luxurious restaurant followed by a spa and facial treatment. This was what they called the upper-class lifestyle.

Charlie shook his head at her request. "Mom, I can't give you the money."

"Why not?" Elaine frowned, perplexed.

"Dad is now in charge of the household fund and expenses. If you want to use the money, you'll have to get Dad's approval first."

"What do you say?!" Elaine growled hastily, "My words don't count anymore, do they?"

Charlie nodded. "For anything regarding money, you'll have to go through Dad first."

"Hey, don't you dare use Jacob to overpower me! I'm your mother-in-law and if I ask you for money, you have to give it to me, no questions asked!"

Charlie smiled. "Of course, I can give you the money if Dad says okay, I can even give you all of it!"

"You..." Elaine confronted Charlie in great dismay, "Oh, this is how you want to do it, right? You challenge me, huh!"

"Mom, Dad will be in charge of the money in the future. You said this yourself, not me. I'm just following your instruction."

"Argh, stop with your bullshit! Give me the money quickly! Do you hear me?"

Charlie spread his hands helplessly. "Sorry, Mom, if Dad doesn't give me the permission, then I won't give the money to you even if you point a gun at me."

Then, he turned and walked back into the villa, ignoring her.

Elaine glared at his back. She would kill him right now if her eyes were equipped with laser guns!

She wanted to go to Jacob and asked him to talk to Charlie, but gave up on second thoughts. She knew very well that Jacob would not comply with her request.

The old man was even cockier than Charlie was now. Not only did he refuse to listen to her and obey her orders but he also dared to challenge her and even intended to divorce her! If she were to go and beg him now, it would be asking for an insult!

Elaine was grumpy and indignant. She didn't know what to do next.

Her friends were still waiting for her reply in the message group. She was embarrassed and unwilling to give up all the entertainment plans just like this.

At this moment, Charlie was cleaning up in the kitchen while Jacob was sitting on the Lexington sofa left by his father, sipping tea and reading the newspaper.

An abrupt thought struck Elaine's mind as she stood by the door, looking at them.

Charlie had engaged in deceitful jobs under the guise of Feng Shui and had fooled so many rich and influential people that he could even earn two million dollars in a single job. Who knew how much more money he had in his pocket?

Maybe he had actually made three million dollars from the job, who knew?

As she thought of the possibility, she immediately remembered Charlie buying two BMWs.

Charlie bought those cars with his own money! Both cars were worth nearly one million dollars!

In other words, Charlie had the habit of keeping his own pocket money and he kept a lot!

If she could find his card and tried out his password combination, she could get all his money in her own hands!

She didn't even expect him to have one million. One hundred thousand dollars would be enough for her to entertain herself and her friends for some time!

A sheepish and vicious grin appeared on Elaine's face. She decided to steal his card!

Chapter 808

Elaine trotted up the stairs to the second floor and tried to open the door to Charlie and Claire's room. She grinned triumphantly when the doorknob twisted open easily.

Once she was inside the room, she began to rummage through their stuff.

However, it was their first day moving into the villa. They hadn't had the time to keep their things in the closets and there was nothing valuable laying around.

Elaine searched for a long time but couldn't find Charlie's wallet nor bank card. Just when she was in the midst of frustration, her eyes blinked enthusiastically when she saw Charlie's coat hanging in the closet. She hurried forward and rummaged through the pockets for a while. Finally, she found a black and gold bank card in one of the pockets.

The card was filled with words from some foreign language that she couldn't comprehend except for the fact that the card was from Citibank.

She didn't know what kind of bank card it was even after looking at the cards back and forth carefully, but the card looked pretty exclusive and extraordinary.

She was overjoyed with her findings. She quickly kept the card into her pocket while whispering to herself, "Hehe, Charlie oh Charlie, you don't want to give me money, huh? That's fine. I'll take it myself! Also, if you had spoken in a slightly nicer tone just now, I might still leave you a few hundred dollars in your account, but you treated me so badly and even used Jacob as your leverage, I'm sorry, Mister, you've messed with the wrong person! Just wait and see, if I can guess your password correctly, I won't even leave you a penny!"

With the thumping heart, Elaine quietly left the villa and rushed to the nearest Citibank branch.

Charlie, who was keeping himself busy in the kitchen, had no idea that Elaine was gone with his card. His phone suddenly rang when he was scrubbing the plates and utensils.

He took his phone out and gaped in excitement when he saw the indicator on the screen that said 'Mrs. Lewis'.

Charlie's parents had died when he was eight years old. He would have died of starvation on the streets if it weren't for Mrs. Lewis from the orphanage.

Therefore, Charlie had always been grateful to Mrs. Lewis and had never forgotten her kindness and grace towards him.

That was also why Charlie could muster the courage to borrow money from Lady Wilson during her birthday banquet because he wanted to collect funds for Mrs. Lewis's kidney transplant surgery.

Later, Stephen Thompson had appeared out of nowhere, and thanks to him, Mrs. Lewis was transferred to Fairview Hospital in Eastcliff for the best treatment.

During this period of time, Charlie only knew that her surgery went well and that she underwent an excellent recovery treatment thanks to Stephen's arrangement. But he had not contacted Mrs. Lewis since then, as he did not want to disturb her and had wanted to make sure she had the very much needed rest post-surgery.

He quickly pressed the answer button and said, "Mrs. Lewis!"

Mrs. Lewis's gentle and warm voice came from the other end of the line. "Hi, Charlie, it's me. How are you?"

He said excitedly, "I'm fine! How are you?"

Mrs. Lewis chuckled. "I'm doing very well, there is no sign of rejection aswell. The doctor said that I'm recovering very well and I can be discharged soon. He also said that I can return to Aurous Hill in a few days."

Charlie was delighted. "That's wonderful! Mrs. Lewis, please inform me on when you'll be back. I'll pick you up from the airport and celebrate your recovery."

"No, Charlie, I can't let you spend more. If it weren't for the nurse who had accidentally spilled the beans, I wouldn't know that it was you who paid the hospital bills, millions of dollars of it, for my surgery and care. I don't know how to thank you..."

Mrs. Lewis started sobbing.

Charlie felt a sense of tingling on his nose. "Oh, Mrs. Lewis, please don't cry, I'm just doing all I can to help you. Do you remember how when I was eight, I wandered on the streets for three days, starving and exhausted? If you hadn't brought me back to the orphanage then, I might have died on the streets long ago..."

Chapter 809

Mrs. Lewis sighed, "It was my job to take you off the street and into the orphanage, but you don't have the obligation to take care of me and pay for the expensive medical bills. Besides, I know very well how your life in the Wilson family is..."

Then, she continued, "Don't worry, Charlie, I'll find a way to pay you back."

Charlie was moved. Mrs. Lewis had really treated him as her own son and cared so much about him.

He said in a sincere tone, "Mrs. Lewis, you don't have to worry about the money nor pay me back either."

"No, I can't do that! It is a lot of money, I have to repay you!"

"No, Mrs. Lewis. I'll always remember your kindness towards me. It's my duty to spend money on your treatment. If you still insist on paying me back, you're treating me as a stranger and I might not want to see you again!"

Mrs. Lewis smiled warmly at his remark, but she knew that she couldn't accept his money just like that. She would return the money to him no matter what he said.

But, she said on the phone, "Since you're an adult now, I'll listen to you. By the way, how are you and Claire doing?"

Mrs. Lewis was quite concerned about them as she remembered how delicate and unusual their relationship was.

She knew that Charlie had married her for some special reason and the couple didn't seem to be very intimate or close, but she always felt that they were a match made in heaven.

Therefore, she wholeheartedly prayed that they could develop feelings towards each other, have a child together, and live happily ever after.

Charlie chuckled rather awkwardly and said, "Claire and I are doing fine. When you come back, I'll bring her along when I pick you up!"

Mrs. Lewis heaved a sigh of relief. "Hey, hurry up and get Claire pregnant! You guys aren't young anymore, it's time for you to have a baby. Listen to me, your relationship will improve tremendously when you have a baby!"

Charlie, on the other hand, sighed dejectedly. He couldn't even sleep in the same bed with Claire yet, so it was a little too early to want children now, wasn't it?

But, of course, he couldn't be truthful about it, so he smiled and said instead, "Yes, I know. Don't worry, we'll think about it."

"Good, good! Hey, I can't talk now, the nurse is urging me to hang up and get some rest."

"Okay. Remember to inform me when you return to Aurous Hill!"

"I will! Bye now!"

They ended the call.

Meanwhile, Elaine arrived at the nearby Citibank branch. She went straight to the ATM while holding the black card.

She felt that Charlie wouldn't have a lot of money in his card, so it wasn't necessary for her to do the transaction over the counter. She could simply do the transaction on the machine and transfer the money to her card.

She inserted the black card into the machine and the interface immediately prompted, "Hello, honorable Citibank Supreme VIP member, it is a great honor to serve you. Please enter your black card password."

Elaine snorted, "What the heck, Supreme VIP my ass! When I had two million in my card, the Industrial and Commercial Bank had also called me their wealth management VIP customer!"

She stretched her fingers and attempted her mission—testing the password. She felt quite confident and fearless after successfully trying out Jacob's phone password.

She pondered the possibilities. "Hmm, Charlie the loser is quite fond of my girl, perhaps the password is her birthday."

So, she directly entered Claire's birthday.

Then, the screen prompted, "Hello, honorable Citibank Supreme VIP member, the password is incorrect, you have 2 more attempts today."

"Wrong password?"

Elaine was stunned for a moment, then yelled, "Damn you, Charlie. You always say how much you love my girl, but you didn't even set her birthday as your card password! Look at fucking Jacob, he even set the birthday of his lover from twenty-something years ago as his phone password!"

Then, she frowned and muttered, "Their wedding anniversary, maybe?"

Chapter 810

Elaine immediately entered the wedding anniversary of Charlie and Claire into the ATM.

The screen prompted, "Hello, honorable Citibank Supreme VIP member, your password is incorrect, you have one attempt left today."

"Damn it!" Elaine cursed. "Wrong again? Damn, I have only one chance left..."

She was stomping anxiously, suddenly, a thought struck her mind. Could it be Charlie's own birthday?

She wanted to give it a try eagerly, but she suddenly realized that she didn't know when his birthday was. She sheepishly took out her phone and called Claire.

She hurriedly asked as soon as the call was answered, "Claire, when is Charlie's birthday?"

Claire asked skeptically, "Mom, why do you want to know?"

She knew that her mother had always looked down upon Charlie, so she couldn't comprehend why she wanted to know Charlie's birthday so abruptly.

Elaine said, abashed, "Oh, erm, Charlie got us a villa, didn't he? He worked hard for that, so I want to reward him with something like celebrating his birthday."

"The second of February."

Elaine frowned, "February 2? Candlemas?"

"Yes, Candlemas."

"Hmm... What about the day he was sent to the orphanage?"

"March 13."

“Alright, noted.”

Elaine ended the call quickly, then she stumbled into a dilemma again.

She knew what year Charlie was born and how old he was when he was sent to the orphanage, but she was not sure if it would be 0202 for his birthday or 0313 for the so-called orphanage commemoration day.

There was only one more chance to try the password. If she made a mistake, the card would automatically be blocked.

So she had to make a choice between the two options and she had to guess it right.

Elaine felt that his birthday would be more meaningful than the day he was sent to the orphanage since the latter was a rather sorrowful occasion.

After consideration, she figured that the birthday would be more significant and make more sense, so she keyed in his birthday while pursing her lips.

Immediately afterward, a prompt that made her thrilled popped up on the screen. “Hello, honorable Citibank Supreme VIP member, your password has been successfully verified. Please select a service.”

Elaine was overjoyed as she had finally guessed the password correctly.

She immediately clicked the option to check the balance, wanting to see how much money Charlie had in his account.

After a while, a series of long numbers popped up on the screen that made her dizzy and in a trance.

“Wow, I didn’t know that Charlie the loser has so much money with him! Let’s see how many times I can go for facials with this amount.”

Elaine murmured and started counting. As she went on, her mouth slowly agape, her eyes widened little by little. Then, her jaw dropped!

“Ten, hundred, thousand, ten thousand, hundred thousand, million, ten million!!!”

“Hundred million!!!”

“Billion!!!”

“Ten billion!!!”

Elaine clutched her chest, attempting to calm her thumping heart down and to prevent herself from fainting!

She yelled frantically, “The loser has 21.9 billion in his account?!?!”