When His Eyes Opened

"This is scallion fried mutton pie, and this is mutton soup. I'm afraid you don't like mutton, so I bought you pork rib rice." After Siena took out the dinner she brought, she took out the medicine, "Young Master, I bought these medicines at the pharmacy, and I didn't know what to buy, so I asked the people in the pharmacy to recommend them. You can try it at night, it might work!"

Master Hogan told Lucas night that he shuts himself up at home and didn't allow anyone to take care of him.

Lucas had been hungry for a whole day. Now the smell of mutton and chops made his stomach churn.

Unexpectedly, Siena would miss him.

"Young Master, you must be hungry, right? You eat pancakes." Siena handed the mutton pancakes to Lucas, "Eating mutton in winter is so comfortable."

Lucas didn't want to accept it because of his face. But his stomach growled loudly.

"Young Master, eat it while it's hot! It won't taste good if it's cold." Siena stuffed the mutton cake into his hand, then opened the lid of the mutton soup, and put the spoon in it, "Young Master, eat it and I want to read here for a while. After you finish eating, I will take the garbage away."

"What book are you reading?" Lucas took a bite of the mutton pie, and his stomach immediately warmed up a lot and his attitude towards her was also quite amicable.
"I borrowed the review materials from my classmates." Siena opened her schoolbag and took out the materials, "I will take the big exam in June next year. I don't know if I can get into the ideal university. Young master, you go to university Right?"
Lucas paused while eating the mutton pie, and a look of uneasiness flashed in his eyes.
"That... I heard that you were expelled from school because of fighting." Siena apologized shyly, "I'm sorry, I didn't mean to say that."
"I'm a third year in high school." Lucas knew that Mrs. Hogan must have picked up on her details, so she felt indifferent when she thought of this, "But I'm two years older than you."
"You're going to take the exam next year too? But why are you older than me?" Two years old? Did you go to school late? Or did you repeat it?" Siena stared at his face curiously.

Lucas: "I registered late. My mother told me that I was two years younger."

"Oh... no wonder I see you as an adult. Young master, you can continue to eat, I won't bother you anymore." Siena said well, start reading seriously.

Lucas finished eating the mutton pie and drank the mutton soup.

After eating and drinking enough, the body became warm and the bad mood was swept away.

"Did you get paid today?" Lucas's Adam's apple rolled up and down, and decided to thank Siena, "You bought these for me, didn't you spend a lot of money? Thank you!"

"No salary today." Hearing his voice, Siena immediately looked up at him, "Young Master, I spent your money." Afraid that Lucas might not understand, she quickly added, "It's the one thousand dollars you threw into the trash can yesterday, I picked the money up."

After hearing her words, Lucas lost the calmness on his face. He frowned, his fingers clenched into fists, and there was a spasm in his stomach.

Seeing his face change, Siena panicked: "Didn't I take the trash away when you drove me away last night? I thought the Master would not spare you lightly when he came back, so when I threw out the trash, and took out the money, just in case. Young master, I'm sorry. I should have told you first, but I was thinking about reviewing my homework just now, so I forgot to tell you."
After hearing her explanation, Lucas's face turned pale. Suddenly, he felt uncomfortable in his stomach. He clutched his stomach and walked quickly towards the bathroom.
Siena followed immediately.
"Master, I'm sorry! I know I shouldn't get the money back, but I don't have any. I want to buy you medicine and food, but I can't afford it." Siena choked up when she said this.
Not only did she have no money, but she was also in debt.
