

I'm A Quadrillionaire chapter 1489

Chapter 1489

When she saw Nova staying silent, Celeste knew what she was thinking.

She was not willing to accept Celia and others as disciples.

After all, their talent was indeed limited, and it was hard to say whether they would be able to get to Eternal Realm in the future.

Only Selena had outstanding talent, and she was very likely to go beyond Eternal Realm in the future.

If she only reached Eternal Realm Ruler Rank, it would be a disgrace to her teacher Nova, the head of the Iridescent Sect.

Of course, Celeste did not expect much from Celia and the others after recruiting them.

Instead, it was to maintain a relationship with David.

That man was a lunatic.

Anyway, Celeste had lived for nearly two thousand years, and she had never heard of anyone in the history of Star Kingdom who had mind power right after stepping into Eternal Realm.

No matter where David's mind power came from, as long as he reached peak Eternal Realm, the chances of something going wrong when he wanted to break through to Saint Realm would be very small with his powerful mind power.

If one had a good relationship with such a person, one would definitely not suffer.

It was very cost-effective to invest some time and resources in Celia and others so she could build a good relationship with a future Saint.

Celeste herself lost her physical advantage because her alluring body was damaged, so she needed to hurry up to train in order to reach peak Eternal Realm as soon as possible and then asked David to help improve her mind power to prepare for the next breakthrough. That was why she had no time to teach Celia and the others.

Otherwise, she would have recruited and taught her own disciples. Nova would never get a turn to reap the benefits.

Even if Nova did not want to accept Celia and the others as her disciples, Celeste would still use the large number of resources she had stored over the years to try to allow everyone to break through Eternal Realm and have at least one epoch of lifespan.

All she wanted was David's gratitude so that David would always feel indebted to her.

As long as Nova accepted Celia and the others as disciples and taught them carefully, Nova could form an inseparable relationship with David..

She had been a peak Eternal for thousands of years, and the reason why she had been unable to break through is that she did not have enough mind power.

In Star Kingdom, many Eternals were trapped in Eternal Realm because they did not have enough mind power.

In the previous tens of thousands of years, everyone would still come out and move around to see if there were any adventures.

Once they reached one hundred thousand years, almost all peak Eternals would begin to retreat to prepare for the era, that was, the Eternal Catastrophe that occurred once every 129,600 years.

However, no matter how well-prepared they were, there were very few people who could successfully survive.

The Eternal Catastrophe was a reminder to Eternals.

If Nova could build a good relationship with David, she could even ask David to help her improve her mind power if all else failed.

Although having intercourse in fantasy was a bit embarrassing, as long as one could improve one's mental strength, one would have a chance to break through.

There would be countless people flocking for this opportunity even if they had to pay a thousand times or ten thousand times higher price than this.

Compared to facing the Eternal Catastrophe that had a minuscule survival rate, Nova, as the head of the Iridescent Sect, would not hesitate to choose to have intercourse with David.

The key was whether David was willing or not.

However, Celeste was not ready to tell Nova the truth yet.

She would wait until Nova truly could not break through.

The immortality of an Eternal was actually fake longevity.

Because the catastrophe that came once in an era was like a sharp sword floating above their heads, and it would fall when the time was up.

It was likely that only by reaching Saint Realm could one enjoy truly fearless longevity.

"Lady Dream, do you believe me after you've known me for so many years?" Celeste looked at Nova and asked seriously.

"Of course!" Nova replied without hesitation.

Although there was quite a difference in age between them, their relationship had always been very good.

“Alright! I, Celeste Red, assure you that if you accept them now and teach them carefully, you will not regret it in the future.”

Nova looked at Celeste.

Judging from Celeste’s expression, it did not look like she was lying.

However, Nova still hesitated to accept so many burdens.

She could not accept disciples randomly.

I’m A Quadrillionaire chapter 1490

Chapter 1490

If these people just wanted to join the Iridescent Sect, Nova would agree without hesitation.

However, it would be really difficult for her, the head, to accept these mediocre talents as disciples.

“Elder Red, it’s not that I don’t want to accept them as my disciples, but as the head of the Iridescent Sect, every move I make will be infinitely scrutinized. If I really accept them as disciples, I will put their talents in the spotlight, and this may not be a good thing,” Nova said tactfully.

“I know! But only by being your disciples can they live a stable life in the Iridescent Sect and not be bullied by anyone. Don’t worry, Lady Dream, you are only responsible for accepting and teaching them. I can provide all the resources they need for their cultivation.”

Celeste’s words made Nova think again.

She was well aware of Celeste’s background.

Celeste grew up in the Iridescent Sect so it could be said that Nova watched Celeste grow up. Therefore, these women were not her relatives. Instead, she brought them back after her mission. They were so mediocre, but they could make Celeste care and value them so much.

The two sides had no prior relationship, so there must be something deeper going on here. Should Nova trust Celeste and endure the criticism for accepting these women as her disciples?

Or should she refuse directly?

However, if she refused, she might not have a chance at training Selena anymore.

It was not easy to meet a disciple she liked.

Nova really did not want to just give up.

“Elder Red, you are making things hard for me,” Nova said with a wry smile.

“Lady Dream, I will still tell you to just trust me.”

“How about this? How about I spread the word and get others to accept them? I promise to keep paying attention and won’t let them suffer any grievances in the sect.”

Celeste shook her head to say no.

If Nova was really unwilling to accept the women, then Celeste would have no choice but to accept them herself.

She would just push back her cultivation time at most.

No matter what, she had to properly settle David’s little girlfriends so that there would be no accidents.

She had to also strive to use resources to push them all to Eternal Realm.

After having so much intercourse with David, the two were also very familiar with each other.

Celeste always felt that David was not as simple as he seemed.

He probably had his own adventures and secrets.

It stood to reason that a person like David who was born in a low-level civilization would be respectful, terrified, and fearful when he met a powerful Universe Enforcer like her.

That should be how normal people acted.

Just like those guys from the Beast Galaxy. When they heard that Celeste was a Universe Enforcer, they were like just mice meeting a cat.

However, David was not like that.

He was also not like that when they first met on Earth.

David was always fearless of Celeste.

No matter who he was facing and no matter how powerful they were, he would always have no fear from the bottom of his heart.

He only showed slight surprise before going back to normal at the mention of Celeste’s teacher Eira, who was a Saint.

It was as if he felt he would also get there soon.

