Novel Married at First Sight Chapter 1701 -Mrs. Lewis continued: "Liberty, don't listen to Duncan's hurtful words; he is now... He doesn't want to see anyone who comes to see him because he is like a hedgehog covered in thorns, and they all claim that others come to see him out of sympathy."

"Mrs. Lewis, I won't blame Mr. Lewis."

Liberty gently withdrew her hand.

She's not used to being held hands so intimately by Mrs. Lewis.

"Liberty, I came to you today to ask for something." Mrs. Lewis got to the point, she looked at Liberty with pleading eyes, and said, "Liberty, we are all very sad for Duncan now but we can't persuade him.

He likes you very much, and he doesn't want to see you recently. He has low self-esteem, thinks he is disabled, and doesn't want to drag you down, so he refuses to see you."

Liberty listened to Mrs. Lewis silently but said nothing.

Mrs. Lewis was also silent for a while, and then said: "Liberty, I want you to take care of Duncan, help him regain his confidence, and continue to do rehabilitation after he is discharged from the hospital."

She felt that the only way was to ask Liberty to take care of Duncan that he can regain confidence and have a chance to recover.

Otherwise, if he continued to be depressed like this, it was really possible that he would be in a wheelchair for the rest of his life.

Mrs. Lewis: "I know you are also very busy, your business is good, and you can make a lot of money a day. Don't worry, I will never let you suffer. I will give you a salary of $10,000 a day. You only need to go to work during the day, and you don't need to guard him at night. What do you think?"

This was a very high salary and Liberty's all-you-can-eat business was very good, but it hadn't reached the point of earning $10,000 a day. Mrs. Lewis thought that she paid $10,000 a day to ask Liberty to take care of her son and encouraged him to regain his confidence.

"Whether you have any thoughts about Duncan, we will not interfere with you. That is between you and Duncan. What I just said is the truth. As long as my child lives happily, it doesn't matter who he likes. Whoever he wants to marry, I only want my child to live happily.

Liberty, I know that such a request of mine is difficult for you, but I really have no choice but to come to disturb you."

Mrs. Lewis grabbed Liberty's hand again, and begged: "Liberty, please, help us, only you can take care of Duncan, so that Duncan can stand up again. Please Now, if you think the salary I give is too little, you can tell me the amount, no matter how much you want, I will satisfy you."

Liberty waited for Mrs. Lewis to finish speaking, and she said: "Mrs. Lewis, I'm afraid I can't help you. Mr. Lewis has helped me a lot. I feel sorry for him as he is now, and I hope he recovers soon. If I can help him, I'm very happy. I am willing to help him, but it has nothing to do with feelings, and Mrs. Lewis, you don't have to give me such a high salary."

Mrs. Lewis said: "Duncan is hard-spoken and soft-hearted, especially for you, as long as you are willing to go to the hospital to take care of him, no matter how hard he will soften, this is not a problem.

I sacrificed so much time to take care of Duncan, Now, I will definitely compensate you, I am very clear about your behavior, just treat it as if you are working and do things with money."

When taking care of Duncan, if Liberty developed feelings for him, Mrs. Lewis would not care about it; if there was still no love between them, Mrs. Lewis would Respect Liberty's decision.

Mrs. Lewis could only sigh that the two are destined for each other.

If Duncan didn't want to marry because of this, she would admit it too.

It was the son who lived, and he could live whatever he wanted.

Mrs. Lewis had to say that Duncan had a car accident this time, she really looked away.

It's just that the price she needed to pay is a bit high.

Novel Married at First Sight Chapter 1702 -"My son has lost his temper, throwing things. we are his biological parents, and I caused his car accident, so we can bear him. Who else would be angry with him? I think we spend a lot of money to hire nurses to take care of him. No one wants to make that kind of money, he is really hard to take care of right now.” Mrs. Lewis said.

Mrs. Lewis felt that spending $300,000 a month to hire Liberty to take care of Duncan was not expensive at all, as long as her son recovered, no matter how much money was spent, she was willing.

$300,000, that was, the money for one bag of hers, and she had more than $300,000 in bags.

Mrs. Lewis felt that paying $10,000 a day was not much, but Liberty thought it was too much.

Her all-you-can-eat business was booming, and the daily running water cost only a few thousand dollars, which was far from ten thousand dollars.

“You want to live and raise Sonny. Sonny is in Wiltspoon Central Kindergarten. The tuition of this kindergarten is very expensive. Even if you are willing to help us take care of Duncan unconditionally, we can’t let you do that and we’ll feel uneasy.

Liberty, I’ll give you $300,000 a month, it’s really not much, you don’t have to think about it, and don’t bargain with me anymore, if you bargain with me again, I’ll give you $50,000.”

Liberty: “... Mrs. Lewis, can you let me think again?”

She wanted to talk to Serenity about this matter.

Liberty: “I’ll answer you tomorrow.”

Mrs. Lewis nodded, “It’s ok, Liberty, think about it carefully, I won’t rush you, Duncan will have to stay in the hospital for a while before he can be discharged. His father and I can still survive with his current state. It will be troublesome to do rehabilitation in the future.”

Liberty looked at Mrs. Lewis’s white hair, this lady, at this moment, was no longer superior, she was only worried about her son, and only wanted to make him get better.

“Mrs. Lewis, I will reply you when I think about it. Don’t worry too much. Mr. Lewis is just in a low mood for a while. He is not easy to be defeated. He will definitely recover.”

Mrs. Lewis sighed and said: “You want to comfort me like this, and I also comfort myself like this, but seeing Duncan like that, how can I not be worried? It’s because of me, a mother, that he will become like this, and I blame myself a lot.”

Mrs. Lewis’s eyes were red again. It had only been more than ten days since the incident happened, and she seemed to be ten years older.

Heartache, self-blame, and remorse tortured her every day and every moment.

Every time Duncan lost his temper, yelled at her, or knocked things over. Mrs. Lewis had to take care of him despite how difficult it was for her to be his mother. Duncan was going through a difficult time.

After cleaning up the mess, Mrs. Lewis would hide in the bathroom, cover her mouth and cry.

“Liberty, I’m sorry for you too, I’m really sorry, don’t take what I told you in the past, don’t take it to heart, actually I don’t hate you as a person, it’s just the family concept that prevents Duncan from pursuing you. Now, I feel that as long as my child is doing well, everything else is unimportant and can be solved.

You are also a self-motivated person, and there is a big gap between you and Duncan now, but I believe that in your hard work, the distance between you and Duncan will become smaller.”

Mrs. Lewis really didn’t hate Liberty, she just had her own opinion and felt that Liberty was not good enough for her youngest son, that’s why she kept preventing the two of them from being together.

Also Liberty had not fallen in love with Duncan until now.

Mrs. Lewis also did a series of extreme things against her son.

And then...

now there was only regret.

Liberty said generously: “Mrs. Lewis, I don’t remember what you said to me before, and I can understand you. If I like a girl who is very different from him, it may be difficult for me to accept.”

Before, Mrs. Lewis would think that she was a very enlightened mother.

After really experiencing it, might be not many people could really be enlightened and let their children marry whoever they want.

Just because few people could do it, it seemed that the elders of the York family were rare.

Liberty frequently advised Serenity to treasure the things she had at the time, not to mention Zachary, but how many people could handle York's elders' wisdom?

Therefore, Mrs. Lewis would stop Duncan from pursuing Liberty, but Liberty was not angry at all, she could understand Mrs. Lewis.

"Liberty, thank you, thank you for not blaming me." Mrs. Lewis thanked gratefully, Liberty's character, she thought it's pretty well.

Although Liberty's background was not as good as that of the Lewis family, she also worked hard to make herself stronger. As long as people were self-motivated and willing to work hard, Liberty was actually pretty good.

She had always known that Liberty was a good person, but she couldn't get over the hurdle of being well-matched at the beginning.

From now on, she would no longer care about her children's feelings. Children and grandchildren had their own blessings, so let them go.

"Mrs. Lewis, I haven't done anything worthy of your gratitude, so please stop thanking me." Liberty said shyly.

She comforted Mrs. Lewis again: "Mrs. Lewis, trust Mr. Lewis, he will not be defeated easily."

Mrs. Lewis nodded silently.

After staying in the coffee shop for a while, Mrs. Lewis was thinking about her son in the hospital, so she hurried away and rushed back to the hospital to continue taking care of her son who was getting more and more irritable every day.

After Mrs. Lewis left, Liberty sat for a while before leaving.

When she returned to All You Can Eat, Sonny had already dismissed get out of class, and Jim saw that Liberty was not in the store, even though there were two shop assistants, he did not leave, and stayed in the store to play with Sonny.

Jim helped Liberty pick up and drop off Sonny every day, but Liberty wouldn't let him call her Ms. Hunt, but asked him to call her Sister.

Jim was not impolite, he needed less time with the young master now, but taking good care of Sonny and gaining the trust of Sister Liberty, the future was still boundless.

Liberty smiled and nodded.

Sonny trotted over and threw himself into Liberty's arms.

"Mom, I've been praised today." Sonny happily shared the joy of being praised with his mother.

After Liberty asked him why he was praised, she also praised him.

Sonny was very snarky.

"Mom, I'm going to my aunt's place."

Sonny would show off after being praised, and wanted to be praised by more people.

Liberty stood up and said with a smile, "Okay, mom will take you to your aunt now."

She took out her mobile phone and sent a message asking where Serenity was.

Serenity quickly replied to her sister, she replied with a voice message: "Sister, I just returned to the bookstore."

"Mom, I want to talk to my aunt." Sonny made a request.

"The task is what I should do." Jim smiled foolishly, "I'm very happy to be able to help you. Sonny is so cute, and now I can't see Sonny for a day, and I miss him all the time."

Sonny lifted his chin when he heard Jim's words, and said confidently: "Uncle, am I loved by everyone and bloomed by flowers?"

Jim smiled and said, "Yes, yes, Sonny is loved by everyone and bloomed by flowers. He is the cutest child Uncle has ever seen."

Liberty led the child out, and said with a smile: "Jim, stop praising him. If you praise him again, his tail will go up to the sky."

"I'm telling the truth, Sonny is indeed I've seen the cutest child." Jim felt that what he was telling was telling the truth.

Of course, a few years later, he would say this to another child.

Liberty was going to Wiltspoon Middle School, so Jim didn't need to follow her, Jim automatically and consciously went back to the young master's side.

Half an hour later.

"Auntie, Auntie Jasmine." After getting out of the car, Sonny yelled at Serenity and Jasmine before entering the store.

Jasmine was sitting at the cash register reading books, bored, reading books to pass the time.

Serenity was arranging those books in front of the bookshelf. Hearing Sonny's shout, Serenity walked out of the store, and Sonny ran over.

She smiled and picked up her nephew, "Sonny is very happy today, if there is something happy, tell me so that your aunt will also be happy."

She just didn't say why he was happy.

Sonny wanted to talk to his aunt face to face. Hearing her praise face to face was different from listening to it in the voice message.

Jasmine also came out.

"Auntie Jasmine." Sonny politely called Jasmine again.

Jasmine smiled and pinched his face lightly, "Auntie Jasmine hasn't seen Sonny for a while, it's strange to think of Sonny."

She had heard that because she frequently gazed at pictures of adorable babies while she was pregnant, the child she gave birth to would be equally adorable, but she wasn't sure if this was true.

Jasmine looked at the adorable Sonny. She often saw Sonny, and her baby would be very beautiful in the future.

She had discussed this topic with Serenity, and Serenity reassured her that with her and Josh's excellent genes, the crystallization of their love would not be ugly.

"Sister."

Liberty was carrying a few bags of vegetables in her hand. When she passed by the supermarket, she went in to buy them and planned to cook for Serenity.

“I bought a few dishes, and we will eat at your store at noon.” Liberty said while carrying the bag into the kitchen.

Serenity put down her nephew, and followed into the kitchen, “Zachary and Josh had arranged for someone to bring the food as long as Jasmine and I ate inside the store. It has been a while since Jasmine and I went grocery shopping and cooked for ourselves.”

After Liberty put down the bag, she began to wash the pot and prepare to cook the rice, “Then you tell the two of them that there is no need to deliver it at noon today, and I will make it for you two.”

“Okay.” Serenity immediately sent a message to her man, and then asked Liberty: “Sister, are you okay?”

Turning to look at her sister, Liberty smiled and said: “It’s okay, can’t your sister come over?”

Serenity: “No, but I intuitively feel that you’re here for business.”

Liberty washed the rice cooker, put the rice in, and said while washing the rice: “We sisters really can’t hide anything from each other.”

Novel Married at First Sight Chapter 1705 -Serenity asked with concern: “Sister, what’s the matter?”

Liberty: “A high-paying job.”

After washing the rice, Liberty put in the water again, then pressed the switch of the plug, and then pressed the rice cooker on the rice cooker, and then turned to face her sister.

Serenity: “Sister, your breakfast shop is running well, why do you still have to look for a job? Do you think Sonny is going to kindergarten, and you feel too much pressure? It’s okay, I can help Sonny pay the tuition. I can’t spend all the pocket money that was given to me every month, and everyone in their family can also receive a certain amount of pocket money every month, and the most important thing I need now is money.”

Serenity thought that her sister, Liberty was under a lot of pressure in life, Still looking for a job.

“No, Sonny’s tuition is not a problem. The money that Hank gave me back then is enough for Sonny to go to school. I still have income every day, so it’s not a matter of lack of money.” Liberty looked outside, Seeing Jasmine teasing Sonny, she went on to say: “Mrs. Lewis came to see me just now.”

Hearing this, Serenity frowned, “What is she looking for you for? She told you to take Sonny and leave Wiltspoon again, Right?”

Duncan didn’t want to see Liberty now, since Mrs. Lewis had a criminal record, Serenity’s first thought was that Mrs. Lewis wanted Liberty to leave Wiltspoon with her son because Duncan didn’t want to see Liberty.

“She asked me to go to the hospital to take care of Mr. Lewis. After Mr. Lewis was discharged from the hospital and he could do rehabilitation, she also asked me to accompany Mr. Lewis to do his rehabilitation. She gave me $300,000 a month. I said she gave too much money. Mr. Lewis has helped me so much, I regard him as a friend, and I also hope that he can recover.

Mrs. Lewis insisted on giving me the money, and said that if I disagreed with $300,000 a month, she would add more. I don’t care if the money is not. I want to ask for your opinion. Serenity, do you think I should pay more? Don’t you want to take care of Mr. Lewis?

I also told Mrs. Lewis that even if I agreed to her, it has nothing to do with feelings. I never thought about marrying Mr. Lewis, but simply hoped that he would get better. But if I really...Will taking care of him make him sink deeper and deeper?

He doesn’t want to see me now, so I’m going, will he accept it?”

Serenity didn’t know how to answer the question for a while.

After thinking about it, she said to Liberty: “Mrs. Lewis will come to find you to take care of Mr. Lewis. I have already guessed that Mr. Lewis likes you so much. Mrs. Lewis feels distressed and anxious about his current state. Now you’ve to go and motivate Mr. Lewis.”

Liberty: “Sister, I’ll go if you want, and if you refuse, I don’t want to go. If I go, I can’t say that Mr. Lewis will get deeper and deeper. Sister, can you keep your heart? I feel that my conscience is uneasy.”

Being together day and night was the easiest way to express feelings.

Liberty was silent.

After a long while, Liberty said: "After I finish my business in the store every day, I will go to the hospital to take care of Mr. Lewis. I won't stay in the hospital all day. I don't want the compensation that Mrs. Lewis gave me. In my words, I don't want money. If I go, I always feel that my conscience is not at ease."

When she had an accident, Duncan stayed up all night, guarding outside her ward, waiting for her to wake up.

Every day Duncan had time to visit her in the hospital.

Let's not talk about these, just say that Duncan also helped her a lot in the past.

She took care of Duncan for free, and it was considered as a favor owed to him.

As for the emotional matter, if she didn't talk about it, Duncan won't talk about it now. Before it arrived, who knew how it would develop?

"In that case, sister, you will be very tired." Serenity felt sorry for her sister.

"I'll go home and rest in the afternoon." Liberty reassured Serenity, "I won't let myself collapse from exhaustion. What you say, how you think, I don't need to care about it, as long as I have a clear conscience."

When Liberty said it, Serenity knew that Liberty had made a decision.

No matter what decision Liberty made, Serenity would support Liberty.

With the support of Serenity, Liberty no longer struggled, and decided to go to the hospital to take care of Duncan when she was free, encourage Duncan, and not ask Mrs. Lewis to pay for it.
