

Read Novel Married At First Sight Chapter 1764

Novel Married at First Sight Chapter 1764 -Lively, Callum first went shopping with Camryn, whom he had just chased.

After the excitement among the family members, the third daughter-in-law of Grandma May, Mrs. Madisyn York suddenly loved her eldest son, Kevin.

Madisyn asked her eldest son: "Kevin, where have you and my daughter-in-law-to-be progressed? When will you bring Ms. Queen back for dinner?"

Kevin ran away in seconds.

Madisyn said angrily to her husband Bowen York after failing to get a response from her son: "Look at your son! His grandma gave him and Callum two photos at the same time. Callum will bring Camryn back for dinner tonight, but your son doesn't bring my future daughter-in-law home. I still don't know when I will have a daughter-in-law."

Bowen said: "This kind of thing, don't be in a hurry. Your son doesn't want to act yet. What's the use of us being in a hurry? We can't run away for him. Go to Jensburg and help him chase his wife?"

Madisyn said: "Why don't you worry, Callum will be a father by then, and he's going back to normal. Our son's about the same age as Callum, do you think he's still young? If he's the ninth child, I won't worry at all about him."

"An excellent woman like Ms. Queen is very sought-after. If your son doesn't act, he will have time to regret it." After a silence, Bowen said: "I believe that the wealthy women in Jensburg who admire Ms. Queen are all women and will never wed her, so you don't have to worry about a man robbing your son's future wife."

Hayden had always disguised herself as a man, In the eyes of the people of Jensburg, she was the young master of the Queen family. Even if she was handsome, she was the most handsome man recognized by the young talents in Jensburg.

However, those young talents would only be jealous of Hayden's extraordinary beauty, and would never fall in love with him.

There was no way the girls that many of them like would join the army of Hayden adorers after seeing him; how could they not be envious of him?

Madisyn choked on her husband's words. After a while, she said: "Even if Hayden, Kevin's future wife, is not robbed, he couldn't stand by and do nothing. Just in time, when he returns for dinner, you will have the opportunity to ask him why he no longer pays attention to his grandma."

At first, Madisyn was not concerned about her son's marriage because she had a mother-in-law. As long as the mother-in-law was alive, there would be a large tree in their Wildridge Manor's sky to protect them from the wind and rain, and everything would be safe. Don't worry about them.

Like an old urchin, Madisyn was extremely appreciative to her mother-in-law, but she was devoted to the welfare of her children and grandchildren.

Bowen: "I'll ask him when he gets back. I'm not in a rush if you don't tell me first. Once you say it, I'm also eager to get going. My son is a few months younger than Callum. Callum might get married by the year's end. But Hayden's identity hasn't yet been made public, though."

"Stop talking, he's been stuck in a hotel all day and hasn't gone to Jensburg, how can he expose Hayden's identity?"

Madisyn: "He did nothing because he believed that Hayden would be the one to knock on the door and announce, "Kevin, I am a woman, you come to marry me?" Is he dreaming like that? Kevin must be suffering from a condition that he doesn't want us to know about. Don't let him leave tonight; I won't inquire as to why."

The younger generation didn't like living in Wildridge Manor.

One was that the elders were all there, and if they make a mistake, it would be easy for the three divisions to interrogate.

The second reason was that the Wildridge Manor was far away from the hustle and bustle of the busy city, so it was naturally farther away from the city center. The younger generation needed to go to work. If they lived in the villa, it would take a lot of time to go back and forth.

Even if Kevin wanted to sleep late, he was unable to.

Summer was bad, and in winter, if the weather was cold, who didn't want to stay in the warm bed for a while?

Therefore, the juniors all bought houses in the urban area, which was convenient for commuting to and from get off work.

"Tell mom that our fighting power is not as good as mom alone."

The first thing that Bowen thought of was to pull his mother out to serve as the vanguard for the couple.

Most of the readers are now reading this novels:-

