Novel Married at First Sight Chapter 1768 -Callum had no choice but to follow her.

After the butler called a maid to help carry the gifts out of the car, Callum led Camryn and walked slowly towards his home.

The maid followed with bags of things.

Knowing that Camryn walked by memorizing the steps, Callum walked very slowly so that Camryn could memorize the steps.

When passing the main house in the center, Callum said to her: "Now we are standing in front of the main house in the center. There are several steps in front of the door. This is the main house in the center of our Wildridge Manor. My grandma and uncle's family lives here."

Camryn nodded, and she memorized the distance from the parking lot to the main house in the center.

"Shall we go in? First go see grandma?" Camryn asked him softly.

Judging from his usual respect for Zachary, Camryn thought Callum would bring her into the main house of the center.

"Let's go in later. Let's go back to our house first. Grandma and the others are not in the main house in the center right now, they are waiting at our house." He said and wanted to go to his house.

When he got off the car, he also saw that the elders had gone to his house.

After being silent for a while, Camryn said softly: "We are not married yet."

Camryn felt a little embarrassed because Callum brought her into Wildridge Manor, which was his, not hers.

Callum leaned in front of her and said with a low smile, "From the moment I saw your photo, I brought you into my world and became a family with me. My home is your home, it's our home."

After speaking, he kissed her on the cheek.

Camryn's face was stained a little red, remembering the butler and the others followed, she quickly pushed him lightly, "Everyone is watching."

Callum smiled lowly again, stood up straight, and led her forward again.

While walking, he said: "Our house is only a few hundred meters away from the uncle's house, and it is also a big villa with a small yard. Most of the ground in the small yard is paved with floor tiles, and some flowers and plants are planted on the edge of the low wall.

I originally wanted to build a swimming pool in the yard, but my mother said the sun is too hot in summer, so the swimming pool is finally built indoors."

"Wildridge Manor is very big, right?" Camryn had heard before that the richest man lived in a large manor.

"It's quite big, but I'm used to living in it, so I think it's that big. The villa is in the garden style, because my grandma likes the garden style. If there are not a few modern buildings, when you walk into the Wildridge Manor, you will think that you are back to ancient times."

There were also many antique buildings in the villa.

For example, there were pavilions, terraces, winding corridors, rockery fountains and water pavilions.

"Tonight, let's stay at home. Tomorrow, I will take you on a tour of the area to familiarize you with it. The villa contains a large lotus pond. Now is when the lotus is at its peak bloom. I can even take you out on the lotus pond in a boat."

Camryn: "Although I can't see it, hearing you describe it like this makes me feel so beautiful."

Callum held her hand tightly, "Wait for your eyes to heal, Camryn. I swear to go with you to enjoy the lotus every year. This is going to be our future home, a place where we will live for all of our days. Your eyes will undoubtedly heal, and the lotus will bloom every year."

Camryn smiled and said, "Okay."

His promise was so beautiful and sweet!

Novel Married at First Sight Chapter 1769 -Callum led Camryn to the door of his house, then stopped and told Camryn how many levels there were at the door steps.

Then he led her and began to climb the steps.

He didn't dare to walk fast, for fear that Camryn would fall.

Camryn heard that the room was lively and knew that there were many people.

Callum told her that his elders were waiting in the house, as well as his brothers, and she heard the voices of Zachary and Serenity.

It seemed that there was still Sonny's voice, Liberty had to take care of Mr. Lewis now, and Sonny often followed his aunt.

"Camryn."

Seeing Callum leading Camryn in, Serenity stood up to greet him as the elder sister-in-law.

"Serenity."

Camryn stopped and responded to Serenity. She didn't think she was shy, but her face was always hot.

It must be the weather.

Camryn found a reason for her blushing.

"You just arrived, are you tired?" Serenity asked with concern.

Camryn smiled and shook her head, "I'm not tired, I just arrived. I have bad eyesight and can't walk fast, so I kept everyone waiting."

"It's okay, we just came here too." Serenity looked at Callum with a smile and held Camryn's hand.

"Sister-in-law." Callum called Serenity, he didn't let go of Camryn just because Serenity greeted him.

Serenity nodded, "Grandma and the others are here, you can take Camryn there."

Camryn listened to the conversation between her Aunt and Grandma May, and was very grateful in her heart. The elders of the York family were waiting for her. As soon as she entered the house, Serenity, the eldest young mistress, stood up to greet her. She couldn't see their every move, but she could feel that they valued her.

Callum hummed, and he led Camryn to the elders.

"Grandma."

He called Grandma May first, and Grandma May responded cheerfully. After she responded, she said to Camryn: "Camryn, now you are in front of grandma."

Camryn was face-to-face at first. The one who was facing Tania heard Grandma May's answer, so she realized that Grandma May was in front of her, so she quickly turned to Grandma May and called out politely: "Grandma."

Grandma May smiled and asked her kindly: "Are you tired after more than an hour's journey? Sit down."

Seeing the maid carrying big and small bags, Grandma May said softly, "Why do you still buy so many things? There is nothing missing at home. Are you willing to come back with Callum to see us? After a meal, we will be very happy."

Camryn: "I didn't buy anything, but I prepared a little gift for everyone. It's my little thought."

After hearing Grandma May's kind voice, Camryn felt nervous.

The fate between her and Callum was drawn up by Grandma May.

She was grateful to Grandma May. In her previous life, she did not know how much incense she had burnt. In this life, she could get Grandma May's attention and give her and Callum a red line. For a man as good as Callum, what kind of woman would he want to marry?

Grandma May stretched out her hand, grabbed Camryn, and pulled her closer. Tania, who was sitting next to Grandma May, was very considerate, and immediately moved to the side to make space for Camryn.

"Good boy, we've accepted your wish. You'll say hello to everyone first, and then we will have a good talk." She patted the back of Camryn's hand, indicating that Callum would take Camryn to see the elders one by one again.

Novel Married at First Sight Chapter 1770 -Everyone was aware that Camryn couldn't see; instead, she recognized people through memory and listening.

When Callum introduced Camryn to everyone, everyone was quiet and only spoke out when it was time for them to speak, so that Camryn could remember who was speaking.

Camryn was once again moved by the thoughtfulness of York's family.

Callum really never lied to her.

His family members were excellent; whether they were parents or siblings, they wouldn't disapprove of her or think that she wasn't deserving of him.

It was because she was too inferior and never dared to accept Callum's feelings.

It was only now that she took the first step bravely.

If her aunt Azalea hadn't gone to FC Manor in Annenburg and knew that Callum went to seek medical treatment for her, she probably wouldn't be able to muster up the courage to take this step.

Grandma May was the head of the York family, but she was the gentlest old lady, Camryn didn't put on airs of Grandma May at all.

Rosella, Callum's biological mother, took Camryn's hand to greet the cold and warm.

Camryn could feel whether these people were really nice to her or whether they were just acting.

They were very sincere, and her blindness was nothing to them.

It's the same as what Rosella said in front of her eldest aunt, as long as Camryn could spend money, the York family would not despise her.

After Camryn followed Callum back to Wildridge Manor to meet his parents, the two of them confirmed their romantic relationship again, and their relationship developed by leaps and bounds.

The aunt Azalea, Dalton and Trenton, on behalf of their natal family, met with the elders of the York family to discuss their wedding date.

Let's talk about Trenton, it was very difficult for him to accept that his biological parents are murderers. Since he knew the truth, he borrowed to live with a classmate and did not want to see his elder sister Camryn.

In fact, he didn't hold a grudge against Camryn, he just had no face to face his sister.

His biological parents killed his sister's own father, and his parents also took over the property left by his second uncle to his sister, and treated his sister very badly, and almost killed her sister. He felt that he was sorry for her sister.

He heard that his sister and Callum confirmed their love relationship, and after they met their parents, the two elders wanted to discuss their wedding matters.

He felt that although he was not his elder sister's elder, he was her only brother. He can't ignore it.

Therefore, when aunt Azalea flew to Wiltspoon again, Trenton showed up and insisted on going with her and Dalton to meet the elders of the York family.

Since Camryn's eyes hadn't healed yet, Callum meant to get engaged first, and the wedding date would be a year or two later. He hoped that Camryn could see the grand wedding he had carefully prepared for her, not to mention the wedding of the eldest brother and sister-in-law hadn't done it yet.

He was not in a hurry.

Whether Camryn's eyes could be cured was what worried him the most right now.

He first got engaged because he wanted to do so.

Grandma May picked an auspicious day and held an engagement ceremony for the two of them. Camryn became Callum's real fiancée.

After attending Callum's engagement banquet, Zachary flew to Annenburg with Serenity and drank the full moon wine from Ben and Jane's sons and daughters. At work, life returns to normal.

In the hospital.

Duncan was sitting in a wheelchair, and Liberty pushed him, planning to push him downstairs to relax.

Liberty took care of Duncan for a period of time, and Duncan's injured leg healed a lot. The doctor said that he could be discharged from the hospital in a week and go home to rest, and he will start rehabilitation after a period of rest.

"You don't have to follow." After Duncan was pushed out of the ward, he said to his bodyguards.

"Yes."

Even if Duncan didn't order, and Ms. Liberty was present, the bodyguards would usually not follow, so as not to be a light bulb.
