Married at First Sight Chapter 1941-Hayden's bodyguards got off the car.

They came forward, but they couldn't fight against Kevin.

Kevin's identity was different; unlike those admirers who pursued the young master in the past, they could only persuade, and they couldn't directly drag him away.

"Mr. York," A bodyguard said politely: "Mr. York, please move your car so that the cars of our two young masters can drive in."

Another bodyguard asked politely: "Mr. York, please stop pestering our young master. Our young master doesn't like men."

If the young master liked men, it's not Kevin's turn. However, it seemed that their young master didn't like women either.

They had been by the young master's side for many years, but they had never seen the young master treat any girl kindly.

As if Kevin couldn't hear what the bodyguards said, he knocked on Hayden's car window, signaling Hayden to either get out of the car or press the window.

"Mr. York, Mr. York."

Hugh trotted over, put his arms around Kevin's shoulders, and said to Kevin: "Mr. York, move your car first, let us brothers drive in, and let's talk in the room."

Kevin still looked at Hayden in the car.

Hayden was very annoying at Kevin at the moment.

The good impression she had towards Kevin at the beginning was completely wiped out today.

She scolded this rogue man thousands of times in her heart.

The elders of the warlords didn't care.

Thinking that she had complained to Zachary, Zachary also made it clear that he would not take care of the private affairs of his cousins, and he would only take care of them unless they asked him for help.

Hayden murmured in her heart: Maybe Zachary is targeting Kevin.

After taking a few deep breaths, Hayden opened the car door and got out of the car.

As soon as she got out of the car, she stretched out her right hand towards Kevin.

Kevin was stunned for a while, then he smiled and freed up a hand to hold Hayden's hand, who knew that Hayden slapped his big hand away with a backhand.

He looked at her with innocent eyes.

What did she mean, didn't she let him hold her hand?

"car key." Hayden spoke in a low voice.

"Oh well." Kevin came to his senses, and while fumbling for the car keys in his trouser pocket, he said with a smile: "Just say it, I thought you asked me to hold your hand and walk into the house just now."

Hayden stared at him with a straight face.

Kevin had a good idea, he touched it and said, "The car key is still in the car."

Hayden immediately ordered a bodyguard: "Go and move Mr. York's car."

Hayden didn't have so much time to spend here with Kevin.

A bodyguard immediately stepped forward, got into Kevin's car, started the engine, drove the car aside, and no longer blocked the gate.

The butler finally heard the movement, came out of the house, saw the two young masters at the door, and hurriedly opened the door of the villa.

"Mr. Queen, please accept this bunch of flowers first. The flowers I asked the villa to send over will definitely arrive tomorrow morning. When they arrive, I will send them to Mr. Queen to ensure that the flowers are still fresh and bright. "

Hayden said coldly: "Mr. York, how many times have I told you that I don't like flowers, and I don't like flowers sent by you. Also, I don't like you. I'm a normal man, so please don't follow me always."
