Married at First Sight Chapter 1959-Shiloh: "The third York family young master is very thick-skinned; Young Master Queen does not want to talk to him because he is still like a piece of brown sugar; stick to Young Master Queen."

Young Mistress Farrell also looked at Kevin, and said, "The York family's third young master has an advantage over you. Young Master Queen's bodyguards will be unable to intercept him because he is an enemy."

Hearing this, Shiloh became even more jealous.

After taking a sip of red wine, she asked her sister-in-law: "Where's Kathryn?"

Kathryn grew up in the countryside, even if Kathryn was born to look dignified and majestic, after returning to Farrell's family, with a little dressing up, even Shiloh would be compared.

But Young Mistress Farrell didn't like her sister-in-law Kathryn, and thought Kathryn was a very cunning person.

Young Mistress Farrell didn't look at Kathryn's low-key and weak appearance in Farrell's mansion. Kathryn quietly took away the little power from her brother, which made her sister-in-laws like Young Mistress Farrell very unhappy.

Young Mistress Farrell secretly instigated Shiloh and Kathryn to fight for power, saying that Shiloh grew up in Farrell's family and was raised as a successor. What about women?

Shiloh was ten minutes older than Kathryn.

Young Mistress Farrell's idea was that the two sister-in-laws would fight for power and profit, and then her man would take advantage of the profits. Most of the other family's property was left to the son to inherit. Most of the equity was also in the hands of the owner.

The men of the Farrell family had long been dissatisfied with this family rule, and wanted to break it.

If both Kathryn and Shiloh were dead, Patriarch Farrell would have no daughter, and would he not be able to give the position of Patriarch to his son? It can't be handed over to the daughters of the collateral line to inherit, right?

Young Mistress Farrell thought, with her mother-in-law's domineering and vicious personality, it was absolutely impossible to hand over the position of head of the family to a girl in the collateral line.

Her mother-in-law had such a big heart that if her two daughters died, the girls in the collateral line would perish. Wouldn't the rules have to be changed if the Farrell family had no daughters, and the position of patriarch passed down to the son?

Young Mistress Farrell's husband is the Farrell family's eldest son. She thought that if her mother-in-law changed the rules, she could only pass on the position of head of the family to her husband.

"Sister-in-law, Kathryn is used to being friends with those noble wives who are beneficial to her in private; please help me watch her and don't let her make friends with those wives." Shiloh took another sip of red wine and said coldly, "They look down on me now and don't associate with me anymore, and Kathryn can't even think about becoming friends with them."

Young Mistress Farrell: "I'll help you watch. They've started dancing, so hurry up and invite Young master Queen to dance with you. "

Young Mistress Farrell saw that everyone started dancing to the music, so she urged her sister-in-law Shiloh to invite Hayden to dance with her.

Shiloh didn't speak, and walked towards Hayden with a glass of wine.

At this time, Hayden was bothering Kevin. Kevin stood in front of her, reaching out to her like a gentleman, wanting to dance with her.

"Mr. York, I'm sorry, I have a partner." Hayden coldly rejected Kevin's invitation.

Kevin asked her with a smile: "Mr. Queen, who is your dance partner?"

Hugh popped up, but before he could speak, he was pushed away by Kevin and his sister at the same time.

Hugh: "..."

What did he do wrong?

He just wanted to help his sister out of the siege, and it made sense for Kevin to push him away, but his sister actually pushed him away too.

"Hugh, have fun on your own."

Hayden said in a low voice, then, she drank up the wine in her glass, then handed the glass to the bodyguard beside her. She got up, and walked away from Kevin. After that, she went straight to Kathryn who was sitting in the corner, enjoying the delicious food leisurely.

Hayden was the most popular “man” among women in Jensburg, and her every move at the banquet could attract the attention of countless people.
