Married at First Sight Chapter 2002-Sonny opened his mouth and wanted to refute what his uncle said, but he was too young to refute his uncle at all, so he had to do it in a hurry.

His anxious appearance made Zachary laugh out loud, and kissed his little face fiercely.

The kiss was so great that the little guy pushed his face away with his hands, and wiped the kissed little face with his hands, and said with disgust: "Uncle smeared my face with saliva."

Zachary smiled and said, "You used to smear uncle like this. It's drooling."

Sonny stopped talking again.

Almost at the gate of the company, he struggled from Zachary's arms to get off the ground.

Zachary let Sonny go to the ground. Sonny trotted out, returned to Serenity, raised his handsome face, and complained to Serenity: "Auntie, my uncle slobbered all over my face, and when you help me, I will also slobber my uncle. My face is drooling. Uncle thinks I'm passing it by, and uncle doesn't like me enough."

Serenity smiled and said, "Uncle bullied you, right? Well, when I get home, your aunt will avenge you."

Sonny forcefully nodded.

Zachary came over, hugged Sonny from behind in a funny way, and bit Sonny's small face lightly, "You know how to sue. Sonny, you are a typical example of only allowing state officials to set fires and not allowing people to light lamps. "

Sonny turned around in his arms, then wrapped his arms around his neck, and said in a childlike voice: "Uncle, I miss you very much now, and I like you very much. My favorite person is you."

Ah, Sonny often said that the people he liked the most were his mother and aunt Serenity, or Aunt Jasmine or his cousin. It seemed that he said he liked the most when he met one.

Sonny blinked his eyes big.

Did he have it?

Serenity smiled and said to her husband: "Don't tease Sonny, his current IQ is no match for you."

She handed the bouquet to Zachary, and Zachary immediately put down Sonny and took the gift from his wife. The bouquet, the smile is extremely bright. The eyes that look at Serenity were full of affection, and there was only Serenity in his eyes.

Sonny, who was placed on the ground by his uncle, looked up at the two adults.

He looked at his uncle, then at his aunt.

He always felt that he was between them and belong to the superfluous.

Bulb!

Sonny actually remembered what Uncle said more than once that he was a light bulb.

Was he now a light bulb again?

But his name is Sonny, not a light bulb.

"Auntie, give me a hug."

Sonny, who felt that he was not a light bulb, stretched out his hands to Serenity, asking Serenity to hug him.

Serenity hugged him.

"Auntie, we received Uncle and gave Uncle a surprise. Uncle is smiling like a mouse stealing rice, can we go find my mother?"

Serenity smiled and said, "Okay, let's go find your mother."

Zachary tapped his forehead lightly, "Since when did your uncle laugh like a mouse stealing rice? Do you know how a mouse laughs? Zhi Zhi Zhi Zhi—That's the sound of a mouse."

Sonny looked at his aunt for help.

Serenity yelled at her husband, "You're teasing Sonny again. Sonny, don't worry about your uncle, your uncle was smiling so hard just now, he really looked like a mouse that stole rice."

The bodyguard team came out in a car.

Serenity said to her husband, "Send Sonny home first. Then, go to sister's new restaurant, pick up sister and Duncan, and go to Wiltspoon Hotel for dinner together. You have been away for so many days, and sister is also thinking about you and Sonny."

Serenity looked at her husband with bright eyes.

Zachary: "Okay."

He was the most considerate.
