

When His Eyes Opened Read Novel Chapter 3081

Novel Chapter 3081 -It was sent by the instructor.

The instructor said that there were basically no problems with her thesis, and she was ready to defend.

At the same time, the instructor asked her about her next plan.

The instructor hoped that she would continue to be a host, because she had accumulated rich experience in TV station internships in the past two years and was already an excellent host.

The instructor also asked her if she didn't plan to continue to be a host because her family disagreed.

Hazel immediately sent a message back to the instructor: [My parents will not interfere with my choice. It's me who wants to take a break first.]

The instructor quickly replied: [It's okay to take a break. Don't be late for your defense on Saturday.]

Hazel: [OK. You go to bed early!]

After sending the message, Hazel clicked on the ticketing software and began to look at the ticket to Thopiavelle.

In a blink of an eye, it's Saturday.

After Hazel finished her defense, she returned home happily.

As a result, the whole family was there.

Hazel was stunned.

Hazel: "Why are you all at home? Brother, sister, don't you go to work?"

"Mom said you have to leave tonight's air ticket." Hayden said, "Why are you leaving in such a hurry?"

Hazel: "Mom, have you seen my ticket?"

Avery picked up the envelope containing the air ticket from the coffee table, "It was mailed home. I was curious, so I opened it and read it. You won't be angry, will you?"

Hazel: "Hahaha! Of course I'm not angry. I almost forgot that I bought a plane ticket. I bought it casually the night before. I plan to tell you after I pass my defense. If I fail my defense, I won't be able to leave today."

Avery: "Mom can tell that you really want to go to Thopiavelle. So go if you want to go tonight! Before you go out, our family will have a meal together."

"Mom, don't be so sad. I'll be back soon." Hazel hugged her mother.

"You have never been separated from us since you came back. How can I not be sad if you are going to travel alone now?" Avery said, "Don't stay outside for too long. Although Thopiavelle has memories of your past, but there are no acquaintances or friends of yours."

In fact, there were still.

Like her high school head teacher.

The head teacher took good care of her back then.

This time, when she wanted to go back to Thopiavelle, she also wanted to see that teacher.

In the evening, Hazel and her bodyguard Aaron set off for Thopiavelle.

On the plane, Hazel didn't feel sleepy at all.

Aaron was a little sleepy: "Miss, the flight time is so long, can't you sleep?"

Hazel: "I'm not sleepy for now. Aaron, do you know why I chose you to come out with me?"

Aaron: "Because I'm your bodyguard!"

Hazel: "In that case, shouldn't you listen to me?"

Aaron hesitated for a moment: "But, it's your father who pays me my salary."

Hazel: "..."

Aaron: "What are you trying to do? Do you want me to help you hide something? Miss, your family is so kind to you, so don't do anything to make them sad."

Hazel: "Of course I won't do anything to make them sad. It's just that I'm an adult now, and I don't want my parents to know all my private affairs. You don't want to report my affairs to them every day. If you have to report, then you don't have to say anything."

Aaron nodded, "I understand what you mean. I can promise you. After all, I am just a bodyguard, and my duty is to protect your safety. As long as you are safe, I can get paid."

Hazel: "Aaron, you really know everything."

Recommended Novels