

Read Novel Married At First Sight Chapter 2000

Married at First Sight Chapter 2000-Kathryn's words were extremely mean, but they were also true.

Ever since the incident of the real and fake daughter happened, Shiloh's status in Jensburg's high society had dropped sharply. It could be said that it had plummeted. People who used to be friendly with her, even with a little flattery, were far away from her.

Even if she could still be active in the high society circle of Jensburg and was still the darling of her family, but everyone in this circle was a genius, no matter how favored she was at home, people outside would no longer give her face.

Those second-generation ancestors who she looked down upon in the past would only surround Kathryn now.

Kathryn stood up straight, and said with a smile: "Are you happy? Then I'll go back to the house. Don't be mean in the future, and don't think that I'm the one who lets you rub and flatten!"

After finishing speaking, she entered the house.

Shiloh was left standing there, her face turning red and black.

She gritted her teeth and said to herself: "Kathryn, one day, I'll let you kneel down and lick my toes!"

.....

Wiltspoon, York Corporation.

Holding a bouquet of flowers in one hand, and holding Sonny in the other, Serenity stood at the door of the company, waiting for Zachary to come out from get off work.

The security captain stood beside her and said several times: "Madam President, are you really not going in? The President will be very happy to see you come to pick him up from work."

Serenity smiled: "I won't go in. He's busy, so let him be busy first. If I go in, he won't be able to do anything. I came here to give him a surprise, just waiting for him to come out here, and he suddenly saw me, that's the surprise."

She brought Sonny back from Annenburg, and as soon as she got off the plane, she drove straight to the York Corporation in a car.

After agreeing to Zachary, she would come back to pick him up from get off work. But when she came back, she didn't tell Zachary what time she would arrive in Wiltspoon.

She just wanted to give Zachary a surprise.

Zachary called her at noon to make sure that she would come back in the evening, and then he didn't contact her again. She knew that he was busy.

Otherwise, with his jealousy, he would have gone to the airport and waited for half a day.

"Auntie, I miss my mother."

With no companion to play with, Sonny began to think about her mother.

Serenity gently patted his nephew's head, and said: "When your uncle comes out, your aunt will take you home. I have agreed with your mother, and your mother is not free yet."

Her sister's new shop was still in full swing for renovation.

Duncan would ask his bodyguards to take him to her sister's new store every afternoon. He couldn't help much, but he could help her sister as a supervisor and watch the workers decorate.

Duncan did rehabilitation every morning and evening, and he rested when the temperature was too high in the afternoon.

For Liberty, Duncan worked very hard to do rehabilitation. Every time he did rehabilitation, he fell down countless times, sweating profusely, sometimes fell to the ground, and couldn't get up for a long time. When he couldn't get up, he slowly climbed to the wheelchair, grabbed the wheelchair, stood up slowly, and sat on the wheelchair.

It would take him more than ten minutes to complete such an action.

He didn't want everyone to see him crawling like a dog in a mess, and he didn't allow everyone to watch by his side.

That is, Liberty occasionally came to see him, and he allowed Liberty to follow him.

Recommended Novels